PERFORMANCE:

The Company during the year registered turnover of Rs. 1885.40 lacs, compared to Rs. 2928.05 lacs during the previous Financial Year 2009-10. During the year under review, your Directors put its efforts towards up-gradation of Company's Sugar Mill at Motihari, Bihar and commencement of production at the same. As targeted, the Company succeeded in completing a part of the up-gradation of the Plant and also in commencing production of Sugar thereat during Season 2010. Turnover, during the year under review, includes sale of Sugar lats to the extent of Rs. 69.21 lacs. The Company succeeded in registering completion of construction of residential flats and sale thereof amounting to Rs. 419.59 lacs.

During the year under review, profit before tax stood at Rs. 885.17 lacs, as against Rs. 1007.29 lacs in the previous financial year 2009-10, mainly on account of lower turnover of stores items required by sugar industry and increased overheads due to commencement of manufacturing as well as construction activities at trial level.

Your Directors are hopeful that the performance of the Company will improve in the coming years because of commencement of manufacturing as well as construction activities.

DIVIDEND:

Your directors are pleased to recommend a dividend @ 3% for the financial year 2010-11, i.e., Rs. 0.30 per equity share of Rs. 10/- each, for your approval. The Proposed dividend, if approved at the ensuing Annual General Meeting, would result in appropriation of Rs. 56.16 lacs (including Corporate Dividend Tax of Rs. 8.16 lacs) out of the profits.

COMMENCEMENT OF SUGAR MANUFACTURING ACTIVITIES AND FUTURE PROGRAMMES:

As stated above, your Directors are delighted to further mention that after completion of a part of up-gradation programme from its own resources, the Company has successfully commenced trial production of sugar at its Sugar Mill at Motihari, Bihar during the immediate past season 2010. Your Directors further expects to complete the up-gradation programme by forthcoming season 2011 and further expansion of the said Mill to 4000 TCD with setting of 25 MW captive power plant and commence production there against by the subsequent season, i.e., Season 2012.

However, as reported in the previous Report, the implementation of the expansion programme increasing the capacity of the said Sugar Mill to 4000 TCD together with setting-up of 25 MW captive power plant is delayed because of non-availability of the desired funds. The Draft Red Herring Prospectus (DRHP) for raising funds through equity issue from various sources had been filed with SEBI in December, 2010.

Your Directors also have plans to diversify into steel by installing initially mild steel ingot manufacturing plant of 72 MT per day. This will facilitate use of power proposed to be generated in Sugar Plant.

Continuous best efforts are being put to raise funds either through equity or debt to part-finance the captioned proposals. As a part of this effort, the Company submitted Draft Red Herring Prospectus (DRHP) with SEBI in the month of December, 2010 for raising funds through equity. However, looking into the need for revision in the proposal, the same has since been withdrawn. A fresh proposal is proposed to be submitted for raising funds through equity or debt as aforesaid.

Your directors are confident that these steps will increase business activities of the Company significantly followed by significant improvement in its financial performance in coming years.

PRESENT CONSTRUCTION ACTIVITIES AND FUTURE PROGRAMMES:

During the year under review, sale of construction rights stood at Rs. 607.49 lacs compared to Rs. 301.65 lacs during the previous financial year 2009-10.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS REPORT

The Company is currently engaged in two segments, which includes sugar and construction. Sugar segment includes manufacturing and selling of crystal white sugar and trading of stores items, used by sugar industry. Construction segment includes construction and sale of residential houses and trading of construction rights.

SUGAR

Sugar is one of the essential items not only in the household sector but also in various industrial formulations in pharmaceutical sector, confectionery, soft drinks, sweets etc. The consumption of sugar in the country is on the increase due to population growth as also due to various development plans of the Government. Still the per capita sugar consumption in India is much lower than the world standard and even from the developing countries. However, the per capita consumption of sugar is on the increase on account of improved standard of living and the changing life style of rural masses which now prefers sugar than any other alternate sweetening material.

