WORLD SUSTAINABILITY RANKINGS

DU leads 56 Indian varsities on QS list

University of Toronto tops the charts for 2024

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
New Delhi, December 5

THE UNIVERSITY OF DELHI (DU) has been featured as the most sustainable Indian institute in the QS World University Rankings: Sustainability 2024 released on Tuesday. Globally, the university has ranked at 220.

Overall, the University of Toronto has ranked at the top, followed by the University of California, Berkeley (UCB) and The University of Manchester at the second and third spots.

This time, there is no Indian university in the first top 200 ranks. After DU, IIT Bombay has featured at 303 globally, followed by IIT Madras at 344, IIT Kharagpur at 349, IIT Roorkee at 387 and IIT Delhi at 426.

In addition to DU and IITs, Birla Institute of Technology and Science, Pilani (BITS) is ranked 7th in India (444 globally), followed by Vellore Institute of Technology (VIT) at 8th spot (449 globally), Anna University at the ninth spot (496 globally) and the Indian Institute of Science at the 10th spot (505 globally).

While India lacks in global sustainability rankings, it performed better in indicators related to environmental impact — which quantifies an institution's commitment to, and implementation of, its sustainability and climate strategies. In the Environmental Sustainability indicator, four Indian universities found a place among the world's top 100, with Vellore Institute of Technology (VIT) emerging as the national leader (49 globally).

Additionally, the University of Delhi was recognised for offering "world-class education in environmental and climate-related subjects", placing 16th in QS' Environmental Education indicator. In Asia, only The University of Tokyo performed better in this

Rank 2024	Institution
220	University of Delhi
303	IIT Bombay
344	IIT Madras
349	IIT Kharagpur
387	IIT Roorkee

*In all, 56 Indian universities made it to the QS World University Sustainability rankings 2024. The list features 1,397 institutions across 95 countries and territories

Institution	Score	Rank
Vellore Institute of Technology	72.1	49
University of Delhi	66.7	66
Indian Institute of Technology Madras	66	70
Kalinga Institute of Industrial Technology	63.5	81

metric. However, a sharp drop-off saw the next highest-ranked university place outside the top 100.

While India is making strides in environmental education, Indian institutes are lacking in environmental research. The Indian Institutes of Technology (IIT) dominate this indicator domestically, with IIT Delhi taking the highest rank, at 236th.

"India could look to improve factors related to QS' Good Governance indicator, such as ethics, hiring practices, transparency and decision-making. In this metric, two Indian universities were among the world's top 200, with Manipal Academy of Higher Education and the University of Delhi placing 111th and 167th respectively," the QS report stated.

In the QS' Equality indicator, Manipal Academy of Higher Education was the national leader, placing 463rd. It was the only Indian institution in the world's top 500. Additionally, IIT boasts of the country's best graduate opportunities and career prospects, with all five of the country's top performers in Employability and Outcomes being IIT. IITB is the top performer, placing 199th.

"India, as one of the world's largest emitters of carbon dioxide, faces a formidable challenge and shoulders immense responsibility for meeting its commitment to achieve net zero by 2070. In this context, the role of Indian universities is pivotal as they continue to expand in number and improve in quality," QS senior vice-president Ben Sowter said.

"While there are commendable achievements in certain areas of the ranking, there are also areas for improvement. The performance of institutions like VIT and the University of Delhi in Environmental Education and Institutional Sustainability is noteworthy and these achievements are crucial for India's climate action plans. However, challenges related to Environmental Research and Equality remain. To align with the nation's environmental commitments, universities need to amplify their research capabilities, foster diversity and inclusivity and invest in high-impact environmental research. Furthermore, as India seeks to enhance its inbound and outbound student mobility, carbon offsetting within the sector will become increasingly necessary," he added.

VINAYAKK
MOHANARANGAN
New Delhi, December 5

THE INDIAN WOMEN'S cricket team doesn't play often at home. In T20Is, they played Australia in December last year. The last ODI home series was back in March 2021. That is despite the fact they have a T20 World Cup in Bangladesh next year and a home World Cup in the 50-over format on the horizon in 2025. And above all this, it's been a year since the team's last official head coach was moved on from the job.

It is against this backdrop that Harmanpreet Kaur and Co get ready for a rare bumper month of international cricket at home, with finally a new head coach in place. Mumbai domestic legend Amol Muzumdar will begin his stint at a place where he piled on mountains of runs as India play England and Australia over the next five weeks in Mumbai and Navi Mumbai.

