Payments and Technology

The growth story of RS Software

This annual report is structured around three principal arguments.

Large growth ahead building a secular trend

The convergence of regulations, consumer-facing technologies and the millennial generation are driving digital payments transformation, led by platforms that are building the foundation for an unprecedented global growth in digital payments. Considering that 80% + of the 3 trillion payment transactions a year still happen in cash at the consumer level, there is a digital payments opportunity for years to come

Great timing for the Company

RS Software is the right company at the right time to leverage these opportunities, having showcased its success in building UPI and BBPS platforms - world-class payment platform infrastructure in India, working with global leadership payment companies during the past 24 months, and investing significantly in innovation to strengthen its revenue growth model.

Faster payments – the global mantra

RS Software's payment platforms specialisation addresses a multi-country opportunity. An estimated 100 countries today are investing in initiatives in building digital payments infrastructure, with different countries at varying levels of maturity.

Scalable
possibilities

RS Software continues to make good strides executing its strategy of serving leaders in digital payments. It has been quite a journey and we are confident that we are on the right path to pursue the growth opportunities available in the payments space.

We have had significant achievements over the last two years including our building UPI and BBPS, the core digital payments infrastructure in India. Our leadership in building these important real-time payments systems for India is well timed to match developments in the payments industry globally. The roll-out of new real-time payments infrastructure in 2017 in other countries, most notably in the US, Australia, and the SEPA zone, has driven a marked change in attitudes in these markets. As these markets constitute the dominant part of the digital commerce world, our opportunities to serve and grow are strong.

The payments industry is transitioning from a traditional card-based approach to a new world that enables commerce to be accessed with a digital credential. We are moving from a world dominated by face-to-face transactions to online e-commerce transactions, mobile m-commerce transactions, and digital government to consumer transactions (like the Indian government's direct benefit transfer program).

In addition to this evolution in consumer payments, there is an emerging revolution in B2B payments globally. Combined, these represent a multi-trillion dollar opportunity and provide the foundation for a new growth for RS Software.

affairs of men,
Which taken at the flood,
leads on to fortune...”

Payments and technology – the industry is at a point of no return

The global payments market is transforming even as you read this.

Features that deliver value are game changers. RS Software with deep knowledge in payments and mature global model, ideal to deliver value.

This transformation is affecting the operating environment across industries. A number of them are making structural shifts in their long-term digital plans.

Empowering a company like RS Software to leverage its established and unique digital payments and infrastructure-creation capabilities.

RS Software. Creating India's digital payments backbone of tomorrow.

India has demonstrated global leadership by investing in first-of-its-kind initiatives in building a digital payments infrastructure Unified Payment Interface (UPI), followed by Bharat Bill Payment System, India's central bill payment network.

Both these platforms have taken India from the early stage to advanced infrastructure status.

The UPI and BBPS platforms are being recognised as global benchmarks for the creation of national level digital payments infrastructure. 30+ countries interested in creating similar infrastructure.

RS Software is being respected as one of the leading players in this complex niche. The Company has been singularly focused for more than two decades in a space now acquiring global scope and scale.

The result is that RS Software is attractively placed to lead with innovation and grow its revenue base.

At RS Software, we are devoted to earning the trust and respect of our shareholders, customers and employees.

Our 'deep moat' is clearly demonstrated through the UPI platform in India built by RS Software.

UPI and BBPS demonstrate our adaptability and flexibility in transitioning our strategy to pursue the multi-trillion US dollar opportunity for building the world's digital commerce and payment infrastructure, leveraging our technical skills for implementing leading edge technologies that enable fast, high volume payments with ultra-high availability and reliability.

In India, UPI is now executing ~ 200 million transactions per month, within only 19 months of its launch. The BBPS platform, also built by RS Software, achieved 100% growth in electronic bill payments within 10 months of its launch.

These examples provide the perfect testimony to the purpose of our company in helping enhance the economic circumstances of individuals, communities and countries through the transformative power of electronic payments. UPI and BBPS demonstrate our adaptability and flexibility in transitioning our strategy to pursue the multi-trillion US dollar opportunity for building the world's digital commerce and payment infrastructure, leveraging our technical skills for implementing leading-edge technologies that enable fast, high volume payments with ultra-high availability and reliability.

The Company in the past 24 months has transitioned significantly to build products and platforms, while continuing to execute services projects for its clients globally. During the fiscal 2017-18 the Company's business revenue achieved double digit growth @ 11% y-o-y. Later in this section, after the Company's overview there are specific case studies of the work done in the past 24 months, while implementing different specific emerging payment trends. This is the testimony to the success of our reach in the market to garner projects that help us to build and grow our revenue base, albeit slowly, but more importantly building the foundation for scalable growth as the markets mature in demanding these emerging trends, and complemented by larger reach of our business development efforts.

- A rhythm for meeting diverse global consumers and businesses payment needs
- And our readiness to adapt, accelerate and achieve higher growth

The pace of transition and growth – Physical to Digital

The way we make payments has shifted dramatically in recent years with many new tools and technologies shaping today's market. The electronic payment industry has been in place for 50+ years and the pace of growth has been slow and steady. However, 80% of the world still pays in cash for retail payment transactions. Cash and brick-and-mortar commerce still dominate as choices for humanity. In developed world, the markets have shifted toward a heavier use of electronic payments, with card payments growing steadily over the year.

Mobile money

According to McKinsey research, most people and small businesses in emerging economies today do not fully participate in the formal financial system. Two billion individuals and 200 million small businesses in emerging economies today lack access to formal savings and credit. They transact exclusively in cash, have no safe way to save and invest their money, and must rely on informal lenders and personal networks for credit.

For providers of digital financial services, mobile money can be a gateway into huge and largely untouched markets. Digital finance has the potential to reach over 1.6 billion new retail customers in emerging economies and to increase the volume of loans extended to individuals and businesses by US$2.1 trillion.

In total returns to shareholders, payments businesses have outpaced other financial services by a huge margin over the last decade. The market is characterised by a clear relationship between value creation lever, payments segment, and operational performance.

Consumers and business alike are showing hunger for new payment options

For years, the systems for processing payments in stores and online have been controlled by big banks, credit card issuers and a few longstanding IT suppliers. Nevertheless, the investors globally are hugely rewarding new age payment providers like Worldpay and Adyen in Europe, Square and Stripe in US, and 40%+ of fin-tech investments globally are going to the payments space.

Reshaping of payments value chain creating large opportunities

Multiple forces, including technology and demographics, are dramatically reshaping the payments value chain, and opening the industry to potential disruption from fin-techs. Incumbents have a number of strong options for addressing this disruption. Those that think deeply about how the industry is evolving and take early action will fare best.

The providers of payment products in mobile money stand to gain by having access to potential new revenue streams, and to increase their balance sheets by as much as US$4.2 trillion, in aggregate.

Regulators globally are fast responding to enhance financial inclusion

The regulators across the globe are pushing to achieve financial inclusion through implementation of faster payment infrastructure. Many countries have already upgraded their payment systems to take advantage of improvements in technology, allowing payments to be sent within seconds between payers and recipients. In most countries where faster payments have been implemented, the payment industry was initially driven to implement a faster payment system as a result of a government mandate or regulation.

The Multi-Trillion US Dollar opportunity globally

Despite being heavily associated with physical plastic cards, the payment networks like Visa and MasterCard see their growth in the digital space. Each transaction that occurs online must go through some form of payment provider, with the credit or debit card being the primary method. As more and more transactions move online, cash and checks become more outmoded methods of payment, and the proportion of transactions that must go through payment providers increases. The global electronic and digital payment transactions at ~350 billion transactions / year globally are expected to more than double in the next three to five years.

On a macro level, digital payments are set to grow at a compound annual growth rate of 20% + outpacing the growth in physical transactions and decreasing their proportion in the marketplace.

To quote the Visa CFO Vasant Prabhu at a recent investor conference, "Our B2C is still a very large business with probably as big an opportunity, US$20 trillion, roughly in that range. There is another US$100 trillion of B2B payments over time for which you have to come up with a value proposition and technological solution. And we're all sort of working on it."

In Essence

I would like to reiterate that RS is taking bold, rather than timid, investment decisions in areas where opportunities to serve leaders in electronic payments can deliver market leadership. Our work in India over the last two years is an important example. For the first time, we were able to bring our years of payments expertise to bear on the Indian payments infrastructure – and we're delighted to see how these new systems have delivered significant value to India.

Our commitment to building value over the long-term may result in RS making decisions and weighing trade-offs differently than some companies. We have made tough decisions to adjust and adapt our strategy to better meet the electronic payments evolution in global markets. Digital payments are fundamental to changes we all experience every day – and our company is dedicated to playing an important role in their evolution.

We believe that a fundamental measure of our success will be the shareholder value we create over the long term. This value will be a direct result of our ability to extend and solidify our leadership as an industry leader, which has an exclusive focus on the domain of digital payments.

