Employees scurry for jobs after curbs on Paytm bank

Employees fear there could be more regulatory trouble ahead for the digital-payments firm devina.sengupta@livemint.com MUMBAI ecruiters are being flooded with resumes and job applications from employees of Paytm Payments Bank and its parent firm One 97 Communications, who fear there could be more regulatory trouble ahead for the digitalpayments company. Employees across levels in tech, merchant banking, sales and marketing are ready to take pay cuts elsewhere at a time when offers are hard to come by

The flood of resumes began after Reserve Bank of India (RBI) last week barred Paytm Payments Bank from accepting deposits or top-ups in any customer account, wallets or FASTags after February 29, due to falsified compliances. Mint reported that the RBI action was on account of irregularities in KYC norms as well as undisclosed related-party transactions.

Meanwhile, at a virtual town hall on Saturday, the company's founder and chief executive Vijay Shekhar Sharma tried to assuage employees' fears about the future of the group, which employs about 35,000 people. "Given the withdrawal of Paytm from the small-ticket lending business, there was a significant layoff of employees very recently, and our marketplace received resumes from them. However, after the RBI stateworst-case impact ment on Paytm, we are on annual Ebitda $seeing\,CVs\,from\,different$ sets of talent including data science, back-end engineers and other tech talent coming in," said A. Ramachandran, CEO of MyRCloud, an AI/ ML-driven recruitment marketplace. The platform, which has about 1,500 recruiters, has seen a few hundred resumes uploaded over the past week.

"Partners on our platform have received 300-400 CVs, largely from juniors to middle management," Ramachandran

Sharma and the senior leadership told employees during Saturday's town hall that their jobs were safe, and only performance-based retrenchment was being done. According to a company executive, Sharma said during the hour-long town hall that the company, which runs the Pavtm wallet, was in touch with the RBI and that the reg-ulator's action would have a worstcase impact of ₹300-500 crore on its annual Ebitda.

While junior employees and middle management are looking for jobs in the banking and finance sector, senior candidates doing so will have to revisit their stock offers when negotiating compensation with other firms.

"Some of the established fintechs especially payment-solutions firms attract leadership talent with a combination of fixed and variable pay, and stock options. These stock options could run into crores, which is making it hard for some employees to find other opportunities easily," said Upasana Agarwal, partner for professional and financial services at ABC Consultants, an executive search and talent advisory firm.

Paytm Payments Bank said the queries from Mint were speculative.

A partner at another recruitment firm that has placed senior-level executives from One 97 Communications said middle and senior management have been reaching out to them since last year. "The company retrenched employees over the past few months and candidates reached out for jobs. Many of Paytm's employees draw salaries that are higher than the market rate and will have to take a pay cut," the partner added. The company, however, that it expects to continue improving its profitability. Sharma told analysts and investors on Thursday that the RBI's restrictions were a "speed bump".

In a blog post, the company cited a post by Sharma on X, in which he wrote, "To every Paytmer, your favourite app is working, will keep working beyond 29 February as usual."

Live events move beyond big cities to thrill small-towners

lata.j@htlive.com NEW DELHI

ost-pandemic recovery continues for India's live-events business that is curating everything from music festivals to multiple-city comedy tours for young audiences craving outdoor experi-

While the initial enthusiasm for such events was attributed to revenge consumption, as people emerged after being confined to their homes by covid-19, footfalls have mostly sustained, industry experts said, with smaller cities joining the list of patrons for such events. English singer and songwriter Ed Sheeran will perform in Mumbai this March, while comedy tours featuring Kanan Gill and Sahil Shah, apart from live concerts and performances by Asha Bhosle, Arijit Singh, Sunidhi Chauhan, Yuvan Shankar Raja and Harris Jayaraj, are lined up across various Indian cities.

"The year 2023 has marked a shift in India's live entertainment landscape, with a resurgence of real-life experiences postpandemic. While this is obviously heightened across metro markets, it is not confined to these alone. Tier-two and tier-three cities are now the thriving hubs for out-of-home entertainment, showing tremendous growth and evolution in their appetite," Owen Roncon, chief of business live entertainment, BookMv-Show, said.

This Decentralization has been a game-changer, Roncon emphasized, as artistes are embarking on expansive tours spanning 15-plus cities, as exemplified by comedian Vir

Das' 22-city tour. Events in tier-two and tier-three cities are experiencing a rapid sellout phenomenon, driven by a strategic blend of audience capacity management and effective pricing strategies, he pointed out.

Meanwhile, with exposure to global artistes, music and comedy, audiences in India have become receptive to diverse intellectual properties (IPs). Over the past few years, BookMyShow has seen traction for live-event IPs, includ-

India, among others. According to BookMy-Show's year-end wrap Best of 2023, the appetite for on-ground live events surged last year, with approximately 13.5 million attendees, reflecting an 82% year-on-year growth in specially-curated international live events. BookMyShow Live experienced a 2.3-fold increase in its consumer cohort of premium event-goers.

The demographic breakdown revealed that 39% of the live entertainment audience comprised Gen Z, while 49% were millennials.

Gen Z remains a prime target for brands, but more millennials are engaging with live events, possibly due to increased disposable income, Varun Khare, business head, Paytm Insider, which lists events and sells tickets for them, said. "City-wise, there's substantial growth, expanding from four to five metros precovid to 12-16, encompassing tier-two cities with a sizable young population enjoying live experiences. Entering tier-three cities, Paytm Insider observes heightened demand for celebration and music festivals," Khare added. While music is still the lowest-hang ing fruit by way of mediums to engage audiences at a larger scale, the event landscape has expanded to include diverse experiences around alternative pop culture and F&B festivals, he pointed out.

Pristyn Care's fitness tech biz to raise up to $75 mn

sneha.shah@livemint.com MUMBAI

eatXP, the direct-to-consumer (D2C) fitness-focused technology brand owned by Pristyn Care, is looking to raise $50-75 million, valuingitataround$400 million, said three people with knowledge of the plans.

'The idea is to hive it off and raise money on the books of BeatXP," the first person cited above said. Started in 2021, BeatXP sells fitness technology products such as wearable watches, massagers, earphones, and gym equipment, among others. "The company is seeing its revenue run rate of disease to health more than ₹200 crore and is being valued at around $400 million," said another person cited above. The growth the wearable and fitness-tech industry has seen in the last 24-36 months makes BeatXP an ideal candidate to raise capital. According to the people cited above, the subsidiary is performing really well for Pristyn, at a time when growth in the core business has
