THE POWER OF IDEAS

Every once in a while, a new technology, an old problem, and a big idea turn into an innovation. At Cyient, we are making that a reality.

We do this by “applying technology imaginatively to solve problems that matter” and fostering an environment that encourages out-of-the-box thinking. As we expand from a services-led organization to offering intelligent solutions, we are improving our brand’s competitiveness, its value, and the impact on our stakeholders—clients, associates, industries, and the society.

KEY PERFORMANCE HIGHLIGHTS - FY19

Maintained strong growth and a positive outlook

The strong performance for FY19 was in line with the business outlook for the year with significant progress marked in the Aerospace & Defense, Rail Transportation, Semiconductor, and Communications business units. This year saw an increased momentum in strategy execution resulting in the acquisition of AnSem N.V., a leading fabless, custom analog and mixed-signal application-specific integrated circuits (ASICs) design company, and 100% stake in Cyient Insights, a data science company of which, Cyient had acquired 51% stake in 2014.

This year, we also acquired 100% stake in Cyient DLM enabling us to create a unique and comprehensive ecosystem of engineering capability, emerging technologies, and design-led manufacturing capabilities. These well-rounded capabilities not only enable us to meet global market expectations, but also fulfill our strategic goal of providing complete systems and solutions to clients across industries.

Our outlook for FY 20 remains strong backed by a strong pipeline and order backlog.

DIFFERENTIATING WITH DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION

Dear Shareholders,

Ones and zeros are defining today's world. Digital is now the byword for creating, storing, communicating, consuming, and analyzing information. From small businesses to large corporations, from government agencies to non-profits, there is intense focus to transform into "digital enterprises."

Digital, however, is not a new phenomenon. While the pre-digital era dominated the decades from 1950 until 1969 when the first high-level programming languages such as BASIC, COBOL, and FORTRAN were developed, the years between 1970 until around 2000 shaped the early digital enterprises. This era saw programming languages such as C, Ethernet technology, development of LAN, WAN, TCP/IP protocol suite, and eventually the World Wide Web. This era introduced email for enterprises to communicate, and websites to exhibit their content and market their products.

In the first decade of the new millennium, we witnessed organizations embracing the fusion of the Internet, cloud, communications technology, mobile, miniaturization, and sensorization of everything. This wave of digital saw the development of cloud and mobile computing, web-centric architectures, software-defined environments, social media, and API economy. These developments created interconnected, integrated, and interdependent industries and enterprises that seamlessly expanded beyond geographical borders and amplified the impact of the value chains.

For the past four to five years and coinciding with the advent of Industry 4.0, we are witnessing a growth in platform-based concepts and businesses as well as strong data-driven economies powered by IoT and AI-led services and products. Organizations are building end-to-end service offerings and developing abilities to define, design, build, operate, and maintain an entire value chain.

The increasing density of interconnection, integration, and interdependency across devices, technologies, people, and locations is helping organizations provide solutions and services in real-time. This is increasing the number of hybrid touchpoints between digital and analog worlds and enabling enterprises to differentiate in terms of business value.

BVR Mohan Reddy
Founder and Executive Chairman

Against this backdrop, for an enterprise to truly differentiate itself and succeed in the digital era, I believe it is prudent to follow these five commandments:

- Make evidence-based “where-to-play” choices and actively prioritize to scale with a robust strategy
- Embrace open-innovation and leverage the partner ecosystem to build end-to-end solutions
- Evolve talent models that suit the digital era—redefine people supply chain by following the “right-skill, re-skill, up-skill” mantra
- Create an agile organization taking the best of domain, technical, and service line capabilities to deliver business value to customers continuously
- Pursue strategic and best-fit mergers and acquisitions to access relevant and advanced technologies, skills, regulatory practices, and markets; successfully integrate the acquired entities

Cyient embarked on its digital journey 28 years ago with digitization of maps and creation of digital map content for in-car navigation. Cyient stood the test of the time with a relentless pursuit to solve problems that matter by applying technology imaginatively. It went on differentiating through innovation and excellence. Allow me to enumerate how Cyient is diligently following these five commandments to win the confidence of customers, associates, shareholders, and society.

Strategy

Technology transforms the relationship between businesses and customers. As digital began rewriting the rules of trade and competition, the pace of this change is accelerating, making organizations embrace dynamic and robust strategies.

Cyient continues to implement its strategy to expand from services to systems and solutions with the AGILE 2030 execution framework. By developing capabilities across the design-build-operate-maintain continuum in our focus industries, we are creating differentiated business offerings and expanding our addressable market in the industries we play. This allows us to address a broader range of customer needs, be it in aerospace, defense, transportation, energy, utilities, healthcare, telecommunications, or manufacturing.

Cyient’s values and cultures underpin its strategy: Values FIRST (Fairness, Integrity, Respect, Sincerity, and Transparency) and the AGILE culture (Ambitious, Growth mindset, Inclusive, Lead by Example, and Empowered) frameworks guide our behaviors and actions and reinforce trust with our stakeholders.

Cyient recently adopted the “Readiness 2020” initiative that focuses on operational efficiency improvements across the organization to drive greater growth and profitability.

Innovation

Innovation is the life-blood of a technology company. In the Industry 4.0 era, the days of simple process/product/business model innovations will not take companies far. Organizations have to reconfigure technology, talent, and ecosystems to address growing complexities in their markets and drive greater innovation in their offerings.

At Cyient, innovation is a cultural paradigm, and we continuously explore new avenues to meet evolving customer expectations. We launched the New Business Accelerator (NBA) in FY18 and made good progress through the course of FY19 by proactively identifying opportunities, engaging with and acquiring new technologies, new skills, new partners, and developing new solutions.

The NBA is incubating 18 new initiatives, and the first crop is at the market-entry stage, generating strong interest from our customers. The Cyient IoT Platform, Cyient Augmented/Virtual Reality Platform, and Cyient SmartCity Platform are a few examples. Our precision agriculture initiative (in cooperation with a major agriculture company) is showing promising results in increasing the net income of farmers, and we continue to test and develop our business model. These initial successes validate our approach to invest strategically in emerging technologies.

Taking our multi-pronged approach to innovation forward, Cyient made corporate venture investments in two medical start-ups in FY19. We also acquired the semiconductor firm, Ansem. Through this acquisition, Cyient is helping its clients develop smart analog sensors to capture data, while leveraging our IoT and analytics solutions to provide actionable insights.

Skills, Leadership Development, and Diversity & Inclusion

In the digital era, talent is a strategic priority for every organization, and it is imperative to strengthen, re-engineer, and improve organizational leadership.

In FY19, Cyient meticulously chalked out and implemented a set of forward-looking initiatives in every aspect of people development.

Cyient expanded its access to fresh and industry-ready talent through digital campaigns and partnerships with educational institutions in India and North America respectively. Leadership development is integral to Cyient functioning, and our flagship programs continue to create a strong leadership pipeline. Design thinking, succession planning, career competency progression, and individual leadership development programs have been pivotal to our people development strategy in FY19.

To build sustainable and scalable people practices that support our long-term vision, Cyient strengthened its benchmarking efforts, introduced new benefits to reinforce our diversity and inclusion (D&I) values, and continued its competitive targeting performance differentiation. To augment learning and development, Cyient launched a host of initiatives to develop future-ready associates. Our associates leveraged Cyient's partnerships with digital learning platforms such as edX, NPTEL, Nasscom Future Skills Platform, utilized 2,000+ courses, and clocked around 200,000 corporate training hours in FY19.

I am delighted to share with you that our D&I efforts were recognized by the United Nations Global Compact Network India (UN-GCNI) with the prestigious "Best Innovative Practices Award for Women at Workplace." The recently launched Diversity, Inclusivity, and Equity-driven Leadership (DIEL) program, in its first cohort, will nurture 50 women in middle and senior management roles through a one-year mentoring schedule. Our openness to diversity widened our access to the best talent in town, while inclusion allowed us to engage with that talent effectively. Diversity and inclusion enhanced our creativity, productivity, engagement, and reputation.

Corporate Social Responsibility

Our commitment and tradition to support society bring us tremendous satisfaction and great recognition to our brand. FY19 was yet another exceptional year of driving our social responsibility initiatives with ever more vigor in the areas of education, skills, community, literacy, and healthcare.

We were consistent in our educational initiatives, adopting 25 government schools around our facilities in India and supporting 16,000+ children from pre-primary through high school. I am happy to say that our efforts have resulted in the overall pass percentage in these schools increasing to 86% and overall dropouts declining to 4%. It is particularly gratifying that women participated more actively in IT literacy training across 67 Cyient Digital Centers, from 42% of participants in FY18 to 56% in FY19.

Our initiative to nurture rural and urban communities picked up good momentum. We made neighborhoods safe and secure with zero open-defecation, zero infant and toddler deaths, and zero dropouts up to eighth grade. Cyient's social innovation initiative also leveraged healthcare innovations to provide preventive cardiac care and advisories on diet and lifestyle at a Cyient-adopted village.

Another area where the Cyient Foundation found it critical to intervene as a direct response to poverty alleviation is skill development. The focus is on imparting skills to unemployed urban and rural youth and empowering them to become (self-) employable. We are glad that our local partnerships resulted in the setting up of Cyient Urban Micro Skill Center as per the guidelines of the National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC). The center is currently operational with a pilot batch of 300 beneficiaries.