At RS Software we are devoted to earning the trust and respect of our shareholders, customers, and employees. It is our constant focus. I am excited and honoured to work with the great people of RS who have made our success possible – and who constantly help lead us further into the exciting future of digital payments.

Raj Jain,
Chairman

How we create value for our stakeholders

At RS Software, we create value for our clients by strengthening our moat, which helps them compete globally and leverage ever emerging growth opportunities in digital payment space. The foundation of our moat is our 25+ years of deep knowledge in the domain of payments, and this continues to reinforce itself through consistent learning principles.

Riding a global trend

The evolution of digital payments is not only completing the vision of a cashless society, but its integration with the instruments of our daily lives will impact everyday consumers. This fusion of tools will make payments seamless, frictionless and effortless. This shift will open up opportunities to view payments as part of a bigger solution rather than a means to transact.

Payment infrastructure for emerging markets

Driven by the success of UPI and BBPS in India, which is built by RS Software, many emerging markets are accelerating their initiatives for building payment infrastructure. Emerging markets are expected to grow at a rate three times that of developed economies in terms of digital payment transaction volumes. Building Real time payments is a large opportunity for RS Software in the coming years.

Management Discussion and Analysis

Our markets

Several global trends pose serious challenges to established bank and non-bank payments organisations. Technology innovations (for example, digital payments and cloud-based applications) are lifting customer expectations for both convenience and security. Upgrades in infrastructures are making faster payments an increasingly common offering, while also facilitating the convergence of cards, e-wallets, and other payments types.

Attacks from fin-techs and digital-ecosystem owners are exerting additional downward pressure on pricing. Due in part to persistently low interest rates and the cap on interchange fees, challenging payments economics are thus combining with other disruptive forces to reshape the global payments industry.

Although innovation is taking place, faster payments solutions are being developed in a fragmented way without collaboration across the payment industry or broad adoption across the market as a whole.

For the longest time, the benefits of technology have been asymmetrical. The data that we create when we make online transactions, for example, are useful to individuals, companies and governments. In a way all of us get to benefit from this, bringing about major social implications. Hence, the attention of the regulators, and the recent legislation enacted in Europe, called GDPR.

RS Software has been working with data analytics in payments since year 2000, and helped build the world's leading payment network the areas of data provisioning, business intelligence, data management and analytics. The network's data platform now handles almost a billion transactions per day with 4000 ETL jobs, 8000 Hadoop jobs and 500 SAS jobs running on a daily basis. The storage volume is in 3 petabytes, spread over 800+ servers. It supports around 300 database schemas, 700k daily API requests, 44k queries and 2mn business rules.

This capability enables the RS team to leverage significantly the opportunities in data lead intelligence both in the offline and online payment spaces. As consumers and businesses shift to electronic payment methods, technological improvements are providing new opportunities for payment providers to implement faster and more user-friendly payment capabilities. For example:

- Mobile device applications have opened up a variety of channels to interact with financial institutions and other payment providers, from managing personal finances to integrating payments seamlessly into transactions.
- APIs (application programming interfaces) are being used more frequently to connect software and web applications from multiple providers. This can allow innovative products to be easily integrated into new payment services for consumers and businesses. UPI platform in India built by RS Software is a great example of success in a country with 1+ billion population.
- In the movement towards Internet of Things, smart devices—from wristwatches to cars to refrigerators—will have the ability to initiate transactions and make payments.

- Digital currencies have the potential to change the payments landscape, particularly if adopted by one or more major central banks.
- Distributed ledger technology (e.g., blockchain) can potentially allow transactions to be verified and recorded across a distributed network of computers. This might change the roles of traditional players in payment clearing and settlement processes—for example, by eliminating the need for some types of centralised transaction bookkeeping.

Faster payments have perfect synergies with these technological advances. For example, as mobile phones and other smart devices become widely used for a variety of banking and retail applications, faster payments may become more valuable to end users who wish to quickly complete transactions and manage account balances in real time using their smart devices.

Secular growth trend in payments

80% + of the 3 trillion payment transactions annually still happens in cash at the consumer level, creating a large growth opportunity.

Digital payments expected to hit 726 billion by 2020 — but cash isn't going anywhere yet.

- Digital payments are expected to reach a record 726 billion by 2020, according to a study by Capgemini and BNP Paribas
- Non-cash transactions between 2014 and 2015 rose 11.2%, the highest growth in the past decade
- Cash still remains the mainstream means of payment
- Cheques look to be on the way out, down 13.4% in 2015 and continuing to go down as choice of payment instrument

"There are specific situations where one or more of the attributes of cash — speed of exchange, universal acceptance, anonymity, absence of record and free of charge — are not yet matched by digital payments."

- Christophe Vergne, cards and payment practice leader at Capgemini

The global payments industry continues to undergo dynamic change. Technology and innovation are shifting consumer habits and driving growth opportunities in e-commerce, mobile payments, block chain technology, and digital currencies.

RS Software complemented by its RS Payments Lab, and RS School of Payments is focused on building revenue model from these opportunities, and accordingly investing in re-engineering its sales engine dynamically to respond to its clients.

Steady increase in non-cash transactions is being driven further by innovative payment platforms

India's landmark Payment system

Unified Payment Interface (UPI)

The Unified Payments Interface has closed in on the 200 million monthly transactions mark, hitting 190 million in April 2018, a nearly 7% jump from 178 million transactions in March. The value of transactions increased to ₹27,021 crore from ₹24,172 crore during this period, as per data shared by the National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI). UPI, which was launched in August 2016, had closed 2017-18 with nearly one-billion transactions of ₹1 lac crore in value. UPI has seen a spike in transactions in the past few months, as smartphone-based payment applications such as Paytm, Flipkart, PhonePe, Google Tez and WhatsApp have adopted this payment channel.

Additionally, UPI has now ushered in exciting possibilities – such as fund transfer through WhatsApp or purchasing flight tickets via Google's Tez without having to leave Gmail. Google and WhatsApp's venture to integrate UPI into its platform and the first launch in India indicates the importance attached to the market and the potential for growth it offers to the global organisations – with more than half the population yet to get online and cash transactions accounting for over 90% of payments.

According to Credit Suisse's estimates, digital payments could be a US$1-trillion market in just five years, from sub-$200 billion now.

WhatsApp already has an enticing base of 250 million and post-launch Tez's number of digital transactions processed has exceeded that of Axis bank, in merely six months. The latter is the fourth highest among banks.

Unlike China, India's UPI allows mobile payments to be built on public infrastructure and along with Aadhaar, open architecture and inter-operable payment systems evolving at a fast pace.

"The size of digital payments industry in India will be US$500 billion by 2020 – contributing 15% to India's GDP"

“We hope to cross the 100-million user mark on UPI over the next 2 years”

Dilip Asbe, MD and CEO, National Payments Corporation of India

BharatQR is a P2M (Person to Merchant) Mobile payment solution, co-created by NPCI, Visa and MasterCard payment networks. Once the BQR codes are deployed on Merchant locations, user can pay the utility bills using BQR enabled mobile banking apps without sharing any user credentials to the merchant. It is a quick method of payment.

This payment solution works as an alternate channel of payment, where card-holder has to download his/her bank's Bharat QR enabled mobile banking app. User has to scan the Bharat QR code at Merchant store and select card to make payment. Once the payment is successful, both card-holder and merchant receive notification in mobile application for successful transaction.

UPI has shown some phenomenal growth in the past one year. What is next for NPCI?

The foundation of peer-to-peer payments in UPI has helped, but now the effort will be to expand in the person-to-merchant space. We hope to cross 100 million users on UPI over the next two years. Online merchant payment is relatively easier as we have electronically shareable QR code, intent function, etc. The challenge is to change consumer behaviour towards QR codes for offline payments. China has seen huge success on QR-based payments where scanning is almost like clicking pictures and it is only a matter of time before QR becomes the most preferred option for low value transactions.

BharatQR was billed to be the next big thing in offline payments after cards. But why do we not see a big scale roll-out of BharatQR even after so many months of its launch?

It is still early days for QR-based payments. BharatQR is a success story where all the card networks have created a common inter-operable QR code which also has BHIM QR embedded. Though it is asset-light, it will still cost ₹300 to 400 to initially acquire a merchant. Further, to keep the merchant active on a half yearly or an annual basis, it will require another similar amount. Overall, you might have to spend about ₹1,500 on a merchant to keep him digitally active. There are around 30 million merchants that need to be covered with QR codes, which would mean a good deal of investments.

What about increasing the capacity at NPCI with volumes rising substantially?

We have adequate capacity and with the volumes growing, we will look to add more and more capacity. With the current capacity, we can go up to 3X of the volumes on some of the systems such as BHIM UPI. In terms of capacity, we are expanding hardware as well as people; IT and security systems need to support that hardware. However, we also need banks to upgrade their systems for BHIM UPI too since all the transactions are also processed by the banks.

Has UPI gained traction with merchants?

