MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS REPORT:

The spinning industry is the most modern and internationally competitive segment of India's textile industry. India's cotton yarn industry depends almost entirely on the counties farmers. These cotton formers have elevated India into the top ranks of global cotton producers. India is the world's second producer of cotton.

Your company is engaged in the manufacture of cotton yarn mainly in hank form which is used in handloom weaving and also in cotton ginning and trading activity. Your company supplies cotton yarn to Kolkata and Tamilnadu and to NHDC Lucknow, NHDC Hyderabad and most of the other NHDCs. Your Company manufactures 40's & 2/40's counts. Which is mainly used in making of hand woven fabrics for exports and for own consumption in India for manufacturing of Bed spreads and Chudidhar materials, and there are several competitors in the market, but still there is good demand for quality yarn.

Cotton prices have increased in the last couple of months after remaining strong throughout the cotton season. The main reason for the higher price is because of the increase in the support price of the Kappas. The Cotton Corporation of India was the major buyer of kappas in the market High cotton prices and the inability of the mills to procure at elevated price levels are impacting the textile industry. The effect of such higher prices is undeniably hurting the Indian textile industry.

The cotton crop touching record production ,despite good cotton production, prices are high and there is significant increase in raw cotton exports this year. By this the domestic mills are deprived of regular supply of raw material. This year also the cost of electivity and labour has gone up. This year the economic and industrial growth was moderate, but the textile industries have not shown any upward trend. This year the turnover is better than last year and your company tied to procure cotton at reduced prices for spinning and ginning activity. This year ginning activity turnover is more than the spinning activity turnover. Your company is able to make profit in spite of higher cotton prices and down tread in textile industry.

Opportunities, Threats, Risks and Concerns:

The continuing threat to the growth of the industry is availability of cotton, regular supply of power and availability of labour.

Due to high cotton prices and export of cotton to other counters, availability of cotton has become very poor for domestic industry. Due to high yarn prices the consumption of yarn has also been downsized. The recession in the European countries have affected the finished goods exports and the yarn exporting mills have entered into the domestic market which has increased the competition and the domestic market. Labour in another major threat to textile industry. Job opportunities are getting increased in urban areas like Bangalore and other bigger cities. Laborers moving to bigger cities. The Government rural schemes also attract the laborers. Every year we are increasing the average salary for laborers. But still availability of laborers has become poor. However the employer employee's relation remained cordial. The power is the other major threats to textile industry. The availability of continuous stabilized power supply is very important for the production in spinning industry. This year BESCOM has already started power cuts and power cuts are going to increase if the rains are not in time.

The plan of the company is to increase the production in cotton yarn and to increase the ginning and trading activity and to increase the overall turnover of the company and to increase the profitability of the company. This year company's profitability is very less compare to earlier years.