As we firmly increased our societal commitment and engagement, four of our adopted schools received recognition at national and state levels. The much-coveted national and state-level CSR leadership/excellence awards gave us even more confidence that our social efforts are touching the lives of thousands of people. The overwhelming support of our associates, who pledged over 2.5 times more volunteering hours in FY19, is further testimony to that commitment.

Conclusion

As the new government at the Center brings fresh hope and promise to the nation, which is on the threshold of reaping accelerated demographic dividends to create a knowledge economy, I want to assure you that Cyient remains deeply committed to delivering on our promises to shareholders, customers, associates, and society through our robust journey of growth.

Warm regards,

BVR Mohan Reddy
Founder and Executive Chairman

The Cyient Foundation: Toward Sustainable Value Creation

There is a growing consensus among leaders today that business exists not just to be profitable, but to make the world a better place to live. Purpose-driven organizations are known to do better on nearly every traditional metric: greater customer loyalty, higher retention, more innovation, and a healthier bottom line.

From developing initiatives that support education, digital enablement, women and girl child empowerment, and healthcare, to social innovation and community development, the Cyient Foundation had been at the core of creating sustainable value for all since 2002.

Social Innovation and Community Development: Going Back to Our Grassroots

Cyient-adopted Mokshagundam is on track to becoming a smart village. From improved healthcare facilities and infrastructure to access to drinking water and education, this village's story is only a beginning.

In the Prakasam district of Andhra Pradesh, about 150 km from the closest cities of Kurnool and Vijayawada, a small, nondescript village of Mokshagundam is on a path of constant improvement. Until recently, the people of Mokshagundam only had access to the most basic healthcare services at their primary healthcare center (PHC). Advanced diagnostics, such as an ECG test, was a distant dream for the more than 3,000 residents of the village as well as the 20,000 people in surrounding areas.

Social innovation in healthcare:

As a founding partner of MedTechConnect—an ecosystem platform that brings together members of the medical technology and healthcare communities to address three barriers to healthcare: access, affordability, and availability—the Cyient Foundation collaborated with Cardiac Design Labs to deliver a device that can detect more than 50 cardiac conditions for the people of the village and even trained the primary healthcare staff to use the device.

“Since 2015, when the Cyient Foundation adopted our village, along with other facilities, the PHC has significantly minimized the need for people to travel long distances for their healthcare needs,” says T Peddi Reddy, the former village head.

Earlier the villagers had to do an ECG check with the machine brought from outside once a month. “We used to collect phone numbers of patients who wanted to take the test and inform them a day before the screening,” says Sreedevi, the PHC nurse.

Things are different now for Mokshagundam and its residents. The Cyient Foundation supports the PHC and Homeo Hospital in the village, providing necessary infrastructure and medicines to the out-patients.

For India to achieve inclusive growth, our villages must grow in tandem with cities. Going back to our grassroots and building sustainable communities in the nation’s hinterlands is only the beginning.

Water availability and conservation go hand-in-hand:

The people of the village have also benefitted from the construction of water treatment plants and the installation of dispensing machines to supply potable drinking water through prepaid cards. Also, bore wells were dug to develop water harvesting pits. The Cyient Foundation has taken necessary steps to educate villagers on groundwater recharge processes and worked with the administration to supply piped water to homes across the village.

Infrastructure development projects in place:

As part of our focus on infrastructure improvements at the village, the Foundation helped the administration successfully complete the CC road work. Also, as part of the Swacch Bharath Abhiyan, the Foundation worked with the government to build toilets for every household in Mokshagundam.

Access to quality education is an enabler:

The Cyient-adopted school in Mokshagundam is equipped with efficient and optimized infrastructure for classrooms, improved sanitation facilities, and air-conditioned digital classrooms to facilitate technology-based learning.

THE POWER OF IDEAS

Cyient Impact: Coming Full-Circle

E Ravali gets up early each day to help her mother with daily chores before heading out to the school where she works as a volunteer. It has been the same routine ever since she can remember. "Earlier I helped before going to school to learn, and now I help before going to school to teach," she says with a smile.

Ravali's father worked as a watchman and her mother was a cleaner at a Cyient-adopted school in Hyderabad. With no economic support, completing her education was a distant dream. Ravali started studying in the same school where her parents worked. After completing Grade 10, she was selected in the Civil Engineering Diploma program at the Polytechnic for Women in Vikarabad. However, financial constraints did not allow her to take up the program.

It was then that Ravali and her parents approached the Cyient Foundation for financial aid. "With the help of the Foundation, I could complete my engineering studies and earn this diploma," she says.

"When I was still a student, Cyient's Chairman, Mr. BVR Mohan Reddy visited our campus on Independence Day and spoke about giving back to society. Something clicked and I knew then that I would be part of that "giving back" process," she adds.

Today, Ravali is a diploma holder in civil engineering and also works as a vidya volunteer at another Cyient-adopted school. "I hope Cyient's warm-hearted association with me stays forever."

The Cyient Foundation hopes for that too.

THE POWER OF IDEAS

Chain of Change: It Begins with Us

Balancing the responsibilities of a full-time job with voluntary work is not easy. However, when you are employed with an organization that ardently gives back to society, it becomes just that much easier.

An active member of our more than 4,000 participants' strong CSR volunteer team, Siva Jyothi Sankham has regularly contributed to the community support programs initiated by the Cyient Foundation. From imparting computer education and leading summer camps at Cyient-supported schools to conducting career counseling sessions, and inspiring financially weak parents to educate their children, Siva Jyothi has done it all.

She has worked relentlessly to create health and hygiene awareness in Cyient adopted schools with special lectures for girls on menstrual hygiene and awareness and helped students learn ergonomic exercises. Conducting evening classes and raising road safety awareness are some of her regular contributions. Such is her commitment that Siva Jyothi has also involved her family members in becoming involved in the causes she believes in.

"Every month, the first and third Saturdays are booked for school visits with my family who help conduct extracurricular activities for middle school students. It's so humbling to be greeted by these children who welcome me with 'Namaskaram teacher" or "Good morning akka' and enthusiastically ask about the programs I will be conducting next."

Her nine-year-old daughter is an active participant in all of Siva Jyothi's sessions and is already turning into an art and craft mentor for the students at the Cyient-supported school. Cyient Foundation is privileged to have associates who go all out to make a difference in the world we live in.

CEO'S MESSAGE

Dear Shareholders,

Over the last couple of years, technology has transformed the way we do business. A number of industries now leverage technology in unique ways to deliver differentiated products and services.

In the next five years, emerging technologies, such as the Internet of things (IoT), data analytics, robotics, augmented and virtual reality (AR/VR), artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML), will disrupt many industries and change the way we work with our clients. The emergence and adoption of these technologies gives us a unique opportunity to significantly increase our value proposition and create a differentiated positioning in the market.

Our vision to "apply technology imaginatively to solve problems that matter" focuses on helping our clients solve key business and technological challenges that have a larger societal impact. To achieve this vision, we implemented the S3 strategy, which focuses on building our capabilities and providing greater ownership and accountability across the product life cycle, as well as expanding our offerings across the value continuum from Services to Solutions.

In this context, FY 19 was a strong year. We made significant progress on key strategic initiatives and delivered a solid performance. Our revenue grew by 10.1% YoY in constant currency. The growth was led by a strong performance in the Semiconductor, Communications, Transportation and Aerospace & Defense business verticals. We also recorded our highest ever PAT at ₹ 4,898 Mn, an increase of 14% YoY. Conversion of free cash to EBITDA stood at 48.4% resulting in the highest ever operating free cash flow of ₹ 3,770 Mn. This year we also declared our highest ever dividend of ₹15/ share. Our earnings per share for the year stood at ₹ 43.4. Our key clients witnessed a growth of 8% YoY. We also witnessed additions across top client categories of 1+ Mn, 5+ Mn, and 10+ Mn clients.

This year saw an increased momentum in strategy execution resulting in a number of key acquisitions. We acquired AnSem N.V, a leading fabless, custom analog and mixed-signal application-specific integrated circuits (ASICs) design company. We also acquired 100% stake in Cyient Insights, a data science company (formerly named Invati Insights), of which Cyient had acquired a 51% stake in 2014.

THE POWER OF IDEAS

Streamline non-conformance resolution with digital tech

By offering efficiency improvements of up to 40%, our solution helped a leading aero OEM achieve annual savings of $2.5 million

Ensuring High-Quality Manufacturing Processes in A&D

In the A&D industry, while each component of an aircraft engine is designed according to certain parameters and standards, it is often only in the build (manufacturing or assembling) phase that discrepancies in terms of its dimensions and/or materials used are discovered. The non-conformance of a physical product with its required quality triggers an engineering Quality Notification (QN) to take remedial action.

Given its focus on safety and compliance, the high number of QNs in the aircraft engine manufacturing process makes it difficult to apply corrective measures for the concerned components efficiently and is often a manual, time-consuming process.

To overcome this issue, Cyient designed a digital tool that enables clients to electronically document, manage, and track non-conformance with materials, work-in-process or finished components. The Quality Notification Solution enables effective quality management and cross-functional communication between inventory control managers, manufacturing engineering managers, production control teams, and quality inspectors.

INNOVATE

The Quality Notification Solution ensures an automated and transparent product life cycle. It also helps OEMs to error-proof the process flow with integrated engineering limits. The solution is also highly secure and can be deployed on the cloud or on-premise and can be configured to provide role-based access to users.

DISRUPT

By using a machine learning model, we designed a solution that automates the data review process of the QN and delivers recommendations on possible solutions (dispositions). The solution also monitors repetitive QNs to identify process inefficiencies. The reports and dashboards provide real-time visibility and insights across systems, sub-systems, vendors, and process stages.

