Key Oncology Strategies

Targeted Therapy

Strategy exploits
oncogene/non-oncogene addiction to modulate key drivers of oncogenesis to achieve cancerspecific/mutation-specific Personalized Medicine

Immuno-oncology

Strategy activates the innate and/or adaptive immune system to enable rejection/elimination of the tumor by patient's own immune system

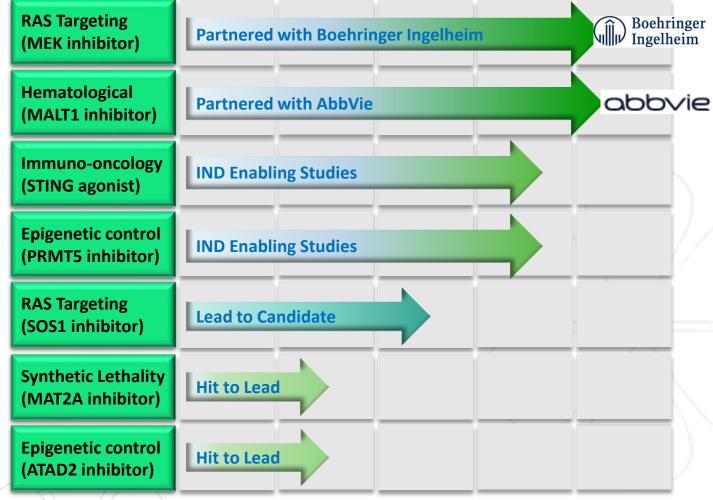

Epigenetics

Strategy reverses abnormal gene expression patterns to inhibit cancer growth and spread (metastasis)

Synthetic Lethality

Strategy specifically targets cancer cells already harboring certain mutations such that the targeted protein and the mutation together lead to inhibition of cancer
