Local authorities across the country are facing one of the worst financial crises in the last decade Croydon, Thurrock, Woking, Slough, Nottingham, Northamptonshire and Birmingham City Council, Europe's largest local authority, have also issued 114 notices, which prevents a council from any further spending, since 2018. Insiders have also told MailOnline that up to 30 more councils could further spending, since 2018. Insiders have also told MailOnline that up to 30 more councils could follow suit over the next few years as they struggle to balance their books. Some council leaders have warned even their from being sold off.