LEAD

Significant time reduction in QN processing with over 80% accuracy rate in the manufacturing and inspection process leads to faster time-to-market and lower OPEX. A result of years of experience in addressing manufacturing defects, our solution can be applied to any industry that deals with manufacturing defects, improving their efficiency and processes.

THE POWER OF IDEAS

Tune into the future with augmented and virtual reality

Enabling Reality-Led, Immersive Workforce Experiences

Augmented reality (AR) and virtual reality (VR) applications are no longer futuristic experiences of science fiction. Today, industries are using this technology to solve real-world operating challenges or to enhance their product offerings in innovative ways. New products are becoming increasingly complex to assemble, service, inspect, and even promote in the market.

Additionally, production and maintenance leaders are under constant pressure to increase productivity and reduce operating costs. Virtual reality training and augmented reality workforce applications can help simplify operations, close the barriers of distance and scale workforce expertise more quickly. With our extensive domain experience, Cyient's AR/VR applications help bring product, process, and operations information to life. AR/VR headsets, tablets, and mobile phones become powerful, effective, and collaborative workforce tools to minimize production and maintenance errors, improve quality and safety, and save cost.

INNOVATE

Develop and deploy AR/VR content for the workforce with Cyient's AR/VR Application Development Platform. Our solution accelerates conversion of technical publications, CAD models, and composite processes into immersive training apps and tools. Businesses can train and scale their workforce rapidly on complex assembly processes, reducing defects and manufacturing cycle times.

DISRUPT

Drive sales of new equipment or systems with a dynamic 3D experience. AR/VR sales and marketing apps can transform a static experience into a 3D model or a simulated environment. For complex products or infrastructure such as medical equipment, telecom towers, and aircraft engines, AR/VR apps can help see, hear, touch, and experience the value of new products.

LEAD

With Cyient's AR/VR platform, businesses can reach farther to support customers and provide real-time product updates and information, or promptly connect with product experts and support teams on-site. AR apps help our clients in the field safely install, operate, test, or inspect complex or hazardous equipment.

THE POWER OF IDEAS

Future-ready
telecom networks

Enhancing Experience with Improved Network Quality

Telecom networks are not static and their quality is impacted by multiple factors. Communications Service Provider (CSPs) undertake several steps to improve and ensure premium network quality—from effective network roll-out planning, continuous maintenance of the network KPIs, to short- and long-term transformational changes in the network.

This constant focus on quality makes it critical for CSPs to look toward partners who can help manage this network transformation. It is critical to jointly define network performance elements and objectively quantify the network quality. Cyient’s IP in network planning brings the right tools and techniques to capture an exhaustive set of KPIs for measurement of these metrics that need to be accentuated. With our Network Performance Analyzer solution, CSPs can now drive the entire process to ensure effective network planning, especially in the era of 5G, resulting in consequent commercial benefits in the form of reduced customer churn.

INNOVATE

Based entirely on open source technologies, Cyient’s Network Performance Analyzer solution records and decrypts real-time messages from disparate radio bands during testing. The solution provides a user-friendly interface with automated post-processing and reporting modules. This significantly reduces the turnaround time needed to get insights on the network KPIs.

DISRUPT

As opposed to employing traditional approaches, Cyient’s IP in wireless planning enables measurement of network KPI on the latest Mobility Radio technologies (mainly LTE/ VoLTE/MIMO/CA) based on 3GPP R-12 specifications. The solution can be simply deployed on an Android handheld device and provides a cost-effective mechanism for network assessment.

LEAD

The solution provides a quick, easy, and cost-effective mechanism for CSPs to evaluate network KPIs—measure key network parameters and predict, plan, and benchmark network quality. This significantly improves Net Promoter Score and enhances customer experience management.

THE POWER OF IDEAS

Minimize asset downtime and operational and safety risks

Building Operational Intelligence with Connected Equipment

Within a competitive marketplace, original equipment manufacturers (OEMs), and equipment owners and operators must find creative ways to drive business growth and efficiency with minimal risk. Cyient's Connected Equipment offering helps organizations respond to market demands such as optimized equipment uptime, increased operational safety and efficiency, and reduced operating expenses. Combining advanced analytics, IoT connectivity, and asset health monitoring, our offering enables safer, smarter, and more reliable equipment. With a connected equipment strategy, clients can enhance their customer experiences, offer new digital products and services, and even build additional revenue models, improve operational excellence, create a digital workforce, and ensure stronger management, safety, compliance, and security capabilities.

INNOVATE

Our Connected Equipment offering has helped our clients enable a digital workforce using predictive maintenance, detect wear-based loss of equipment that had been visually obscured, prevent accidents with non-invasive machine vision, and reduce data transmission costs by creating a flexible master architecture in multi-asset configurations.

DISRUPT

Our clients can now transform maintenance operations from a reactive to proactive approach, prevent downstream equipment damage with improved risk management, increase safety with an automated system for monitoring equipment failure, and verify approved consumable media (filters, oil, etc.) used on equipment to modify warranty support.

LEAD

This offering will enable clients to claim a leadership role in the marketplace by maximizing equipment uptime, allowing end customers to track and evaluate equipment performance, achieving safety excellence, and building a dedicated OEM operations center for asset management.

In the digital age, Industrial Internet of Things or IloT, connects companies to their physical assets, creating a network of endpoints to collect and utilize data to drive smarter business decisions.

Implementing IloT in industrial environments comes with unique challenges including highly complex machinery and operations, product diversity, and varying optimal connectivity and communications protocol. Companies understand the benefits IloT can bring to their ecosystem but want a simple approach to implementation that minimizes disruption, provides security, is flexible to work with their existing systems, and provides a solid return on investment.

Cyient combines industry-specific domain experience with digital and analytics expertise to solve unique client challenges. Our offering starts with assessing requirements and sees clients through to design, development, and deployment. Whether just starting on a digital journey or looking to get more insights from big data, Cyient is a digital solutions partner focused on your outcome.

INNOVATE

Our data scientists process data from IloT-enabled endpoints and apply analytics, machine learning, and AI algorithms to help drive proactive diagnostic and preventive actions for clients. Cyient's Preventative Maintenance solutions allow companies to minimize equipment failures and downtime, to optimize resources, improve workplace safety, and reduce costs.

DISRUPT

Tracking capital intensive assets in the field, factory operations, inventory, or repair facilities can be expensive. Cyient's Asset Tracking and Management Solutions leverage IloT to collect data on assets and aggregate it centrally, utilizing analytics and application dashboards that enable improved operating efficiency, loss prevention, and reduced expenditures.

LEAD

Monitoring an asset's historical data patterns, health, and performance profiles can help alert companies to changes in their performance. This insight helps prioritize service calls, reduce equipment failure and downtime, and facilitate expense forecasting. Cyient's Remote Asset Monitoring solutions help clients realize cost savings, reduce risk, and make smarter decisions.

THE POWER OF IDEAS

Healthcare technologies reach untapped markets

Designing a Protein Analyzer for Emerging Markets

Cyient helped an India-based in vitro diagnostics company design, develop and manufacture a tabletop protein analyzer that can test for up to 40 parameters, including HbA1c and CRP, and also enables simultaneous measurement of eight samples. This legacy product was designed for developed markets, with major component obsolescence.

We supported the technology transfer of the product, incorporating new features, obsolescence management, and cost reduction while also ensuring the product was launched within a 15-month time frame in the Indian market. Our team leveraged expertise in platform engineering techniques to enable process automation and reduction in sample-time analysis. By developing a localized supply chain, the product cost was reduced to fit the constraints of a price-sensitive local market.

INNOVATE

The new protein analyzer enabled our client to conduct eight measurements in just 35 seconds, nearly doubling their throughput with a time precision of one microsecond and a volume precision of one microlitre, while also reducing analysis time. Cyient obtained these results without compromising the reliability or accuracy of the analyzer.

DISRUPT

Since the analyzer had been manufactured overseas, it was not cost-competitive. Cyient redesigned more than fifty mechanical parts to help our client achieve desired cost targets. By establishing the supply chain in India and China, the product parts were sourced more efficiently, leading to a significant reduction in costs.

LEAD

By helping our client incorporate additional features into its protein analyzer, remediate obsolete parts, and reduce the product cost by 15%, Cyient ultimately supported the launch of a product that would be suitable for the demands of a local market.

A one-stop cab event response output device for increased rail safety

“ We at Deutsche Bahn believe that safety is key for the rail segment. Our industry is proud that we represent the safest transport mode statistically. It is imperative for the continued success of the rail industry to ensure this will be also the case in future by putting our joint focused efforts on this important aspect. I am happy to see that Cyient as engineering solutions provider in the rail industry is taking another step toward embracing technology for increased safety in rail. ”

– Uwe Guenther, CPO, Deutsche Bahn

Enabling Safer Train Journeys for Passengers

Passenger and asset safety is highly critical in the railway industry, with the train driver playing a major role in ensuring the same. Cyient has introduced a device that supports ensuring that no alarm raised for the train driver goes unnoticed. Cycero™, Cyient's Cab Event Response Output, is a more reliable yet highly scalable supplementary alarm notification solution for the train driver. Cycero alerts the driver by playing preconfigured tones associated with specific events prompting immediate corrective action. The modular and scalable architecture accommodates options to plug smart and intelligent features to suit specific customer requirements—whether for new builds, refurbishment of existing builds, or for substitution of incumbent generic devices.

