MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Overview of the Indian Economy.

The current macro-economic scenario in India is characterized by an emerging conflict, where we see a sustained momentum in national consumption and the weakening pace of investment activity. In the early period of the economic recovery in FY10, investments grew sharply, largely reflecting the inventory re-stocking cycle. However, the momentum seems to be slowing as is reflected in the more recent quarterly GDP and monthly IIP data. The trends in the order books of large capital goods companies also appear sluggish. Sharp rise in cost of capital due to continual liquidity shortage observed since July 2010, heavy government borrowing, inflationary pressures and the ensuing interest rate hikes by the Reserve Bank of India and a slowdown in reform and approval process from the government seem to have weighed on business sentiments during the beginning of FY12. India's growth rate slowed in quarter July to September to 5.3%, putting pressure on the government to implement more reforms and ease monetary policy.

The prioritizing of current economic expansion in favor of investment requires tackling the inflationary pressures while keeping a lid on fiscal spending. While there have been early signs of the government accelerating the reform/approval process for projects, the issues of inflation and fiscal spending have not shown any convincing signs of abatement. It must be noted that the Indian government has taken various steps, including opening its retail and aviation sectors to foreign investment, in an attempt to boost its growth rate. Weaker global demand for exports, a dip in foreign investment and a political stalemate over key reforms have been cited as key reasons behind the drop in the growth rate. At the same time, the RBI has - twice in two months - lowered the amount of money that banks need to keep in reserve to try to boost lending. The moves are expected to inject 275bn rupees ($5bn) into the markets. These measures, coupled with signs of improvement in major economies such as the US, are likely to have a positive impact on growth in the coming months.

However, India is clearly becoming a more and more important player on the world stage in G20 context, in terms of its role in the global economy. India is expected to be the second largest manufacturing country in the next five years, followed by Brazil as the third ranked country and is still expected to grow at a healthy rate in the long term.

Some of the other important economic developments in the country are as follows:

The cumulative amount of foreign direct investments (FDI) equity inflows into India were worth US$ 179,025 million between April, 2000 to August, 2012, of which US$ 8,166 million was recorded during the April, 2012 to August, 2012 period.

Total exports from the Indian services sector stood at US$ 11.94 billion in September, 2012, up 6.3 per cent from US$ 11.23 billion in September, 2011, as per data released by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI)

Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) remain substantially bullish on Indian markets and have invested over US$ 13 billion into Indian stocks so far in 2012. Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) made a net investment of Rs 11,364 Crores (US$ 2.05 billion) in the equity market and of Rs 7,851.70 Crores (US$ 1.41 billion) in the debt market upto October 12, 2012 in the current year, according to data released by the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI).

Mergers & Acquisitions (M&A) and Private Equity (PE) deal activities witnessed an increase in October, 2012 with cumulative value worth US$ 3.1 billion from 90 transactions.

Indian Capital Markets.

During the year, the equity markets continued to be affected by a lack of interest by retail investors, however markets have remained positive this year on the back of robust FII inflows. The interest rate hikes by the Reserve Bank of India in order to temper inflation also affected capital raising activity through bonds as well as corporate borrowing costs, however there have been many signals since the beginning of the year that would indicate that the RBI is now ready to focus more on the growth story and start cutting rates soon. The commodity markets were also volatile in view of pressure on global commodity prices. We see the concerns persisting in the early part of the year ahead of us. However, with an expected boost in the infrastructure expenditure and with the industries already facing capacity crunch, we expect domestic investment activity to revive in the latter half of the coming year.

However, High FII net inflows continued in FY12, boosting the Nifty to reach near 6000 levels once again signaling the conviction of the foreign investors in the long- term potential of the Indian markets as there has been a revival in share market turnover. Inflows from foreign institutional investors, the main driver of Indian equities, topped US $20 billion in the first 11 months of the calendar year-the second highest since 1993, when India opened the doors to this class of investors.

A rise in global liquidity, following quantitative easing by central banks in Europe and the US, is seeing money flowing into emerging market stocks. A cheaper rupee has also made Indian markets attractive as the dollar stretches further. The rupee has fallen 2.96% against the dollar since January. After a lull in the middle of the year, the market gathered steam in September with the government kicking off a long-pending economic reform process with the relaxation of foreign investment norms in airlines and retail, among other measures, ending a lengthy policy impasse. Investors were also buoyed by hopes at the time that US lawmakers would agree on a budget deal by the year end to avoid a fiscal crisis. As investor optimism picks up, global fund preferences are changing and money is moving from Europe, Russia and the Middle East markets to emerging market stocks that offer comparatively higher returns.

Investors continue to chase GDP growth stories, where India, despite its many woes and blockages, continues to grow at more than 5%. A combination of quantitative easing and a sense that the worst is behind the Indian economy suggests that this liquidity will continue to come to India. Bullishness is slowly returning to the market as India's central bank is expected to cut its policy rate in January, pushing down the cost of money even as there are signs of so-called core inflation, or non-food, non-oil, manufacturing inflation, easing in Asia's third largest economy.

