OUR VALUES

Message from the Managing Director

Profitable Growth. Innovation for Tomorrow.

Dear Shareholders,

I write to you as I complete two years of my journey at the helm of your Company. At the outset, let me thank you for your unstinted support; it has helped me and my team withstand the turbulence faced by the Indian economy in the recent past. I am proud to report that we performed rather well, improving our profits significantly while protecting our top line from severe degrowth. As we move forward, your Company continues to be driven by three principles: profitable growth, innovation-led focus and gold standards of governance.

Permit me to discuss your Company's performance in my letter first and then share with you our macro-economic viewpoint. I believe that as stakeholders all of us need to understand how our strategy of focussing on high-margin, high-end science-led product solutions that I spoke of last year, has started yielding positive results. Indeed, by the fundamentals of our business, we are now more competitive, disciplined and excellence-oriented.

Our Performance: Value Creation through Value Addition

During the past year, we continued with our strategy of driving our product mix towards high value-addition items and move away from the high volume, low margin manufacturing approach of earlier years. We had anticipated an initial slowdown of revenues during the first few quarters and sales to pick up steam during the quarters thereafter. However, early in the 3rd quarter, demonetization almost brought business to a standstill, especially with our exposure to the agriculture and rural markets where cash transactions dominate. Sales plummeted and slowdown was experienced for the second half of the year.

We had two choices. We could either return to high volume low margin job work manufacturing to make up for lost sales or stick our neck out and remain steadfast with our innovation-led R&D strategy. We plumped for the latter for two reasons: Firstly, we believe demonetization was worth the short-term pain for long-term gains. Secondly, we felt it is prudent to pursue a 'profitable growth' strategy to protect our bottom line rather than chase growth at all cost. I personally believe that chasing growth at the cost of profits is not a great idea for our stakeholders. It reminds me of an old saying, "Revenue is Vanity but Profit is Sanity".

During FY2017, your Company's revenues stood at Rs. 5928.39 lac as compared to Rs. 6169.35 lac for FY2016. However, PAT registered a significant Y-o-Y jump of 37% to Rs. 239.49 lac in the year from the previous year's Rs. 175.22 lac. Despite our sales falling behind by a few inches as compared to last year, our profitability increased by 37%! We believe our customers appreciate the fact that we have introduced new-age, scientific applications and custom solutions both in knitted and woven products, and therefore willingly pay a premium. Another factor worth noting is that per unit profitability has gone up significantly and should continue to grow as we move towards becoming an IPR-driven science-led technical textiles player.

I accept that we missed our revenue targets as per our plans. But, I hope you will appreciate the fact that it was not entirely our doing. However, we upped our profits significantly thanks to a focus on cost rationalization, automation and high-end computerized production. Indeed, our ability to garner premium prices while simultaneously bringing down input costs through higher productivity and a complete organizational revamp led to improved performance during the year despite top line stagnation. We will continue with our focus on profitability and bring back our top line growth projections to a 20% CAGR for the next 3 years. However, with the introduction of GST, we have a wait-and-watch policy to understand its implications and whether it will affect our top line in the short term.

Global Overview – Uncertainty & Disruption is the New Normal

Two seminal events during the last year demonstrated that uncertainty and unpredictability are the new normal! UK's exit from the European Union and the US election results conclusively showed how even the best predicted and planned outcomes could be overturned by mandates bordering on socio-economic fallacies. The Middle East crisis is another example where business leaders were left helpless due to geopolitical events. (Incidentally, we learnt this first hand when a large shipment for a Qatari customer was delayed).

However, on the positive side, innovation-led thinking, disruptive technology-driven solutions and science-based customer applications are sprouting across the world regularly. Entrepreneurship is being realized through private money that is promoting more experimentation. In our business, chemical science and its applications and solutions are a key focus area for innovation across the world. Last year saw the commercialization of our R&D efforts in the science and applications space, where customers benefitted from the end products.

Technical Textiles – Democratizing Usage, From Labs to Citizen's Homes

In the last decade, the use of technical textiles has been democratized around the globe. For example, technical textiles were considered for use in high-end and inventive applications meant mostly for use in government-sponsored scientific space programmes like space suits. Today, space travel has been commercialized with Virgin Galactic becoming the world's first commercial spaceline creating a need for space suits produced on a mass scale. Now, technical textiles are widely used in agriculture (agrotech), packaging industry (packtech), sustainable infrastructure (geotech) and safety and protection (protech). Your Company's current focus is in the above four areas.

Among textiles, technical textiles have seen the maximum growth across world markets. It is expected that the global technical textile market will reach USD 160.38 billion by 2018. When it comes to volume, the world's technical textile production is projected to hit 42.2 million metric tonnes by 2020, representing a CAGR of about 4.68% from 2015 to 2020 according to a report from Technavio.

Some of the most critical unsolved problems challenging humankind are being addressed through the use of technical textiles. This includes increasing yields per hectare and reducing wastage, building eco-friendly and safe infrastructure, and addressing environmental concerns. Today, white goods manufacturers and consumer & health food companies are using technical textile applications to improve end-product life, make them lightweight (efficient), prevent counterfeiting and promote branding. The 4th largest decorative paint manufacturer in Asia uses our packaging solutions to ensure superior branding, mitigate counterfeiting and enable a pilferage-free experience for consumers.

