CATV – Way Forward

*Source: MPA 2016

- ✓ Digital TV industry growth projections continues to be healthy, Hathway is in the best position to leverage the growth.
- ✓ Phase III is greater than the aggregate size of phase I & II. Monetization started, and it will be close to Phase I & II monetization rate over the period of time.
- ✓ For better ROI, Phase IV expansion plan without any subsidy.
- ✓ Increase in HD channels especially in regional languages will fuel demand for HD penetration.
- ✓ New tariff regime will redefine relationship between stake holders.
- ✓ Wide spread industry will look for regional and national level consolidation.
- ✓ Focus on value added services/Localized content to generate revenue.

Rationale of the proposed restructuring

I. Rationale for separation of businesses

- 1. Carrying on businesses separately would enable focused attention on each of them.
- 2. It will create an independent structures for future fund raising, for investors interested only in one of the businesses (while the option to invest into both is also available)
- 3. Separate companies will facilitate benchmarking its performance with established domestic / global peers thereby bringing in enhanced competitiveness

Focused attention to each line of business

Increased competitiveness

II. Rationale for Cable business to be carved out to the wholly owned subsidiary

- 1. Broadband is the primary growth driver of the business and hence it is preferable to retain the potentially more profitable business in the parent entity.
- 2. Public Investors will benefit from direct stake in the parent entity housing the high growth potential business.
- 3. Transfer of Cable business to the WOS of HCDL would retain the value within HCDL

Investors to get direct stake in high growth broadband business

CATV value retained within the Group

Rationale of restructuring

- III. Rationale of consolidation of Cable businesses currently housed in subsidiaries / joint ventures
 - 1. Consolidation would result in reduction of overheads, administrative, managerial, compliances and other expenditure and bring about operational rationalization.
 - 2. Reduction in inter-company transactions thereby resulting in no tax leakages and statutory compliances.
 - 3. Ease of implementation of proposed GST law.

Optimum utilization of resources and reduction of overheads

Reduction in intercompany transactions
