MEDIA STATEMENT

Adani Mining Pty Ltd, the Australian subsidiary of Adani Enterprises Ltd., today updates the market on the approvals processes for its significant investments in mining and infrastructure in Queensland.

Following the Commonwealth Government's approval of the Carmichael mine in recent weeks, Adani welcomes today's approval by the Queensland Coordinator General of the North Galilee Basin Rail project.

It also follows last month's announcement by Adani of Korean giant POSCO E&C as the EPC contractor and joint venture partner on the NGBR, reflecting the growing confidence in the project as the shift from the approvals phase to the build phase nears.

The NGBR represents a significant milestone for infrastructure development in Queensland. The state's first standard gauge rail line, it will underpin greatly expanded and vital export opportunities across the basin, providing a lasting legacy of infrastructure to this state beyond our already significant port and mine investments here.

Approvals granted for Adani's infrastructure investments in Queensland have, to date, been amongst the strictest and most stringent processes of their kind ever undertaken by any level of government in Australia.

Adani looks forward to continuing to work with our project partners and all levels of government to see this through, building on its existing track record of successfully operating ports and related infrastructure in this country, and delivering more than 10,000 direct and indirect jobs and vital opportunities for suppliers in Queensland.