Indian Economy – Democracy, Demography, Demand, Digitization

In the coming years, the Asia Pacific region will witness high population growth and the potential of the technical textiles industry will be the greatest here. The region is slated to be the world's largest market for technical industries between 2017 and 2027, accounting for more than 50% of global industry revenues. Expectedly, India and China will lead the demand momentum. India's technical textiles sector is expected to expand at a CAGR of 6.8% as against the global rate of 4.6%. According to a report by ICRA Management Consultants, the Indian technical textile industry witnessed 57% growth in value over the last five years. Further, it is projected to be valued at INR 1,16,217 crore in 2017-18. An enabling regulatory environment that will facilitate numerous technical and fiscal incentives will support the sector's performance.

Today, we have a government led by a determined and action-oriented Prime Minister who is open to innovative ideas. Public spending, especially in the areas of agriculture, inter-city road and city infrastructure, etc. is overtaking private sector plans. Additionally, the government is keen on science-led development and technical textiles form a special focus area. From starting Centres of Excellence to awareness creation and even providing machinery, space, quality control labs, etc. the government is encouraging Small & Medium Businesses to enter technical textile manufacturing. Standardization of technical textile products is another area of focus for the government. Even as the country's economic growth was drawn back at 7.1% for FY2017, India continues to outperform major developed economies.

The above policy direction gels well with established technical textile players like Rishi Techtex, as we have developed superior knowledge and R&D-led advanced products and applications. While we become a focussed R&D and science-led business with new applications and innovations, we will create strategic partnerships with new 'micropreneurs' who have manufacturing facilities with standard quality control. Currently, about 9% of the world's total technical textile consumption is 'Made in India'. Besides the export market, technical textiles have a huge domestic opportunity as currently about 30% of our country's demand is being met by costly imports.

The future beckons - An Ideas-heavy, Asset-right, R&D & Innovation Company

Let me share with you certain strategic and long-term changes that we have implemented during the year based on an outward customer focus. During the year, we launched many new products, the details of which are mentioned inside the report. However, the point that I wish to make is that today with over three decades of experience and a state-of-the-art R&D facility and latest machinery, we have created an innovation edge that very few technical textile companies have in the domestic market. We intend to become a research-based technical textiles company with a dual focus – product development of high-end value-added solutions and a nimble customer-focussed marketing and sales organization.

We are the first Indian technical textile (public limited) company to get the BIS certificate for shade nets under IS 16008. Rishi Techtex is the first company in India to make thermal nets in-house, which so far have been imported by local players. Our research team and scientists' ability to develop complex import-substitute indigenous products proves that the organization is moving from the earlier manufacturing mindset towards a scientific temper. Our shade nets for grape growers have resulted in 33% increase in income. We launched fire retardant shade nets as part of our protech portfolio, the first by an Indian company as others rely on imports. These shade nets will be used for outdoor covering and safety purposes in stadiums and sports arenas.

Our Capex during the year was focussed on a few specific things: a) state-of-the-art machinery purchased for automation and computerised production processes b) Retooling current machinery to increase productivity, speed and quality while reducing wastage c) an asset-right strategy whereby our investments will be in high-end technology, intellectual capital and R&D labs rather than pure manufacturing. Discontinuation of job work helped us raise margins. Going ahead, once our products and applications are successfully commercialized and ready for scale up, we will look at capable outsourcing vendors. Our capital investments will be more towards getting the best human capital rather than blocking it in plant and machinery. Also, training and development, safety and health at our plants remain a key priority.

Finally, I want to thank all of you without whose support and blessings this journey would not have been possible. I wish to leave you with an anecdote that will give you a peek into things to come. This year we experimented with a new sales channel by creating an online product presence across leading e-commerce sites. This shows our ability to think like a start-up, adopt innovate ideas, experiment with the unknown and then deliver sustainable science-based outcomes for a better, safer and more productive tomorrow.

Warm Regards

Abhishek Patel

Global Players that have started operations in India after 100% FDI in technical textiles

Global economic scenario

The Perils of Protectionism

Perhaps the most significant global development during the last fiscal was the propagation of inward-looking development strategies by advanced economies. Europe and America chose to retreat from open markets & globalization and move towards protectionism. According to a study by the International Monetary Fund (IMF), the move is likely to have the greatest impact on the economies of India, China and South Africa. It further states that “the combination of declining global trade and growth would increase corporate vulnerability and borrowing costs, that may lead to financial stability risks in these economies”.

Consequent to the trends of increased trade protectionism, policy uncertainty and geopolitical tensions, global growth witnessed its weakest post-crisis performance at 2.4% in 2016. According to the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), the surge in protectionism risks denting global growth, stoking inflation and harming living standards. While global performance is expected to better in 2017 at 2.7%, the signal is clear: emerging markets need to fortify their development strategies by undertaking growth-friendly fiscal consolidation and addressing corporate vulnerabilities.

Impact on the Technical Textile Sector

The global technical textile sector is expected to be valued at USD 175 billion by 2020, almost doubling from its value of USD 93 billion in the year 2000. Until 2020, the sector is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.5%. One of the underlying factors driving sectoral growth is the high exports demand. While emerging economies such as China, India, Brazil and Russia are the global powerhouses of production, advanced economies such as Europe and America are the centers of demand.

Global Technical Textiles Consumption Share

America consumes 23% of the global technical textiles production while Europe uses up around 22%. With both these economies assuming a deglobalized stance, the global technical textile sector stands to lose out a great deal. Also, given the sector's dependency on exports, the termination of the trans-pacific partnership (TPP) could lead to further regression. However, domestic consumption for technical textiles demand will see a rise.

Tackling the Challenges

Indian lawmakers have acknowledged the underrepresented export potential of the domestic technical textile sector. Several policies have been rolled out to leverage this opportunity. However, the prospects stand impaired with the introduction of protectionist laws.