Historical trends show that the proportion of cash volumes in developed markets like America and Europe, where both cash and F&O segments are matured, is around 30-40%. In India, it has been close to the 25% mark. The cash segment in India is expected to mirror the global markets and return to its historical average over the medium to long term. As the Indian markets show a sustained, positive growth, this will drive up retail participation directly or through IPOs, which in turn would increase Cash market participation and volumes. As players focusing on the cash side of the business have traditionally seen higher profitability levels, they are expected to witness higher profitability growth as the above trend reversal unfolds.

Risks and Concerns

The laggard recovery of the US economy and the "Fiscal Cliff" issue combined with the turmoil in the European nations has the potential to stifle India's growth. The Indian IIP figures have not been very convincing, while corporate earnings have suffered due to the staggered interest rate hikes by the Reserve Bank of India. We still have some worries in terms of inflation, bloated fiscal deficit and raising food grains prices. However, the Reserve Bank of India has undertaken appropriate measures to temper these problems and inflationary concerns are expected to abate early next year. However, it must be noted that if the global situation worsens, there are chances of a significant decline in Indian capital market participation from the FII's and would adversely impact our business.

Employee retention is of a concern with ever increasing number of players in the industry resulting in growing number of opportunities for professionals. Higher attrition rate may affect the performance of the Company. As the Company uses the network systems for off line and on line broking, breakdown in systems can affect the turnover and revenues. However, the Company has installed 100% system redundancy to ensure uninterrupted quick connectivity.

Risk Management System

Your Company has proper and adequate system of internal controls commensurate with the size and nature of its business. However, strengthening of internal control systems is an ongoing exercise. Your Company manages risks associated with broking operations using internally developed credit monitoring system implemented through fully automated risk management software and selective direct monitoring of certain operating parameters. The automated risk management procedures rely primarily on internally developed risk management system and systems provided by system vendors. The Company manages business risks through strict compliance and internal checks. It will not be out of context to state that the system has worked very effectively during the year under review.

Further, the Company has an independent internal audit system. The process of internal audit involves, reviewing of existing Controls and Systems. Internal Audit also recommends the actions for strengthening of the business processes. The internal audit ensures adherence to operating guidelines, regulatory and legal requirements. The Audit committee of the board periodically reviews the reports of the Internal Auditors and takes corrective actions wherever necessary.

Internal Control System

As noted by the auditors in their report, the Company has an Internal Control System commensurate with its requirements and the size of business.

Opportunities and Threats

Your Company has embarked on capitalizing the opportunities on the Wealth Management Services front and is also exploring Portfolio Management Service, Currency and Derivatives segment. Your Company has already entered into the F&O segment in the past year. The robust growth over the years in per capita income levels and savings rate presents an immense opportunity for financial services companies like us. The immense growth in the F&O segments as well as the increasing amount of FII inflows are very reassuring for the Company and an entry into this new segment would greatly benefit the Company.

There is an increasing demand for the advisory services and more awareness on investment planning among investors. Your Company recognizes that sound investment planning advice along with the Company being able to offer bouquet of investment products to its customers besides transaction execution capabilities is a key thrust area and thereby is planning to focus on the same. The Stock Broking Industry has witnessed intense competition, falling brokerage rates and the entry of several big players. However, Your Company continues to achieve cost efficiencies through the application of technology and targeting niche areas with better margins.

Outlook

Despite the global turmoil, India continues to remain the one of the fastest growing economies. India is likely to remain an attractive long-term investments destination for foreign investors. There has been considerable broadening and deepening of the Indian financial markets due to various financial market reforms undertaken by the regulators, the introduction of innovative financial instruments in recent years and the entry of sophisticated domestic and international players. Strong economic growth, favorable demographics, increased geographic penetration; growth of small and medium enterprises and the increasing needs for capital among Indian corporations are expected to continue to drive India's financial services industry.

For the long term, your Company feels the need to adequately capitalize itself and during the current year, your Company is hopeful in raising some capital, which would enable it to enter into commodity brokerage and to strengthen institutional broking base. Your Company also plans to enter into wealth management services, depository services and financial advisory service through different subsidiaries. The Company is bullish on the long-term scenario of the capital markets as it is well positioned to reap the benefits of this growth. Your Company has an aim to become a one-stop shop for investors, offering services ranging from advisory and broking to portfolio management, depository services and mutual fund and insurance products distribution.

Discussion on financial performance with respect to operational performance

After considering the provision for taxation of Rs. 2.75 Lacs, your Company has achieved a net profit of Rs. 15.61 Lacs during the year as compared to Profit of Rs. 11.05 Lacs in the previous year.
