MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

(Forming part of Directors' Report)

Industry Structure and Developments:

India's financial services sector will enjoy generally strong growth during coming years, driven by rising personal incomes, corporate restructuring, financial sector liberalization and the growth of a more consumer-oriented, credit-oriented culture. This should lead to increasing demand for financial products, including consumer loans (especially for cars and homes), as well as for insurance and pension products. This is expected to lead to increasing demand for financial products, including consumer loans (especially for cars and homes), as well as for insurance and pension products.

The Indian financial services industry is in a process of rapid transformation. Reforms are continuing as part of the overall structural reforms aimed at improving the productivity and efficiency of the economy. The role of an integrated financial infrastructure is to stimulate and sustain economic growth.

Opportunities:

Financial sector in India has experienced a better environment to grow with the presence of higher competition. The financial system in India is regulated by independent regulators in the field of banking, insurance, mortgage and capital market. Government of India plays a significant role in controlling the financial market in India.

Outlook:

With a population of more than a billion, a mere 1% of the population participates in capital markets, and of that only a fraction is active. Emerging markets like India have exhibited a strong growth momentum, driven by a robust demand, consumption and savings rate.

Financial institutions have combated the reduction in interest rates and pressure on their margins by constantly innovating and targeting attractive consumer segments. Banks and trade financiers have also played an important role in promoting foreign trade of the country.

Challenges, Risks and Concerns:

A huge challenge for financial institutions today is functioning and retaining their efficiency in such uncertain times. Business models are undergoing a structural change to accommodate the changing regulations and foster growth. There needs to be a well-defined framework which will withstand disruptions and lead the financial markets towards growth and progression.

Human Resources Development and Industrial Relations:

Vijay Growth Financial Services Ltd firmly believes that the Human Assets are more critical than physical and financial assets as they are the ones who manage and sustain the growth of physical and financial assets of the company. The Company is well on its way in establishing an integrated system of workforce, which endeavors to develop the capability of its employees that clearly aligns with the business objectives and performance.

Further, we also encourage individual and team awards to sustain and institutionalize the various workforce practices. This helped in giving lots of encouragement to the workforce who have been striving hard to achieve various goals.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

(Forming part of Directors' Report)

Industry Structure and Developments:

The Indian finance industry is an industry in itself as well as an ancillary that supports other industries. Trade and commerce across the world would come to a standstill if there was no means to fund, pay and protect the transactions, hence the need for governments to support the financial services industry when companies that are 'too big to fail' are close to collapse.

The Indian financial services industry is in a process of rapid transformation. Reforms are continuing as part of the overall structural reforms aimed at improving the productivity and efficiency of the economy. The role of an integrated financial infrastructure is to stimulate and sustain economic growth.

Segment Wise Analysis of the Industry:

Indian financial services sector will enjoy generally strong growth during coming years, driven by rising personal incomes, corporate restructuring, financial sector liberalization and the growth of a more consumer-oriented, credit-oriented culture. This should lead to increasing demand for financial products, including consumer loans (especially for cars and homes), as well as for insurance and pension products.

India's financial services sector is expected to enjoy generally strong growth during coming years, driven by rising personal incomes, corporate restructuring, financial sector liberalization and the growth of a more consumer-oriented, credit-oriented culture. This is expected to lead to increasing demand for financial products, including consumer loans (especially for cars and homes), as well as for insurance and pension products.

Opportunities:

Financial sector in India has experienced a better environment to grow with the presence of higher competition. The financial system in India is regulated by independent regulators in the field of banking, insurance, mortgage and capital market. Government of India plays a significant role in controlling the financial market in India.

Outlook:

With a population of more than a billion, a mere 1% of the population participates in capital markets, and of that only a fraction is active. Emerging markets like India have exhibited a strong growth momentum, driven by a robust demand, consumption and savings rate.

Financial institutions have combated the reduction in interest rates and pressure on their margins by constantly innovating and targeting attractive consumer segments. Banks and trade financiers have also played an important role in promoting foreign trade of the country.

Challenges, Risks and Concerns:

A huge challenge for financial institutions today is functioning and retaining their efficiency in such uncertain times. Business models are undergoing a structural change to accommodate the changing regulations and foster growth. There needs to be a well-defined framework which will withstand disruptions and lead the financial markets towards growth and progression.
