● INDIA SUITED TO DEFEND TOTALS WITH APLOMB

Why India should bowl first against Netherlands

VENKATA KRISHNA
Bengaluru, November 11

IRONY IS BLOWING in the Bangalore winds. Before the start of the World Cup, it had seemed that India were better off chasing, trusting their batsmen. The bowling form wasn't exactly clear: there was hesitancy about using Mohammad Shami, concerns about Jasprit Bumrah's touch and endurance after return from injury, the insistence on using Shardul Thakur for his batting ability, and whether Hardik Pandya will last and be effective across 10 overs in Indian conditions.

But now, a wondrous role-reversal has occurred. Such has been Indian seamers' venom under lights, and spinners Ravindra Jadeja and Kuldeep Yadav's skills, that now India look a side suited to defend totals with aplomb. And we are now at a stage, just before the semi-final, talking about how they should test their chasing skills and bowling upfront effectiveness in the game against Netherlands on Sunday.

When Mohammad Shami came in for the injured Pandya in the match against New Zealand, he immediately struck rhythm, grabbing a five-for in the game India bowled first. From then on, they have been batting first. India are averaging 8.63 with the ball while bowling second. Bowling first, they average 25.95, which although is exceptional, is worth testing again before the knockouts.

Be it in 2015 or 2019, India finished as the top placed team in the group stages, only to bow out in the semi-finals. As they prepare for another semi-final against an opponent that has caused them trouble in big-ticket events, there is still one more box India would be happy to tick-off — to bowl first and be prepared for all possibilities against New Zealand.

Rahul Dravid didn't want to be seen fussing too much about the scenario. "I think in the first five we batted first and then we had to chase in the last three. So, we've actually done both things and we're pretty comfortable with both things. So, I'm not too worried about it," he said on the eve of the Netherlands game.

While India have bowled out opponents in each of the three matches they have bowled under lights, they have done so on three out of the five innings when bowling first.

With no sixth bowling option, India have zero room for any of their five bowlers to have an off-day. Which is why should India win the toss against Netherlands on Sunday, they should break the trend here in Bengaluru and bowl first, just to get some confidence behind them. If Netherlands win the toss, they might anyway ask India to bowl first, to avoid chasing under lights.

Dravid said the team will be comfortable chasing or defending. "We'll have a look at the wicket and see what we need to do. There are arguments both ways of batting first, putting up a score and hopefully setting the tone that way. And there's also an argument of chasing as well, which means that you probably have to bowl in the sun. But the toss is not in our hands, it's not going to be in our hands in the semi-finals. And I think we are comfortable both ways. We will have a look at the wicket today and come tomorrow and have a look at the wicket as well. And then, whatever call Rohit makes, we will go with it," he said.

SZA leads all artists at 2024 Grammy nominations

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Los Angeles, November 11

KILLING HER EX? That's a bad idea. Writing Kill Bill and releasing her critically acclaimed sophomore album SOS earlier this year? That was a great one. SZA is the lead contender for the 66th Grammy Awards, with nine nominations announced.

Kill Bill, her revenge anthem cloaked in an R&B ballad, earned her nods for record of the year, song of the year, and best R&B performance. SOS is also up for album of the year and best progressive R&B album. The 2024 ceremony will mark the second time SZA has been nominated for record, album, and song of the year in the same year.

And just like at the box office, Barbie will be seen — and heard — at the Grammys. Music from the hit film's soundtrack earned 11 nominations, including nabbing four of the five slots in the visual media song category.

If there is an overall trend in the 2024 nominations, it's that female acts outperformed their male counterparts. The majority of leading nominees are women and include superstars like Taylor Swift, Billie Eilish, Miley Cyrus and Olivia Rodrigo. In both the record and album of the year categories, the only man represented is Jon Batiste.

SZA, of course, leads the charge, picking up nominations for best traditional R&B performance (Love Language), best R&B song (Snooze), best melodic rap performance (Low), and best pop duo/group performance (Ghost in the Machine). The last features Phoebe Bridgers, who — alongside Victoria Monet — boasts the second-most nominations at seven.

THE BEATLES RETURNED to the top of the UK music charts, with the record-breaking track Now And Then, making history as the act with the longest gap between its first and last No 1 single. Billed as the last Beatles song, Now And Then features the voice of late member John Lennon and was developed using artificial intelligence. It also features parts recorded by surviving members Paul McCartney and Ringo Starr as well as the late George Harrison.

The group's 18th UK No 1 hit, it brings The Beatles back to the top of the Official Singles Chart 60 years after the group's first No 1 single From Me To You. The feat also extends The Beatles' record as the British act with the most UK No 1 singles in official charts history. "It's mind boggling. It's blown my socks off," McCartney said in a statement. "It's also a very emotional moment for me. I love it!"

The song is the fastest-selling single of the year to date in Britain with 48,600 physical and download sales based on the its first seven days, the Official Charts Company said. It is also the fastest-selling vinyl single of the century so far in Britain with more than 19,400 copies sold on vinyl, and the most-streamed Beatles track in one week, with 5.03 million streams, it added. The group is also the act with the longest gap between No 1 singles — 54 years — and the oldest band to score a UK No 1 single, the Official Charts Company said. McCartney is 81 while Starr is 83.

"Beatlemania has returned this week," Official Charts Company chief executive officer Martin Talbot said. "The return of John, Paul, George and Ringo with the last ever Beatles single... has cemented their legend by breaking a catalogue of records — and in doing so underlined the extraordinary scope of their enduring appeal, across all the generations."
