MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS REPORT

1. INDIAN ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

In addition to the impact of the global economic slowdown, India has also had to proactively manage a series of domestic challenges. Slower than required pace of reforms, a high current account deficit and rising inflation have all resulted in overall suppressed economic growth. In addition, the Indian Rupee depreciated significantly against major currencies during the course of the year. The limitations of the current regulatory framework have highlighted supply side restrictions, which in turn have resulted in the slowdown of project approvals. As a result, the Manufacturing Sector registered a growth of 1.9% in 2012-13, down from 2.7% in 2011-12. Export growth in 2012-13 was 5.1%, compared to 15.3% in the previous year.

However, recent efforts to contain the current account deficit, boost infrastructure spending and attract foreign investment have started to restore business confidence. An improvement in the IIP, the initiation of infrastructure projects, a positive move in the current account balance and rising FDI inflows have further strengthened investor confidence and the demand outlook. The IMF forecasts India's GDP growth at 3.8% in 2013 and at 5.1% in 2014.

2. INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

2.1 Indian Automobile Industry

Domestic Automotive Production increased by 1.2% and sales by 2.5% for the year ended in 2013, with the industry having faced significant headwinds. Consumer sentiment has been largely impacted by high fuel prices, increased financing costs and overall economic uncertainty. Despite the heavy discounts and exchange benefits offered at dealerships, sales volumes have remain depressed and consumers continued to postpone their purchases. Heavy and commercial vehicle sales have experienced greater compression in demand levels compared to passenger cars. The key infrastructure and capital goods sectors continue to remain challenged by high interest rates, rising input costs, intense competition and delays in policy implementation. The Tractor Industry experienced a decline of 5% in domestic sales volumes during the year ending in 2013. However, in sharp contrast, growth in tractor volumes has been encouraging during the period from April to September 2013. This increase in demand has been a result of better than expected monsoons and higher MSPs for crops.

India is widely recognized as one of the most strategically important emerging Automotive Markets in the World. In addition to being an attractive end customer market it is also provides OEMs with a high quality, cost efficient manufacturing platform to service their customers globally. India is one of the biggest compact car markets in the world and has been a focus for product development in the last few years.

The outlook for the operating environment remains challenging for the Indian Automotive Markets. OEMs are expected to continue to lower their production levels to ensure that inventories better match the near term demand outlook. Industry Associations expect domestic passenger car sales to grow at 5%-7% for the year ending March 2014 and commercial vehicles by 7%-9% for the same period. Two Wheelers are expected to grow at 6%-8% and Three Wheelers at 3%-5% for the year ending March 2014. Despite the near term challenges, the Indian Automobile Market is estimated to become the third largest in the world by 2020. The Medium term underlying Industry dynamics are under pinned by favorable demographics, especially with ongoing urbanization and rising disposable incomes.

2.2 Automobile Component Industry

India has emerged as a Global hub for automotive component sourcing. The Country benefits from being geographically well placed to the key Automotive Markets of South East Asia, the Middle East and Europe. India offers a cost competitive manufacturing base which potentially lowers operating costs by 10%-25% compared to some operations in Europe and Latin America. The Country has a large skilled and semi- skilled workforce with a strong underlying educational system. Furthermore, India is the fifth largest producer of steel globally, a core raw material for the Automotive Components Industry.

Global Automotive Manufacturers are investing for the long term in the Indian markets with planned capacity expansion and new product development. In particular, OEMs are increasingly setting up engine manufacturing units in India, positioning the Country as a sourcing hub for engine components. Some of the Global Tier-I OEM suppliers have also announced plans to increase procurement from their Indian Subsidiaries. These initiatives further strengthen the fundamentals and growth outlook of the domestic Automotive Component Manufacturers.

The Indian Automotive Component Industry is expected to reach over US$ 110 billion of sales by 2020-21 from US$ 43.4 billion in 2011-12. At the end of this period, the Indian Market is expected to account for 80% of sales and exports are expected to grow at a CAGR of 16%.

3. STRATEGY AND OUTLOOK

Amtek India is the largest iron casting Company in India with world class manufacturing facilities. The Company has significant expertise in the Automotive and Non-Automotive Components Sector. It has proven foundry capabilities in vertical and horizontal moulding, in addition to machining and assembly.

The Company has an extensive product portfolio with a range of highly engineered components including cylinder head, cylinder blocks and turbo charger housing.

In the context of global economic uncertainty, demand in the automotive sector remains suppressed as end customers continue to adopt a conservative approach to discretionary spending. Given this scenario, Amtek India is cautious on the near term market outlook but remains optimally positioned to capitalize on its technology and product design capabilities. India is an attractive central hub for global OEM exports and a world class manufacturing base. Significant investments in India by major OEMs are expected to reinforce near term prospects of the Domestic Automotive Industry. Over the years, the Company has also successfully implemented its strategy of expanding the Non-Automotive Business.

The Company continues to strategically invest in new capacities to avail opportunities arising from industry consolidation, customers' preferences for high technology suppliers and limited existing industry capacity. In addition to strengthening its existing capabilities, Amtek India has also invested in new product segments such as exhaust manifolds and chilled Iron Crankshafts.

Amtek India aims to achieve above average growth through new product introductions, the addition of customers, further contracts from existing customers and continued consolidation in the Industry. Management is focused on achieving operating excellence by reinforcing lean manufacturing and quality improvement programmes across all production facilities. This will result in further productivity improvements.

