B) TECHNOLOGY ABSORPTION

a) Research & Development

1. Specific area in which R & D was carried out:

- a) Developed new generation syntans based on Di Sulphone. After thorough testing in-house and at customer end, the results are completely satisfactory and the product has met all the performance parameters. The product has been launched for application in furniture upholstery leather and the feedback is very encouraging.

As of now the product is based on imported base material which has higher purity than what is locally available. The commercial viability has been validated using the imported base material.

- b) The project to develop fully-synthetic automotive leather fatliquor could not be concluded. Various approaches were tried and all the results point only towards adopting the polymeric intermediates. The company has reoriented its strategy and has developed many polymeric intermediates with the view to compound with other synthetic lubricating materials. Considering the complexity of the project, the company had approached M/s. Vismon-Spain to jointly carry out this research, but even they have not been able to conclude the formula in past six months. The work is on-going and is expected to take another one year.
- c) Due to ongoing expansion of "Restricted Substance List" (RSL) under REACH, the company has faced significant challenges in developing detection techniques on banned substances using chromatography techniques. But by deploying external testing agencies, the company has ensured that all its products remain free from restricted substances. All domestic and export customers are being continuously supported with appropriate certification.

2. Benefits derived as a result of above R & D.

- a) Due to addition of Di-Sulphone syntans the company has strengthened its presence in high value added products which are import substitutes. As the competition in commodity syntans is increasing, the development of di sulphone resin will enable the company to avoid a drop in profit margins on syntans which are facing price pressure due to higher fuel cost.
- b) The continuous updating of detection techniques on banned substances has ensured that the company continues its presence in European market where the exports are not possible without complying with REACH requirements.

3. Future Plan of Action

- a) To develop chromatography techniques for detection of SCCP (Short Chain Chlorinated Paraffin) and MCCP (Medium Chain Chlorinated Paraffin) in various raw materials & to ensure all finished products are free from them. For this a new Chromatograph from Agilent US has been ordered. After its installation, the detection techniques will be standardized.
- b) To continue development project of fully-synthetic automotive leather fat liquor in collaboration with Vismon Spain.
- c) To evaluate performance of ICAP IRSEA, Italy product – especially very soft acrylics and Polyurethanes for the purpose of import and compounding. The company has held preliminary discussions with M/s. ICAP SIRA and wishes to rework its product portfolio to remain abreast with newer trends in leather finishing.

4. Expenditure on R & D. (Rs. in lacs)

i) Capital	:	2.41
ii) Recurring	:	58.15
iii) TOTAL	:	60.56
iv) Total R & D expenditure as percentage of total turnover	:	1.53 %

b) Technology Absorption, Adaptation & Innovation

(as per Form-B of the annexure to this rule)

- 1. Efforts made towards technology absorption and innovation.
 - i) All indigenously developed technologies have been commercialized except for "Polymeric Fatliquors".
 - ii) All previously imported technologies have been fully absorbed and commercialized.

c) Foreign Exchange Earnings & Outgo

- a) The company's foreign exchange earnings out of export (Inclusive of foreign exchange fluctuations) were Rs. 1,673 lacs.
- b) The expenditure in foreign exchange during the financial year under review is Rs. 372.62 lacs. This is related to payment towards raw materials, import of capital goods, payment of overseas travel of directors & employees.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSIONS AND ANALYSIS REPORT

a. Industry Structure

The domestic and foreign leather industry has remained stable with robust demand and order book.

Leather has become a symbol of luxury and its use in luxury articles, furniture and automotive continues to grow in spite of economic recession in some European countries. Indian tanneries are also utilizing their full potential after stabilization of the individual or common effluent treatment plants. The depreciation of Indian rupee w.r.t. USD will have a positive effect in exports of leather and will also boost export of leather chemicals. Indian leather industry which still suffers from quality / price issues is making all out efforts to compete with China and that is good news for leather chemical sector.

b. Opportunities & Threats

Opportunities:

Leather industry remains a labour intensive industry worldwide. Due to lower labour cost in India, the leather industry will continue to grow in India. The emerging tanneries in furniture and automotive leather industry at Kanpur, Jalandhar and Kolkatta have already put India in the elite club of high-fashion leather producing countries like Italy and Turkey. These tanneries will eventually require advanced chemical technologies which are environment friendly and the company is ready with latest offerings to service this sector.