About 15-20% of the daily volume in UPI is coming from the merchant side. IRCTC (Indian Railway Catering and Tourism Corporation), Redbus, Flipkart and Paytm are among the ones who accept the UPI. We are trying to talk to merchants to get more and more UPI acceptance. We have to still cover top 300 merchants on the UPI to offer UPI payments, which I expect we will be able in the next two to three months.

What has been the progress with smaller merchants?

There are a couple of aggregators, who are doing it for small merchants. In fact, banks are also on-boarding them. Benow and Razorpay are also working with the NPCI and banks to acquire merchants.

“The seamlessly integrated UPI and BBPS would be a game changer for the country”

Dr. RB Barman, Chairman, National Statistical Commission (NSC) & Advisor, NPCI

“If you are in a position to digitise, you encourage GDP growth by at least 1%”

Dr. RB Barman, Chairman,
National Statistical Commission (NSC) & Advisor, NPCI

Do you think India is at an inflection point when it comes to the digital payments industry?

If you are in a position to digitise, you encourage GDP growth by at least 1%. Even a 1% GDP increase translates into a huge employment potential, improving the kind of the employment opportunities while also giving a push to economic digitisation. Through digitisation you also plug leakages in the tax system such as people evading tax payment. You are thus in a position to get much better compliance to the extent that the government earns more returns and revenue, which can then be used for infrastructure development and further improve the growth of the economy.

The Indian payment system has matured in terms of the variety of products available for all kinds of digital payments. Even when digital transactions are gaining momentum, currency in circulation has also been increasing after a brief decline due to demonetisation. We have huge last mile problems on acceptance of digital payments by small traders and large section of customers.

Why do you think UPI and BBPS represent national game changers?

Both the products are imaginatively developed, their seamless integration both at front end and back end make them unique, ready for widespread use for all kinds of payments. Their proliferation would be a game changer for the country.

How can SMEs make use of payment apps like BHIM & UPI for their growth?

In today's world, if you have a credit card or debit card, most of the small merchants will not accept it because for them the 1% transaction cost is a big margin. Now, through BHIM (which is likely to be free and has a slew of benefits) we can reach out to these smaller guys. Suppose you get money in cash, there is an opportunity cost because cash handling has its own cost. But if the money goes to the bank account where interest is given on a daily basis, the merchant earns some interest for the money that goes into his account. This is exactly what needs to be communicated to small merchants.

What are three ways in which these platforms would be able to transform the country?

Contributing to efficiency in payments, increasing volume of business and reducing risks in financing business would be transformational for India. The interoperability across platforms makes them unique.

How are these platforms sending out a global message that in this respect India has arrived?

A large number of countries approached National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI) for helping them to develop their payment systems using these technologies

What is the India of the future likely to be in the area of digital payments?

It will be a less cash economy with greater acceptance of digital payments. However, getting vegetable vendors and small traders accept digital payment would be a major challenge.

BBPS

The Bharat Bill Payment System (BBPS) is an integrated and inter-operable payment platform developed by the National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI) to ensure the safety and ease of bill payment across geographies. The introduction of BBPS is a huge step towards a cash-less society, allowing one to pay bills through networks of agents or online, along with multiple payment modes and instant payment confirmation.

The overall bill payments market is further expected to grow from ₹5.8 lac crore in 2016 to ₹9.4 lac crore by 2020. The share of transactions in terms of volumes for telecom postpaid bills stands at 46.8%, followed by DTH (direct-to-home) at 32% and electricity at 19.4%. In terms of the value of bills paid, electricity was ahead of all other sectors, at 54.7%. At present, more than 40% of all UPI transactions are happening through BHIM. Emerging Technologies and Real-Time Payments

“You can always go faster than you think you can.”

Meg Whitman, ex-CEO of Hewlett-Packard

- The global payments industry continues to deliver healthy growth, with underlying fundamentals such as transaction volumes and account balances demonstrating even greater strength. This rosy scenario also lays the groundwork for significant disruption likely to alter the dynamics between financial institutions and fin-techs.
- In 2016, the global payments industry accounted for 34% of overall banking revenues—up from 27% just five years earlier. For the next five years, annual growth will average 7%, making payments a US$2-trillion-dollar-industry by 2020, according to McKinsey's latest Global Payments Map data. As always, the dynamics underpinning performance in various countries vary; revenue drivers in China are starkly different than those in the United States, for instance.
- With the upending business paradigms and the rise in digital payments, the industry is witnessing some dramatic changes, accelerated by the already transforming face of commerce. Owing to an approximate annual expenditure of US$5 trillion in payment volume each year, with 15000 issuers, 40+ million merchant locations, and 3.2 billion cards in market, both existing and new players are now hastening to create new payment models. RS Software's long term strategy has influenced investment decisions in its payments innovation lab, particularly during the last 24 months and revenue gain will be the benefit in years to come.

The Application of New Technologies in Payments

Distributed Ledger Technology

Distributed Ledger Technology (DLT), or blockchain technology, will have a beneficial impact on each of the four parts comprising the global payments structure: relationship investment, funds transfer, funds delivery, and proof of payment.

Cryptocurrency

A cryptocurrency-based global payment solution would thus work very differently from credit cards and other online transfers. Instead of the payment being authorised by the owner and then taken from the account by the recipient, the owner transfers the coins directly to the recipient – a “push” model, rather than an “authorise and pull” model.

Internet of Things (IoT)

The Internet of Things (IoT) is changing payments; that is, in the IoT, payments “disappear” behind devices or become invisible. There are a few technologies that are highly relevant to financial institutions that need to happen to make the payments piece of the puzzle come together: tokenisation, embedded commerce, and APIs.

Tokenisation

Tokenisation allows the credit card number be replaced with a limited use token to be used for authorisation for payments. Limited use token can only be used by a specific device for a specific task to secure the execution and private information.

Embedded commerce

Devices require embedded applications to enable payments.

APIs

Application Programming Interfaces (APIs) are required to communicate the request from the device for a service, and, more importantly, to receive the payment.

Artificial Intelligence (AI)

Online payments fraud is the space for a machine learning technique that uses historical and live data to create patterns for customers’ behaviour. These patterns allow the system to make accurate fraud predictions. Machine learning is now used to prevent, or at least limit, fraud attempts.

Real-Time Payments

Typical characteristics of instant payments:

- Instant and irrevocable debits and credits to customer accounts
- Service availability 24/7/365
- ISO20022 XML format used in many schemes supports additional remittance information
- Immediate confirmation to both payer and payee
- Participation in overlay or value added services.

What Are Real-Time Payments?

Real-time payments (RTP) provide consumers and businesses with the ability to conveniently send and receive immediate fund transfers directly from their accounts at FIs, anytime 24/7/365. Financial institutions can leverage a variety of features – enhanced speed, security, and messaging capabilities – to create unique offerings for their retail and corporate customers. RTP also provides a backbone on which new business models can be redefined.

Characteristics of RTP

24/7/365: The RTP system operates on a 24/7/365 model, which means the system will be available for customers to send or receive payments at any time.

Immediate availability: Recipients receive the payment within seconds of the sender initiating the transaction; the FI is required to make funds available immediately, except where necessary for risk management or legal compliance purposes.

Payment certainty: Senders will not be able to revoke or recall a payment once it has been authorised and submitted to the RTP system.

Ubiquity: The RTP system is accessible by all financial institutions, regardless of size or charter type, and will reach the vast majority of US account holders.

Extensibility: Rich, flexible messaging functionality will be included to support value-added products.

RTP use cases

Business-to-Business (B2B) payments

- A small business paying an invoice in order to get a deep discount by the buyer.
- A restaurant making payments to a supplier after finding a good deal.

Business-to-Consumer (B2C) payments

- A retail bank distributing personal loan proceeds to a dealership on behalf of a customer who is at the showroom buying a new car.
- An insurance company adjuster reviewing a claim, determining a settlement amount, and immediately providing funds to the policyholder who may be at the hospital waiting for the surgery.

Person-to-Person (P2P)

- Friends splitting monthly rent and utility payments.
- A father or mother sending emergency funds to the son or daughter to pay the school fees.

The RTP Ecosystem

There are primarily three players in the RTP Ecosystem:

Financial Institutions: Financial Institutions of all sizes will have the ability to directly connect to the RTP core infrastructure to provide real-time payments capability and value-added services to their customers and clients. FIs may also connect through third-party service providers.

Clearing houses: The clearing house hosts the RTP core infrastructure for the US that provides:

● Payment processing and settlement services: The RTP system will clear and settle payments and transmit value-added, payment-related messages to and from FIs.

● Anti-fraud: The RTP system centrally monitors network-level fraudulent activity and provides fraud alerts to FIs. This capability augments and supports the FIs own automated real-time fraud detection capabilities with respect to transactions they send to and receive from the RTP system.

Third-party service providers: Third-party service providers will provide connectivity to RTP, providing access to FIs that may not want to connect directly to the RTP system. They integrate RTP into their existing and new payments products for the benefit of these FIs' account holders.