In this context, implementation of laws such as the goods and service tax (GST) in India will ease the domestic movement of goods and services while creating a common national market. It will also help in increasing the competitiveness of the sector. So far, the Indian technical textile sector has been largely commoditized, catering to basic demands. As an industry, we need to enhance investments towards research & development so that our innovation capabilities have a direct linkage to our global competitiveness.

Indian economic scenario

Remarkable Opportunities Made in India

Today, India offers abundant opportunities for growth across all segments of the technical textile industry. The prospects are underpinned by a rapidly growing population, increasing urbanization, rise in disposable income levels and enhanced health awareness. While the Indian technical textile industry has hitherto been perceived as nascent, there have been significant developments in the last few years towards its growth and sustainability. Consequently, the Indian technical textile sector is maturing. The outlook for the industry is pegged at USD 26 billion in 2017.

The impetus for progress is reinforced by the twin propositions of demonetization and the goods and service tax (GST). Both these reforms are likely to define a new normal in the Indian business ecosystem. Their broad objectives include curbing the shadow economy, enabling digitization and providing level-playing opportunities. Further, they will promote quality, uniformity and integrity in general business conduct. These reforms will reflect on our economic performance over a period of time. In the short-term we may experience a contraction in demand.

Fiscal 2017 in Review

98% of consumer transactions in India being cash-based, life came to a standstill following the currency ban. The ensuing economic slowdown was not surprising. According to World Bank estimates, the GDP reduced to 6.8% in FY17 as compared to 7.1 in FY16. However, the country continues to be the world's fastest growing economy. The short-term setback is expected to be corrected in the current fiscal, with the World Bank pegging India's growth levels at 7.2% in FY18. While the opportunity is fortified by strong fundamentals, it needs sustained investments to restart and retain the growth momentum.

Much like the overall economy, the technical textile industry reported a slowdown in the near-term, following the demonetization move.

Propelling Growth of the Indian Technical Textile Industry

Given that the Asia Pacific region will witness the highest population growth, the potential of the technical textile industry cannot be overstated. Indeed, the region is slated to be the world's largest market for technical industries between 2017 and 2027, accounting for more than 50% of the global industry revenues. The technical textile sector in India and China is expected to expand at a CAGR of 6.8% as against the global rate of 4.6%.

The government has recently undertaken reforms to improve sectoral efficiency. Further, there have been concrete steps towards standardization of technical textile products. This will spur innovation in the field and bring greater clarity in the growth framework. The move will also aid the export-readiness of companies. A niche industry and high value business, India's technical textile sector faces little competition from other textile anchoring economies such as Bangladesh, Vietnam and Pakistan. Given the considerations in its favour, India will soon make its presence felt in the global technical textile landscape.

Effects of Demonetization

Demonetization & GST – A Welcome Shock

A great fillip for the Technical Textile Industry

Reams of paper have been written by experts, supporters and critiques over the government's decision of demonetization followed by the implementation of Goods & Services Tax (GST). Without going into the academic aspects, as a business, we feel, it is a great fillip for the technical textile industry. In the long run, it will enable a healthy, transparent and fair-market mechanism.

We list below 4 clear benefits of Demonetization, Digitization & GST

1 Transparent and single economy:

As Indian businesses go global and MNCs start operating in India, working in a dual economy (cash and bank) locally is always a deterrent. Companies like ours that invest a significant amount in R&D and product innovation, find themselves outpaced by players who cut corners by beating around the system. Demonetization ensured that a single economy mindset is cemented among all business stakeholders, including customers, thus, negating the incentives of circumventing the laws of the land. Over a period of time, along with GST, the unsaid benefit (price advantage) of unorganized players will reduce substantially.

2 Expansion of the organized technical textile sector:

The technical textile sector in India is on the verge of a unique growth story, coupled with the government's push for scientific and modern practices in agriculture, infrastructure and other areas. A uniform tax will help more and more players join the system. At the customer's end, with the price benefit of unorganized players diminishing, they will start to value premium products and services. For genuine players with an R&D focus, this will help them garner a large share of the market.

3 Focus on R&D and not the general environment:

As per our experience, a significant part of our time was devoted to handling the general business environment, be it local or state taxes, government authorities or inspectors. GST – described as "Good and Simple Tax" by our honourable PM Shri Narendra Modi, is a harbinger of change. Businesses like ours can simply focus on R&D led product development and save significant management time and bandwidth currently wasted in such inefficiencies.

4 Enthusiastic participation in government and subsidy-based initiatives:

The government has firmly stated that technical textiles, especially agri and geo textiles will be a key focus area for government spending. Technical textile firms can now participate in either direct government schemes or subsidy-based sales, without the fear of a backlog of payments. In the past, micro-irrigation players have suffered delays in government subsidy realization especially, at the state government level. With digital payments and direct transfers, the industry can be assured of a smoother business relationship when dealing with the current government.

Both the moves have drastic effects, though they are short-term. For GST, the effects will be clearer by next year. Our business was significantly hit in FY17 due to demonetization. However, as a company, we believe that the government and the polity have taken these bold measures for the long-term good of the nation. As a leading technical textile player, we hope these measures will increase our competitiveness and brand value both in the export and domestic markets.

Effects of GST

GST – Good for Business

The Goods & Services Tax (GST) Law is a comprehensive, multi-stage, destination-based tax that will be levied on every value addition. With the implementation of this law, India will become a single, unified common market. The law will bring in a system of input tax credit, allowing sellers to claim the tax already paid. Consequently, the final liability on the end consumer will decrease.

