'MARRIAGE NOT A FUNDAMENTAL RIGHT'

Same-sex marriage will have to wait

SC bench doesn't tinker with special marriage act, lobs ball to Parliament

ANANTHAKRISHNAN G
New Delhi, October 17

IN A RULING on Tuesday that disappointed LGBTQ+ rights campaigners, a Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court unanimously rejected their prayer to grant legal recognition to same-sex marriages and left it to Parliament to change the law to validate such a union.

Citing "institutional limitations", the five-judge bench, comprising Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud, Justices Sanjay Kishan Kaul, S Ravindra Bhat, Hima Kohli and PS Narasimha, in four separate judgements, declined to strike down or tweak provisions of the Special Marriage Act, 1954 (SMA), saying there is "no unqualified right" to marriage, and a same-sex couple cannot claim it as a fundamental right under the Constitution.

The bench recognised equal rights for queer people and their protection, and called for sensitisation of the general public so that they don't face discrimination.

All the judges agreed on the point of tasking the committee, to be constituted under the Cabinet secretary as promised by the Centre, "for the purpose of defining and elucidating the scope of the entitlements of queer couples who are in unions".

Justices Bhat, Kohli and Narasimha, in two separate judgements, disagreed with some of the directions issued in the CJ's ruling, which was backed by Justice Kaul, and also some of his conclusions.

SETBACK FOR LGBTQ+ COMMUNITY

■ The bench recognised equal rights for queer people and their protection, and called for sensitisation of the general public

■ The bench unanimously rejected their prayer to grant legal recognition to same-sex marriages and left it to Parliament to validate such a union

The bench was unanimous that marriage is a statutory right and not a fundamental right guaranteed by the Constitution and, hence, a subject matter for the Parliament and state legislatures.

"This Court cannot either strike down the Constitutional validity of SMA or read words into the SMA because of its institutional limitations. This Court cannot read words into the provisions of the SMA and provisions of other allied laws such as the ISA (Indian Succession Act) and the HSA (Hindu Succession Act) because that would amount to judicial legislation. The Court, in the exercise of the power of judicial review, must steer clear of matters, particularly those impinging on policy, which fall in the legislative domain," the CJ said in his judgement, a view that other judges agreed with.

In the four separate judgements - by the CJ, Justice Kaul, Justice Bhat and Justice Narasimha - there was agreement in the bench that "queerness is a natural phenomenon known to India since ancient times" and "is not urban or elite", that "there exists no fundamental right to marry under the Constitution... that the Special Marriage Act, 1954 (SMA), is neither unconstitutional nor can it be interpreted in such a manner so as to enable marriage between queer persons; and that... transgender persons in heterosexual relationships, have the right to solemnise marriage under existing legal frameworks".

Explaining why the right to marry is not a fundamental right, CJ Chandrachud wrote that "in pursuance of the power conferred by Articles 245 and 246 read with Entry 5 of the Concurrent List, Parliament has enacted laws creating and regulating the socio-legal institution of marriage. The State legislatures have made amendments to such laws with the assent of the President since the subject of marriage is in the Concurrent list. The petitioners seek that the Court recognise the right to marry as a fundamental right. As explained above, this would mean that even if Parliament and the state legislatures have not created an institution of marriage in exercise of their powers under Entry 5 of the Concurrent list, they would be obligated to create an institution because of the positive postulate encompassed in the right to marry. This argument cannot be accepted."

Pune primed for Indian juggernaut

SHIVANI NAIK
Pune, October 17

BOTH THE MINNOWS and the mighty of Pune's iconic 1996 Cricket World Cup moment at the Nehru Stadium are lost to the sands of time. Neither West Indies, who were shot out for 93, nor the giant-killers of yore Kenya, qualified for this World Cup. No such crazy caper is likely to unfold on Thursday when a stuttering Bangladesh meet a rampaging India.

Pune's otherwise breezy MCA stadium, the city's newer cricket venue, instead will stir up one bubbling cauldron with India fans clamouring for another pouncing of opponents like in Ahmedabad. Bangladesh has beaten India thrice in the last four meetings but their triumphs have been at home or on neutral venues.

The majority of the crowd, which is under-25 that is used to driving down to the Gahunje stadium for IPL games, weren't born when Kenya upset West Indies and will need the blue shirts, flags, face-paint and the ceaseless India-cheering frenzy to sit through the 8 hours of a format.

The Maharashtra Cricket Association hasn't needed to advertise the game with hoardings inside the city. Its officials, constantly harangued for tickets, carried creased foreheads with mobiles stuck to the ears and demand cranked up even more in the days leading up to the match.