Global adoption of RTP

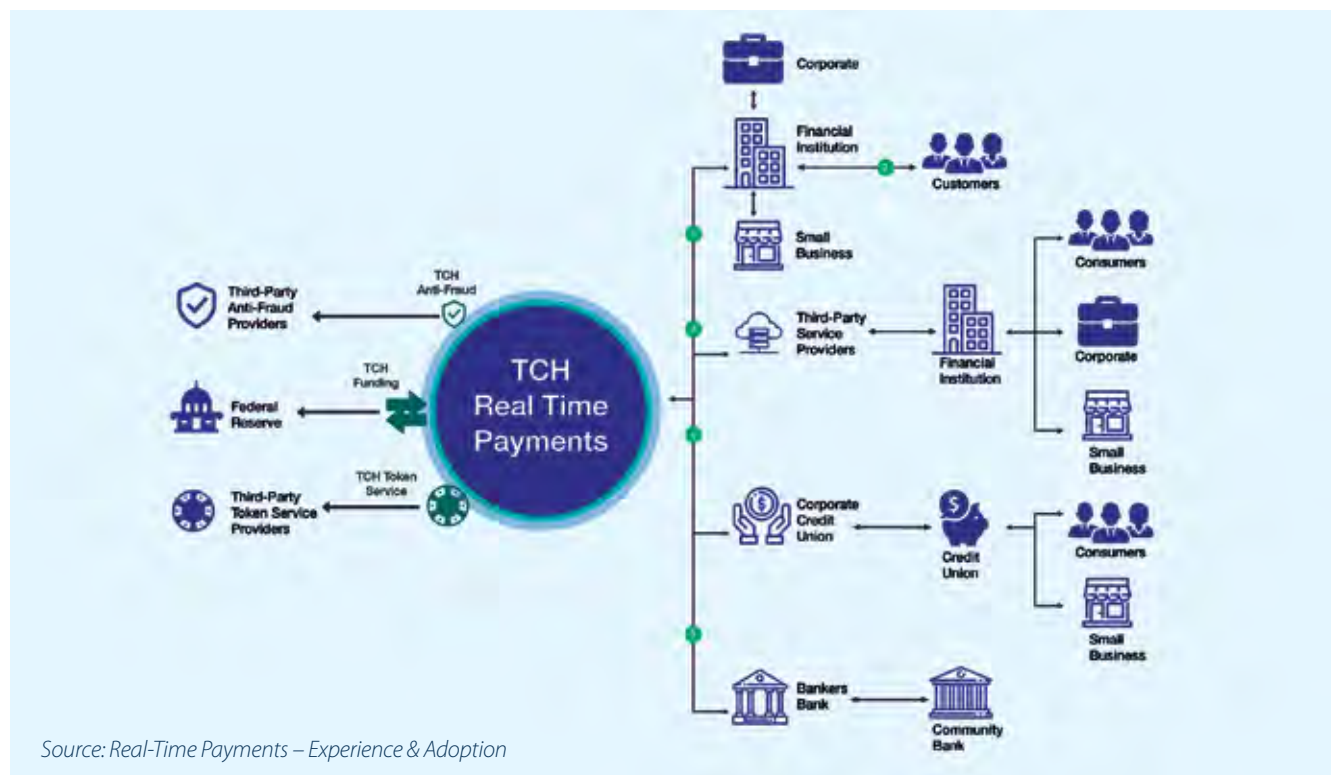

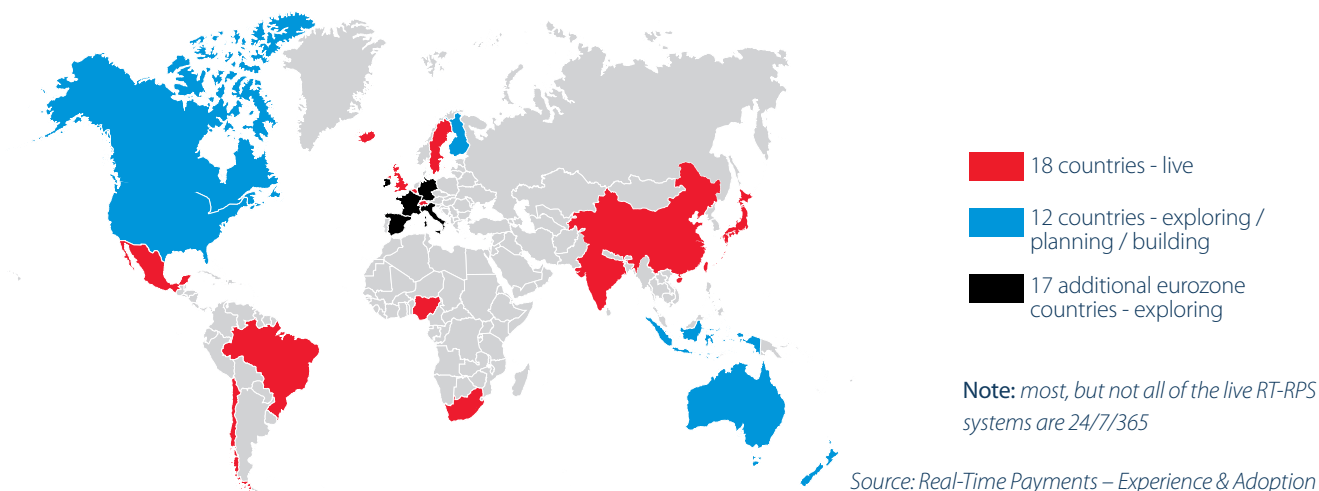

As of September 2016, there were 18 countries 'live' with RTP systems – 12 countries that are 'exploring/planning/building,' and an additional block of 17 countries that are 'exploring' through a pan-Eurozone initiative. Several of these countries are considering how best to implement real-time payments but have yet to publish the way forward. At least 12 countries have implemented 24/7 retail RTP systems supporting immediate low-value account-to-account transfers, and work is well underway in Australia, Europe and the United States.

The European Retail Payments Board has agreed on the need for at least one pan-European instant payment solution. In the United States, the Federal Reserve Board has called for the implementation of a safe, ubiquitous, faster payments capability and the Clearing House has announced that it will create a national RTP system. The diagram below illustrates the global span of 24/7 retail RTP systems to date. There is a clear trend towards more countries either having the ability to conduct faster payment transactions or starting the process of developing a system that allows them to do so.

The Company's Review

"During the past 24 months we have made large success in transitioning our strategy, and that too without adding any debt or raising any additional equity. We have made substantial investments in our payments innovation lab, creating significant digital assets that strengthen our capabilities and reinforce the MOAT of the Company, giving us a solid revenue growth model to leverage the huge opportunities ahead. The large part of our cash reserves continues to be available for the growth."

Q: How has the Company performed during the year under review?

A: We are making steady progress that is leading to rock solid foundation for the future. This is reflected in the fact that the Company reported 11% increase in revenues during the year under review, which, when one accounts for the fact that the previous year contain two non-business revenue items, indicates that we grew appreciably in 2017-18. Six months in the financial year 2016-17 contained six months of revenue from our largest erstwhile customer, while during the last year, we had been able to rationalise this revenue proportion down to zero, representing a complete de-risking. Besides, the Company's quarter-wise revenues returned to growth: revenues in the last quarter of the last financial year were 8% higher than the immediately previous quarter, validating revenue visibility.

Q: What were some of the highlights of the Company's working in 2017-18?

A: This has been a good year for us.

- 1) We completed several projects for our global clientele that has resulted in us building payment applications that represent the latest developments in the growth opportunities, thus deepening our knowledge and creating collaterals for new customer acquisitions.
- 2) The UPI platform in India, built by us has made huge success and achieved execution of 190 million transactions in a month. The BBPS platform, built by us has achieved the integration with 57+ banks and financial institutions, enabling 100% growth in online bill payments. Both platforms are

The Company is presently engaged in a business-building phase where investments will need to be made proactively with the objective to facilitate sustainable revenues across the future.

...we have reinvented ourselves without a rupee's debt transforming India and bringing about a major improvement in national productivity. NPCI indicates that these platforms should create 100mn customers in just two years – historic and making India a case study in the global payments sector. The result is that nearly 30 countries have asked India for this technology, strengthening our case as a company that provides world-class country-transforming digital infrastructure. This success is helping the Company to create another major offering for its revenue growth, and that is to go after the large market of building in-country payment infrastructure.

3) We have embarked on major innovation initiatives in our RS Payments lab and each of the digital asset we are building is enhancing our core competencies to strengthen our revenue growth model. We are now able to launch our own payment platforms, go after new clientele globally as the case studies at the end of this section demonstrate.

Q: What is 'digital infrastructure'?