While there is reason to debate why the Indian women's team is seemingly restricted to playing in and around Mumbai in the recent past, for Muzumdar it is a chance to kick things off in a backdrop that he knows like the back of his hand.

"I am starting in a new role at my home ground," Muzumdar said in his first press conference on Tuesday at the Wankhede Stadium. "I have played most of my cricket since my childhood here, it's great to start here. It's been a long journey. Yeah, familiar with the conditions but at the same time we cannot be complacent."

Muzumdar scored over 11,000 first-class runs in 171 matches including 30 centuries during his domestic career that lasted more than two decades.

One of Muzumdar's predecessors in the role — former India coach WV Raman — says it's time to make the most of the talent that India have in their ranks. "No need to delve too much in the past (on no coach for one year). Time to look forward now," Raman told The Indian Express. "Amol takes over at a good time, the team is in a good place after some decent exposure — with a professionalised league like the WPL coming in, the Asian Games medal recently,"

Captain Harmanpreet Kaur (right) and teammate Smriti Mandhana during a practice session ahead of the first T20I cricket match between India and England, at Wankhede Stadium in Mumbai on Tuesday

"I think the challenge ahead for him is to accurately assess the talent at the team's disposal. He's got two crucial series at home before the T20 World Cup next year. Before that, he needs to get together with the selectors to find the right combination. Lots of strong players to choose from. It's about finding the right combination," Raman added.

A solid squad

On that front, it must be said that the selection committee — that has often been under the scanner for their calls — have delivered a good mix of fresh faces and experienced hands for the T20Is. Shreyanka Patil and Saika Ishaque have been rewarded for performances in the WPL, domestic circuit as well as the India A set-up. Mannat Kashyap joins Titas Sadhu in being blooded in from the U19 World Cup-winning squad. And in Renuka Singh Thakur, they have an experienced pacer making her comeback after a period away from international cricket.

"Young generation is coming through as we saw during the India A series," Muzumdar said. "Their performances in that series, and even prior have been rewarded by the selectors. I am sure the young faces that have come in can deliver when they get a chance. They have got a terrific mindset, and the energy and intensity that we need on the ground."

Captain Harmanpreet, one of the best athletes in the game, had once said that one of her dreams would be to see India as the best fielding team in the world. She'd have been happy to hear that Muzumdar has made that one of his priorities along with fitness. "Fielding and fitness will be my top priority," the 49-year-old said. "There is no compromise on that. The fitness parameters have already been set, and we have had some tests at NCA pre-series. These will be followed rigorously. There will be a lot of camps post this series, and a lot of cricket will be played either at NCA or some other place. All the fringe and new players that are coming through will also get an opportunity."

Sandwiched between the crucial white-ball tests, are two Test matches, one each against England and Australia. Indian women will be playing a home Test for the first time since 2014. During a recent camp, Muzumdar said they had an intra-squad four-day match in November to get the team in the mindset to play Tests. Players picked for the longer format but not for T20Is — the likes of Rajeshwari Gayakwad, Sneha Rana — are in Mumbai already to train for the Tests. Every little bit of preparation would matter, given India's female cricketers don't play days-cricket with the red ball at the domestic level.

World Cup in focus

Muzumdar will be assisted by NCA's Troy Cooley and Munish Bali as the bowling and fielding coaches respectively for the series against England and Australia. With the T20 World Cup scheduled to be held in Bangladesh in September next year, and no scheduled assignments on the official Futures Tours Program until then, this month will play a big part in telling Harmanpreet and Muzumdar where things stand.

"Definitely every step from here on is moving towards the World Cup. The series against England and Australia will count a lot. (Playing more series) is for the board to decide. More we play, better," Muzumdar said.

Global South must adopt digital public infra, says Kant

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, December 5

THE GLOBAL SOUTH needs to adopt digital public infrastructure to technologically leapfrog and achieve sustainable development goals (SDGs), India's G20 Sherpa Amitabh Kant said on Tuesday.

Addressing an event organised by Carnegie India, Kant said now the world will grow on the back of digital public infrastructure. He said if the world was to grow equitably then the global south is important because 4 billion people still do not have digital identity, 1.3 billion people do not have a bank account, while 133 countries in the world do not have fast payments. "And therefore you need the digital public infrastructure to enable these countries to technologically leapfrog and ensure that we are able to make sustainable development goals reached to them. And that is really the key, the SDGs must reach the global south," Kant said.

The term 'global south' is used to refer poor and developing countries. The former NITI Aayog CEO noted that during the Covid period, while the world was giving out large packages, which led to their inflation, India was able to put money straight into the bank accounts of the beneficiaries using digital public infrastructure.
