OPERATIONAL REVIEW

Your Directors are pleased to inform you that the performance of the Company has achieved all round growth during the year. The entire chain of integrated steel operations performed satisfactory and the Sponge Iron, Power, Steel melting shop and Ferro Alloys Division achieved highest ever capacity utilisation. Encouraged with the performance of the Ferro Alloys division, the Company further added new capacities in the division during the year. Also, during the year, the Company modernized its Steel Melting Shop by replacing some of the existing furnaces with more energy efficient furnaces, which has resulted in substantial cost savings and higher efficiency. In the finished steel segment, the Company continued with its concerted efforts to expand its customer base by taking steps to enhance the awareness and accessibility of the products. Availability of iron ore has improved significantly during the year leading to correction in the iron ore prices, which resulted in substantial cost reduction in the operations. The operations of Captive coal mine were stable with uninterrupted production during the year, however, in terms of the order dated 24th September, 2014 passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court cancelling the allotment of all captive coal mines allotted since 1993 and putting them under the auction route, the Chotia Coal Mine of the Company, which was operational for past more than eight years, was also cancelled. Rigid PVC Pipes division also performed satisfactory during the year.

Modernisation of existing furnaces and addition of new furnaces is also underway in the Ferro Alloys Division. In addition, the company is also setting up Private Railway Siding at its Champa plant, which shall result in significant savings to the company in terms of freight cost, reduction in wastages and maintaining uninterrupted supplies of critical inputs like iron ore and coal. These expansion and cost reduction plans will make significant contribution to the profitability and long term sustainability of the business. Although, the Chotia coal mine was cancelled during the year in terms of the order of the Hon'ble Supreme Court, the Company is of the view that the improved availability of coal and softening of its prices worldwide shall make up for the loss to a reasonable extent in the times to come. With a stable and forward looking government, the infrastructure industry is expected to receive major spending in the coming years, which will lead to substantial boost for demand of steel products. MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Industry Structure & Developments

The future of the Indian Steel industry appears to be bright and promising in the years to come. The Indian Steel Industry is expected to become the world's second largest producer of crude steel in 2015-16, moving up from the current fourth position. The government is working proactively to provide incentives for economic growth by injecting funds in construction, infrastructure, automotive and power, which will drive the steel industry in the future. Opportunities exist for future growth of the sector due to reasons that include potentially huge domestic demand for steel-intensive social and economic infrastructure resulting from all round economic development and particularly because of anticipated growth in urbanization; demographic conditions that favour increasing demand for consumer durables; untapped rural market and increasing interest of domestic and overseas producers in capacity creation to serve the domestic and overseas markets. The production is expected to hit 140 MT by the end of 2016, while consumption is expected to grow 6.8% to reach 104MT by 2017. On the raw material side also, the Indian steel sector continues to enjoy advantages of domestic availability of basic inputs like coal and iron ore and cheap labour. On the whole, the outlook for the domestic operating environment appears to be positive.

Opportunities and Threats

The domestic steel demand will continue to witness robust growth in the coming years. The sector has colossal room for steel consumption in almost all the sectors in the country. India is expected to witness approx. 6 per cent growth in its steel demand during 2015-16, following the election of a new government which is promising pro-business reforms. Looking forward, there is huge growth potential for the sector not only on account of likely increase in demand from the conventional sectors like infrastructure, automobile and consumer durables but also due to rapid urbanisation, which is one of the biggest growth driver for steel in the growing economies like ours. In view of the said factors, the per capita consumption of steel in India is also bound to witness significant growth from the current level of approx. 60 kg, which is much lower in comparison to the world average of more than 200 kgs.

Despite the growth potential envisaged for the sector, its progress is marred by the uncertainties witnessed in the mining sector on account of the regulatory interventions from the central and state governments. As regards coal, although the Company was operating its captive coal mine allotted to it for past more than eight years, however, in view of the judgement of the Hon'ble Supreme Court cancelling the allotment of all the coal mines allotted after 1993 and putting them under the auction route, the Company also lost its Chotia coal mine. Although this decision has come as a severe blow to the steel industry and has affected the margins, however with the softening of the coal prices internationally and improved supplies scenario, the Company has been able to manage the operations with minimal impact. As regards iron ore, the iron ore mines allotted to the Company are under clearance stages with the respective government departments. Till such times the mines become operational, the Company shall continue to be dependent on the external sources for meeting its iron ore requirement. The mines are expected to become operational towards the end of the current financial year.

Segment Wise / Product Wise Performance / Outlook

The performance of the Integrated steel, power and mining operations has been satisfactory during the year under review. Ferro Alloys division clocked the highest ever production during the year on account of new capacity addition. The Company also undertook modification and modernization of its Steel Melting Shop capacity, which also resulted in higher efficiency during the year. During the year, the capacity utilization in the finished steel segment comprising Wire Rod and TMT Bars was satisfactory during the year. Captive coal mining operations and Rigid PVC pipes division also performed well during the year under review.

Risks and Concerns

Your Directors firmly believe that risk management is a structured approach to managing uncertainty by identifying, assessing, monitoring and reducing the impact of such risks on the business. Risks in any business need to be identified well in time as these are the situations or circumstances which lead to negative consequences for our business. A good risk management plan identifies the potential risks, analysis the impact of such risks and develops strategies to mitigate the impact of such risks.

In the current scenario, the main concern for the players in the steel industry continues to be the availability of the major key inputs like coal, iron ore and power. Since the Company has its own captive power plant, which is sufficient to cater its power requirement in steel making, the Company is self reliant in that respect, however, the availability of iron ore and coal continues to be an area of deep concern for it. This has also been taken care of, to a certain extent, with the allotment of captive iron ore mines in the states of Orissa and Chhattisgarh to the Company, which are under various stages of clearances with government departments.

Internal Control System and their Adequacy

The Company has adequate internal control systems which ensure the reliability of the financial information, compliance of applicable laws, rules and regulations and laying down of policies and procedures for all the vital functions of the business. The Company has Independent Internal Auditors who carry out comprehensive audit of all the functions on a quarterly basis. The findings of the Internal Auditors are placed before the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors for review and the suggestions, if any, made by the Audit Committee for the strengthening of the controls, are implemented. Annual production and financial Budgets are prepared and actual performance is evaluated against the same on quarterly basis and shortfalls, if any, are identified. All the certifications under ISO: 9001:2008, ISO: 14001:2004 and OHSAS 18001:2007 for Quality Management, Environment Management and Occupational Health & Safety Management respectively, are being timely maintained by the Company. The internal control system has been reported to be commensurate with the size and nature of the business by the Statutory Auditors in their report.

Human Resources / Industrial Relations

Your Company follows the ideology that the success of an organisation depends largely on its workforce. It has always focussed on the development of its workforce in the organisation by imparting continuous learning and training sessions to tap and nurture their potential. Regular training sessions, workshops and monitoring sessions are conducted by HRD to develop the professional skills, efficiency, productivity and enriching the quality of life of its work force. This approach has enabled the Company to create and retain a team of able and experienced professionals. With the concerted efforts of its Human Resource Department (HRD) like HR policies, initiatives and various welfare measures, the Company has been able to keep its employees motivated and dedicated. HRD ensures the availability of good working conditions and hygienic civic amenities to its workforce and keeps continuous vigil on the safety measures at the workplace. With its friendly approach, the Company has been able to maintain cordial industrial relations throughout the year at all locations.
