No Dividend is being declared for the year under review.

3. PROSPECTS FOR THE CURRENT YEAR

After several quarters of around 9 percent GDP growth, the rate moderated to 7.6 percent and 5.3 percent in the last quarters of 2008 and is expected to average 7 percent for the financial year 2009. The slow-down has been largely caused by a deceleration in the industrial growth from about 8.5 percent in the Financial Year 2008 to 2.4 percent in the third quarter of the Financial Year 2009. Surprisingly, the Agriculture sector slowed down from 4.5 percent in the Financial Year 2008 to -2.2 percent in the third quarter of Financial Year 2009. In contrast, the remarkable service sector success story remained intact as output grew 9.9 percent in the third quarter, down only slightly from 10.8 percent in 2008.

The moderation from previous years was due to several factors. The financial crisis and global slow-down affected both export growth in goods, services and hence industrial production as well as corporates' access to diverse and low cost funding. However, the fact that India's growth in the last few years has been fairly broad based (across sectors and regions) and balanced (with consumption, investment, savings and exports all rising) bodes well for the structural transformation of the economy as the business cycle enters a recovery phase, in the second half of Financial Year 2010.

4. MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS (MD & A)

This Report includes MD & A as appropriate so that duplication and overlap between Directors' Report and a separate MD & A is avoided and the entire material is provided in a Composite and Comprehensive manner.

5. INDUSTRY STRUCTURE AND DEVELOPMENT:

A structural shift has taken place in the Indian economy brought by changes in both the international and domestic environment. International credit markets tightened considerably on the back of rising defaults and foreclosures in the US mortgage market and the resultant risk aversion. Its impact was first felt in the mortgage-linked securities and the inter-bank money markets. A number of large US and European banks reported large loan losses and write-downs. The contagion effects subsequently spread to other asset classes including emerging markets bonds and equities.

6. OPPORTUNITIES:

- Low retail penetration of financial services/products in India
- Promising per-capita GDP
- Young population and attractive demographic profile.

THREATS:

- Competition from local and multinational players.
- Execution risk
- Regulatory changes.
- Attrition and retention of Human Capital.

7. PROSPECT AND OUTLOOK FOR THE FUTURE:

Economic Outlook

India's Wholesale Price Index, which was as high as 12.9 percent in August 2008 fell to 0.3 percent by March 2009 resulting in an average inflation of around 8 percent for the Financial Year 2009. The sharp fall in inflation was caused by a high base, a significant fall in Commodity prices and various duty cuts announced by the Government. Inflation is expected to remain low and may even enter the negative territory for a short term before moving up again towards the end of 2009.

Falling inflation and slowing growth gave the Reserve Bank of India enough room and reason to cut rates aggressively. From September 2008 to March 2009, the RBI has cut Repo, Reverse Repo and CRR by 400, 250 & 400 bps, respectively. This easing in monetary policy is likely to translate, with a lag, into a significant boost for the economy.

Global demand destruction due to the recent crisis led to a mere 3.4 percent growth in the export in Financial Year 2009 while higher Commodity prices (including edible) pegged the imports growth at 14.3 percent. This resulted in a trade deficit of US $ 119 billions in Financial Year 2009 compared US $ 88.5 billions in Financial Year 2008.

For the First Three Quarters in Financial Year 2009 the higher trade deficit, coupled with negative Capital flows, reduced India's Balance of Payment (BOP) surplus to a deficit of US $ 20.4 billions. After ten consecutive quarters of surpluses, there is second time in three quarters that BOP has ended in deficit. The Capital Account balance too turned negative (-US $ 3.7 billion) in third quarter Financial Year 2009 mainly due to outflows under portfolio investment, Banking capital & short term credit. Outflows under portfolio investment were led by large sales of equities by FII's and slow down in net inflows under ADRS / GDRS.

India's foreign exchange reserves declined by about US $ 59 billion in the Financial Year 2009 but still remained at an impressive US $ 250 billions in March 2009. The Country's current foreign exchange reserves far exceed its total official and private sector external debt making India's balance of payments position quite comfortable.

Since January 2009, Imports had declined more than exports due to both lower oil imports bills and slowing domestic investments and consumption. This has helped in narrowing out trade deficit further. The trade deficit for the month of March 2009 narrowed to US $ 4 billions (4.1 percent of GDP annualized) compared to US $ 14 billions in August, 2008. The year to year (YTD) monthly trade deficit declined by 36 percent in March 2009, compared with an average growth of 48.5 percent in the previous twelve months.

The crisis is forcing countries around the world to test the limits of their fiscal and monetary tools. Our economy remains fundamentally strong despite the adverse impact of the global financial crisis. With the right mix of macro economic policy and corporate strategy, we will emerge from this global recession stronger than before.
