AI TO BOOST GLOBAL ECONOMY SIGNIFICANTLY IN 10 YEARS

The impact of Artificial Intelligence on the global economy will be $7 trillion to $15 trillion over a period of ten years, with Japan & the US calling the shots, according to Sree Sreenivasan, CEO & Co-founder, Digimentors. Sreenivasan was speaking at a session on 'AI: Beyond the Hype and Backlash,' organised by Technopark-based global IT solutions provider Reflections Info Systems at Technopark. "A large share of work will be exposed to AI-driven automation in future. While Japan and the US hold the major share of the AI-driven jobs, India and China will have the lower percentage of it," said Sreenivasan, who is also the former Chief Digital Officer of New York City, the Metropolitan Museum of Art & Columbia University. Noting the "terrible" consequences of using social media globally, he said keeping track of technology is hard, & we have to think about AI in the same way by expecting the backlash. According to Sreenivasan, the impact of AI will affect every industry, and lots of money will be made or lost. Elaborating further, he said the advent of AI in all sectors will upend most careers in unexpected ways. He urged people to pay close attention & learn new skills apart from being vigilant about its dangers. Deepa Sarojammal, CEO, Reflections Info Systems, and TP Sreenivasan, Former Ambassador, were also present.
