The Royal Bank of Scotland plc Selects Mphasis as a Partner for Application Services

Bangalore, India and New York, NY -- August 19, 2015 -- Mphasis, a global technology services provider, has signed a new master services agreement (MSA) with The Royal Bank of Scotland plc (RBS), to provide application management services. As part of this agreement, Mphasis, a recognized provider of services to RBS, will manage the performance and quality of critical applications at the corporate and institutional banking divisions of RBS.

Mphasis has partnered with multiple large and mid-size, commercial and universal banks globally. The company brings an in-depth understanding of processes and technologies relevant to banks. This, coupled with Mphasis' impeccable global track record for consistent service delivery, resulted in RBS selecting Mphasis for this mandate.

"Signing this agreement is a re-confirmation of RBS' trust in our delivery capabilities and consistent value add," said Gopinathan Padmanabhan, President of Global Delivery at Mphasis. "This encourages us to further raise the benchmark and help RBS transform their business by leveraging emerging technologies, tools and solutions. We are appreciative of RBS for giving us this opportunity and very excited to start yet another chapter with them."

"The constant emergence of new technologies, greater customer expectations, and strong competition mean we constantly need to fine tune the way we do business," said Trish Arksey, Head of Transaction Services Technology at The Royal Bank of Scotland plc. "We were looking for a service provider with deep roots in the banking industry to help us manage and transform our applications portfolio and in turn help us serve our customers better. Mphasis was our ideal choice, to build a strong technology foundation for our future growth and we are delighted to partner with Mphasis."
