The S&P BSE SENSEX began September in bullish form, but a global equity sell-off early in the month reversed the trend.

Additionally, the news that the Indian Army had conducted strikes across the Line of Control in Pakistan on 29th September added to investors' concerns – that day's 1.64% drop in the SENSEX was the largest fall this quarter. The benchmark finished the month down 2.01%; up 3.58% for the quarter.

Indian Mid-Cap stocks continue to register superlative performance. The S&P BSE MidCap is up by more than 19% year-to-date, outperforming large-caps and small caps by more than 10%.

Indian fixed income indices have soared so far this year – not least thanks to a global hunt for yield of any sort – and September continued on trend. With the most recent consumer price inflation figures remaining low, the central bank has found headroom for continued easing. The yield on the S&P BSE 10 Year Sovereign Bond Index dropped below 7% for the first time since 2009, as the index gained 4.23% this quarter.

Among India Equity Strategies, the S&P BSE IPO, the S&P BSE Sensex Inverse Daily and S&P BSE Momentum delivered positive returns in September, the latter completing a 16.01% gain this quarter. On the sectoral front, every sector bar IT and Telecoms gained this quarter; the S&P BSE Energy led the way with a total return of 15.66% since June.

Summary

- The S&P BSE SENSEX began September in bullish form, but a global equity sell-off early in the month reversed the trend.
- Additionally, the news that the Indian Army had conducted strikes across the Line of Control in Pakistan on 29th September added to investors' concerns – that day's 1.64% drop in the SENSEX was the largest fall this quarter. The benchmark finished the month down 2.01%; up 3.58% for the quarter.
- Indian Mid-Cap stocks continue to register superlative performance. The S&P BSE MidCap is up by more than 19% year-to-date, outperforming large-caps and small caps by more than 10%.
- Indian fixed income indices have soared so far this year – not least thanks to a global hunt for yield of any sort – and September continued on trend. With the most recent consumer price inflation figures remaining low, the central bank has found headroom for continued easing. The yield on the S&P BSE 10 Year Sovereign Bond Index dropped below 7% for the first time since 2009, as the index gained 4.23% this quarter.
- Among India Equity Strategies, the S&P BSE IPO, the S&P BSE Sensex Inverse Daily and S&P BSE Momentum delivered positive returns in September, the latter completing a 16.01% gain this quarter. On the sectoral front, every sector bar IT and Telecoms gained this quarter; the S&P BSE Energy led the way with a total return of 15.66% since June.
three year period, an annual 1.5% fee taken at year end with an assumed 10% return per year would result in a cumulative gros
Prospective application of the methodology used to construct the index(es) as well as revisions to economic data may not resu
Date is the date at which a given index is set at a fixed value for calculation purposes. The Launch Date designates the date Charts and graphs are provided for illustrative purposes. Past performance is not an indication or guarantee of future result Performance Disclosure
the Global Industry Classification Standard (GICS®) was developed by and is the exclusive property and a trademark of Standar Global may have information that is not available to other business units. S&P Global has established policies and procedures acknowledgement as well as any liability for any damage alleged to have been suffered on account thereof.
Affiliates of S&P Dow Jones Indices LLC, including S&P Dow Jones Indices LLC, may license, sell and provide its derived ind
S&P Dow Jones Indices LLC does not act as a fiduciary or an investment advisor. While S&P Dow Jones Indices has obtained information from sources they believe to be reliable, S&P Dow Jones Indices does not perform an audit or undertake any duty of due diligence or independent verification of any information it receives.
To the extent that regulatory authorities allow a rating agency to acknowledge in one jurisdiction a rating issued in another jurisdiction for certain regulatory purposes, S&P Global Ratings Services reserves the right to assign, withdraw or suspend such acknowledge at any time and in its sole and absolute discretion.
Affiliates of S&P Dow Jones Indices LLC, including S&P Dow Jones Indices LLC, may license, sell and provide its derived index(es) to third parties for use.