The second revision of the world sugar balance in the 2010/11 (October/September) crop cycle by ISO puts world production at a record 168.045 mln tonnes, raw value, up 4.66% from the last season. Although ISO still expect a record high world sugar production, it has been revised downwards by 0.910 mln tonnes from their previous assessment in November, 2010. In contrast to output, world consumption has been revised marginally upwards and now is put at 167.849 mln tonnes. Consumption is expected to grow at 2.01%, slower than the 10-year average of 2.6%, due to historically high prices in both the world and domestic markets. After two seasons of large deficits, the stocks/consumption ratio had reduced to the lowest level for more than 20 years - since 1989/90. The ratio is expected to decrease further to 35.04% in 2010/11 from 35.73% in the previous season of a large deficit. Despite the downward revision of world production, export availability still covers projected import demand. The absence of a physical trade deficit may act to cap prices for the rest of 2010/11 season. The world export availability is put at 50.496 mln tonnes exceeding import demand estimated at 50.309 mln tonnes.

A summary of the third assessment of the world sugar balance in 2010/11 is given in the table below.

Indian Sugar Industry

India is the largest consumer and second largest producer of sugar in the world. The Indian sugar industry is one of the key drivers of rural development, supporting India's economic growth. The industry directly employs approximately 500,000 workmen, as well as many others in industries which utilize by-products of the sugar production process as raw material. Sugarcane is primarily grown in six states of India, namely, Andhra Pradesh, Gujarat, Karnataka, Maharashtra, Uttar Pradesh and Tamil Nadu.

The sugar industry has a number of transformational opportunities. In addition to the potential to cater to the large and growing domestic sugar consumption, the industry can emerge as a carbon credit and power producer through co-generation. It is also in a position to support the ethanol blending programme of E5 (blending petrol with 5% ethanol).

The sugar industry is cyclical in nature and the entire value chain is controlled by the government. In SS10, the performance of the sugar companies was adversely impacted by shortage of sugarcane resulting in very high raw material cost. Besides, increase in government control by hiking levy sugar quota by additional 10% and introduction of fortnightly release mechanism, instead of monthly release, led to a steep fall in sugar price after January 2010.

As a result, the credit profile of the majority of the sugar players weakened significantly. During SS11, sugarcane supply increased on account of expansion of cane acreage by more than 20% owing to government's favourable pricing policies by way of upward revision in both State Advised Price (SAP) as well as Fair & Remunerative Price (FRP). In SS10, on account of short supply of cane, mill owners generally paid premium ranging about Rs. 85-100/quintal over SAP of about Rs. 165/quintal; however, in SS11, on the back of increased sugarcane supply, the mill owners have been paying as per SAP ranging about Rs. 200-210/quintal.

The sugar price recovered during the quarter ending December, 2010 to about Rs. 28- 29/Kg from a low of Rs. 25/Kg in August, 2010 due to the improved demand scenario on account of festive season along-with various government measures like reinstating levy sugar quota back to the earlier level of 10% (from 20%) and reintroduction of monthly release system from fortnightly system. Despite increase in sugar production, the price is expected to be steady around Rs. 28-29/Kg level in the next two quarters on the back of stable stock position.

With opening stock of 5 million tonne in the current season, the expected production of about 25.0 million tonne in SS11, consumption of 23 million tonne and exports of 1.5 million tonne, the stock position is likely to be stable at 5.5 million tonne. The same might witness minor variations due to change in monthly release quota and government policies on allowance of exports of surplus production.

On the export front, delay in notification of exports, allowed by the government aggregating 5 lakh tonne, and allowance of further exports may lead to sugar exports becoming an unattractive proposition to the domestic sugar mills fetching them only marginal profits due to softening of global prices on the back of expected arrival of sugar supply from Brazil in the international market.

However, with the upward revision of ethanol price by 26% from Rs. 21.5/litre to Rs. 27.0/litre in September 2010, improvement in levy sugar price and various incentives for cogeneration by the government, CARE expects the overall realisation of the sugar companies to increase further with improvement in credit profile in SS11. The profitability ratios of major CARE-rated sugar companies for the December 2010 quarter improved from the immediately preceding two quarters (June 2010 & September 2010)

Sugar output of India could rise by about 10% to 26.5 million tonnes in 2011-12 sugar year starting October on higher cane area, industry body ISMA said on Tuesday.

ISMA demanded that the government should allow further export of 1.5 million tonnes of sugar under Open General Licence (OGL). In April, the government had allowed 5,00,000 tonnes sugar exports under OGL. "We expect sugarcane area to go up by 5%. The area is about five million hectare currently. Production is expected to be about 26-26.5 million tonnes in the next sugar season," ISMA President Narendra Murkumbi told reporters here.

