MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS

Indian Economy has been witnessing a phenomenal growth since last decade. After witnessing a growth rate in excess of 9% for the last three years, the year 2008 -2009 witnessed a retarded growth rate of around 7%. Indian economy witnessed fall in production levels, jobs losses especially in the information technology sector and stock markets also dwindled considerably. However Indian Economy is still holding its ground amidst the current global financial crises and is on the path of revival.

INDUSTRY STRUCTURE AND DEVELOPMENTS:

The key products in consumer durable industry are CTV, Flat Panel LCDs and Plasma, DVD players, refrigerators, Washing machines, air conditioners and micro wave ovens and small appliances. India has witnessed dynamic changes in the consumer electronic industry in the last decade and is fast emerging as the key player in the global television market both as a manufacturer and a consuming nation. In recent years the CTV market in India has changed rapidly and with the up - gradation of technology there has been shift from the conventional CRT technology to Flat panel display television viz: Liquid Crystal Display (LCD) and PDP. The television market has shown a growth of around 15% during the year with growth primarily coming from LCD and PDP segments in value terms. While the CRT television is likely to remain stagnant in the coming years, the flat panel television [mainly LCD] is expected to grow at 30% level for the next few years.

Refrigerator market has also witnessed a boom in last few years and has been growing over 15% level. Consumer preference for higher capacity frost free and energy efficient models are on the rise. The refrigerator industry should do well in the coming years as well.

OPPORTUNITIES AND THREATS:

Opportunities:

Demand for consumer electronic goods have a very good growth potential in the Indian market for the years to come due to (a) Phenomenal growth of media and entertainment in India and flurry of television channels. (b) Nuclearization of families and changing life styles. (c) Rise in consumer disposable income not only in big cities but even in the tier II & III cities. (d) The rising demand for LCD not only in urban areas but also in semi urban areas. (e) The narrowing gap between conventional TV and flat TV and similarly Flat TV and LCD TV.(f) Changing perception of refrigerator as a utility product rather than a luxury. (g) Electrification in rural areas. (h) Rising consumer aspirations for latest technology models.

Threats:

(a) Due to the emergence of many market players and stiff competition there is continuous pressure on margins.(b) The cost of advertising, and after sales service are increasing tremendously (c) The focus of consumers is shifting on energy efficient appliances. Providing such appliances at competitive prices is a challenge.

OUTLOOK:

The consumer durable industry is witnessing a phenomenal technology change and consumer demand is shifting from conventional models to latest technology models especially in the television and refrigerator segment. There is a huge growth potential for the consumer goods industry in India and it is one of the booming industry since last few years. Your Company is determined to focus on appropriate product mix, expanding sales and distribution channel, and after sales service and create a brand image in the mind of consumers to encash on opportunities.

RISKS & CONCERNS:

(a) Continuing erosions in prices and margins as a result of stiff competition.(b) The impact of global economic slow down is adversely affecting domestic consumer demand. (c) Widening gap in demand for electricity and availability of power and the gestation period of Power Projects and likely drop in government spending on rural electrification program and shortages of electricity supply are major concerns.

2. Statement of significant accounting policies

(a) Basis of Preparation

The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention, on the accrual basis of accounting and in accordance with the accounting standards notified under the Companies (Accounting Standards) Rules 2006 and the relevant provisions of the Companies Act, 1956 ('the Act'). The accounting policies have been consistently applied by the Company and are consistent with those used in the previous year.

(b) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the results of operations during the reporting period. Although these estimates are based upon management's best knowledge of current events and actions, actual results could differ from these estimates.

(c) Fixed assets, Intangible Assets and depreciation

Fixed assets are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and impairment loss if any. The Company capitalises all costs relating to the acquisition and installation of fixed assets.

Intangible assets are recorded at the consideration paid for their acquisition. Further assets held for disposal are stated at the lower of the net book value or the estimated net realizable value.

Depreciation is provided based on management's estimate of useful lives of the fixed assets, on the straight-line method pro-rata to the period of use of asset or at rates specified in Schedule XIV to the Act, whichever is higher, at the following annual rates:

	% .

- Factory	3.34
- Others	1.63

Furniture, fittings and equipment Computers and SAP Vehicles	4.75 - 6.33 16.21 - 25.00# 9.50

- * Plant and machinery, Moulds, jigs and fixtures identified and evaluated technically as obsolete by management are stated at their estimated net realisable values.
- Computers include capitalised software (SAP), which is depreciated over a period of six years.

Assets individually costing below Rs 5,000 are fully depreciated in the year of purchase.

(d) Impairment

The carrying amounts of assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date if there is any indication of impairment based on internal/external factors. An impairment loss is recognized wherever the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the greater of the asset's net selling price and value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value at the weighted average cost of capital.