Application of the GST Law in the Technical Textile Industry

GST collected from supplier = INR 105/-

GST collected from manufacturer = INR 5/- (excluding the claim for input tax already paid by supplier @ Rs. 5/-)

GST collected from retailer = INR 5/- (excluding the claim for input tax already paid by manufacturer & supplier @ Rs. 10/-)

Total GST remitted with the government = INR 15/-

Online & E-commerce play at Rishi Techtex

During the year, we made our online foray by establishing a sales presence across leading e-marketplaces like Amazon, Flipkart, Shopclues and Snapdeal. Today our products (mainly agrotech) are available on leading e-commerce portals in India.

Why did we take this step?

Omni-channel presence

Online sales presence is a must for our business. Today, with rural India having equal access to data, (with 3G / 4G and Jio penetration), rural consumers or agri-buyers are no more an 'unaware' lot, especially, the younger generation. Hence, creating an omni-channel presence where the customer can buy or experience our products both online or offline (with our distributors) is imperative.

In the current year, our online sales are insignificant. However, a start has been made and the learning from this new trade channel is here to stay, for all of us.

Targeting a new class of buyers

As awareness on technical textiles increases, we see young (Do It Yourself) DIY Indians using it for various purposes. It helps us reach a new class of buyers and also create brand awareness. Be it rural or urban customers, from the tech savvy agriculturist to the new born home (flat) horticulturist, our reach becomes universal through our online presence.

Taking baby steps in E-commerce

Like every industry vertical that initially thought physical 'touch & feel' is the only way to sell but was mistaken, we feel similar changes will happen with consumer preferences in our business. Today, with categories like cement, steel, etc. being sold both in B2C and B2B online environment, we believe e-commerce will become an equally dominating channel for the technical textile industry. Who had ever thought faucets & bathtubs can be sold online? Today they are. We have started learning so that we can be prepared as the e-commerce market matures.

Agrotech

Agrotech for Health & Efficiency

The agrotech sector is a key focus area at Rishi Techtex contributing to 40% of our revenues. Globally 60% agriculturists use agrotech to enhance, protect and store crops. In India, the number is abysmally low at 10%. Our product range in this segment includes shade nets, anti-hail & bird protection nets, mulch mats, crop covers, windbreakers, shade sails and fishing nets.

In FY17, we rolled out a number of new, innovative products in this segment. Agrotech export sales contributed 10%, while the domestic markets yielded the balance.

Organic is the New Mainstream

In Nielsen's 2015 Global Health and Wellness Survey, 33% respondents said that organic foods form an important part of their diet and that they are willing to pay a premium for them. The increasing propensity towards pure and organically cultivated foodstuff opens a plethora of opportunities for the agrotech sector. Mulching mats, for instance, decrease fertilizer usage by 20-25%.

In FY17, Rishi Techtex invested its research capabilities in developing products that enable better agriculture output naturally. For instance, our innovative Krishi Grapenet has been developed to specifically cater to the enhancement of the domestic grape output.

These nets not only enable better disease control but also help in producing export-quality produce.

The pilot project over an area of 1.5 acres showed exemplary results as represented in the table below:

Make in India. Made for India.

Agri-experts believe that the agrotech sector will make significant contributions in ushering the second green revolution in India. To leverage this potential an increased focus on quality, durability and customization of agrotech products is required.

The 'Made for India' strategy adopted by our R&D team focuses on science-led nuances in the process of new product development. Our efforts are steadily yielding results. In its test run in FY17, the grapenet segment contributed significant revenues. Multi-layer thermal nets and the special anti-hail net received an enthusiastic customer response. The huge demand for our greenhouse nets facilitated our investments in another double needle bed machine.

Our R&D team is working on a steady pipeline of innovations for the coming years. These include three-layer nets, fencing nets, anti-insect net and green-white combination nets designed specifically for hot regions.

Packtech

Packtech for Productivity and Profitability

In FY17, the packtech segment contributed to 35% of revenues for Rishi Techtex. Our offerings under this segment comprise of high-end woven bags, packaging and printing solutions. One of our key differentiators in this segment is our ability to customize products for our customers, which includes leaders from high-growth sectors such as decorative paints, infrastructure, agri-solutions and stationery manufacturers.

Packaging Profitability

Packaging has significant linkages to an organization's performance and can directly impact its profitability. In the commodity manufacturing segment, for instance, packaging of materials plays an important role in fostering efficiency across the factory-to-consumer value chain. Sturdy packaging can help prevent losses through wastage and theft as well as thwart brand damage by mitigating counterfeiting.

In FY17, Rishi Techtex invested in multiple automation assets to increase its efficiency in the packtech segment. We acquired a lamination plant for manufacturing of biaxially oriented polypropylene (BOPP) bags.

This technology brings many advantages to our customers:

Strength

The material is thinner yet stronger and more durable under the most rigid circumstances.

Appearance

The printing on the bag is abrasion-proof, ensuring a long-lasting attractive look and better brand recognition.

Efficiency

We are in the process of ordering machinery that will have no-stitch closure, is impermeable & tamper-proof and secures the contents against external conditions.

The technological investment will significantly reduce manual intervention in the manufacturing process – by up to 3X times and improve our manufacturing capacity by almost 30%. We can now manufacture 60 bags per minute as compared to 45 bags per minute earlier. We will continue to invest in modern equipments like automated bag maker machine, given the rising demand from India's consumer segment.

Leveraging India's Consumption Story

A whopping 18% share in the world population and rapidly progressing living standards make India's growth story one of the world's biggest opportunities. This has a significant impact on infrastructure and retail among other sectors of the economy.

