MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS REPORTa) Industry Structure and developments:

The financial year 2012-13 has been a very challenging year. The global economy continues to be sluggish with a moderation in growth in China adding to the continuation of the crisis in the European Union and the United States being unable to show clear sign of economic recovery. The global economy seems fragile with revival of economic activity not yet discernible.

Within the domestic economy, growth slowed much more than anticipated, with the GDP growth for fiscal year 2012-13 being pegged at 5.0%, the lowest in a decade. Inflation, which remained high through most part of the year, eroded domestic consumer savings and curtailed consumption reflecting in slowing market growth.

Stock markets remained range bound during FY 2012-13 with retail participation coming down resulting in lower brokerage rates. The brokerage revenue pool has remained reduced for FY12-13 when compared with FY11-12 despite the strong growth in Options volumes as the Cash volumes and Futures continued to slide and were lower even in absolute number during this period as compared to the previous fiscal.

While the burden of collapsed retail participation has completely weighed down the retail broking operations, regulatory changes such as capping of commission rates for domestic mutual funds has been a heavy drag on its institutional broking Clients. In ICRA's view, were these trends to continue, they could test the resilience of the industry and trigger significant structural changes especially in the institutional broking segment.

The Union Budget 2013, amongst other proposals, has reduced Securities Transaction Tax (STT) on equity futures contracts to 0.01% from 0.017%, introduced commodities transaction tax (CTT) on non-agriculture commodities futures trading and allowed participation of FII's in the currencies derivative segment. While these proposals could provide a fillip to equity derivative volumes as well as currency derivative volumes, the imposition of the CTT could impact the gross returns of the arbitrageurs by 20-30% and consequently significantly impede the growth of the segment at least over the short term. Also, arbitrage activity could return to the equities segment or move to the currencies segment, which could help growth of these segments.

Your Company's performance for the year 2012-13 has to be viewed in the context of the aforesaid economic and market environment.

b) Opportunities and Threats:Opportunities

- Growing financial services industry
- Huge market opportunity for wealth managements services.
- Regulatory reforms would aid greater participation by all class of investors.

Threats

- Execution risk
- Slowdown in global liquidity flows

- Price of crude oil in the international markets

Regulatory and Monetary Policy of the SEBI and the Government of India largely affects the operational viability of the company.

d) Risk and Concerns:

The company is primarily exposed to credit risk, interest risk, liquidity risk and operational risks. Internally, it has constituted a team to manage these risks. This team identifies and monitors all principal risks in accordance with defined policies and procedures.

Operational risks in the stock broking are managed through a comprehensive internal control framework. The control framework is designed based on categorization of all functions into front-office, comprising business groups, comprising credit, back office, comprising operations and corporate and support functions.

The major risks is the continued rise in price of crude oil in the international markets coupled with alarming high inflation rates in both domestic and other economies, which is a indirect threat to stock broking as the high cost of manufacturing and periodic rise in interest rates to counter balance inflationary pressure directly effect the earning capacity of the company.

- e) Internal Control system and their adequacy: The Company has a proper and adequate system of internal control which is proportionate to its size and volume of business. The internal control system of the Company are designed to ensure that the financial and other records are reliable for preparing financial statements and other data for maintaining accountability of assets.

The Management has taken utmost care for the integrity and the objectivity of these Financial Statements, as well as for various estimates and Judgments used therein.
- g) Material developments in Human Resources/ Industrial Relations front, including number of people involved: The Company continues to maintain excellent relationship with the clients and the industry in which it is operating. Relationship with the staffs is quite cordial and also supportive for continuous human resource development. During the year under review there has not been any material change in human resource.
- h) Cautionary Statement: Statements in the Management Discussion and Analysis describing the Company's objectives, projections, estimates, expectations may be "forward looking statements" within the meaning of applicable securities laws and regulations.