"Next year we are expecting a surplus crop and currently we have enough stock. So, this is the right time to export sugar and reduce the sugar stocks held with the mills," said Murkumbi, who also heads Shree Renuka Sugars.

He pointed out that the sugar prices have been slowly but continuously falling due to delays in exports and restrictions on domestic demand because of stock-holding limit on traders. "The mills are so overburdened with surplus inventories that most of them do not have adequate storage capacities and cash flows, which has led them to resort to distress sale of sugar, which is only bringing down the prices," he said.

"The seriousness of the problem may be judged by the fact that value of stock balance with sugar mills at present would be Rs 35,000 crore," he added.

ISMA noted that if the government does not take any steps to export some of the surplus sugar, the opening balance for 2011-12 season might be over 6.5 million tonnes. The opening stock for 2010-11 season stood at about five million tonnes. With falling domestic prices and improving international sugar prices, the mills stand to gain about Rs 500 per quintal of sugar exports if the same is allowed immediately.

The current ex-factory prices are lower by over Rs 300 per quintal than the cost of production, he said, adding that such a situation will lead to cane price arrears to farmers. The cost of production is around Rs 2,900/quintal in Uttar Pradesh and Rs 2,700/quintal in Maharashtra. ISMA also demanded that the duty-free regime on sugar import should end as "this is hurting market sentiments and sending wrong signals to the market about clarity of government policies and intentions".

Sugar Outlook, Opportunities and Constraints

Further, sugar production in India, the world's second biggest producer and largest consumer, is expected to be on an average 32 million tonnes (MT) per year for the next 10 years, says a latest report.

According to the Agriculture Outlook prepared jointly by Paris-based OECD and UN body FAO, global output of sugar is expected to soar to 209 MT in 2020-21 as against 158 MT in 2010-2011.

"India is expected to boost production substantially to 32 MT of sugar per year, on average, in the coming decade, or some 50% higher than 2008-10, when the production fell sharply," according to the report.

The Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) is a 34-member grouping of mostly developed nations, including the US and Germany.

According to the latest outlook, annual sugar output of India will continue to depend on periodic large swings in the production cycle, where two-three years of surplus is followed by two-three years of deficit, it said.

After a jump to 30.1 MT in 2006-07, the country's sugar output declined to 15.2 MT in 2008-09 and is currently estimated at 28 MT (in raw value) for 2010-11, it added.

As per the report, the sugar demand in India has been growing steadily at about four per cent per year over the past 10 years. Therefore, the domestic production and consumption balance moves from periods of surpluses and deficits, leading to often significant changes in the trade position.

On global front, the OECD-FAO report said the world's sugar output is likely to increase by 50 MT to reach over 209 MT in 2020-21 in response to the rising demand of sugar and its by-products and relatively high market prices.

The bulk of the additional sugar output will come from the developing countries and the main burden of growth will continue to fall on Brazil, the world's biggest sugar producer, it said.

"The potential for expanding sugar production in India exists and can be fully exploited if adjustments were introduced to ensure a market driven relationship between sugar and sugarcane prices," it added.

Suggesting India to relax some of the existing measures such as the monthly releases, the report said, "This could provide sugar factories some cash flow flexibility".

Regarding decontrol of the Indian sugar sector, the report said: "The liberalisation of the sugar industry can only be undertaken within the context of broader domestic reforms, because of the linkages on both demand and supply sides that prevail in agricultural commodity markets".

On sugar prices, the report pointed out that "major uncertainties remain in the international sugar market".

In the light of the relatively tight world market situation at present, any major production disruptions in the main producing countries of Brazil and India, could radically change the market outlook in the near term, igniting further bouts of high volatility, it said.

Supply response

World farmers may raise output after prices jumped, he said. "There's probably a big bear market coming in 2011 because there will be a supply response," he said. "But it won't be in time for the first half of 2010."

The overall direction of commodities is a "macro call" about world economic growth and the direction of the dollar, and there is not too much clarity, he said. He is inclined to see the dollar stabilise at current levels, he said.