The packtech industry stands to benefit immensely from the expansion of end-user industries. At Rishi Techtex, we are the forefront of optimizing such opportunities by being the supplier-of-choice to industry leaders. Our clientele comprises of organizations such as Asian Paints, Kansai, JK Cements, Birla White, Nerolac, East Coast India Limited and Gemini Paints among others.

In FY17, PWB for wallplast products was our highest selling product in the packtech segment. It was followed by the PWB cement segment, making it our second largest selling product.

Geotech

Geotech for Sustainability and Conservation

We offer geotextile solutions for soil stabilization, soil erosion prevention, controlling pollution and leakage of hazardous materials. We are building our capabilities in this segment and work on complex technical textile application-led projects.

Protecting Nature, Enabling Progress

Global ecological history is plagued with incidents of oil spills, gas leakages, soil contamination etc. which have had a long-lasting negative impact on life and nature. Further, damage from climate change in the form of natural calamities has been on an increasing trend. Evidently, the world needs to accelerate the implementation of a more sustainable strategy in the form of a green economy. In this context, the role of the geotech segment becomes very important.

At Rishi Techtex, we employ our R&D expertise and innovative capabilities to create India-centric geotech solutions. Currently, India's geotech sector is export-oriented. According to industry estimates, India exported 64,000 MT of geotextile products in FY17, while retaining 19,000MT for domestic consumption. However, as our economy progresses, our actions need to be more environment-friendly, sustainable and responsible.

The World Bank estimates that environmental degradation costs India USD 80 billion annually.

In view of the potential damage, regulatory authorities have introduced new environmental and pollution norms in the recent past.

Further, there has been a thrust on increasing the efficiencies of engineering processes. Both these factors provide the much-needed push on creating awareness about the advantages of geotech applications such as geotextiles, geogrids, geonets, geopipes, geocells, geomembranes, geocomposites, prefabricated vertical drains and geotubes. The international symposium on geotextiles in India predicted that the industry has 15% a y-o-y growth potential.

At Rishi Techtex, we are working towards capitalizing the opportunities offered by India's geotech sector. Our expertise in this segment currently includes geotextile solutions for soil stabilization and anti-erosion technology. Given the huge potential of the sector, our R&D efforts are directed towards expanding our offerings in this area.

Protect-tech

Protect-tech for Safety and Effectiveness

The protect-tech segment holds a significant potential for us at Rishi Techtex. Our offerings in this segment are currently focused on increasing product safety such as fire-retardant upholstery materials, fire-insulated nets, anti-hail nets and windbreakers, etc. Our products have received global acceptance – a testimony to the international standards of manufacturing quality adopted by us.

Protection against Calamities

In June this year, a huge inferno engulfed the Grenfell Tower in London, resulting in at least 80 casualties. In August, Torch Tower in Dubai, which is also one of the world's tallest buildings, caught fire. Luckily, there were no casualties. Both these incidents show that a fire can break out anywhere, anytime. Prudent fire-safety steps are essential to safeguard life and property against unforeseen damage.

Fire safety, especially in public places, is an important concern in India. Given that we have only 2,900 fire stations across the country, the onus of visitor and occupant safety lies largely with the building owners themselves. In FY17, we launched our trademark fire-retardant shade nets commercially in India. These are particularly used in places for large public gatherings such as sport stadiums, malls, movie theatres etc. The product received appreciation and we expect to gain significant revenues from the same in the years to come. Our anti-hail nets and windbreakers also received continued sales growth.

A Growing Economy Demands Greater Safety

Today, several factors contribute to the growth of India's protect-tech sector. Besides traditional factors such as increase in manufacturing safety regulatory reforms and defence spending, discretionary aspects such as enhanced interests in adventure sports also play an important role.

Our world-class product quality is reflected in our customer base of international repute. Besides fire-retardant shade nets, we also provide anti-hail nets and windbreakers to agro-producers. Our expansion to the northern regions of the country, prone to weather extremities, will provide an added impetus for the sales of these products. In addition, our R&D efforts are directed towards creating high-performance fibres that exhibit maximized strength, increased tear propagation & abrasion resistance in the most adverse conditions.

Our products have received global acceptance – a testimony to the international standards of manufacturing quality.

Buildtech for Strength and Protection

The buildtech segment continues to be an area of niche interest and potential for Rishi Techtex. While our product offerings are currently limited, we are exploring new opportunities through R&D investments to augment our knowledge in this segment. We launched new products during the year which are expected to be commercialized during the current fiscal.

is drawing its focus on efficient construction. Consequently, the characteristic demand for new-age construction material encompasses lightweightedness, flexibility, strength and durability. These attributes help in conserving resources, fulfilling the requirements of modern architecture and offering protection against calamities.

During FY17, we created two new products in the buildtech segment viz. greenhouse aprons and weedmats. Both the products help in increasing ecological efficiencies and have been tested with select customers. These will be commercially scaled up during the current fiscal. Further, our range of products in the scaffolding nets segment continued to receive traction during the year. Our customers use these nets for concrete reinforcement, façade foundations, interior construction, noise reduction, visual protection and safeguard against sunlight and rains.

Paving the Way for Smarter Safety and Efficient Execution

As the demand for infrastructure rises, the need for buildtech solutions will also increase concurrently.

Sectoral growth in India will be propelled by factors such as:

- 1 Introduction of stringent safety rules by the government
- 2 Intelligent and faster execution of projects
- 3 Consumer opportunity with high-dependence on signages and hoardings for advertising

Today, buildtech solutions have an increasingly important role to play in infrastructure restoration and redevelopment.

