International Convention Hall

The Bombay Stock Exchange building is one of the most iconic structures in Mumbai and represents India's financial strength across the world as it is one of the most shown-Indian structures on a global scale.

The Rotunda building that houses the International Convention Hall (ICH) is unique as it used to be trading floor of the exchange almost two decades back, before trading went fully electronic. Having seen a lot of action over decades, today it is one the best known landmarks in Mumbai financial district.

Uniquely round-shaped from the outside, the tall ceiling of the hall compares to that of a large temple structure. Large enough to house a crowd of a thousand people, with marvelous interiors, there is an ambience of a reverence and timelessness. Witness to more events than any one can possibly see in a lifetime, it is an honor to speak within the hallowed walls of this institution.

The International Convention Hall is today one of the largest, centrally-located and well-equipped facilities in Mumbai's downtown area. As most of the financial and corporate powerhouses are also located in the vicinity, the ICH becomes a prime venue for hosting any significant event.

BSE Bull Gate Entrance

This is the Rotunda entrance of the BSE –
