REPORT ON MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Industry Structure and Developments

Your Company is in the business of manufacturing & trading of Healthcare products, mainly Medical X-Ray Films and supply of other products to the Healthcare Industry. The other products of the Company include medical consumables and equipments. Your Company's growth is directly linked to the growth of the Healthcare Services Delivery business in India.

India's world ranking in health outcomes is quite low. It ranks in the bottom quartile for most of the basic healthcare indicators. Low public expenditure on healthcare is possibly the most important factor responsible for the persistent poor health outcomes.

Public expenditure on healthcare is very low and has remained stagnant for many years. Further, this limited public spending remained skewed towards curative tertiary care as against preventive, primary and secondary care.

Private healthcare infrastructure thrived as it proved to be more responsive to the needs of the populace. Consequently, there was a substantial increase in scale and widening of private healthcare offerings and the continuous evolution allowed it to firmly entrench itself in the landscape.

The Government has undertaken initiatives to address the lacuna in Healthcare Accessibility and Human Development Measures. While these have met with some improvement, the increased public expenditure on these schemes have not yielded the desired results. Further, Government efforts to empower and engage communities in the planning and delivery of healthcare have also produced sporadic results. There have been attempts to leverage private sector efficiencies and capacities through Public Private Partnerships (PPPs).

Year at a Glance:

The turnover of the company for the year under review has decreased to Rs. 3038.66 lac from Rs. 5085.38 lac. This was primarily due to discontinuation of unprofitable and low margin products.

However, PAT of the Company has decreased to Rs. 93.81 lac for the year 2016-2017 as compared to Rs. 216.79 lac for the 2015-16.

Product Wise Performance:

The products of your company can be divided into two broad classes Manufacturing and Trading. The manufacturing products mainly consist of Medical X-Ray films. The trading products consist of other consumables and equipments for the Healthcare Industry. During the year manufacturing goods turnover decreased from Rs. 4516.38 lac to Rs. 2817.32 lac (Gross) and the trading goods turnover has decreased from Rs. 537.16 lac to Rs. 217.05 lac.

Outlook:

While the public sector is vast, it is sorely underfunded and not large enough to meet the growing needs of the country. Private healthcare service providers are acknowledged to be geographically pervasive and therefore easy to access, possessing technical and managerial skills that are often not found in public hospitals, innovative and flexible in the deployment of resources and perceived to provide services of better quality with greater efficiency. The private sector is also dominant in the field of medical education as well as manufacturing of medical equipment, pharmaceuticals and provision of diagnostic services.

The growth of the private sector is expected to continue. This is due to the introduction of macro-economic policies that recognized the healthcare sector as an industry and stimulus provided for private sector investment through tax concessions, willingness of the people to pay for health services, and demand arising from a rapid increase in non-communicable diseases (NCDs).

These trends only bode well for the healthcare ecosystem in India as it will widen and deepen offerings to enable greater access to healthcare.

Opportunities and Threats:

India has embarked upon journey of healthcare system transformation. The government introduced important structural reforms and has reemphasized its vision of creating access to minimum set of healthcare services for all. Growth in next decade will be closely linked with nature and extent of reforms.

Increased globalization and faster flow of information has broken traditional barriers and transformed the world into a global marketplace. From the comfort of their own homes patients can now evaluate healthcare institutions across the globe by assessing clinical outcomes, evaluate physician success rates and compare healthcare costs at facilities in all corners of the world.

This has led to a sharp growth in the number of people who travel to undergo medical procedures giving rise to the term Medical Value Travel. Healthcare service providers have now realized that their potential market has widened considerably and hence adopt global accreditation standards which help to improve their standing and profile in the global marketplace.

The Make in India campaign aims to have medical equipment manufactured in India itself to bring costs down and make healthcare reach the poorest of the poor all across the country.

The traditional hospitalization model remains the dominant healthcare services delivery model in the ecosystem, there has been a proliferation of daycare and short stay centres, maternity centres and home healthcare offerings. New technology and improved processes are driving large volumes of basic treatments, corrective procedures and surgeries of low complexity out of the confines of the traditional hospital environment.

Risks and Concerns:

The progress made by private healthcare service providers in the last few years has been largely concentrated in urban areas. These areas are now home to a wide variety of facilities offering single specialty, multi-specialty, primary care, quaternary care as well as value added services and personalized offerings. These urban markets cater to local residents as well as international medical value travelers. Thus there is a vast disparity in offerings between the metros and urban centres vis-a-vis the semi-urban and rural areas in the country.

Post liberalization, the insurance industry recorded significant growth with the number of private players significantly increasing. For the purpose of regulation, health insurance companies are classified as non-life companies. Low health insurance penetration is one of the major impediments to the growth of the healthcare delivery industry in India as affordability of quality healthcare facilities by the lower income groups continues to remain an issue.

A fundamental indicator of the social and economic development of a country is the health of its population. Despite experiencing substantial economic progress over the last 25 years, India continues to rank low on many of the basic health indicators. Apart from trailing developed nations, India compares unfavorably even with its economic peers, other Asian countries and many of its neighbors. Despite the progress made, the industry faces major challenges which need to address.