A: The words are being increasingly used not just in India but the world over. There is a growing recognition that digital transactions drive economic growth; there is a growing recognition that digital transactions enhance transaction convenience; there is a growing recognition that the smart phone represents the building block of modern-day commerce. India's position among the largest smartphone consumers in the world has been complemented by a national digital infrastructure through which transactions can be conducted and payments effected. During the last financial year, volumes have scaled and the country has seeded the ground through debit cards and within the space of a few years has already achieved global scale in volume and value. This complement of smartphones, digital infrastructure and business-driving apps will take India into the modern digital age. We see the growth in digital infrastructure and digital transactions as providing the Indian economic growth story with an additional engine, which should help in sustaining our position as the world's fastest growing major economy. Given India's position as a growth generator for the world, we see the role of India's digital infrastructure – in which we are playing a critical role – as central and decisive.

Q: How do you respond to investors' concern on the growth prospects?

A: The big picture: We have eliminated the biggest risk to our company's future by reduction of revenue from our dominant client that represented 90% of our total revenue. We have successfully replaced this loss with revenues from 25 global clients during the same period, which is good progress, albeit slow and this is causing our investor community some doubts about our future. We would like to emphasise that these new clients have comprised players from across the digital infrastructure ecosystem: payment network companies, payment aggregators, payment gateways, acquiring processors and banks. This is a validation of our comprehensive capabilities and is seeding the ground for multi-competence revenue growth across the foreseeable future. As an extension of this ability, we may add that over the last few years, we have invested extensively in the creation of digital assets or products that can be aggregated with speed to create and customise robust digital platforms. We are absolutely confident that we are building a rock solid foundation for our growth, we are demonstrating success in executing mission critical work at national level, and our investments have created a significantly better capability to leverage the huge growth opportunity. All of this is demonstrated and the world of payments is impregnated with opportunity, making it an industry where there is no point of return. We have larger part of our cash reserves to take this strategy to full implementation, and like in the last 25 years demonstrated, we will emerge with even higher returns to all our stakeholders.

Q: Why is this creditable?

A: This is creditable because the creation of a digital platform is complex and mission-critical. In this challenging space, we have created a showpiece platform for the world's seventh largest economy and its fastest-growing major economy. The general perception was that India was a copier of things that appeared in developed markets; in this instance, we have reversed the paradigm. We have conclusively demonstrated that India is a front-ranking digital infrastructure player, inspiring a number of countries to ask India for this platform technology (what we created for India).

Q: How would the Company ask shareholders to buy into the RS Software story?

A: There are a number of things that we would advocate: that they consider that we have reinvented ourselves without a rupee's debt; that we have invested in building distinctive and enduring capabilities; that no company in India possesses our technology depth; that we generated 11% revenue growth in only the second year of our reinvention; that we possess attractive revenue opportunities to grow our business in the next 36 months. Our strategy is long term for success, and not tactical approach.

Q: The big question is whether this revenue growth will return the Company to profitability.

A: The Company is presently engaged in a business-building phase where investments will need to be made proactively with the objective to facilitate sustainable revenues across the future. The business is accompanied by a reasonable gestation and I must assure stakeholders that we possess the right pace and direction.

Q: How is the Company capturing opportunities arising out of various developments in the payments industry?

A: We have successfully implemented several projects globally aligned to the emerging growth developments. Here are some case studies:

Development

Payments modernisation garnering a quick foothold among merchants

From 52% of payments in Asia to 55% in the Americas, cards continue to dominate the payments market for retailers and merchants, across the world. And garnering a quick foothold amidst this are contact-less cards, which now account for nearly 2% of transactions in Asia and 3% in the Americas – this is a result of high-sales volume merchants embracing the quick and convenient modes of payment.

Another increasingly popular tool, the mobile NFC payments currently controls a modest position in the overall payment space accounting for roughly 1.5% of transactions. Cumulatively, new and alternative payment methods account for 10% of transactions globally and have now surpassed cash usage in the Americas (11% vs. 10%).

ISO and Merchant Solutions Provider

The RS Software edge comes not just from building a technology piece for our clients but from the fact that we have participated in the industry's evolution and today we are in a strong position to anticipate industry movements in the future. When a client comes to us, we don't just upgrade their technology stack but we upgrade their business!

Every business endeavor is to gain consumers, be a part of their entire journey and retain them to have them coming back for more. In the ever changing payment's industry, having captive consumers is a huge challenge. This is where we put our expertise and enable our clients to be a part of their consumer's journey at every step.

We take a consultative route to delivering our solutions, which not only meets the said needs of our clients but also exceed their expectations by delivering unsaid needs. Our solutions are deeply engaged with our client's business. This establishes our ground as a partner of choice in the acquiring landscape of today.

A recent example is of an ISO (Independent Sales Organisation) who was bogged down with legacy systems, thus hampering its ability to compete in today's market. Its current gateway processing systems were sub-standard leading to multiple interruptions in business functions. Through our consultative approach, we were able to design a solution which not only solved its problem for today, but made them future-proof. The ISO saw increase in operational efficiency and elimination of monthly expenditure on their prior systems. We delivered that a best-in-class technology makeover also enabled the client to expand into new verticals, differentiate itself in the marketplace and allow for faster addition of products and services to be delivered to the marketplace. It is now equipped with its own payment processor which gives it complete control over their consumer's journey and can offer more services to its merchants. This will enable the Company to acquire new merchants, increase the retention of existing merchants and increase their revenue.

As a company whose goal is to increase consumer convenience, we help our clients give their consumers a seamless experience across their buying journey. A few years ago, digital tools were a dream for small businesses or something that only large enterprises could afford. Today's world has seen a paradigm shift and on a daily basis every consumer deals with at least 5-10 digital tools. Daily commute to ordering groceries to paying for those – everything is through an app. We believe in taking digital tools to even the not-so-large organisations, so that even SMEs can realise their power and use it to take their businesses to new heights.

With RS Software's engagement, this merchant solutions provider now has digital tools to enable their merchants to create an enhanced consumer experience with payment functionality. We engaged with them to give a state-of-the-art payment processing system, which can accept payments easily on more channels. This enables their clients to worry less about technicalities and focus on increasing their business. We helped optimise the routing for Pinless Debit Transaction by routing them to qualified Debit Network by Acculynk instead of VisaNet, the current default network. This engagement also streamlines their merchant operations, enhancing transparency in processes through accurate reporting.

Our client is now able to acquire and retain merchants by enabling them to deliver a new customer value proposition relevant to the emerging digital payment ecosystem and business models. This will lead to increased market share and maximized contribution margins.

The evolving role of payment gateways

What started as a simple means to connect a merchant's website or point-of-sales software to various payments processors, payment gateways have, since their emergence in 1994, grown rapidly by adopting multiple roles. Owing to the response to build capabilities that are adept in meeting the need for global omni-channel services, payment gateways include activities such as bundled processing, fraud-and-analytic-based services, and specialist services such as cross-border payments, protection of sensitive payments details (through tokenisation, for instance), and integration into core systems like ERP platforms. They are on a healthy growth trajectory, with revenues growing at a compounded annual growth rate of 27% between 2012 and 2016, and a projected 20% increase from 2016 to 2020.

Most payment gateways focus on specific customer segments – be it large multinational companies or medium-size enterprises – seeking a one-stop-solution shop that may also include a unified means to integrate their operations across acquirers. Stripe and PayPal's Braintree provide easy-to-integrate, full-service platforms for app providers, while Adyen provides omni-channel capabilities for merchants looking to combine their brick-and-click workflows.

Large merchants with highly sophisticated needs that require omni-channel functionality and multi-acquiring capabilities process in excess of 20 million transactions per year, thus contributing more than two-thirds of the payments volumes handled by the gateways. Small merchants with fewer than one million transactions per year and seeking a one-stop-solution payments gateway are the second-largest market segment contributing nearly 17% to the payment volumes. The smallest segment – mid-tier merchants – while seeking omni-channel and multi-acquiring capabilities, contribute around 14% to the volumes.

Driven by the need to reduce costs and improve efficiencies, businesses are rapidly integrating accounts payables and receivables into their systems, thereby propelling the digitisation of commercial payments. In short, merchants are finding electronic clearance via automated clearing house (ACH) more convenient than paper checks for settling their transactions. Between 2011 and 2015, the share of domestic B2B payables settled in the US via ACH increased from 14% to 20%, while checks fell from 63% to 57%. Part of the decline in check usage can be attributed to commercial cards, which are growing at 7% per year according to McKinsey's US Payments Map.

Also, e-wallets are gaining popularity as a method of payment, for all cross-border purchases. A 2016 survey of cross-border e-commerce shoppers across 26 countries found that e-wallets (such as PayPal) were the preferred choice for 41% of the respondents, followed by 33% for credit cards and 18% for debit card/bank transfer [Source: International Post Corporation, 2017]. However, a major obstacle to cross-border transactions is the lack of interoperability of payments systems.

The accelerating speed of transactions and rich data yield are driving companies to seek processing solutions that integrate seamlessly with the payment systems. This will allow them to capture operational improvements by reducing manual reconciliation and human intervention. And this is expected to propel cross-border commercial payments further as more countries transit to real-time payment systems.

