Stone India receives order for Computerised Brake System

Stone India Limited has received initial orders from Chittaranjan Locomotive Works, Indian Railways valued at approximately Rs 200 Lakhs, for supply of their indigenously developed Computerized Brake System for three phase electric locomotives. This advanced safety product has been developed in its state of the art R&D Centre, which has been recognized by Ministry of Science & Technology, Government of India.

This is a high end safety product which is currently supplied in the world market only by a few leading large American & European companies.