INNOVATE

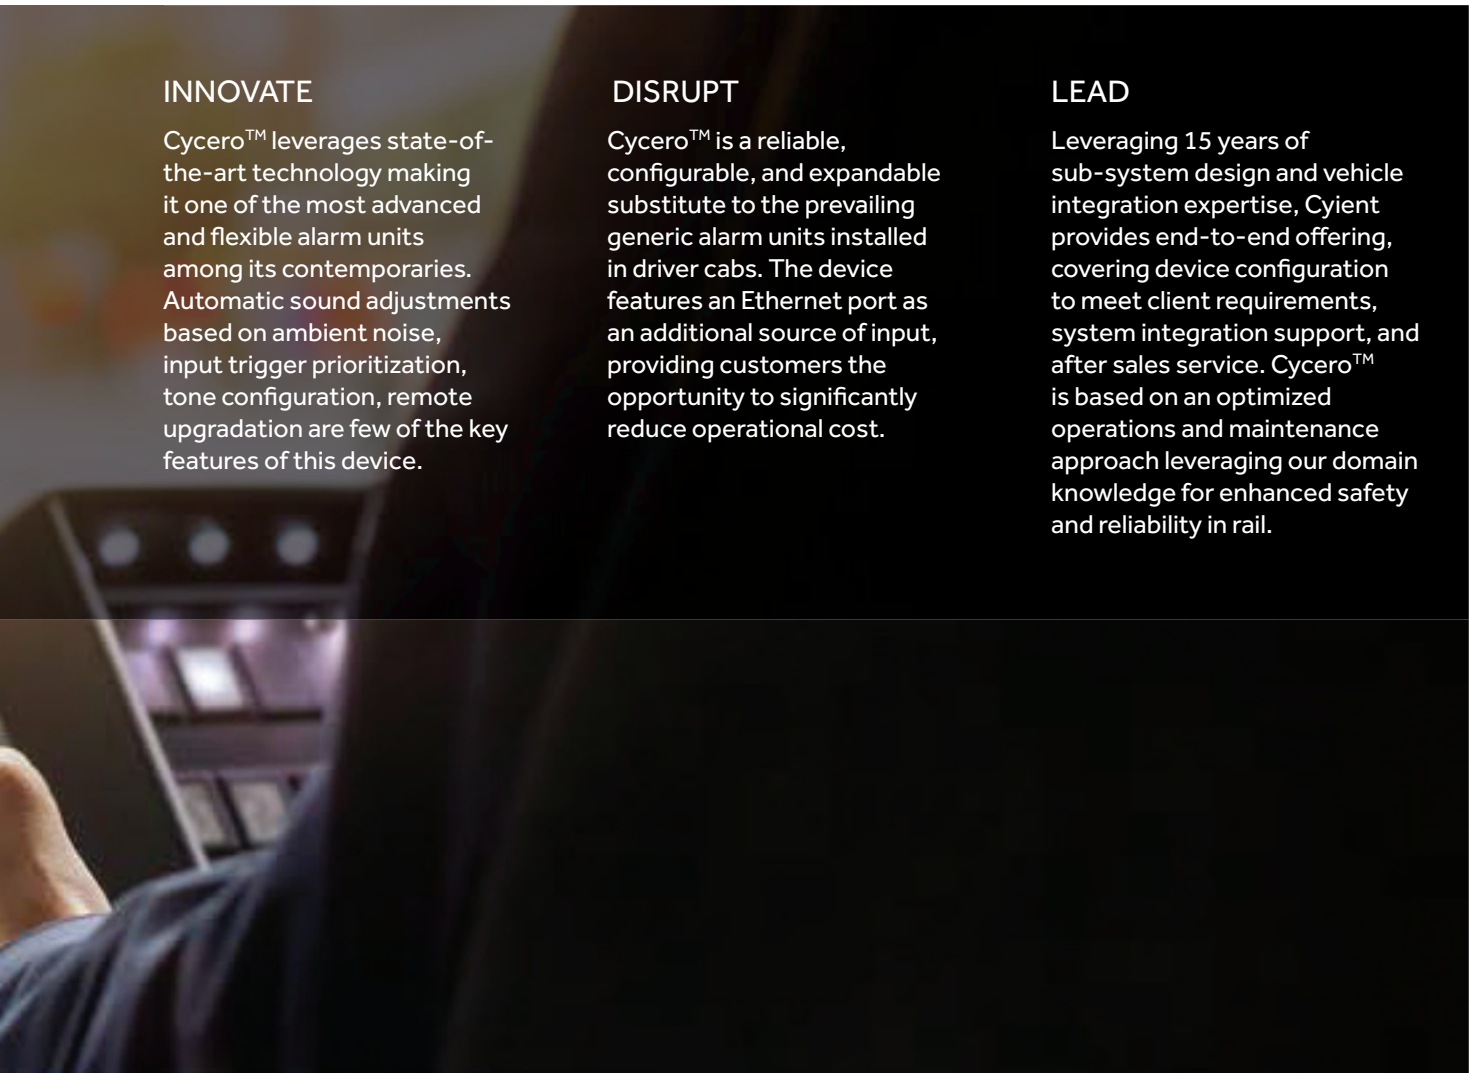

Cycero™ leverages state-of-the-art technology making it one of the most advanced and flexible alarm units among its contemporaries. Automatic sound adjustments based on ambient noise, input trigger prioritization, tone configuration, remote upgradation are few of the key features of this device.

DISRUPT

Cycero™ is a reliable, configurable, and expandable substitute to the prevailing generic alarm units installed in driver cabs. The device features an Ethernet port as an additional source of input, providing customers the opportunity to significantly reduce operational cost.

LEAD

Leveraging 15 years of sub-system design and vehicle integration expertise, Cyient provides end-to-end offering, covering device configuration to meet client requirements, system integration support, and after sales service. Cycero™ is based on an optimized operations and maintenance approach leveraging our domain knowledge for enhanced safety and reliability in rail.

THE POWER OF IDEAS

Chip that converts any wire into a communication cable

Enabling Video On Demand—Anywhere in the Home

Today, internet service providers (ISPs) offer total communication and entertainment solutions, enabling mobile connectivity and interactive television across the user's home. To meet the needs of an increased number of concurrent users, and improve image and connection quality, many homes require a reliable high-speed digital connection in every room. Unfortunately, wireless communication often is not sufficient, and adding wired connections strain the budget and damage walls.

But, what if customers were able to reuse existing wiring? At AnSem, a Cyient company, we solved this problem by developing an on-chip integrated analog front end (AFE) that was designed to adapt to existing and future multi-standard protocols. Using orthogonal frequency-division multiplexing (OFDM) modulated signals, this solution supports a range of in-house wires and overcomes traditional limitations. With our solution, end customers can now use existing wiring like phone cables, coaxial cable, and power cables at their homes to drive interactive TV signals at a much higher speed.

INNOVATE

The biggest challenge in enabling communication over any wire is converting signals at a very high speed without losing data over a wide range of temperatures, from -45°C to $+125^{\circ}\text{C}$. Our engineers were able to resolve this by developing a solution that is ready to meet current and future requirements and deliver flawless viewer experiences.

DISRUPT

The solution included building a full MATLAB™ system model during the architectural design phase without sacrificing performance. We designed a disruptive high-speed (400Mbps), highly accurate signal conversion solution capable of calibrating automatically on the chip itself. This disruptive technology helped us build a chip that enables communication over any wire.

LEAD

We designed the chip to efficiently handle signals under harsh conditions that power cables are exposed to, ensuring higher data rates and long-distance coverage. It also enabled multiple inputs and outputs over the same wire, which allowed concurrent users to open multiple applications over the existing wire networks in their homes.

THE POWER OF IDEAS

X-Band TRM for increased performance and reduced costs

Maximizing Productivity of Radar Surveillance Systems

Commercial Aerospace & Defense applications of radar technology are expanding, and OEMs for radar systems are looking to innovate both in technology and cost. Transmit/Receive Modules (TRMs) are key building blocks for Active Electronically Scanned Array (AESA) radar systems, adjusting the phase and amplitude of Radio Frequency (RF) signal transmission and reception and interfacing with radar electronics to steer beams and control power.

Cyient is driving a unique approach to manufacturing by helping OEMs significantly bring down radar surveillance system costs while remaining competitive in performance. Cyient's Transmit and Receive Module increases power efficiency with GaN MMIC power amplifiers; is 20% lower in module weight; and uses commercial, non-ITAR components that speed qualification and provide an ITAR-free module option for intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance (ISR) radar systems. Unlike conventional TRM modules, Cyient's X-Band TRM can provide a valuable boost to performance while reducing manufacturing costs.

INNOVATE

While conventional TRM manufacturing requires costly chip and assembly processes, specialized machines, and highly-skilled workforce, the Cyient TRM—a single-channel module—uses high-quality, hybrid PCB technology and commercial off-the-shelf surface mount components along with a modular architecture to optimize processes and costs.

DISRUPT

While the market for ITAR-free radar systems is large, OEMs have limited options for modules with ITAR-free components. Systems that do not require ITAR compliance are often expensive, have limited component availability, and increased complexity. Cyient is leading the way with high-performance modules that simplify processes while saving costs.

LEAD

Cyient has long-standing partnerships with leaders in the A&D industry across the design, build, maintain phases. Our domain expertise, market knowledge, and engineering experience come together with our X-Band TRM solution, providing advanced technology, high quality and reliability, reduced size and lower weight at an improved cost over conventional offerings.