Over the next five years, the market size of the payments gateway is expected to experience a 20% annual increase. Strong growth in digital channels is likely to fuel 60% of new purchase volumes and this likely to be the driving force behind the growing market size. Most of the growth in purchase volumes is expected to come from 'in-app' transactions – an increasingly important channel for traditional retailers—and from merchants' increasing deployment of omni-channel solutions that require the support of digital specialists. Material growth and acquisition activity are also evident in business-to-business (B2B) gateways as businesses increasingly integrate payments into their systems.

To tap into this opportunity, RS software presents its state-of-the art and future-proof solution. Details on the next page.

Payabbhi

“Payabbhi as a 21st century API platform represents the future of Digital Business that can rapidly evolve to fulfill the requirements of today and tomorrow.”

India is at an exciting crossroads of its journey into digital payments. While demonetisation by the Government in November 2016 made people more aware about the value of digital transactions, this has not translated to a change in behaviour as even today cash remains the preferred mode of transactions, especially in the B2C space. As per a Dalberg study commissioned by Visa, less than 6% Indian merchants accept digital payments. This in itself presents a huge market opportunity.

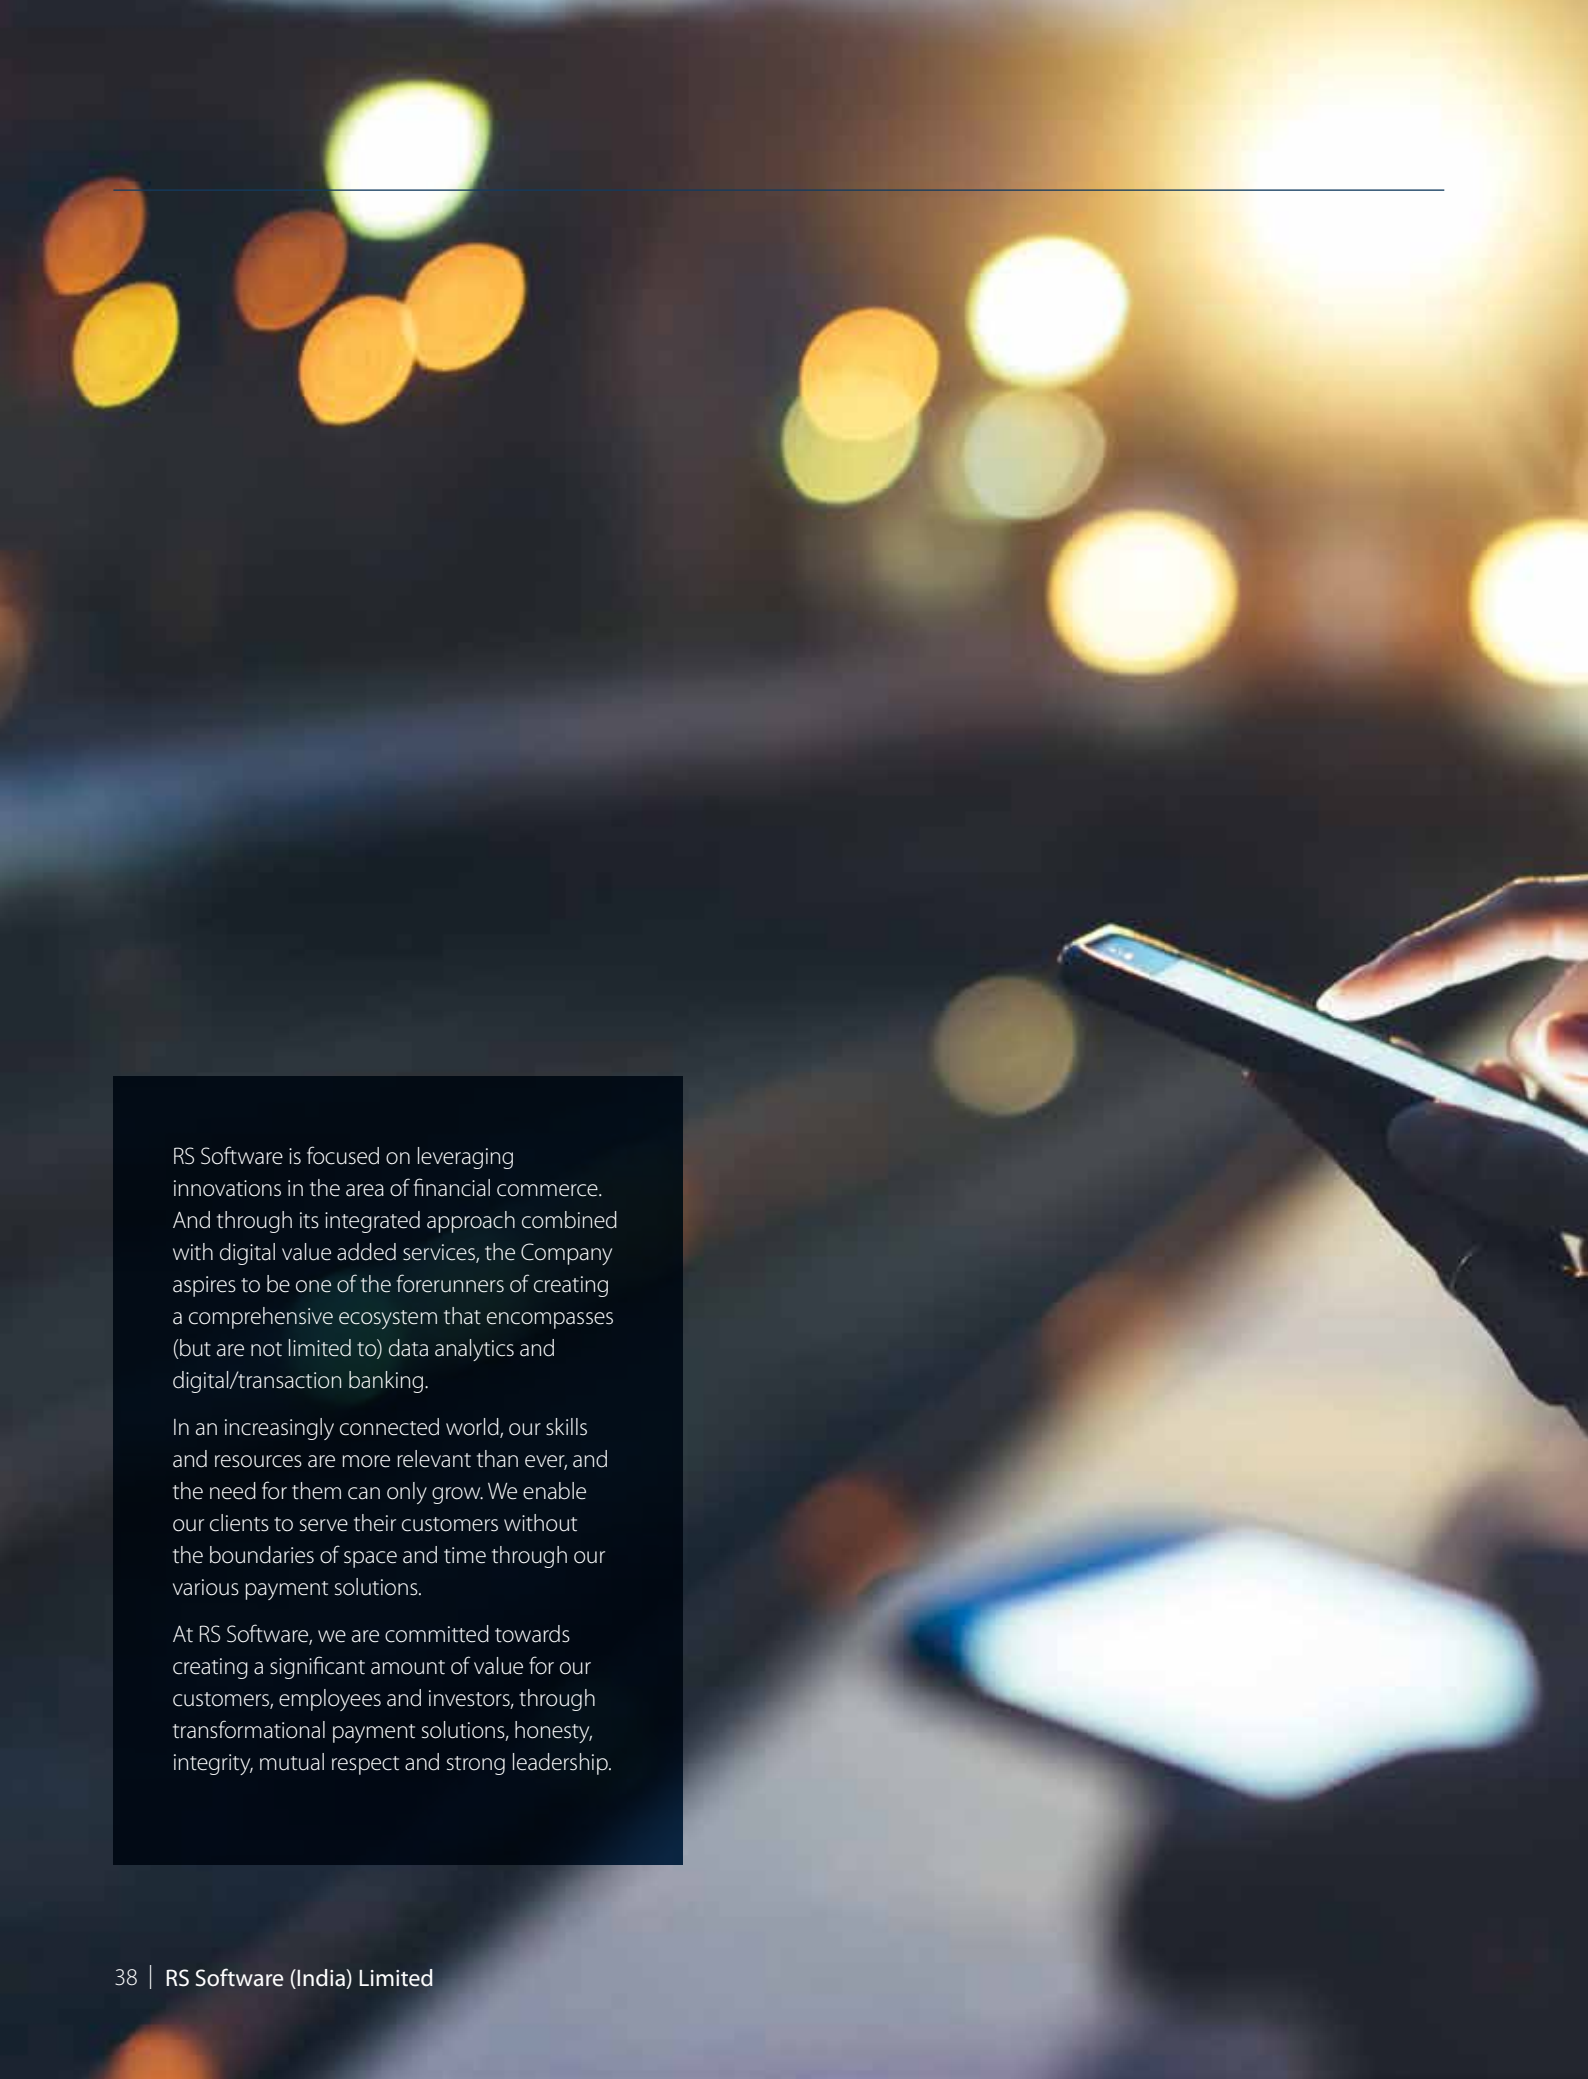

As per a recent estimate by Google, there are more than 51 million small and medium businesses in India who are waiting to go online, but are unable to due to the steep learning curve required on the technology front. These businesses have varied requirements – Payments, Storefront, Legal,

Accounting, CRM, Logistics, Communication, Back office and others. Quite often, they are not even aware of their requirements. Existing solution providers are working in silos – offering their particular solution to their client and letting them handle the integration and handshaking required to get these various solution providers to work with each other. This takes away the time of the business owner from focusing on their core business, to solving technology teething problems.

Our vision through Payabbhi is to be the single point partner of our customers for all of their technology requirements that can enable, enhance and add value to their business. Focusing on our core value and offering of transaction processing, Payabbhi caters to any core payment related services a customer needs. This includes core payment processing, subscriptions, analytics and many more. At the same time, being an API platform, it presents infinite possibilities to be integrated with various service providers and commerce enablers to offer a single point of interface. This will allow our customers to focus on their business without any worries, and allow us to have a much deeper and stronger relationship with our customers.

As per Credit Suisse, the Indian digital payment market is expected to grow to US$ 1 trillion by 2023 from its current size of less than US$ 200 billion. RS Software has already shown its commitment to this journey through its work with NPCI in building and scaling UPI. We are convinced that Payabbhi will enable the acceleration of digital payment adaptation on this journey.

RS Software is focused on leveraging innovations in the area of financial commerce. And through its integrated approach combined with digital value added services, the Company aspires to be one of the forerunners of creating a comprehensive ecosystem that encompasses (but are not limited to) data analytics and digital/transaction banking.

