The upcoming implementation of the Real Estate Regulatory Act, 2016 has given further impetus to consolidation in the industry and your Company believes there is considerable opportunity for your Company to earn significant revenues in future. With these kind of opportunities available and with our ambition to considerably scale the business, it is important for the Company to conserve cash, hence the Board of Directors has, therefore, not recommended any dividend for the financial year ended March 31, 2017.

The over all performance for the financial year ended 31st March, 2017 was satisfactory. The loss of company incurred during the year were amounted to Rs. 46.80 lacs. However, your Directors are confident that the company will do much better in future and trying its level best to further improve its performance.

FUTURE PROSPECTS AND OUTLOOK OF THE COMPANY

A cyclical downturn combined with demonetization and the implementation of the Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016 has created short-term uncertainty in the sector. However these same factors will lead to consolidation and improved governance in the sector, which in turn will drive improved consumer confidence. The combination of this improved consumer confidence with far improved affordability that is the result of rising incomes, stagnant prices and reduced interest rates will propel the sector in a very positive direction over the next several years. The infrastructure status accorded to affordable housing is a game changing move that will open up more institutional sources for developers to raise funds at a competitive price. This move will encourage leading developers to enter this segment. We expect 2017 to be a transition year but the years ahead are likely to be very exciting ones for real estate development in India. Our brand, national presence, demonstrated track record and capabilities put us in a strong position to disproportionately benefit from any improvement in the environment and will allow us to remain on a high growth in the years ahead.

DEPOSITORY SYSTEM

Our Company's equity shares are available for dematerialization through National Securities Depository Limited and Central Depository Services (India) Limited.

TO THE DIRECTORS' REPORT MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS REPORT

ANNEXURE-V

GLOBAL ECONOMY

According to the World Economic Outlook (WEO) update, economic activity is projected to pick up pace in 2017 after a subdued 2016. The primary factor underlying the strengthening global outlook for 2017-18 is the projected pickup in emerging market and developing economies (EMDE's) growth. The WEO expects gradual normalization of conditions in a number of large economies that are currently experiencing macroeconomic strains.

INDIAN ECONOMY

As per the World Bank report, India's economic growth is expected to see an uptick at 7.2% in FY 2017-18. It is expected to further accelerate to 7.5% in 2018-19 underpinned by a recovery in private investments, which are expected to be crowded in by the recent increase in public capex and an improvement in the investment climate. The implementation of the GST could prove to be a significant "upside risk" to economic activity in 2017-18.

According to the Central Statistics Office (CSO), the Indian economy is estimated to grow at 7.1% in FY17. Consumer inflation moderated to 4.5% in FY17 and is likely to remain below 5% in FY18. In addition, continued fiscal consolidation, by reducing government deficits and debt accumulation, and an anti-inflationary monetary policy stance have helped to cement macroeconomic stability. The Goods and Service Tax (GST) has been identified as one of the most important tax reforms post-independence. It will enhance the efficiency of production and movement of goods and services across Indian states. The GST will unify India into a single market with easy compliance, broaden the tax base and improve productivity. While there remains a potential for disruption in the short run, given the scale of change, the long term potential of this reform is immense.

REAL ESTATE SECTOR

AN OVERVIEW

As a landmark year for the country - and the real estate industry - draws to a close, it's time to analyze what happened in 2016 and what to expect in 2017. For the real estate industry, 2016 saw the biggest changes in decades, especially on the policy front. Some of the biggest game-changing policies like GST and RERA cleared hurdles, and are on their way to full implementation. The demonitisation move caused considerable turmoil, however, along with the Benami Transactions Act, it promises to bring greater transparency in the real estate sector.

Affordable housing will come into sharper focus now than in previous years, and REITs promise to open up the real estate market to smaller investors in the coming year. The country's real estate markets are definitely poised for growth in the medium-to-long term on the back of higher transparency and further consolidation. India's Tier-I cities moved up to the 36th rank in JLL's biannual Global Real Estate Transparency Index in 2016 due to improvements in structural reforms and liberalization of the foreign direct investment (FDI) policy.

In line with the government's reformist approach to boost the real estate and housing sectors that hold key to the GDP growth, the budget has provided a big push to this sector through a number of initiatives. The infrastructure status accorded to affordable housing is a game changing move that will open up more institutional sources for developers to raise funds at competitive price. The interest subvention scheme on home loans for buyers in the budget segment will encourage a lot of buyers who are looking to purchase their first home. The implementation of RERA and GST, lower home loan interest rate regime and fiscal benefits for taxpayers in the Union Budget has improved sentiment which is extremely important for the revival of the sector. The sector will witness a transformation in 2017 on account of the implementation of various policy changes as developers recalibrate their businesses to the changing environment.

India came 4th in developing Asia in terms of FDI inflows as per the World Investment report 2016 by the United Nations Conference for Trade and Development. Thanks to a proactive government keen on improving India's ranking on different indices and strengthening public institutions, the country is poised to become a modern economy.