At Rishi Techtex, we are readying ourselves to optimize opportunities offered by India's booming infrastructure sector. During the last year, the pilot run of our greenhouse aprons and weedmats garnered positive feedback and increased demand. We expect to gain significant returns from these products during the current year. Our R&D efforts in this segment focus on enhancing the service life of the edifice, energy and resource conservation and flexibility in design.

Research & Development

IPR-led Asset-right Business Model

In the past year, we have worked towards creating an IPR-led business where our discoveries in chemical science and application areas have helped customers with custom solutions. As we embark on a growth model where margins need not be compromised, we will chase quality over quantity. We believe this will help us get back to our vision of a 20% CAGR for the next 3 years with improved margins on a year-on-year basis.

Today, the technical textile sector in India is attracting increased interest due to the global convergence of technology, artificial intelligence and human innovation. The category is fast becoming known as “Smart Textiles” or “Intelligent Textiles”.

The future lies in innovation-driven applications to build greater efficacy in the products. We will over the next few years transition to a innovation-focused science-based R&D company with an asset-right approach.

The future lies in innovation-driven applications to build greater efficacy in the products.

A. R&D-led product innovations & quality focus

During the year our product innovations garnered interest among both knitted and non-woven customers. To give an example, we are the first and only Indian technical textile company that has received a pan-India BIS quality certificate under IS 16008.

This certification is for agro-textile (shade nets) used for agriculture and horticulture purposes. All our products today carry the BIS quality trademark, leading to better recognition, pricing and customer delight.

Similarly, we have developed shade nets with a 10-year period ultra violet (UV) ray guarantee, a clear competitive advantage as compared to the industry norms of maximum 6-7 years. Our first commercial sales was executed for an overseas client in the United Arab Emirates (UAE).

B. Import substitute indigenous world-class ‘Made in India’ products

Rishi Techtex is the first technical textile company in India that has successfully produced ‘metalized aluminate’ in its R&D labs in an indigenous manner. All domestic manufacturers currently import the chemical for Silver Thermal Nets for heat control properties. It proves the strength of the company’s research capabilities. Additionally, it results in saving precious foreign exchange for the country.

We have developed in-house a fire retardant shade-net used for outdoor areas for sports and stadium coverings. Rishi Techtex is the only Indian company that has built such an in-house product. With regulatory norms being implemented in India, we see a significant jump in demand for such offerings where we will have a significant indigenous price premium play.

C. Productivity enhancing custom solutions (from agri to fire resistant applications)

During the year our scientists developed an in-house technology application for “Krishi Net” – (grape net) for grape growers in colder climates of Himachal Pradesh, Punjab and regions of higher altitudes.

Initial results from the first batch of customers showed exemplary improvements in the end produce for various parameters like 50% better disease control, 12% lesser cost in pest control, 15% more leaf growth and 33% more in value output.

Rishi Techtex is the first company in India that has successfully developed an agro textile from a multi-layer film instead of the current mono-layer films. It has added benefits in terms of application and sustainability. The R&D team of scientists and engineers have many such innovations in the pipeline.

D. Asset-right Manufacturing Approach

During the year, we refocused our energy towards building a research-led organization with scientists, engineers and business managers.

Our new automation and computerized machinery will ensure that regular production has minimal (non-value add) human intervention. Rishi Techtex’s human resource focus will be driven towards R&D efforts for new products & applications and building a customer facing agile marketing and sales team.

Manufacturing of high-end and complicated applications will be in-house and once market demand picks up, scalability will be achieved through standardized outsourcing to vendor partners. Our focus on research and customer insights-led new custom solutions will be sharpened while quality control led manufacturing is outsourced to a new generation of self-employed start-up manufacturers.

E. Partnering India’s ‘Micropreneurs’ with an Outsourced Manufacturing Strategy

The Government of India has identified technical textiles as a key focus area due to its high value and science-led employment opportunity. The government has laid out various schemes by which it is encouraging new entrepreneurs to enter the field; from Focus Incubation Centers (FIC) to Centres of Excellence (CoEs) that provide financial help, training facilities, machinery, etc. for new entrepreneurs the government is encouraging local and regional growth. Rishi Techtex envisages a great opportunity in partnering with a set of fine local “micropreneurs” for outsourced manufacturing of its products. This will help us avoid blocking unnecessary capital in expanding plant and machinery. A region wise synergy of manufacturing units will reduce logistics costs and collapse the time-to-market for the company.

An IPR-led innovation approach, outward customer orientation and focus on new product development with an asset right approach will be the key focus areas for the company.

Human Resource

Innovation. Integrity. Intrapreneurship.

Because, people are central to our 3I vision.

In recent times, technology and innovation-led disruptions have given rise to young billion-dollar companies, some of them just about a decade old like Facebook (founded in 2004). On the other end, behemoths like General Electric (founded in 1892) are reorienting themselves to become nimble-footed, re-shaping themselves from being bulky global conglomerates to digitally smart engineering companies. Traditional wisdom mixed with newfound disruptive ideas is becoming the essence to winning the race everyday. At Rishi Techtex, we believe, as a three-decade-old company, our wisdom along with the newfound energy of the next generation leadership team is a definite recipe for success!

During the year, we maintained harmonious relations with our factory workforce. Local communities and vendor relations were maintained in a cordial and responsible manner. As the company moved towards automation during the last year it led to re-training and up skilling of a significant number of personnel. We are becoming an organization that is more outward and customer focused; hence, we saw recruitment in marketing & sales, and customer relationship (CRM) functions. The company was able to attract and hire talent both at a lateral and junior level.