In an increasingly connected world, our skills and resources are more relevant than ever, and the need for them can only grow. We enable our clients to serve their customers without the boundaries of space and time through our various payment solutions.

At RS Software, we are committed towards creating a significant amount of value for our customers, employees and investors, through transformational payment solutions, honesty, integrity, mutual respect and strong leadership.

Dispute-resolution process

Transforming the dispute-resolution process can provide banks with an opportunity to solidify bonds with their customers while driving down costs.

Card-related payment disputes between customers and merchants occur in less than 1% of transactions, but these moments can have an outsized impact on bank-customer relationships. The cornerstone of these relationships is customer trust—that their deposits are safe, that they can dispute a charge or transaction and get a quick, factual answer.

For customers, disputes can be a source of frustration and inconvenience. For banks, disputes are expensive to resolve. If banks treat disputes simply as issues to be minimised, they can miss the silver lining: the opportunity to strengthen their relationships with customers.

RS Software has built dispute resolution systems for the largest payment network globally, and for the largest acquiring processor in Europe. The area of dispute management is fraught with opportunity as the volume of digital payment transactions are increasing at a rapid pace.

For customers, disputes can be a source of frustration and inconvenience. For banks, disputes are expensive to resolve.

Development

Digital trust matters

“The digital revolution needs a trust revolution.”

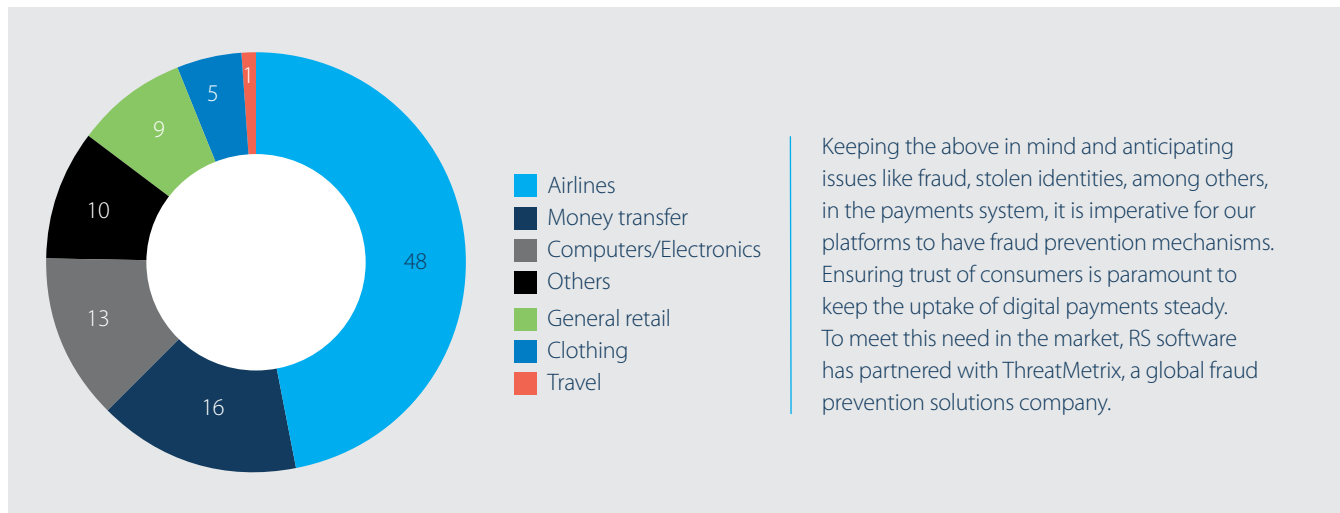

- Marc Benioff, CEO, Salesforce

Trust is the cornerstone of the global digital economy. As the value and volume spent online continues to surge, payment fraud is an escalating problem for merchants and card issuers worldwide. According to Juniper Research, card-not-present transactions account for 60% to 70% of all card fraud in many developed countries and, without appropriate preventative measures in place, can result in billions of dollars-worth of lost revenues each year.

Fraudulent online transactions by merchant sector

Case Study

RS – ThreatMetrix Alliance

The India market alone is estimated to see more than 20 billion online payment transactions during the next 12 months. With the increased adoption of digital payments, the risk of fraud and stolen identities could also see a significant rise, which in turn makes consumers wary of whether to continue using digital modes. RS Software, being a payments player, understands this and is committed to genuine consumers paying through digital modes securely and without fear. To solve this problem, we partnered with a global fraud and risk management solution provider – ThreatMetrix. This partnership brings world-class capabilities to secure these growing transactions in our country. The strategic value of this alliance is that RS Software possesses the know-how of the Indian market and insights from building the digital backbone of India – UPI and BBPS. The ThreatMetrix global network analyses

2 billion payment transactions, account creations and logins per month from across 185 countries. The joint solution provides a scalable, adaptive and cost-effective solution, with insights built from the Unified Payments Interface (UPI) and the Bharat Bill Payment System (BBPS), as well as from the ThreatMetrix Digital Identity Network®, which analyses transactions from 1.4 billion anonymous users worldwide.