THE POWER OF IDEAS

Data monitoring solution
for Utilities

Leveraging Satellites for Field Asset Safety

The increased availability and frequency of satellite data over the last few years has irrevocably changed the landscape for Earth observation. The ability to closely monitor and analyze assets and remote sensing of the environment is not for the exclusive use of government and defense organizations any longer. Moreover, advanced satellite systems today provide unrivaled scale, cadence, and economy.

The geospatial industry, driven by the exponential growth of artificial intelligence (AI), is uniquely positioned to leverage this increased data availability. In particular, the ability to analyze data and gain insights in near-real time adds significant value for time-critical processes.

Satellite imagery provides both multi-band optical and radar (SAR) data. SAR enables analysis beyond what is visible to the human eye by highlighting hidden details; and can penetrate cloud cover, day or night, providing consistent levels of change detection.

INNOVATE

We have developed solutions that analyze optical and SAR data sets to detect subtle geospatial changes using AI and machine learning. These solutions are being leveraged across areas including utility infrastructure, water resource management, and crop health monitoring—where change detection is critical for service continuity and safety.

DISRUPT

Satellite data monitoring is a burgeoning area with more and more clients considering remote sensing alternatives to traditional methods of aerial and ground inspections for change detection. These conventional methods are costly, resource-intensive, and offer only a periodic snapshot when compared to the real-time monitoring that remote sensing and satellites provide.

LEAD

Clients who leveraged our remote sensing change detection solutions have been able to reduce operational costs, adapt quickly, and respond proactively to risks to field assets. They also benefit from time-lapsed business intelligence to address changes to assets, which would not be apparent on visual inspection alone.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The Cyient Board of Directors is committed to serving the goals of the company and help it achieve sustainable growth in market value. The Board ensures that the company makes a positive difference to the industries it serves and upholds the long-term interests of our stakeholders. Cyient has been growing in scale and diversity under their guidance.

- Improved Chairman - Managing Director - Board relations

By focusing on the board as a team and on its overall performance, the company ensures that communication and overall level of participation and engagement also improves.

In order to facilitate the same, the board undertook a formal board assessment and evaluation process during 2018-19. The board evaluation was performed after seeking inputs from all the directors and included criteria such as the board composition and structure, effectiveness of board processes, information and functioning as provided by the Guidance Note on Board Evaluation issued by the Securities and Exchange Board of India on 5 January 2017 and the amendments brought in SEBI (LODR) Regulations in 2018. The Leadership, Nomination & Remuneration Committee has overall stewardship for the process. The evaluation process covers the following aspects:

- Peer and self-evaluation of performance of directors

- Evaluation of the performance and effectiveness of the board
- Evaluation of the performance and effectiveness of Board Committees
- Evaluation of the performance of the Executive Chairman and the Managing Director & CEO
- Feedback on management support to the Board

The evaluation process elicits responses from the directors in a judicious manner - ranging from composition and induction of the board to effectiveness and governance. It also sought feedback on board and committee charters, strategy, risk management and quality of discussion and deliberations at the board. The evaluation process also ensures the fulfilment of independence criteria as specified in the applicable regulations and that the latter are independent of the management. The independent directors concerned do not participate in the evaluation process.

CONSERVATION OF ENERGY, TECHNOLOGY ABSORPTION, AND FOREIGN EXCHANGE EARNINGS & OUTGO

Annexure-E

1. Conservation of Energy

It is our continuous endeavor to implement the best practices in areas of energy conservation and in this regard, company is in the process of availing solar power for the Manikonda and Cyient DLM, Mysore facilities. Also, as part of energy conservation, we have initiated the process of implementing energy savings practices at organization level and this has resulted in considerable savings to the organization. This includes, replacing the existing conventional lighting with LED lighting, creating awareness to associates by sending mailers, continuous monitoring after office hours and during weekends and send mailers on observations and also installed Motion sensors in all the common areas and restrooms and Aerators are fixed to all the taps in the restrooms to reduce the water consumption. This would result in considerable savings. After analysis of the savings the company would like to replicate the same at other locations. Also, as part of the initiative taken by the company, the E-Waste [old systems, hard disks, printers] related assets are sold to a firm approved by Pollution Control Boards and the systems will go to the auto sleep mode when not in use and this reduces the power consumption

As part of the conservation of our natural resources, the paper waste from our locations is given to ITC for recycling of paper for making of recycled products and the recycled water used in restrooms, Aerators are fixed to all the taps in the restrooms to reduce the water consumption To save energy, energy audit at our locations was conducted.

In order to conserve natural resources, another STP plant was installed at our Kakinada - SEZ location there by resulting in usage of the STP water for plantation purpose. More information is available at the business responsibility report.

Overall we have saved around 10 lakh units in the financial year 2018-19 compared to the previous financial year.

2. Research & Development and Benefits thereon

Our New Business Accelerator (NBA) which started in 2017, is continuing to drive business innovation in Cyient. The number of initiatives under development has increased to 19 in total with more to come. The first initiatives are now in the market entry stage and we see strong interest from our customers in this new offerings. These include for example the Cyient IoT Platform, the Cyient Augmented/Virtual Reality Platform or our SmartCity Platform. Our Precision Agriculture initiative (in cooperation with a major Agriculture company) shows very promising results already in significantly increasing the net income of farmers and we continue to test and develop our business model. We continue to build partnerships to accelerate our initiatives, the co-innovations with IIIT Hyderabad and with LV Prasad Eye Institute being two of the prime examples.

The first successes confirm our approach to strategically invest into promising technologies.

3. Technology Absorption, Adaptation and Innovation

Information technology continues to remain a key lever in driving productivity across the company. FY2019 saw successful launch of several transformative initiatives.

We have implemented SAP's next generation business suite SAP S/4HANA in-place of existing legacy SAP ECC ERP system across Cyient. SAP S/4HANA is an entirely new generation Business Suite that is characterized by simplifications, massively increased efficiency, improved data model, faster analytics & reporting, and compelling features such as planning and simulation options in many conventional transactions. This implementation defined as a single instance model, whereby both project and production support activities will take place in one system. Cyient is targeting to use HANA with operational and analytical capability, with scalability options to accommodate further expansion, and to remove the requirement to maintain multiple systems in the future. 34 entities are covered as part of implementation scope across the globe which covers APAC, EMEA, NAM regions.

Another important addition to our Information Technology portfolio is the Cyber Security Operations Centre (SOC). Cyber threats continue to evolve and are becoming more sophisticated, evasive, and persistent. With attackers finding resourceful ways to penetrate organizations by avoiding detection and breaching security controls, the key to cyber defense is to develop a SOC that will continuously evolve to effectively counter such advanced attacks. SOC where our security analysts and partner security analysts work together to monitor, detect, assess, and mitigate any potential cyber threat to the organization. SOC will help us to detect potential cyber threats, create workarounds to neutralize them, and take suitable proactive measures to strengthen existing security systems.

We have deployed in-house developed Asset Management System (AMS) tool for all pan India sites. AMS is a fully integrated, real-time Asset Management System which allows us to streamline life cycle management operations of IT assets and workspace management across departments and locations while providing comprehensive, improved support and enhanced decision-making experience.

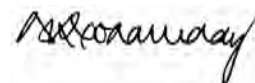

In addition to the above three initiatives we have implemented Disaster Recovery (DR) for corporate critical IT applications. DR allows to maintain and quickly resume mission-critical functions within a pre-defined recovery time during any disaster or natural calamities such as storms, earthquakes, floods, hurricanes, tsunamis etc and other incidents like cyber-attacks, equipment failures and even terrorism. The DR site is hosted at a third party Teir-3 ISO27001 certified data center which resides in a different seismic zone about 500 KM away from the primary data center. DR ensures business continuity, prevention of data loss and safeguards our IT setup from unexpected failures.

4. Foreign Exchange Earnings and Outgo

Most of your company's earnings are from the export of Engineering and Software Services. During the year, export earnings accounted for 82% of the total income. In order to promote product sales and services, your company participated in various exhibitions and carried product promotion activities. THE CYIENT BLACKTOWN, SYDNEY, OFFICE OPENED A NEW EXPERIENCE CENTER TO SHOWCASE KEY SOLUTIONS AND INITIATIVES THAT ADDRESS THE NEEDS OF THE DYNAMIC COMMUNICATIONS INDUSTRY.

Global Economic Outlook

The global economy is expected to slow down in 2019, particularly in developing economies where growth is projected to stall at 4.2%. Growth in the United States will continue to be supported by fiscal stimulus in the near term, which will likely lead to larger and more persistent fiscal deficits¹. International trade and investment are moderating and trade tension and financial market pressures are expected to escalate the slowdown in global activity.

In all, global growth is projected to grow at 2.9 percent in 2019 and 2.8 percent in 2020-21, as economic slack dissipates, monetary policy accommodation in advanced economies is removed and global trade gradually slows².

Aerospace & Defense

The global Aerospace & Defense (A&D) industry is expected to witness growth over the year. With strong commercial aircraft order backlog and a strengthening defense expenditure, there is continued optimism across global markets. After periods of spending austerity early in the decade, the next couple of years will see a fresh recapitalization cycle on a global level, and growth in the Asia Pacific region in particular.

The Aerospace and Defense Business Unit (BU) witnessed growth driven growth in key accounts and new solution development. Over the year the BU made significant investments in digital solutions and manufacturing capabilities which is expected to contribute to the growth in the coming years. Cyient became the first India-based company to receive Part Manufacturing Approval (PMA) from the FAA for various aircraft—a key development in this fiscal. Additionally, we rolled out a new digital quality notification solution that was designed and built by Cyient and was successfully delivered to multiple clients across geographies. This year we won a contract from a major European OEM to build and lead an engineering Centre of Excellence (CoE) in India focused on avionics solutions. We also formed a partnership with a technical publication solutions provider that will allow us to build on our $1000D expertise for rapid technical publication development and digital content management.