The shift of leather production from Western Europe to Asia continues due to differential wage structure. As per data gathered during participation in international leather fairs, emerging Asian economies like Vietnam, Bangladesh and Thailand are expanding their leather production infrastructure. Even in India the ban on export of unfinished leather stays in place ensuring significant value addition to leather through application of chemicals. Since the company's product range conforms to the REACH regulations, the company can expect a continued growth in demand of its products from both these markets in the long-term.

Threats:

There is no significant threat except the inflation and wide fluctuation in foreign currencies. The current depreciation of INR vs USD may affect the profitability of those products which are dependent on imported raw materials as the entire material cost increase cannot be passed on to the tanners. Fluctuation in International petroleum prices, further affecting the prices of raw materials, can also affect the profitability.

c. Segment-wise or product-wise performance

Product wise, the company expects growth in wet-end segment in the domestic sector and for exports the company is relying on its updated product offering in finishing. Customers producing gloving in Kolkatta and upholstery at Kanpur leather have remained the focus during the year. There is significant improvement in market share at Jalandhar leather producing belt. Company's thrust to tap some international dealers who buy in neutral unbranded packing has added significant volumes.

The syntan division which yields just 10% of sale and consumes 80% of the fuel cost has been a serious concern due to rising cost of diesel. The company is planning a continuous production shift to reduce fuel cost and may outsource some commodity items.

d. Outlook

Safety and environment regulations on banned substances will bring new challenges and make tougher demands on leather chemical industry. Company's laboratories are fully competent to meet such demands. The challenge of rising fuel cost will need to be addressed through more energy efficient production cycle. The general outlook for leather industry in India is bright and company's export thrust will remain the growth engine for future. The company foresees a huge potential in Latin American Markets where the company has not been able to make any in - roads so far. The company plans to initiate a representative office in the US to service these markets after obtaining required statutory approvals in the coming year.

e. Risks & Concerns

Company's main concern in the coming year will be environment and safety regulations and to remain updated. Inflation, energy costs and shortage of unskilled labour have also been a reason of worry and concern. Foreign exchange and petroleum price stability are essential to ensure a steady demand and a control on the input costs.

f. Internal control systems and their adequacy

The company's internal controls on costs, yield and profitability remain very tight. Each raw material cost is notified to higher management for a pricing review. A regular monitoring of fuel cost, deployment of contracted unskilled labour force is monitored on daily basis. Supplies to domestic dealers are linked to their payments through a computerized control. A tight check on bank charges is also evident in reduced financial expenses. Due to installation of CCTV camera system, there are reduced incidences of pilferage of items lying in open yards.

The future controls will be targeted to reduce turnaround time of inventory and reduce delivery period. A new production planning and scheduling system has been introduced to track orders and delivery.

g. Discussion on financial performance with respect to operational performance

Higher sales revenues in export market as compared to previous years are due to a well planned expansion of markets, dealers and products. Higher exports have also yielded higher profitability as the export product portfolio is mainly for those items where the value addition is higher as compared to general product range.

h. Material developments in Human Resources / Industrial Relation front, including number of people employed

The company's workforce across various levels remains highly motivated. There is deeper involvement of departmental heads in improving product quality and services. The pool of key executives has been able to take charge of the day-to-day operations. The senior managers are able to handle strategic expansion plans requiring deep understanding of engineering involved. Staff, managers and executives continue to be rewarded with bonuses and increments as a token of appreciation to their commitment.

The numbers of employees as on 01.07.2013 was 92.

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

1. Company's Philosophy on Corporate Governance

The company has strictly adhered to the model code in corporate governance and has strictly complied with various statutory regulations.

Fairness to shareholders and common bodies, transparency, disclosures and accountability has been the guiding philosophy on company's day to day and long term operational goals.

2. Board of Directors

The Board of directors consists of ten directors, two executive directors and eight non-executive directors. Out of the eight non-executive directors, two are nominees of the collaborators i.e., ICAP Sira Chemicals & Polymers SpA, Italy.