The Company has a successful track record of partnering with its high profile customer base, which is essential for managing its business going forward. As growth returns in the Automotive Industry, the Company's scale of operations and increased capabilities will enable Amtek India to be differentiated in an increasingly competitive market.

The Company also has an important announcement, although it is post the period under discussion. In December 2013, the Company announced the acquisition of the Kuepper Group, a long established supplier of castings and component machining services to the automotive industry with annual revenues of approximately Euro 200 million. It manufactures both iron and aluminium cast products such as high quality turbo charger castings, turbo housings, suspension & steering parts for both passenger cars and commercial vehicles. Kuepper Group has four manufacturing facilities in Germany and one in Hungary. Customers include BMW, Daimler, Renault Nissan and Volkswagen. Through this acquisition, Amtek India has become one of the world's largest manufacturers of specialised turbocharger housings, a high growth automotive component segment. The transaction is highly synergistic with Amtek India's existing machining and casting capabilities and also with the Amtek Group's global integrated manufacturing platform. The transaction is expected to close in the first quarter of 2014.

4. OPPORTUNITIES & STRENGTHS

Indian Manufacturing Advantages: India benefits from a cost effective manufacturing base, an attractive R&D platform and raw material sourcing advantages. These dynamics, with economies of scale, are encouraging OEMs to leverage their existing and establish new Indian operations. Product development capabilities have resulted in the launch of low cost compact cars and alternate fuel variants.

Market Penetration Upside: Despite the strong production growth for the last decade, penetration of cars in India on a per capita basis continues to remain the lowest among emerging markets. Rising disposable incomes, ongoing urbanization, agricultural automation and industrial growth all support further penetration of automotive vehicles across India in the near term.

High Export Potential: As industry sourcing from low cost countries has increased, India has emerged as an Automotive hub for exports. Its proximity to emerging markets such as South East Asia and Africa is a key advantage for developing an export base. Shipments to Europe from India are more cost effective as compared to those from Brazil and Thailand.

Simplifying Foreign Investment: The Government of India has permitted 100% Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) in the Automotive Industry through the Automatic Route. This has encouraged global OEMs to invest in and develop innovative products, technologies and supply chains.

5. RISK AND CONCERNS

Macroeconomic Uncertainty: Global Automotive Markets have recently experienced downward pressure and volatility. The Company's operations are directly dependent on the general economic conditions in both Indian and in other key global markets. To counter these risks, the Company continues to broaden its product portfolio, increase its customer base, enhance geographic reach and also enter new segments.

Changes in Tax, Tariffs or Fiscal Policies: Imposition of additional taxes and levies designed to limit the use of automobiles could adversely affect the demand for the Company's products. Changes in corporate and other taxation policies, as well as changes in export and other incentives given by various Governments, or import or tariff policies could also adversely affect the Company's financial results.

Geopolitical and Other Risks: Political instability, wars, terrorism, multinational conflicts, natural disasters, fuel shortages and their prices, epidemics, labour strikes all present business risks. To counter these risks, the Company continues to expand its geographic presence across all major automotive economies in the world.

Country Risk Through Exports: Products are exported to a number of different geographic markets and consequently, the Company is subject to various risks associated with conducting business internationally. These risks include but are not restricted to the geopolitical and other risks outlined above.

Raw Material Prices: Input costs for commodities such as steel, non-ferrous, precious metals, rubber and petroleum products have risen over the year. While the Company continues to pursue cost reduction initiatives, increase in commodity prices and other costs could impact profitability to the extent that customer price pass-through terms are not available.

Global Competition: The Automotive Component Industry is increasingly competitive with global OEMs seeking better pricing and terms. To counter these pressures, the Company continues to improve quality control and product offerings, while maintaining its low cost product development and sourcing advantage. Long standing customer relationships, the ability to provide complex engineering solutions and design support provides the Company with a competitive edge.

Financial Risk: The Company is exposed to financial risk from changes in interest rates, foreign exchange rates and commodity prices.

Technological Changes: The Company operates in an environment with fast changing technology, reducing life cycle of new vehicles and supply constraints from Tier II suppliers. Additional challenges include sustaining operating cost efficiency gains and planning capacity expansion in context of rapidly changing consumer demand preferences. The Company continues to invest in new technologies and capacities to address such risks.

Risk Management: Strategic, Operating and Financial Business Risks are reviewed by the Risk Management Committee on a regular basis. In addition to the above risks, the Committee monitors any potential new risks that may arise due to changes in the external environment. While the possibility of a negative impact due to one or more of such risks cannot be totally avoided, the Company proactively takes reasonable steps to pre-empt and mitigate potential risks.

6. Internal Control Systems and their Adequacy

The Company has in place adequate systems for the management of internal control processes, commensurate with the nature of its business and the size and complexity of its operations. The Risk Management Committee has documented control procedures covering all aspects of key financial and operating functions. The Company's internal control systems provide for:

- Adherence to applicable Accounting Standards and policies
- Accurate recording of transactions with internal checks, prompt reporting and timely action
- Compliance with applicable statutes, policies, listing requirements and management policies and procedures
- Review of capital investments and long term business plans
- Periodic review meetings to guide optimum utilization of resources.
- Effective use of resources and safeguarding of assets

The Audit Committee is also provided necessary assistance and information to enable it to identify and address any business operating concerns at an early stage. The committee regularly reviews the status of the implementation of operating changes, if any, which are then reported to the Directors of the Company.

During the period under review, the Company maintained cordial relationship with all its employees. The Directors would like to acknowledge and appreciate the contribution of all employees towards the performance of the Company.