(e) Leases

Operating Lease

Where Company is Lessee

Leases where the lessor effectively retains substantially all the risks and benefits of ownership of the leased term, are classified as operating leases. Operating lease payments are recognized as an expense in the Profit and Loss account on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

(f) Investments

Investments that are readily realisable and intended to be held for not more than a year are classified as current investments. All other investments are classified as long-term investments. Current investments are carried at lower of cost and fair value determined on an individual investment basis. Long-term investments are carried at cost. However, provision for diminution in value is made to recognise a decline other than temporary in the value of the investments.

(g) Inventories

Inventories of raw material and components, stores and packing material, Traded and manufactured finished goods, and work-in-progress are valued at the lower of cost or net realisable value. However, materials and other items held for use in the production of inventories are not written down below cost if the finished product in which they will be incorporated are expected to be sold at or above cost. Cost of materials and traded goods are determined on the weighted average method. Cost of finished goods and work-in-progress comprises materials, labour and manufacturing overheads. Net realizable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less estimated costs of completion and estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

(h) Revenue Recognition

Revenue is recognized to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the revenue can be reliably measured.

Sale of Goods and Services

Sales are recognised on the basis of actual despatch to customers and are recorded net of discounts and sales taxes, but including excise duty. Service income is recognised over the period of the service contracts, in accordance with the terms of the contracts.

Interest

Revenue is recognised on a time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and the rate applicable.

Dividends

Revenue is recognised when the shareholders' right to receive payment is established by the balance sheet date.

(i) Product Warranty Costs

Product warranty costs have been provided in the books of account on the basis of expected claims as estimated by management.

(j) Foreign currency transactions

Initial Recognition

Foreign currency transactions are recorded in the reporting currency, by applying to the foreign currency amount the exchange rate between the reporting currency and the foreign currency at the date of the transaction.

Conversion

Foreign currency monetary items are reported using the closing rate. Non-monetary items which are carried in terms of historical cost denominated in a foreign currency are reported using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction; and non-monetary items which are carried at fair value or other similar valuation denominated in a foreign currency are reported using the exchange rates that existed when the values were determined.

Exchange Differences

Exchange differences arising on the settlement of monetary items or on reporting company's monetary items at rates different from those at which they were initially recorded during the year, or reported in previous financial statements, are recognised as income or as expenses in the year in which they arise.

Forward Exchange Contracts not intended for trading or speculation purposes

The premium or discount arising at the inception of forward exchange contracts is amortised as expense or income over the life of the contract. Exchange differences on such contracts are recognised in the statement of profit and loss in the year in which the exchange rates change. Any profit or loss arising on cancellation or renewal of forward exchange contract is recognised as income or as expense for the year.

(k) Retirement benefits

Retirement benefits to employees comprise contributions to gratuity, superannuation and provident funds as per the approved scheme of the Company.

Defined contributions to provident fund are charged to the profit and loss Account on accrual basis.

Contributions to superannuation fund with LIC through its employees' trust are charged to the profit and loss account on an accrual basis.

Gratuity liability is a defined benefit obligation and is provided on the basis of an actuarial valuation on projected unit credit method made at the end of each financial year.

Long term compensated absences are provided for based on actuarial valuation. The actuarial valuation is done as per projected unit credit method

Actuarial gains/losses are immediately taken to profit and loss account and are not deferred.

(I) Provision for tax

Tax expense comprises of current, deferred and fringe benefit tax. Current income tax and fringe benefit tax is measured at the amount expected to be paid to the tax authorities in accordance with the Income-tax Act, 1961 enacted in India. Deferred income taxes reflects the impact of current year timing differences between taxable income and accounting income for the year and reversal of timing differences of earlier years.

Deferred tax is measured based on the tax rates and the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date. Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset, if a legally enforceable right exists to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities relate to the taxes on income levied by same governing taxation laws. Deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised. In situations where the Company has unabsorbed depreciation or carry forward tax losses, all deferred tax assets are recognised only if there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that they can be realised against future taxable profits.

At each balance sheet date the Company re-assesses unrecognised deferred tax assets. It recognises unrecognised deferred tax assets to the extent that it has become reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date. The company writes-down the carrying amount of a deferred tax asset to the extent that it is no longer reasonably certain or virtually certain; as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which deferred tax asset can be realised. Any such write-down is reversed to the extent that it becomes reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available.

(m) Earnings per share

Basic earnings/loss per share is calculated by dividing the net profit or loss for the year attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year. For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the year attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average numbers of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

(n) Provisions

A provision is recognised when the Company has a present obligation as a result of past events and it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation, in respect of which a reliable estimate can be made. Provisions are not discounted to their present value and are determined based on best estimate required to settle the obligation at the balance sheet date. These are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimates. Contingent Liabilities are disclosed by way of Notes to the accounts. Contingent assets are not recognised.