In last year's report, we had mentioned that people are the key to building a science-based, innovation-driven organization. During the year, we have been able to seed a culture founded on our 3I vision. Through this vision, we aim to create an environment that welcomes and nurtures Innovative ideas, is driven by Integrity and executed with an Intrapreneurship mindset. Talent, Training and Technology are the pillars on which we are making our organization future ready.

Innovation

As Rishi Techtex reorients itself towards being a bellwether in R&D driven science and innovation in technical textiles (and focus less on owned factory production), innovation driven by futuristic ideas and passion is the key. We are encouraging a culture whereby we create a flat organization that is more receptive to listening, observing and experimenting, than continuing doing things that way we did in past few decades.

From a mindset of following the status quo, today, we encourage employees to challenge the status quo on an everyday basis.

Integrity

Our competitive edge for the future is being formed by our IPR-driven formulations and new product applications that we develop in the field of technical textiles. It is important for our employees to respect the R&D initiatives and processes of the firm. Intellect that is built on the top of integrity builds character - we want each one of us to be ethical in our conduct. As much as we want our IPR to be protected, we want to ensure that it is not compromised due to any errant act or misadventure of any employee.

Globally and in India, we want to earn respect for our new product development capabilities. And it will be based on pure science-led innovation and highest standards of professional conduct.

Intrapreneurship

Today we live in a world where nimbleness, agility and the ability to change ahead of others is the key to survival and growth. For any organization to have such a mindset, ownership of one's actions is a must.

Our 3I vision

Innovation

Integrity

Intrapreneurship

We want to build an eco-system where each employee is empowered and allowed to make mistakes without the fear of retribution. We want employees to be equal stakeholders in our growth, conducting themselves like "intrapreneurs" – they are encouraged to behave like an entrepreneur within their own areas of responsibility. Ability to take risks, fail & learn and ultimately create value for the company drives us towards a performance-oriented culture.

Our company provides a unique platform for employees. It encourages them to feel like being part of a 'start up' culture while providing due professional guidance of a matured organization.

Talent stewardship is one of the key goals at Rishi Techtex. We compete for talent along side reputed organizational brands. The ability to empower employees in their professional journey with rewarding careers and providing a culture of respect and fairness is the key to building a great team!

Operational Performance

Profitable Growth through Margin Enhancement

Demonetization had a significant adverse impact on the agriculture and rural sector, a key focus area for the company. Rishi Techtex recorded sales of Rs. 5928.39 lac for financial year 2016-17, as compared to Rs.6169.35 lac, the corresponding figure for the previous year. In spite of this external event and the company's strategy of discontinuing job work (high volume low margin work), the company was able to register sales similar to last year, with a marginal dip of Rs. 240.95 lac.

Operational profit rose significantly to Rs. 239.49 lac for the financial year 2016-17 from Rs. 175.22 lac for the previous year, a jump of 37%. The ability to increase profitability in spite of an almost similar topline as last year proves that our strategy of profitable growth through margin enhancement has started showing results.

This is the best operational profit delivered by the company in the past 3 years - a definite sign that the company's focus towards becoming an R&D based product solutions company from a mass producer is bearing fruit.

Rishi Techtex recorded sales of Rs. 5928.39 lac for financial year 2016-17.

The key reasons for the above achievements during the year are as follows:

1 Focus on margin enhancement. Introducing new high-engineering textile applications helped us to move away from a mass production-led manufacturing approach. This resulted in a significant bottomline improvement in spite of a nominal topline slowdown. Our PAT percentage improvement registered an increase of 37% as compared to 33% in the previous year.

2 Redesigning the factory machine lines. Installation of new automated state-of-the-art (imported) machinery helped us make products with higher value addition for customers. We introduced new technology-led products whose effectiveness helped clients increase their end productivity and output. Today, our factory in Daman & Diu is one of the best in terms of technology and the capability to produce complex high-end applications and custom products.

3 Science-based applications for new product development. This year, we introduced the highest number of new products since the past 36 months in both knitted and woven nets.

Customers were appreciative of the value addition and ready to pay higher prices. Rishi Techtex's ability to command a premium for its products is another key differentiation that we achieved during the year.

4 Manpower up-skilling, mechanization and productivity benefits. It led to our enhanced performance during the year. Due to our new machinery, replacing base level (zero value add) human intervention in the production process through automation was implemented and computerized production processes introduced. This has led to reduction in wastage, improved quality & productivity and freeing of management time from traditional labor woes.

Going ahead, we are focused on our mantra of "Profitable Growth" through high value, high margin custom application & products. Unskilled manpower reduction with process automation will continue as a measure to improve productivity. As a company we want to focus on R&D & science-led innovation and building a customer-focused, outward looking sales and marketing organization.

Plant capacity achieved during the year was 1325MT in the knitted division and 4210MT in the woven division and we hope to run in full capacity in the coming year.

Total Installed Capacity	2016-17	2015-16
Knitted > 1800MT	1325	1215MT
Woven > 4800MTPA	4210 MT	4228 MT

led agriculture practices, regulatory safety norms in the construction sector and general consumer awareness to upgrade to high end smart textile & engineering solutions.

Going ahead, we are focused on our mantra of “Profitable Growth” through high value, high margin custom application & products.

During the year we got significant success in international markets; for example, we were able to develop a 340GSM (weight in grams per square meter) shade net with UV guarantee of 10 years. This is a first in the industry as most such products come with a guarantee of 3-6 years. We hope to drive significant export business during the current year from such product innovations.

Export income in the current year stood at Rs. 1275.92 lac from the previous year’s figure of Rs. 1,207.60 lac, an increase of 5.65% inspite of global upheavals. We will continue our focus on Middle East and developing countries in Africa and look out for more opportunities in high-value added products in Europe and USA.