AI/ML in Payments

Accelerated innovations in the online payments industry perpetuate sophisticated methods to steal sensitive data. Fraudsters are constantly changing their tactics to make their efforts more effective. And for online businesses, it is getting harder to determine which transaction looks good and which one should be rejected. Well-known fraud management systems based on rules require more manual reviews so the entire purchasing process could take longer. Today, while e-commerce and m-commerce are constantly growing, retailers have less time to detect fraudsters manually. Moreover, fraudsters are getting cleverer and utilising new technologies to launch complex attacks.

Meanwhile, the cost of fraud continues to rise. At the beginning of 2015, less than US$2 out of US$100 was subjected to a fraud attack, but by Q1 2016, it was US$7.3 out of every US$100. Online payments fraud is the space for a machine learning technique that uses historical and live data to create patterns for customers' behaviour. These patterns allow the system to make accurate fraud predictions. Machine learning is now used to prevent, or at least limit, fraud attempts.

Another major use case of AI in payments is Smart Wallets that are able to monitor and learn users' spending habits and needs, analyze them and based on the results, alert and coach users, when appropriate, to show restraint and to alter their personal finance spending and saving behaviour.

RS Software building in-country and global payment processing platforms

Case Study

UPI, BBPS and bids for Ireland and UK

RS has demonstrated its capability in building large-scale payment platforms at a national level through UPI and BBPS, catering to a billion-plus people. Building digital platforms like UPI and BBPS requires a unique combination of deep-domain knowledge in payment and expertise to architect a high volume, high throughput and secured payment system. RS is chosen as one of the few such unique companies globally, who can build such systems. The technology excellence of RS, married with its domain knowledge, now creates a demand for 30 other countries to implement UPI and BBPS like platforms at national level. Both UPI and BBPS are built on advanced micro-service based architecture with open source technologies that lowers the total cost of ownership in terms of build and operations. With federated and secured APIs exposed from the central processing hub, these digital platforms foster the innovation and promote financial inclusion.

RS carries its success further as it gets invited in RFI to re-architecture UK's Faster Payment System [FPS] and gets short-listed for the next stage of submitting the RFP. RS was also chosen as the only non-European company to be short-listed for mobile payment platform in Ireland, which ascertains our position as a leading payment platform provider in global arena.

During the past 12 months, the world has seen several advances in the deployment of payment capabilities accelerating the evolution of digital commerce. Each of these developments is secular in nature and reinforces the growth potential of RS Software.

Operational Highlights, FY2017-18

The learning asset

Growing the intellectual capital

As a corporate focused on the payments industry for over two decades, RS Software has made a name for itself across the payments value chain. Keeping immediate and long-term business objectives in mind, the Company has focused on building expertise, products and solutions in the acquisition side of the payments ecosystem.

Over the years, RS Software has strengthened its domain knowledge through the pillars of RS School of Payments, knowledge management systems and RS Innovation lab for payments. The Company is driven by an entrepreneurial mindset and willingness to embrace challenges. The Company's competitiveness is driven by a rich and diverse pool of talent, who are engaged in continuous learning.

RS School of Payments

The RS School of Payments is the powerhouse of domain knowledge that has been acquired by playing a key role in the evolution of the payments industry. It maximises productivity and minimises learning curves on the back of a best-in-class knowledge management system that focuses on business functions, technologies and customised strategies. The RS School of Payments conducts courses covering the entire payment spectrum – from basic to advanced levels in niche areas. These advanced courses are crafted by industry and subject matter experts, and are attended by our employees as well as our clients. The Company's RS School of Payments is one of the top thought leaders of the global payments industry, and is highly respected by its peers.

RS Payments Lab

The RS Payments Lab plays a critical role in exploring proofs-of-concept and developing reference architecture in new technologies (mobile, analytics, test automation and tokenisation) well before the customer begins to use them. This empowers RS Software to propose solutions to customers that enhance productivity, reduce costs and reinforce quality, strengthening the customer's profitability and satisfaction. The Company built an encompassing repository of sectoral knowledge comprising customer interactions, market research, expert opinions, research reports and webinars that are white-labeled and curated in a knowledge center supported by a search facility. The Company will continue developing its expertise while focusing on core processing areas like advance payments and security, data management and analytics, and automation.

Human Resources

RS Software doesn't just merely create employees; it grooms them to become entrepreneurs and thereby fosters a distinctive culture of outperformance. Investments have also been made to expand the geographic reach in Europe and India. These investments are of long term nature and are expected to reward with increased revenue in the upcoming fiscal years.

Addressing business risks

RS Software identifies and analyses potential risks to take adequate precautionary steps, thereby minimising losses and maximising realisations.

Can an overt dependence on the payments sector affect growth in the event of a decline in the vertical?

Much of the growth in the electronic payments segment is being derived from the aggressive growth plans of downstream e-commerce and m-commerce players, along with emerging disruptive technologies facilitating user ease. The technology trends are being supported by the new generation's eagerness to shop anytime and anywhere. The National Payments Corporation of India is focusing on the creation of an end-to-end payment infrastructure by granting payment licenses and undertaking farsighted initiatives to boost financial inclusion (Jan Dhan Yojana, DBT and UID, among others). Growing internet connectivity and increasing preference for online shopping via smart phones are likely to propel growth. RS Software, owing to its domain expertise within the payment space, is playing a pivotal role in the Indian digital payments revolution.

Could attrition in a knowledge-driven space affect competitiveness?

RS Software provides a stimulating workplace where employees are adequately empowered in terms of decision-making, involvement and career progression. The Company created a training calendar to accelerate knowledge building. RS Software invested in skill replenishment and renewal through the RS School of Payments and RS Payments Lab. The Company created a knowledge management system as an information repository that can be referred to by others. The ongoing transformation within the Company was a result of a focus on emerging technologies.

The result: people attrition was only 31.6%, largely owing to personnel who desired to stay with their legacy competencies.

Could growing competition (from startups as well as existing players) affect business sustainability?

RS Software has maintained a singular focus on the electronic payments domain, which has translated into in-depth understanding. This is vindicated by the fact that the National Payments Corporation of India partnered with RS Software to build a digital payments platform to support the growth of online payments and catalyze financial inclusion. To hone skills in emerging technologies, the Company intensified its learning capabilities, allocating substantial investments in the

RS School of Payments and RS Payments Lab.

Annexure B to the Auditors' Report

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ('the Act')

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of R S SOFTWARE (INDIA) LIMITED ('the Company') as on 31st March, 2018 in conjunction with our audit of the standalone financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ('ICAI'). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the Company's policies, the safe guarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting (the 'Guidance Note') and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting were established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operative effectiveness. Our audit of internal Financial Controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditors judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion of the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purpose in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in responsible detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the Company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are records as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with authorizations of the Management and directors of the Company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the Company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future period are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of change in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31st March, 2018, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal controls stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of R S Software (Asia) Pte. Limited (the "Company"), which comprise the statement of financial position as at 31 March 2018, the statement of comprehensive income, statement of changes in equity and statement of cash flows for the financial year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements are properly drawn up in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act, Chapter 50 (the "Act") and Financial Reporting Standards in Singapore ("FRSs") so as to give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Company as at 31 March 2018 and the financial performance, changes in equity and cash flows of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with Singapore Standards on Auditing ("SSAs"). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Accounting and Corporate Regulatory Authority ("ACRA") Code of Professional Conduct and Ethics for Public Accountants and Accounting Entities ("ACRA Code") together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in Singapore, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the ACRA Code. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Other Information

Management is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the Directors' Statement but does not include the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not and will not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information identified above and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed on the other information that we obtained prior to the date of this auditor's report, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management and Directors for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation of financial statements that give a true and fair view in accordance with the provisions of the Act and FRSs, and for devising and maintaining a system of internal accounting controls sufficient to provide a reasonable assurance that assets are safeguarded against loss from unauthorised use or disposition; and transactions are properly authorised and that they are recorded as necessary to permit the preparation of true and fair financial statements and to maintain accountability of assets.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The directors' responsibilities include overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SSAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SSAs, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with the directors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

In our opinion, the accounting and other records required by the Act to be kept by the Company have been properly kept in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of RS SOFTWARE (INDIA) LIMITED ('the Company') as on 31st March, 2018 in conjunction with our audit of the standalone financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date. (Two Companies of the group which have been incorporated outside India and one subsidiary incorporated in India have been exempted from reporting requirement under section 143(3)(i) and vide MCA notification G.S.R 583-E dated 13th June, 2017 respectively.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ('ICAI'). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the Company's policies, the safe guarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting (the 'Guidance Note') and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting were established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operative effectiveness.

Our audit of internal Financial Controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditors judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion of the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purpose in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in responsible detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the Company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with authorizations of the Management and directors of the Company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the Company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future period are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of change in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31st March, 2018, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal controls stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.