We also won many awards and accolades and were recognized by major industry analysts. The key among them being Pratt & Whitney supplier awards for “Supplier Highest Productivity” Award, “Supplier Innovation Award” and “Consistent Supplier productivity” Award. We were also identified as a “Major Contender” in the Everest Group Verification & Validation Engineering Services PEAK Matrix™ 2018 and were named as one of the Top 20 Most Promising Aerospace Tech Solutions Providers by CIO Review.

Transportation

The Transportation industry has outperformed predicted growth forecasts, supported by strong growth in rolling stock and signaling. With these segments being our core focus areas, the general long-term outlook for Transportation BU remains positive. Our value proposition continues to resonate well with the key industry trends of multimodality, competition from other modes, standardization, digitization, and internationalization.

We unveiled our new product, Cycero™, for rail cab audio alarm notification, at the industry’s flagship event, InnoTrans 2018, in Berlin. Aligned with our S3 strategy and approach to expanding the project and product value chain of our key clients, Cycero™, is a testimonial of our commitment towards safety in Rail. Along with a number of solutions leveraging technology to address emerging industry trends such as augmented reality and smart asset maintenance. These new offerings have been well received by our key clients and the industry, and have been endorsed by leading industry experts as well.

The Zinnov Zones for Product Engineering Services report positioned Cyient in the “Leadership Zone” in the transportation industry for the year. This is the seventh consecutive year that we have been placed in the leadership zone.

Our outlook for FY20 and beyond continues to be positive. This is driven by industry growth in our focus segments of rolling stock and signaling, our strong long-term client relationships, a robust opportunity pipeline, and the increasing momentum in strategy execution.

Energy & Utilities

The oil & gas industry continues to recover from the last few years of weak prices, enforced capital discipline, portfolio realignments, and productivity efficiencies. The outlook for the mining sector is positive with rising commodity prices. The sector is experiencing strong outlook of future orders and reduced operational costs. On the mining front, there is expected to be an upturn in the next one to two years and new deposits have been identified in key minerals that supply the electronics industries; i.e., lithium.

The utilities industry is witnessing significant growth due to an investment in distributed and renewable power generation projects and increasing regulatory driven requirements. Large investments in grid modernization, renewable, mobility and smart metering continue to dominate capital investments, supported by operational processes to manage increasing volumes of data.

The growth in the BU was driven by new customer additions and new solutions offerings. More established solution offerings like iDMS for utilities continue to gain traction. There is increased focus on ADMS readiness, data quality and governance across utilities and solutions for remote sensing and change detection from satellite imagery. Along with this, we will focus on key strategic offerings around connected equipment, asset management, plant engineering and digital twin solutions for capital projects. We also see opportunities in predictive analytics, manufacturing engineering and renewables.

The outlook for FY 20 continues to remain strong with growth expected in Europe and North America markets. We continue to focus on the development of solutions and working with our expanding partner ecosystem to secure deals that bring on-board both synergic and complementary technologies.

SIA

Cyient's Semiconductor, IoT, and Analytics (SIA) BU focuses on building capabilities to strengthen our leadership position in digital transformation solutions for our clients across industries. SIA BU is expected to witness strong growth with focus on expanding markets for custom semiconductor and digital services. The full integration of Ansem N.V. a custom analog acquisition, gives Cyient turnkey IC expertise, enabling the development of custom ASICs, including smart analog sensors that transform real-world signals into digital data. With more than 600 innovative IPs in its portfolio the BU delivers specialized, mixed-signal circuits for RF design, power management, reliability requirements and unique form factors across growing markets like industrial, automotive, medical technology and healthcare. Along with this our 100% acquisition of Cyient Insights has enabled us to provide advanced analytics capabilities that help our clients solve complex problems and make smarter, data-driven decisions to improve their business outcomes. Over the year, we also made tremendous progress in positioning Cyient as a connected car and automotive technology solutions and services provider in embedded systems, software and turnkey mixed-signal & analog ASIC solutions. We also successfully won business from some top tier-1 automotive suppliers. We continue to make progress by offering unique solutions for digital cockpits, autonomous driving, connected mobility and electrification of cars.

Despite significant headwind and margin pressure on our traditional layout and physical design services, we increased our focus on pre-silicon verification and post-silicon validation in semiconductor design services, establishing innovative equipment in our Hyderabad and Bangalore labs. This focus is helping us create momentum with clients. We continue to work with new clients, expanding our foray into unique and growing applications in AI and autonomous driving.

Medical Technology & Healthcare

The Medical device industry is poised for steady growth, with the industry expected to grow at a rate of ~5% during the year. Digital technologies such as RPA, cloud, artificial intelligence (AI), and robotics, to internet of medical things (IoMT), digital and virtual reality will continue to see increased investments with focus on patient centered care, increased access and affordability, improved quality and lower costs.

The Medical Technology and Healthcare (MTH) BU witnessed growth through the year driven by growth in cardiology and in-vitro diagnostics segments. In line with the S3 strategy, we continue to invest in developing solutions. Our current portfolio of solutions includes a pupil screening device and a wearable cardiac device.

In the second year of partnership with Xynteo, a Norway based international advisory firm, we have conceptualized an ecosystem platform, MedtechConnect aimed at minimizing the time to take a product from lab to market. The platform connects players from all aspects of the medical technology value chain—innovation, product development, and commercialization, with the intent of taking affordable diagnostics to the last mile in India. We also expanded our corporate venture-capital portfolio for medical technology by investing in two innovative technologies, one in point-of-care (PoC) diagnostics space and the other one in wearables space. For FY20, we expect growth to be driven by new clients and through monetizing solutions developed.

Communications

The communications industry is expected to grow by 2%-3% through the year driven primarily by broadband as demand for high speed data continues to increase. The trend of increased data consumption will persist in 2019 with even greater volumes of data generated by new technologies. The industry will witness massive investments in the next wave of technology and infrastructure upgrade to drive a 5G ecosystem.

Cyient communications business continued to play a significant role in enabling CSP's to achieve their objectives. Cyient plays a strong role in designing and building fibre networks, small cell, and 5G rollouts. The growth for our business continues to be strong, we will see continued momentum in FY20 and beyond. Our investments on forging strong relationships with global CSP's are showing results as we work towards expanding our services and solutions play and align them to industry requirements.

Our strategy to invest in people, technology, and infrastructure is paying dividends where we see traction in newer services and solutions around SDN, 5G, IoT, and analytics including implementation of massive MIMO and network planning and optimization. The communications BU has been focused on developing client-focused solutions and integrating them into our portfolio to provide clients with a robust and end-to-end offerings.

A problem-solution approach to building proof of concept with CSPs in-line with our wireless strategy, is now getting translated into building frameworks that address client issues. These frameworks leverage our core strengths in both wireline and wireless area. This year we established a state-of-the-art experience centre at our office in Sydney, Australia. The experience center demonstrates innovative solutions and products using technologies such as open source, IoT, artificial intelligence, analytics, and augmented/virtual reality amongst others to bring innovation close to our clients.

NBA

Cyient's New Business Accelerator (NBA) is the innovation hub set up to develop solutions across different industries. Developed as an R&D incubator for new technology solutions and business models, the NBA has grown to include 100+ engineers today. By providing a startup-like environment, NBA helps unleash the imagination of our engineering teams towards the development of new solutions that address customer pain points across a variety of industries. A key focus of the program is to recruit innovative talent and develop high performance teams. We have put unique processes in place to identify "intrapreneurs" with subject matter expertise to build the solutions. NBA focuses on understanding the client problem, defining, developing, and validating solutions and identify the best strategy and business model for market success.

We started the innovation hub at our Hyderabad and Bangalore offices and are in the process of expanding this to other geographies. Setting innovation hubs across geographies will allow us better engage with clients to develop solutions. Currently, we have 18 solutions being developed. Our first set of solutions are expected to be launched in the market in the coming year. We are witnessing strong traction from clients for digital solutions such as AR/VR and our drone security application which we successfully demonstrated with the Hyderabad police. We will continue to invest in developing our solutions capability in line with our S3 strategy and execution focus.

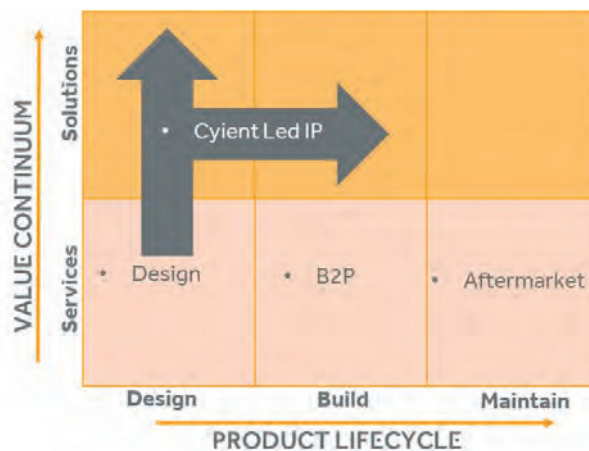

Business Strategy

Cyient's business landscape is continually changing and with change comes the opportunity to transform our business and significantly accelerate growth. We need to evaluate how we can leverage the expanding opportunities in front of us to further enhance our value proposition and create a differentiated position in the market.