Focus on quality, superior inventory management and putting a robust sales and marketing process in place will help us get back to a dual top and bottom line growth-oriented structure in the future.

Opportunities & Threats

The government of India’s policy push towards a transparent and encouraging environment towards industry and commerce is welcome. The various measures like “Make In India”, “Skill India” and a focus toward developing R&D and science-led high value industries will result in a big opportunity for the technical textile industry.

Rishi Techtex will focus on the following 3 areas:

High margin products with new technology both in knitted and woven categories

State-of-the-art factory & R&D lab and innovation focus (from the earlier manufacturing focus)

Riding on macro-demand created by the government’s policy towards scientific-

As a company, we are open to technical collaborations and strategic joint ventures with global players who have an interest in the Indian market. With our products and applications getting quality certified and meeting global quality norms, we see greater acceptance of our value-added products in the next few years.

RISKS & CONCERNS

Geo-political risks and country risks due to external events like conflicts, natural and man made attacks are key risks that may hinder growth. Additionally, any government measures both at domestic and international levels that alter the policy or currency balance in the country pose a key risk. Raw materials and oil price fluctuations are industry risks along with finance costs due to interest rate changes.

INTERNAL CONTROL SYSTEMS & THEIR ADEQUACY

The Company has adequate systems of internal control and procedures covering all financial and operating functions commensurate with the size and nature of operations.

ANNEXURE B TO THE AUDITOR'S REPORT

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of sub-section 3 of section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ('the Act').

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Rishi Techtex Limited ('the Company') as of 31st March 2017 in conjunction with our audit of the standalone financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ('ICAI'). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the Company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting ('the Guidance Note') and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting were established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of the internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purpose in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to maintenance of record that, in reasonable details, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the asset of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transaction are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipt and expenditure of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisation of the management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial control over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31st March 2017, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

The Management believes that the estimates used in preparation of the financial statements are prudent and reasonable. Future results could differ due to these estimates and the differences between the actual results and the estimates are recognised in the periods in which the results are known / materialise.

The grant is recognised as income over the life of a depreciable asset by way of a reduced depreciation charge.

Export benefits are accounted for in the year of exports based on eligibility and when there is no uncertainty in receiving the same.

Government grants in the nature of promoters' contribution like investment subsidy, where no repayment is ordinarily expected in respect thereof, are treated as capital reserve. Government grants in the form of non-monetary assets, given at a concessional rate, are recorded on the basis of their acquisition cost. In case the non-monetary asset is given free of cost, the grant is recorded at a nominal value.

Other government grants and subsidies are recognised as income over the periods necessary to match them with the costs for which they are intended to compensate, on a systematic basis.

Earnings Per Share

'Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing the profit / (loss) after tax (including the post tax effect of extraordinary items, if any) by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year. Diluted earnings per share is computed by dividing the profit / (loss) after tax (including the post tax effect of extraordinary items, if any) as adjusted for dividend, interest and other charges to expense or income relating to the dilutive potential equity shares, by the weighted average number of equity shares considered for deriving basic earnings per share and the weighted average number of equity shares which could have been issued on the conversion of all dilutive potential equity shares. Potential equity shares are deemed to be dilutive only if their conversion to equity shares would decrease the net profit per share from continuing ordinary operations. Potential dilutive equity shares are deemed to be converted as at the beginning of the period, unless they have been issued at a later date. The dilutive potential equity shares are adjusted for the proceeds receivable had the shares been actually issued at fair value (i.e. average market value of the outstanding shares). Dilutive potential equity shares are determined independently for each period presented. The number of equity shares and potentially dilutive equity shares are adjusted for share splits / reverse share splits and bonus shares, as appropriate.

Taxes on Income

Current tax is the amount of tax payable on the taxable income for the year as determined in accordance with the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961.

Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT) paid in accordance with the tax laws, which gives future economic benefits in the form of adjustment to future income tax liability, is considered as an asset if there is convincing evidence that the Company will pay normal income tax. Accordingly, MAT is recognised as an asset in the Balance Sheet when it is probable that future economic benefit associated with it will flow to the Company.

Deferred tax is recognised on timing differences, being the differences between the taxable income and the accounting income that originate in one period and are capable of reversal in one or more subsequent periods. Deferred tax is measured using the tax rates and the tax laws enacted or substantially enacted as at the reporting date. Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all timing differences. Deferred tax assets in respect of unabsorbed depreciation and carry forward of losses are recognised only if there is virtual certainty that there will be sufficient future taxable income available to realise such assets. Deferred tax assets are recognised for timing differences of other items only to the extent that reasonable certainty exists that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which these can be realised. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset if such items relate to taxes on income levied by the same governing tax laws and the Company has a legally enforceable right for such set off. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date for their reliability.

Provisions and Contingencies

A provision is recognised when the Company has a present obligation as a result of past events and it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation in respect of which a reliable estimate can be made. Provisions (excluding retirement benefits) are not discounted to their present value and are determined based on the best estimate required to settle the obligation at the Balance Sheet date. These are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimates. Contingent liabilities are disclosed in the Notes.

Share Issues Expenses

Share issue expenses and redemption premium are adjusted against the Securities Premium Account as permissible under Section 52(2) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent balance is available for utilisation in the Securities Premium Account.

Insurance Claims

Insurance claims are accounted for on the basis of claims admitted / expected to be admitted and to the extent that there is no uncertainty in receiving the claims.

Deferred Taxation

In view of the profitability achieved in the current financial year 2016-17, the necessary adjustments towards Deferred tax Liability / Assets as per AS22 are made in the year under reporting.
