Ashok Gehlot cites Rajasthan model, urges PM Modi for mandatory FIR policy across India

Jaipur, Rajasthan chief minister Ashok Gehlot on Thursday urged Prime Minister Narendra Modi to ensure that all states adopt a mandatory FIR registration policy for 'effective' maintenance of law and order while emphasising that the high rate of crime registration in Rajasthan didn't mean the state had a high crime rate. In a letter to PM Narendra Modi, the CM claimed that the state had adopted police reforms for dispensation of speedy justice and for prevention of crime and asserted that other states could also benefit from the 'effective and sensitive' system. Gehlot, in the letter, stated that in order to remove complexities in crime registration, Rajasthan in May 2019 had implemented a system of uninterrupted registration of crimes. Under the system, if the crime is not registered at any police station then an FIR can be registered at the office of superintendent of police.

He argued that making the number of registered crimes a measure of success and failure of the police force reinforces the tendency not to register a crime. Due to this, many types of disorders in the working of the police also arise. He has said that this is not the time to oppose registration, but to strongly support this policy of providing justice to every person. Otherwise, in future, the government of any state of the country will shy away from taking such steps that provide relief to the common man.

Jharkhand: Five-month old elephant rescued from well

Ranchi, A five-month-old elephant calf fell into a 5-foot-deep farm well in Lipia village in Jharkhand's Ramgarh district, around 50km from capital Ranchi early Friday, officials said. The calf struggled in the well for over four hours and was rescued by the village men, who jumped into the well, tied a rope around the calf and pulled the animal out. Forest ranger Amarendra Kumar Singh said, "The calf was with a herd of six elephants. The herd was passing through the farm. But, the calf fell into the small well, dug for agricultural purpose in the village, on the way." He said a team of forest staff was sent to the village with an excavator. However, the calf had already been rescued by them, he said. The mukhiya (village head) of Rakuwa panchayat, under the jurisdiction of which the village is, Suresh Rajak said a 40-year-old man spotted the herd and the struggling calf in the well around 7am when he went out to relieve himself. "He was injured by the herd and has been admitted to a hospital," Rajak said. The herd damaged the paddy, potato, beans and bottle gourd crops on a large scale in the village, he said.