"The MCA stadium has hosted 68 matches including IPL already, but the World Cup tends to be a pressure game for organisers. More than pressure, we are excited, given hopes from the Indian team have increased," says Maharashtra Cricket Association secretary Shubendra Bhandarkar. Hosting organisers saw a renewed surge of requests for tickets after India beat Pakistan. With nearly no public transport in existence ferrying the flock towards the stadium, the MCA has taken hold of 42 acres of land surrounding the stadium for parking cars. Huge blimps will fly out into the sky, numbered to help locate parking zones. Stadium boxes have a fresh coat of paint and lights are all LED now. Blue park benches outside are dusted off, seats are flapped open and aisles are hosed down.

The last time Pune hosted an ICC Men's ODI World Cup match, the mighty West Indies were brought down by Kenya by 73 runs in the 1996 edition

As the World Cup branding phase took off on Monday - cutouts and mammoth cloth scrolls rolling down the stadium facades - the stadium lost its local flavour. The inner city's most iconic 'Puneri paaty' - boards with sardonic and cutting humour instructions that dot the heart of the city and make merchants seem standoffish if not entirely rude - were sorely missing. Still, in one of the narrow approach lanes, the Cup seemed to have caught on with the city's reputation and a tilted ICC board proclaimed: 'NOTICK-ETS sold here.' (To be read: don't linger around unnecessarily looking for counters just because you see a gate.) As happens with steadfastly branded international sporting events, in this World Cup also one venue remains indistinguishable from the other. So, F&B stalls are more likely to hot-sell Cajun Veg Burgers rather than the garlic-coconut chutneyed local vada-pav.

Inside, the architecture of the stadium is flaunted as utilitarian. A single concourse runs the rim of the whole arena, making access relatively easy. The entire stands are not covered, and a 2 pm start means the notorious October heat of Pune will beat down on many of the 37,406 spectator seats in the early part. But uncovered stands and only a handful of canopies also mean no beams blocking view, and an uninterrupted action of the cricket.

The sand-based ground has provisions to drain out within 45 minutes of rains stopping, even heavy rains, Bhandarkar informs. The Maharashtra Premier League final did get postponed to next day, after a severe lashing of rains in July. But the heat looks like a bigger challenge with cloudless October skies.

ICC officials trooping into the stadium and first-timers bombarded with images of how pretty the Dharamshala venue looks from pictures, call the Gahunje ground, 'mini Dharamshala'. A quarter of the stadium has a stunning backdrop of a couple of mesmerising hilllocks. Pune's favourite hiking haunts of 'tekdi's' find a fine representation at the venue.

Low-rise residences & ambitious towers can be seen on the horizon on the flanks but don't pervade the open view. The hillock-facing view is quite fetching in fact, & the wide, white staircases offer great sunset vistas. A neat DB Deodhar statue stands at the entrance. Though Pune doesn't have many cricketers of international repute, there's high hopes from Rituraj Gaikwad. After a hat-trick to the two Jadhavs, Dheeraj and Kedar along with Hrishikesh Kanitkar, the stadium leans on its Sachin-love.

The choice of frames, mostly pre-2000 unwittingly links the natty Gahunje facility to the older Nehru Stadium. Memorable moments like Sachin Tendulkar's Astra won at Sharjah 1998 and another with Tendulkar, Briant Lara and Ricky Ponting, the OG Thrilling Three of batting, are slung along walls inside the dens. Some are captioned, and others not given an explanation in Pune's figure-it-yourself style.

The Nehru Stadium used to be a concrete block of cramped spaces. Street noises would filter in and the pokey dressing rooms were wholly make-do. It's smartened up a tad, and holds junior summer camps and nets now. The exciting cricket, the underdog upsets and giant-slayings often stepped up, to make up for the drab facilities.

The Gahunje fans though will be hungry for what constitutes Youtube Team India melanges - run-fests, a six-smashathon and daddy centuries from India's Top Six. When the Indian team turned up full-strength for optional practice, the first thing they did was clear out the lower tier of stands at long on and long off, warning that sixes might rain down in training.

Fans will also zoom in on magical deliveries of Jasprit Bumrah and Kuldeep Yadav, micro-obsessing on the speed and angles and movement of the ball, and their new-age celebrations. Even Gahunje's stunning backdrop view might not detract from the one-dimensional India win focus of fans, though Bangladesh, labouring to stay on track in the tournament, are expected to put up a fight.

Pune, famous for its most renowned World Cup upset, might not have an appetite for one involving India, though coach Rahul Dravid might have unpleasant memories of Bangladesh from 2007. Rohit Sharma slamming his third straight World Cup century against Bangladesh after 2015 and 2019 or Virat Kohli adding his jumpy excitable cayenne capers to the field, are more or less the predictable picture lines Pune will come to watch.