In this context, our vision statement defines Where we want to be in the future, the S3 strategy articulates How we will get there and the AGILE execution framework defines What actions we must take to get there.

Cyient's vision is to "Apply technology imaginatively to solve problems that matter". Combining our technology capabilities with "the power of ideas" we can make a distinctive and positive impact in the markets we serve.

While the vision statement articulates our future, S3 strategy defines how we intent to get there. S3 articulates our two-pronged approach to expand from Services to Systems and Solutions.

We will build capability across the Design-Build-Operate-Maintain continuum that define our industries. This will allow us to create a differentiated business offering, expand our addressable market and command better margins.

We will also focus on leveraging key technology drivers to move up the value continuum —from offering discrete services to integrated solutions. Examples include the iDMS solution from the Utilities BU, and the outcome based cost optimization initiative by the Aerospace BU.

S3 execution is based on the AGILE framework that identifies objectives, actions and measures. The AGILE framework focuses on five strategic goals:

1. Ambition: Expanding from services to solutions
2. Growth: Delivering Industry leading earnings growth
3. Investments: Prioritizing Investments
4. Leadership: Developing 2030's talent
5. Execution: Building an AGILE Culture

Business Outlook

The changing business landscape provides opportunity for innovation and technology adoption. As we embark on this journey we see immense opportunities for us in the future. As an organization, we will strive towards our aspirations without compromising on our core values. Our outlook for FY 20 continues to remain strong. We are confident of a strong performance through the year.

People Function

As an organization we constantly strive to be the employer of choice for our associates. Cyient's people function is very closely aligned to our Vision and the S3 strategy and work towards talent acquisition, talent retention and developing next line of leaders. We constantly try to incorporate healthy and innovative HR practices that provide us an edge over our competition. Over the last year we made good progress on our strategy actions and are well aligned to achieve them. The total head count as on 31 March 2019 was 15,085.

Some of the key initiatives we embarked on over the year are as follows:

Early Career Initiatives

As part of early career initiative our focus has been on innovative ways to recruit fresh talent into the organization that gives us an edge over our competition. Key actions initiated as part of this program are as follows:

India

Cyient and TASK Sign an MOU to Help Engineering Students Build Skills and Improve Employability.

Getting industry-ready talent has always been a challenge. Cyient has, therefore, adopted a Train + Hire Model to address this critical gap in employability. Under this model, students across colleges are trained by different agencies in critical skills to help them become job-ready. As part of this Cyient has partnered with Telangana Academy of Skills and Knowledge (TASK) is a government non-profit organization set up to create synergy between industry, academia, and the government to enable skill development and creation of talent specifically required by the industry. TASK currently operates in the State of Telangana with almost 550 registered colleges. As part of this initiative our focus will be on the following:

- Enhance our talent pipeline
- Access to industry-ready talent
- Reduced training investments

Fresher Campus Hiring:

Each year Cyient approaches select colleges across India for its campus hiring program. However, this year, we moved to a different model to target hiring the right talent. We launched a digital campaign for hiring campus fresher's for the year. As part of this we received 75,000 profiles. As a next step all the profiles were scrutinized and shortlisted candidates were put through an online assessment, which was conducted across India at nodal centers identified by Cyient. Currently, shortlisted candidates are going through the interview process. This initiative helped us expand our reach beyond the colleges we had established relations with and tap into a larger more diversified resource pool.

North America

In FY19, we launched the Early Career Program initiative NAM with focus on developing industry-ready engineers through the "Train to Hire" model. The program is custom-designed in partnership with educational institutions to create a path to employment for students, helping them gain the skills and knowledge that Cyient require.

As part of this initiative we shortlisted six community colleges across North America to help us drive the Train+ Hire model of recruitment. We are now in the planning phase to design and customize the training program across these colleges.

EMEA

Our recent acquisition Ansem N.V in Belgium has a long-standing relationship with one of Europe's leading technical universities, KU Leuven, in Belgium. Through this partnership Ansem recruits graduates and interns as part of their future talent development plans. We plan to expand this to the rest of the organization in the coming years.

Leadership Development

Emerging Leader and Business Leader program

Leadership development continues to be a key focus area for Cyient. Our flagship leadership training programs for Emerging Leaders and Business Leaders continue, and we have trained 56 managers across both the programs during the year. The coverage for these programs continues to be across business units, functions, and our markets. These programs are spread over nine months and include working on action learning projects where managers work on as part of cross-functional teams and take on business challenges outside their normal work scope.

Along with this succession planning and the individual leadership development process has been further strengthened by extending the talent review process to the next layer of leadership—essentially covering the top 5% of senior managerial talent across the company through this structured process. The process is now built into Workday, our HCM tool, to make it scalable.

For senior management development, we have initiated a pilot program with a world-renowned consulting company to assess and coach our high-potential business leaders to enable them to build on their strengths and be future ready.

Executive Leadership Program

Another initiative started as part of leadership development is the Executive Leadership Program. As part of this program senior leaders at Cyient are exposed to the learnings in global business schools with the focus on providing them transformational learning experience and develop them for global leadership roles. As part of this program three senior leaders attended global programs across major business schools.

Career and Competency Progression Initiative

The Career and Competency Progression Initiative was launched to redefine the technical career path for associates and define the critical competencies for career progression. Under the initiative, a competency framework is developed to outline the roles and processes along with the design, launch, and implementation of technical career paths. This initiative was first launched in the Rail Transportation BU with initial focus on completing the evaluation of associate competencies and identifying gaps. These gaps will be addressed through an Individual Development Plan. The initiative received an enthusiastic response and will be rolled out to other functions in FY20.

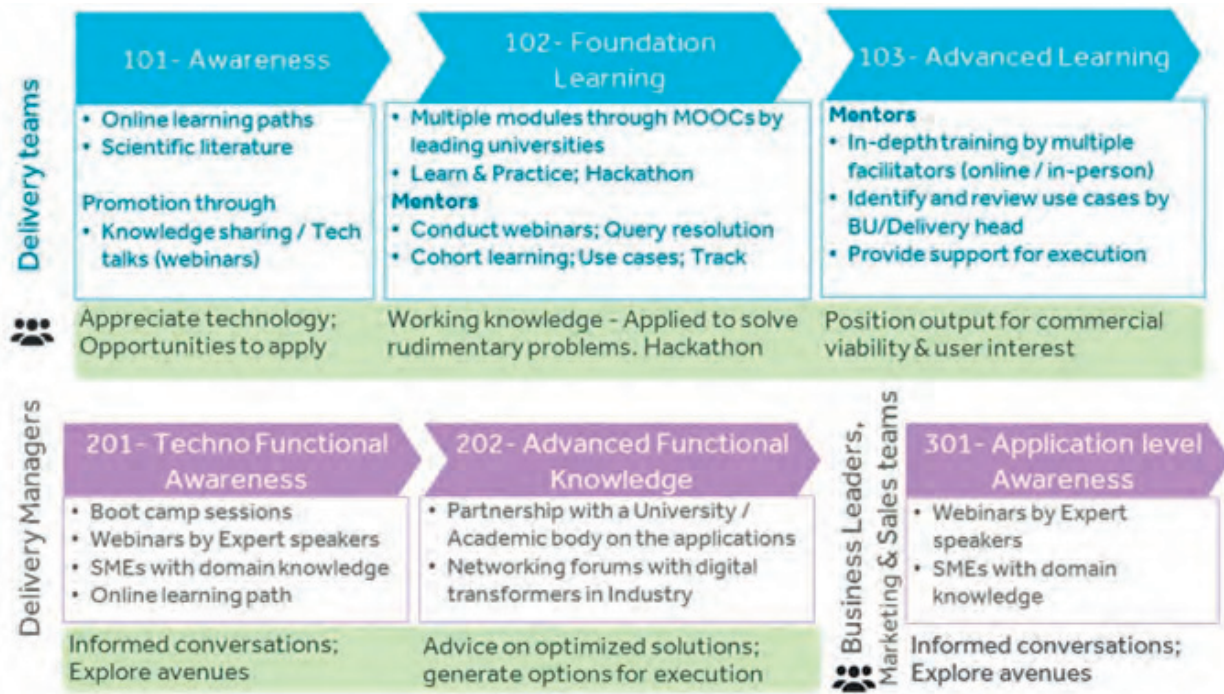

Design Thinking Program

As part of the NBA initiative we rolled out a design thinking training for our associates with an intent to build the innovative mindset. As part of this program associates were exposed to the concepts of design thinking. They were able to apply them in the workshop and to the projects. A lean start-up methodology was used where associates were encouraged to do real-time research and come up with possibilities and MVPs. In some cases, just applying the design thinking mindset helped resolve issues and generate solutions.

Emerging Skills Development

Adoption of digital technologies is crucial for Cyient to offer optimized solutions. Digital technologies equip Cyient to respond rapidly to market changes and deliver the innovation that customers need. Opportunities to leverage these technologies exist across the business value chain ranging from spotting opportunities, participating in or managing multidisciplinary projects, and delivering digitally-driven projects, to engaging with customers and emphasizing the benefits of adopting digital technologies.

A number of initiatives were undertaken at Cyient to prepare us for the future business landscape. One such step is the establishment of a framework to provide orientation and develop capabilities in emerging technologies. The framework has varied program structures targeting roles of associates and specific learning outcomes.

