MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS REPORT

Cautionary Statement

This Management Discussion and Analysis statements of Annual Report has been included in adherence to the spirit enunciated in the code of corporate Governance approved by the Securities and Exchange Board of India, Statement in the Management Discussion and Analysis describing the Company's objectives, projections estimates expectation may be "Forward-Looking Statement" within the meaning of applicable securities laws and regulation. These statements are subject to certain risks and uncertainties. Actual result could differ materially from those expressed or implied. Important factors that could make a difference to the Company's operations include economic conditions affecting demand/ supply and price conditions in the Government policies, economic development, political factors and such other factors beyond the control of the Company.

Overview

Advanced technology has been the forte of AJANTA. Its state-of-the-art manufacturing plant has been following the highest standards of quality with an emphasis on sustainability. The Company after successful expansion in its refining capacity is now focusing on increasing the capacity utilization by market expansion for its different products and their variants for growing market demands.

Superior procurement and trading skills, continuous innovation, an endeavor to meet consumer needs and stringent quality control standards have enabled AJANTA to emerge as a highly-respected and admired Edible Oil company.

Company is also investing continuously towards energy saving by adopting appropriate technologies as a measure to contribute to reduction in industrial pollution.

The management of the unit is very progressive by nature and the company's affairs are being managed by highly qualified/ experienced professionals and the Company is promoted by well-established group having a proven track record in the field of edible oil.

Industrial Outlook

The top five edible oils consumed in India are palm oil, soyabean oil, rapeseed/mustard oil, groundnut oil and sunflower oil. In volume terms, while groundnut oil accounts for around 6-7 per cent of total edible oil demand in India, rapeseed/mustard oil and soyabean oil account for 12 per cent and 16 per cent respectively. Palm oil accounts for the highest consumption, to the tune of around 45 per cent.

During the period 2014-15, edible oil consumption grow at a relatively higher pace, mainly driven by lower prices along with structural factors such as growth in population and per capita consumption. Imports will continue to rise as domestic production is affected by delayed and untimely rains. Operating margins of players are expected to remain flat in FY 2015-16. Also, the credit profile of the industry is expected to remain stretched as players operate with wafer-thin margins.

Since October 2011, the profitability of domestic players has reduced due to an inverted duty structure in Indonesia. In January 2014, the Government of India increased the duty differential between refined and crude oils to 7.5 per cent, which is expected to provide a marginal relief to Indian refiners. On the other hand, the government regulates minimum support price of different oilseeds to help farmers boost production and facilitate distribution and purchase. Over the past few years, MSPs have been hiked regularly, thus affecting the profitability of Indian edible oil manufacturers.

We did observe that commodity companies especially in the edible oils sector were losing money. Vanaspati also has been reeling from health related issues within the consumer domain.

Further India's Economic status for the year has been stable. With Consumer price index and current account deficit under control, markets has rebounded. The Export market did not rise up to the expectations. Volatility of Indian Rupee was under control. The Economy has shown remarkable resilience to both external and domestic shocks. The country had good and timely rains which contributed to Country's growth.

Opportunities and Threats

The edible oils industry is highly competitive and fragmented. Severe price competition and overcapacity, especially in primary crushing units, has kept operating margins thin. The risks are more pronounced for unbranded players who face the threat of new entrants, price-sensitive consumers and substitutes. On the other hand, branded players are price makers and face lower threat from new players and substitutes.

The edible oil market is expected to be dominated by various national and multinational players due to the increasing import dependence of the country in the near future. Rice bran and blended oil market are expected to be the fastest growing categories in the entire edible oil segment with Oils such as Mustard, Sunflower, Groundnut and Cottonseed tend to remain region specific in the near future with a moderate fluctuation in their prices.

Risks and Concerns

Key risks for the edible oils sector include risks from change in import-export regulations; change in the minimum support price (MSP) on oilseeds offered by the government; high dependence on monsoons and finally, the risk arising out of exchange rate fluctuations. Procurement of oilseeds at the right price and quantity, optimum utilization of processing units, their strategic location, a strong brand name and diversification of product offerings are likely to be the key success determinants for players.