RESIDENTIAL REAL ESTATE

A Pan-India trend that emerged in 2016 was that a higher number of units were sold every quarter (1Q16-3Q16) than new project launches in the same period. A slowing number of new launches helped reduce the inventory overhang. Demonetization will result in the fourth quarter readings being drastically different from the first three quarters once they come in.

Even as the inventory overhang reduces, the three biggest markets in terms of volumes of unsold units (including under-construction) are NCR, Mumbai and Bangalore. By volume, NCR stands 37%, which is more than a third of India's unsold (including under-construction) residential inventory.

Less than 5% units among the total unsold inventory across the three metros are ready for possession. Bengaluru, a largely end-user-driven market, has the lowest unsold inventory in project launches up to the year 2010. It is selling almost all units by completion of construction.

In Mumbai, the percentage is higher, but if we discount the longer timelines it takes for large projects to complete, it would fall under 5%. There are many large projects, high-rises, slum rehabilitation and other redevelopment projects that take a longer time to get completed, prolonging the overall project timelines in the city. Delhi-NCR is burdened with oversupply and dead stock of delayed and stalled projects.

COMMERCIAL REAL ESTATE

The availability of right space at right location remains a challenge for many occupiers, about 38-40 million sqft of new space will be added in 2017. Thanks to more investment in infrastructure, tier-II cities such as Pune, Hyderabad and Chennai are expected to drive office demand in 2017.

BRAND REALTY SERVICES LIMITED

Quality spaces are already available at competitive rentals in tier-II cities compared to tier-III and tier IV cities, and the former will see more supply in the years ahead. Even as vacancy lowers across key cities, the supply of good quality assets continues to diminish. Vacancy in high-quality assets is far lower than average vacancy. Assets of poorer quality or at inferior locations or which are strata-sold (in Delhi-NCR and Mumbai) have a much higher vacancy, except in the IT cities like Bangalore, Pune, Hyderabad and Chennai.

The scarce future supply may limit the absorption to be realized. The net absorption in 2017 is likely to be lower than this year due to scarce supply, and this may be acute in Chennai and Pune. Rents will resultantly grow in even in Grade-B buildings and in certain micro-markets. The pace of rental growth will not be uniform across cities and micro-markets, as some may have run their course already.

Demand for office space is evolving and more corporate across industries will adopt innovative workplaces in the near future. Collaborative office spaces with open areas to boost employee productivity geared to attract and retain talent will gain importance from 2017. Going ahead, tech-enhanced offices with a focus on sustainability and energy-efficiency will command higher rents.

To reduce their financial burden and also to motivate and retain talent, more corporate could turn towards co-working spaces. There is currently very limited supply of co-working spaces; however, once that situation improves, the demand for them will be considerable. As bigger co-working players enter India and more such facilities emerge across cities, this category will prove to be a disruptor.

Developers, private equity funds and REITs will continue to invest in premium office assets, and in up gradation of existing buildings that they own into higher-quality ones. With the implementation of RERA, there will be standardization of space standards. This will, in turn, help these stakeholders to render their assets REIT-compliant. Due to RERA, REITs and demonetization, more and more office assets will become institutionalized. The demand for strata-sales will also decline, especially in Delhi-NCR and Mumbai.

OPPORTUNITIES

Rapid Urbanization

At present, there is a shortage of 18.8 million homes across urban centers of India. The effect of urbanization is the most profound in Tier-1 cities where a huge influx of migrants is causing housing demand to surge. This trend has significantly increased the demand for housing in the urban context.

Monetary Easing

Housing demand will get a big boost with interest rates on home loans becoming cheaper following steep cut in lending rates by major banks. Post demonetization, home loan rates have also fallen to 8.25-8.65%, and are at the lowest levels in the last eight years. A rollback in rates positively impacts sentiment and encourages home buyers and real estate developers.

Middle income housing

The government of India has significantly enhanced the scope of the internet subsidy scheme targeted at middle income housing. This scheme covers households earning up to INR 18 lakhs per annum with an upper limit on carpet area of 110 square meters and with no cap on the value of the house. This enhances the coverage of the scheme as it will cover a vast majority of middle income population in major metro and Tier -1 cities.

Under this scheme, The Government of India through a lending institution (banks/NBFCs) will give a subsidy of 3% for a home loan till INR 9 Lakhs and 4% for a home loan till INR 12 Lakhs. This will be subject to income classifications of MIG-1 (annual income of INR 12 Lakhs) or MIG- 2 (annual income of INR 18 Lakhs) with the house being bought under 90/110 square meters limit. The home loan subsidy under the scheme will directly be taken from the government and credited to the home loan seeker's bank account by the lending institution via Aadhar. Since the scheme does not cap the value of the house, it implies that any middle income housing project can qualify under the scheme subject to the family buying it is falling under the above income limits. This is a powerful catalyst to drive home ownership.

