Palestinians shot in cold blood

AP / BEIT RIMA

Security camera video from a West Bank village shows a young man standing in a central square when he is suddenly shot and drops to the ground.

Injured Palestinians sit inside a Red Crescent ambulance upon their arrival from Gaza on Wednesday

An Associated Press review of the video and interviews with the two wounded survivors showed Israeli soldiers opened fire on the three when they did not appear to pose a threat.

The fatal shooting in the village of Beit Rima last week is the latest in a series of incidents in which soldiers appeared to fire without provocation, a trend Palestinians say has worsened since the outbreak of the Israel-Hamas war in Gaza three months ago.

tered Beit Rima overnight Thursday into Friday as part of a "counter-terrorism operation." It said troops fired at suspects who threw explosives and firebombs at them.

The video, obtained by the AP from a local smoke shop, does not show anyone throwing explosives.

After reviewing the footage, a military spokesman said soldiers reported that one of the Palestinians - visible kneeling in front of an object just outside the frame - was igniting a Molotov cocktail when he was shot.

The video, however, shows that the first shot does not hit the kneeling man, but rather another Palestinian man, Nader Rimawi. The object was a stack of cardboard boxes that 17-year-old Osaid Rimawi had gathered and was preparing to light to keep the men warm.

For 1st time, S Koreans aged 70 and more outnumber those in 20s

IANS / SEOUL

South Korea's elderly population aged 70 and older outnumbered those in their 20s for the first time last year, as the society is rapidly aging amid record low birth rates, government statistics revealed on Wednesday.

According to the resident registration data compiled by the Interior Ministry, the number of people aged 70 years and over totaled 6.32 million at the end of last year, surpassing the population in their 20s tallied at 6.2 million, reports Yonhap News Agency.

It marked the first time that the number of elderly people has outstripped the 20-something population.

That comes as South Korea's total fertility rate - the number of children that are expected to be born to a woman over her lifetime - has broken record after record to hit 0.78 in 2022.

The population aged 65 years and older has gradually increased, reaching 9.73 million last year, a gain of 460,000 people from the previous year, to account for 19 per cent of the total population, the data showed.

Of South Korea's 17 major cities and provinces, eight were "super-aged society", in which people 65 and older make up over 20 per cent of the population.