Sugar Prices

The Government has been following a dual pricing policy for sugar, under which a fixed percentage (currently 10%) of total production is to be sold by sugar companies to the Public Distribution System ("PDS") set up by the Government at a fixed price referred to as levy sugar. This price is fixed with respect to each mill and varies from mill to mill. The balance sugar, called free sale sugar, can be sold in the open market.

The price of free sale sugar during the year depends on the demand supply situation. The movement in sugar price is determined by the net deficit or surplus in sugar (production plus import less domestic consumption less export) and stock-to-use ratio.

Sugarcane procurement and prices

India has a unique structure with respect to procurement of sugarcane. Every sugar mill is assigned a reserved area around the mill within which any sugarcane that is grown is required to be supplied to the mill, and the mill is obligated by law to crush the sugarcane available to it within the reserved area. The reserved area may change if a mill is unable to crush all of the cane within its reserved area and a portion of the reserved area may be allocated to a mill that is able to crush the sugarcane.

On an average, sugarcane cost constitutes approximately 70% of the total cost of producing sugar. The SMP set by the Central Government controls the sugarcane procurement price for sugar manufacturers.

By-products opportunity

The main by-products in the production of sugar are molasses, bagasse, press mud and fly ash. Effective utilization of these by-products can de-risk the revenue stream of a sugar company and make it less cyclical.

Bagasse

Bagasse can be used for co-generation to meet the electricity and steam requirements of sugar mills.

Bagasse is burnt in a large furnace, which releases substantial amounts of heat for boiling water and generating high pressure steam. The steam is used to drive a turbine, which generates electricity. The residual low pressure steam is used in the sugar making process. The power produced by co-generation is used for captive consumption and excess power is sold to the State utilities distribution companies. The realization from exportable power is dependent on the long-term power purchase agreements with the Government and power companies. Co-generation also has proven revenue potential in Clean Development Mechanism ("CDM") based carbon credits. However, the potential for bagasse based co-generation of power is yet to be fully realized. According to ISMA, sugar units have currently set up a capacity to produce 2,635 MW of co-generated power and the potential to co-generate power by the sugar industry has been assessed to be much higher going forward. In addition, bagasse is also used for production of paper and particle boards.

Particle Board and Medium-Density Fibre Board

Bagasse is also used to produce particle board and medium-density fibre board, which are environmentally friendly substitutes for plywood. Although particle board and medium-density fibre board have been produced in India for some time, these products were previously exclusively made by manufacturing plants which used wood as raw material. The production in India of particle board and medium-density fibre board from agricultural wastes such as bagasse using advanced manufacturing technologies only began in recent years.

Molasses

Molasses is extensively used for the manufacture of ethanol. These molasses are fermented with yeast to get ethyl alcohol or ethanol. The mixture is then distilled to separate the alcohol from the mixture.

Normally for every 1 ton of sugar produced, around 0.45 tons of molasses is generated as a by-product. One ton of molasses can produce around 225 litres of ethanol.

Ethanol is 99.5% pure alcohol and is used as feedstock for alcohol-based downstream chemicals like paints, inks and to manufacture potable alcohol. Ethanol is also becoming popular across the world as a fuel.

Ethanol is used as an additive in petrol to lessen vehicular pollution as it contains 35% oxygen, which helps complete combustion of fuel thus reducing harmful tailpipe emissions.

With a view to providing an incentive to the agricultural sector and reduce environmental pollution, the Government mandated 5% blending of ethanol with petrol across India except for certain states.

CONSTRUCTION

The Company has also commenced the business of construction and selling of residential houses.

The Indian construction industry is an integral part of the Indian economy and an important portion of investments into the development of the Indian Economy takes place through the construction industry. The construction industry is expected to grow with further economic development, industrialisation, urbanisation and improvements in the standard of living.

According to Indian Infrastructure, the Indian construction industry accounts for more than 5% of India's GDP and is the second largest employer after agriculture, employing nearly 32 million people. In the course of liberalization of the Indian economy, the Government has placed a priority on infrastructure development and emphasised the involvement of private capital and management in order to respond to the growing demand for new infrastructure projects.

According to the Indian Central Statistical Organisation, investments in construction in India grew at a compounded annual growth rate of 12% during the last ten years.

