Pause, rewind, play

The moments that defined 2023, those that captured the anguish and the despair, the magic and mystery, the quirky and the bizarre

A race or crime scene

Only one starter in the final of the men's 100m race. A steeple-chaser who kept running after crossing the finish line. And the lone 100m starter failing the dope test a couple of months later. One of the craziest — and best in its own absurd way — moment of the year came not at any of the glamorous sports events but at a chaotic Delhi State athletics meet, which descended into a total farce because of rampant doping.

The story had crime — with athletes procuring banned drugs — drama, with anti-doping sleuths performing a surprise raid, and dollops of humour. The kind of stuff true crime or satire writers would dig. There will be winners and losers every year in sports. There'll always be a performance, largely due to recency bias, that will be hyped as the best ever until the next one follows. But it is unlikely something like this will happen again. For the sake of clean sport, we hope it doesn't!

Archer without arms stuns world

We know the story of an archer without a thumb from our epics, but an archer without arms? When the 16-year-old para archer Sheetal Devi from a village in Jammu & Kashmir went to the Asian Games in China, she became the first female archer without arms to compete internationally. But she wasn't just content participating; she brought home three medals. She balances the 27.5 kg bow with her right leg pulling the string back using a manual releaser and uses a trigger held in her mouth to shoot the arrow at the target 50m away. Devi, who loved climbing trees at her village in her childhood, has fought her way hard to climb to the top of the archery world.

Silence of the Lambs

Silence is golden, the saying goes. It was certainly golden for Pat Cummins and his team when the Aussie captain induced Virat Kohli to play on to his stumps in the World Cup final at the stadium named after the incumbent Indian prime minister. The stadium, with a capacity of 1.3 lakh, was rendered voiceless and even Kohli took an age to come to terms with what had happened. The stands that were raucously cheering every run, even though progress was slow, was suddenly hushed into becoming a library. Make no mistake, the lakhs that had come through the turnstiles of the Narendra Modi Stadium were there not to witness a sporting contest, but a coronation, the realisation of destiny. And Kohli was the vehicle that was to take them to the promised land.

A lob that shook the tennis world

A delicate drop, followed by a perfect lob — Carlos Alcaraz came up with in July of 2023 and the world hailed him as a tennis great in the making, an heir apparent to his country mate Rafa Nadal. This was less about skill and more about audacity and temperament. The drop-lob routine is what players bank on when fooling around on court. It is the best way to ridicule your rival. You laugh your guts off watching the opponent scampers up and down the court, but then who decides to be cheeky when on the most sacred of courts while facing the greatest of all time.

This was the Wimbledon final and on the other side was Novak Djokovic. They had won 2 sets each and Alcaraz was trailing 5-4 in the 5th but had a 15-0 lead in the game. At that stage of the game, Alcaraz got a ball in the centre of the court, he was all set to whip the ball across the net but at the last minute changed his grip to play the drop.

On the circuit, the Alcaraz drop shot has triggered long discussions and intense scrutiny. It was no secret weapon but Djokovic didn't expect the rookie to show this delightful prospect for conventional stroke play in the Wimbledon final. The Serb's quick reflex saw him reach the unexpected drop but while back-tracking to reach the lob he stumbled a bit before giving up. The ball sailing over the 6'2" Djokovic and landing well inside the baseline had a romance of kite flying in the sky or plastic floating in the wind.

Sam Bankman-Fried will not face a second trial

REUTERS New York, December 30

US PROSECUTORS SAID they do not plan to conduct a second trial against Sam Bankman-Fried, who was convicted last month of stealing from customers of his now-bankrupt FTX cryptocurrency exchange. In a letter filed on Friday night in federal court in Manhattan, prosecutors said the "strong public interest" in a prompt resolution of their case against the 31-year-old former billionaire outweighed the benefits of a second trial. Prosecutors said that interest "weighs particularly heavily here," given that Bankman-

Fried's scheduled March 28, 2024, sentencing will likely include orders of forfeiture and restitution for victims of his crimes. Jurors on November 2 convicted Bankman-Fried on all seven fraud and conspiracy counts he faced. Prosecutors had accused him of looting $8 billion from FTX customers out of sheer greed. Lawyers for Bankman-Fried declined to comment. Bankman-Fried had faced six additional charges that had been severed from his first trial, including campaign finance violations, conspiracy to commit bribery, and conspiracy to operate an unlicensed money transmitting business. He had been extradited in December 2022 from the Bahamas, where FTX was based, to face the seven earlier charges. The Bahamas has yet to grant its consent for a trial on the remaining charges, however, leaving the timetable uncertain, prosecutors said. Bankman-Fried's verdict came nearly one year after FTX filed for bankruptcy.

Qualified conclusion for the Unaudited Financial Results expressed by Statutory Auditor on Financial Results.

We draw your attention to Note No. 4 to the Unaudited financial results which states that the Company has ceased business operations from the financial year ended March 31, 2016 and incurred Net Loss of Rs. 421.39 Lakhs and Rs. 837.84 Lakhs for the quarter and half year ended September 30, 2023 respectively and accumulated losses aggregate to Rs. 13,781.78 Lakhs as of September 30, 2023. There is no production of LED TVs from April, 2015 and of Air Conditioners since June, 2015 onwards in the absence of any orders. However, the management considers the going concern assumption as appropriate in view of certain service agreements with group companies and continued financial and operational support from holding company. Significant time has been elapsed after cessation of the production activity and as such there appears to be material uncertainties whether the company would be able to continue as a going concern. In the absence of Board approved business plan and scheme of revival, the impact on the financial results which have been prepared by the management under going concern assumption, cannot be ascertained.

Note: The above is an extract of the detailed format of quarterly financial results filed with the Stock Exchange under Regulation 33 of the SEBI (Listing Obligation and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015 (the "Listing Regulations"). The full format of the quarterly financial results are available on the Stock Exchange website-www.bseindia.com and website of the company - www.sharpindialimited.com