Real Estate Reforms

The Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016 is a Government of India initiative to bring about the much needed transparency and order to the real estate transactions by creating a systematic and a uniform regulatory environment, thereby protecting consumer interest and making real estate developers accountable for timely completion of projects. From 1 May, 2017, the entire Act has been brought into force by the Central Government (except in the State of Jammu and Kashmir) thereby embarking the beginning of a new era in the real estate sector of the country. So far, only a few states have come up with their rules.

Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) in Real Estate

India allowed Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) in the real estate sector in 2005. With an increased need of meeting the growing housing demand in India, the Ministry of Housing and Urban Poverty Alleviation made proposals to ease FDI norms in real estate projects.

Finalization of Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs) regulations

The Real Estate Investment Trust ("REIT") structure consists of a single company or group, owning and managing assets on behalf of their investors. REITs primarily invest in completed real estate assets that generate revenue and the majority of their earnings are distributed among investors. REITs are thus a low-risk investment avenue providing regular income. Globally REITs have proven to be an attractive investment option ensuring participation from retail investors, pension funds and insurance companies.

Increased Private Equity (PE) Investments

The overcrowded real estate sector is going to become a lot leaner and meaner, with consolidation happening by ways of joint developments and joint ventures between landowners and/or small developers with bigger, better-organized players, smaller developers being bought out by larger players, and struggling developers cashing in their land banks by selling them to players with stronger balance sheets and appetite for growth. The pace at which this happens will depend on how much equity gets infused into the sector by the larger PE investors, and the strategy that foreign and domestic developers adopt. Some foreign developers have already entered the country, setting up base and obviously playing for keeps. Some investors and developers will take plunge into the market now, while others will prefer to ride the fence for a while; but one way or the other, consolidation will be the name of the game for the Indian real estate industry over the next five years. Larger players will peak in strength by around 2021, and smaller players will be eroded.

UNION BUDGET 2017

Union Budget 2017 proposed several positive measures for the real estate sector. Below are some of the key measures:

Affordable Housing

In a move to provide impetus to the affordable housing segment, the Union Budget has assigned infrastructure status to affordable housing projects. This will result in better access to funding (including land funding), longer tenure loans and lower cost of funding for developers. The qualifying size of affordable houses has been amended from built up area to carpet area (carpet area of 30 and 60 square meters in metro and non-metro cities respectively) to expand the ambit of homes which fall under this category.

The Union Budget 2016-17 provided 100% deduction benefits to real estate developers for any profits arising out from affordable housing projects, subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions including the project being completed within 3 years. However, a building requires a larger number of other approvals, including fire NOC, etc., which are time consuming. As a result it was extremely difficult for developers to complete projects within 3 years from receiving the building/layout plan approvals. The Finance Bill, 2017 proposes to increase this time limit to five years which is in line with realistic delivery timelines.

The affordable housing segment has seen limited participation from private developers despite high demand. Profit linked exemption along with the infrastructure status for affordable housing will incentivize developers to undertake more affordable housing projects, thus increasing private player's participation in the sector.

Long term capital gains concessions

The holding period for capital gains arising from immovable property has been reduced from 36 months to 24 months. Further, the base year for indexation benefits will be shifted from April 1, 1981 to April 1, 2001. These steps are expected to reduce the capital gains tax burden on property sellers, improve liquidity and enhance the marketability of real estate as an asset class.

THREATS AND CHALLENGES

Regulatory Hurdles

There are substantial procedural delays with regards to land acquisition, land use, project launches and construction approvals. Retrospective policy changes and regulatory bottlenecks may impact profitability and affect the attractiveness of the sector and companies operating within the sector.

Funding Problems

The RBI has set sectoral caps for the total maximum exposure of banks to real estate including individual housing loans and lending to developers for construction finance which is quite low and is curtailing the growth of the sector. Absence of long term funding from banks is forcing developers to look at alternative sources of funds most of which do not offer affordable interest rates.

Shortage of manpower & Technology

Despite being the second largest employer in the country the construction sector as a whole faces manpower shortage. Further the sector is heavily dependent on manual labour which increases the timelines for construction companies and results in supply getting deferred. Hence technologically less labour intensive alternative methods of constructions need to be adopted on a large scale through training and skill development of manpower.

FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE

COMPANY OUTLOOK

A cyclical downturn combined with demonetization and the implementation of the Real estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016 has created short-term uncertainty in the sector. However these same factors will lead to consolidation and improved governance in the sector, which in turn will drive improved consumer confidence. The combination of this improved consumer confidence with far improved affordability that is the result of rising incomes, stagnant prices, and reduced interest rates will propel the sector in a very positive direction over the next several years. The infrastructure status accorded to affordable housing is a game changing move that will open up more institutional sources for developers to raise funds at competitive price. This move will encourage leading developers to enter this segment. We expect 2017 to be a transition year for the sector with things starting out slow but seeing a dramatic improvement