Ministry of Housing and Urban Poverty Alleviation, India (MHUPA) has framed the National Urban Housing and Habitat Policy, which carefully analyses ways and means of providing 'Affordable Housing to All' with special emphasis on the EWS and LIG segments. The new policy lays emphasis on earmarking of land for the EWS/LIG groups in new housing projects and also emphasizes on the Government retaining its role in social housing so that affordable housing is made available to EWS and LIG of the population as they lack affordability and are hopelessly out priced in urban land markets.

Government initiatives coupled with increasing per capita income in India on the back of high economic growth is expected to provide strong impetus to affordable housing demand.

REFORMS IN THE REAL ESTATE SECTOR

In recent years, various reforms have been initiated at the Central as well as State level which have led to greater organisation and transparency in the real estate sector. These include:

- Support from the Gol for the repeal of the Urban Land Ceiling Act (introduced in 1976), with nine State Governments having already repealed the Act. The law was repealed by the Central Government in 1999. However, land being a state subject, the law is still in force in some states like Andhra Pradesh, Assam, Bihar and West Bengal;
- Modifications in the rent control statutes to provide greater protection to homeowners wishing to rent out their properties;
- Rationalisation of property taxes in a number of States;
- The proposed conversion of land records into electronic form; and
- FDI being permitted in the real estate sector, subject to certain conditions.

Residential Development

The residential sector accounts for approximately 75-80 per cent. of the total real estate sector in the country. The growth in the residential real estate market in India has been largely driven by rising disposable incomes, a rapidly growing middle class and youth population, low interest rates, fiscal incentives on both interest and principal payments for housing loans, heightened customer expectations, and increased urbanisation and nuclearisation.

A large proportion of the demand for residential developments, especially in urban centres is likely to be for high-rise residential buildings. Since this is a fairly new segment, the growth of the high-rise segment is expected to be faster than the growth of more traditional urban housing segments. The reasons for the anticipated demand are the lack of space in cities and proximity to offices and IT parks. The high-rise culture is gradually seeping into other cities such as Kolkata, Hyderabad and Chennai due to increasing affordability, nearness to IT or BPO parks and the township concept being embraced within close proximity to such IT and BPO parks.

The emergence of the integrated township format is another key highlight in the residential sector. Availability of large land parcels as well as office developments in major cities' peripheral areas have led to an increase in the number of integrated townships to accommodate the growing population of the city. These integrated townships offer consolidated development of commercial, retail, residential, and leisure facilities. The scope of development is estimated to be approximately 400 township projects over the next five years, spread across 30-35 cities, each having a population of 0.5 million. (Source: Cushman & Wakefield Report: India Gaining Momentum – Indian Real Estate Investment Dynamics).

The total demand estimated for the residential segment is estimated to be approximately 687 million square feet across India for the next five years, of which the top seven cities account for nearly 77 per cent. (Source: Cushman & Wakefield Report: The Metamorphosis – Changing Dynamics of the Indian Realty Sector, October 2008)

SEGMENTWISE PERFORMANCE

Presently, the Company mainly deals in two segments:

- I. Sugar
- II. Construction

Segment Reporting as per Note No.16 attached to schedule K of the Audited Statements of Account.

RISKS & CONCERNS

Both sugar as well as construction business of the Company being undertaken have been rapidly growing because of urbanization and economic boom as discussed above. Further, performance of sugar industry is dependent upon demand-supply gap apart from crop level of sugarcane as discussed in the preceding paragraphs. The same rule of demand-supply gap applies to construction industry. As such, the continuance of economic slowdown and increased demand-supply gap may be main fears for both sugar as well as construction industries.

INTERNAL CONTROL SYSTEMS THEIR ADEQUACY

Your Company has a proper and adequate system of Internal control to ensure that all assets are safeguarded and protected against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that the transactions are authorized recorded and reported correctly.

The Internal control system is designed to ensure that financial and other records are reliable for preparing financial information and other data and for maintaining accountability of assets. There is an elaborate internal audit system which is done by Independent firm of Internal Auditors. Their reports on the internal controls and their adequacy are regularly discussed with the Management and corrective measures wherever required, are taken and continuously monitored.

The Audit Committee of the Board meets regularly to review the adequacy of internal controls; internal audit findings and the corrective actions are taken, if necessary. The Management is reasonably satisfied about the adequacy of these internal control systems.