Technical delivery associates have a structured learning path (101 to 103), which begins with an appreciation of technology and being an advocate of technology. The learning path allows enthusiasts to pursue proficiency in building models and deep dive into technology with mentoring support. Delivery managers and business leaders have different learning paths that enable them to have informed conversations with stakeholders. Multiple methodologies—online, remote, classroom, and practice sessions—are used for learning.

Key Diversity and inclusion Initiatives

Global Mentorship Program

Cyient is committed to being a diverse and inclusive organization. As part of this our key focus is on gender diversity. To drive gender diversity one key initiative we started was the global mentorship program called 'DIEL' (Diversity, Inclusivity, and Equity-Driven Leadership). The first series of this program will kick-start with 50 women associates. This will enable an increase in the number of women in leadership roles at Cyient. Cyient is making significant investments in this program to improve its gender diversity ratios in the mid and senior management levels.

This program will provide yearlong mentoring to 50 women associates. Cyient has tied up with the Hay Group (Korn Ferry), a leading global HR consultancy, to program manage this initiative at global level.

They interact with the heads of all business units and other functional heads. They are provided a walk through among some of the centres of excellence and given a detailed understanding of the business and its operations.

Directors are regularly updated on changes in policies and programmes, laws and the general business environment.

Board Evaluation and Assessment

Board evaluation processes, including in relation to the chairman, individual directors and committees, constitute a powerful and valuable feedback mechanism to improve board effectiveness, maximise strengths and highlight areas for further development. In addition to greater board accountability, evaluation of board members helps in:

- More effective board processes
- Better collaboration and communication
- Greater clarity with regard to members' roles and responsibilities and
- Improved Chairman - Managing Director - Board relations

By focusing on the board as a team and on its overall performance, the company ensures that communication and overall level of participation and engagement improves.

In order to facilitate the same, the board undertook a formal board assessment and evaluation process during 2018-19 which was administered by means of an online tool. The board evaluation was performed after seeking inputs from all the directors and included criteria such as the board composition and structure, effectiveness of board processes, information and functioning as provided by the Guidance Note on Board Evaluation issued by the Securities and Exchange Board of India on 5 January 2017 and the amendments brought in by the SEBI (LODR) Regulations in 2018. The Leadership, Nomination & Remuneration Committee has overall stewardship for the process. The evaluation process covers the following aspects:

- Peer and self-evaluation of performance of the Directors
- Evaluation of the performance and effectiveness of the board
- Evaluation of the performance and effectiveness of Board Committees
- Evaluation of the performance of the Executive Chairman and Managing Director & CEO and
- Feedback on management support to the Board

The evaluation process elicited responses from the directors in a judicious manner - ranging from composition and induction of the board to effectiveness and governance. It also sought feedback on board and committee charters, strategy, risk management and quality of discussion and deliberations at the board. The evaluation process also ensures the fulfilment of independence criteria as specified in the applicable regulations and that the latter are independent of the management. The Independent Directors do not participate in the evaluation process.

Board processes, procedures and practices

The company believes that the effectiveness of the board is reinforced by its structures and the processes and procedures it follows. It has in place robust practices and processes that contribute to the effective and efficient performance of the board. The processes facilitate and reinforce the roles, responsibilities and authorities of the board in the governance, management and control of the company. Board systems and procedures broadly comprise convening the meetings, contents of the agenda, conducting the meetings, decision making at the meetings, adequacy of minutes and working of board committees.

Decisions relating to the policy and operations of the company are arrived at meetings of the board held periodically. Meetings of the board enable discussions on matters placed before them and facilitate decision making based on collective judgment of the board. The company follows the best practices in convening and conducting meetings of the board and its committees.

These include:

Annual Calendar

The annual board calendar is drawn up 4 to 6 quarters in advance together with a well thought out action planner. All tasks are scheduled in advance so that everyone concerned can plan their work systematically. This also enables better time management of and for the board besides aiding their efficiency.

Board Charter

A board charter is prepared setting out the respective roles, responsibilities and authorities of the board, the various committees and the senior management. This helps in better management, governance and control within the board as well as within the company itself. Further, it ensures that the board decisions can be measured against the charter.

Meeting location

The meetings of the board of directors are usually held at the registered office in Hyderabad. At times, some meetings are also held at the other development centres of the company.

Frequency of meetings

A minimum of four board meetings are held each year with the time gap between any two successive meetings not exceeding 120 days. Meetings of the committees are also planned and scheduled to be held along with the board meetings.

Board agenda

The agenda is structured such that routine and administrative matters do not consume too much board time. Those items that are strategic in nature are given sufficient time for cogitation and decision making. The agenda also shows the amount of time allocated for each item. The agenda is made available to the directors along with supporting documents sufficiently in advance of the meetings.

Briefing papers

Board materials, including the notes on agenda are summarized and formatted in such a way that the directors can readily grasp and focus on the more significant issues in the preparation for the board meetings. Relevant and complete information is presented in an orderly manner. The board papers associated with a particular agenda item are set out as an executive summary with further details annexed thereto. The papers present the issue for discussion, offer solutions on how to effectively address the issue and provide management's view on what action to take. The briefing papers are crisp and succinct and facilitate decision making.

Decision making process

The board follows a culture of openness and debate by facilitating effective contribution of all directors and ensuring constructive relations among the directors. Constructive discussions are facilitated leading to effective decision making. The chairman's role in securing good corporate governance is crucial. The chairman is responsible for leadership of the board and ensuring its effectiveness. The chairman ensures that adequate time is available for discussion of all agenda items, in particular, strategic issues.

Directors' participation

All the directors participate, discuss and deliberate, threadbare the proposals and matters put up to it. On some occasions, where a director is not physically present, the company arranges for telecon or WebEx to enable remote participation. On matters where a director is concerned or interested, he/she does not participate.

Besides, heads of the business units, geography and subsidiary heads, and key executives also participate in the board meetings to provide the business perspective.

On a case to case basis, external experts and consultants are also invited to make presentations to the board as required.

Board Minutes

The minutes of the meetings of the board and committees are drafted such that they strike the right balance between being a bare record of decisions and a full account of the discussions. They mention the brief background of the proposal, summarize the deliberations and the rationale for taking the decision. The minutes are drafted in unambiguous terms and comprise a fair and correct summary of the proceedings conducted thereat.

E-Initiatives

The company leverages technology and synergizes it with the green initiatives to the optimum. The company has put in place systems that provide more efficient information flow to the board and leverages technology solutions to enhance board- committee interactions. It uses the world's most widely used digital board solution.

Availability of information to the board

The board should be supplied in a timely manner with information in a form and of a quality appropriate to enable it to discharge its duties. Under the advice and direction of the chairman, the company secretary's responsibility includes ensuring good information flows within the board as well as between senior management and non-executive directors.

Action Taken Report

The company has put in place MIS processes for the prompt dissemination of the decisions taken by the board to the various levels in the company. An action taken report on the decisions of the board at its previous meeting is systematically put up to the board at the following meeting for its information.

Role of the Chairman

The chairman is responsible for leadership of the board and ensuring its effectiveness on all aspects of its role. The chairman lives and upholds the highest standards of integrity and probity inside and outside the boardroom, through setting clear expectations in terms of culture and values, as well as in terms of the style and tone of board discussions.

The chairman runs the board and sets the agenda - he is pivotal in creating the conditions for overall board and individual director effectiveness. The role includes:

- setting a board agenda which is primarily focused on business, strategy, accountability, competitive performance and value creation;
- ensuring that issues relevant to this objective are reserved for board consideration, including determining the nature and extent of the significant risks the board is willing to embrace in the implementation of its strategy;
- making certain that an effective decision-making process is in place in the board, and that the board's committees are properly structured with appropriate terms of reference;
- encouraging the active engagement of all board members in board and committee meetings, drawing fully on their skills, experience, knowledge and, where appropriate, independence;
- building effective relationships founded on mutual respect and open communication - both inside and outside the boardroom - between the non-executive directors and executive team, in particular with regard to the identification and oversight of significant risks;
- developing, in particular, a productive working relationship with the CEO, providing support and advice while respecting executive responsibility;
- consulting the senior independent director on board matters consistent with regulations;
- ensuring effective processes are established relating to succession planning and the composition of the board, having regard to the benefits of diversity;
- taking the lead on issues of director development and acting on the results of board evaluation;
- ensuring effective communication with shareholders and other stakeholders and ensuring that all directors are made aware of the views of major investors.

Role of Managing Director & CEO

The CEO is vested with operational responsibility for delivering the company's strategy. The CEO's relationship with the chairman is the key dynamic that underpins the effectiveness of the board.

The CEO, with the support of the executive team, has primary responsibility for communicating to the people working within the business the expectations of the board in relation to the company's culture, values and behaviours, and for ensuring that the appropriate standards of governance permeate down to all levels of the organisation.

He has comprehensive and granular understanding of the company. This is evidenced when making proposals and exercising judgement, particularly on matters of strategy. The CEO appreciates that constructive challenge from non-executive directors is an essential aspect of good governance and encourage the non-executive colleagues to probe proposals, especially when issues of judgement are concerned.

Role of Non-Executive Directors

Non-executive directors constructively challenge and help develop proposals on strategy.

Non-executive directors make sufficient time available to discharge their responsibilities effectively. This involves being well-informed about the company, and having a strong command of issues relevant to the business. Non-executive directors seek constantly to develop and refresh their knowledge and skills to ensure that their contribution to the board remains informed and relevant.

The letter of appointment issued to the non-executive directors states the time the non-executive director will be required to spend on the company's business, and indicates the possibility of additional time commitment when the company is undergoing a period of particularly increased activity, such as in the case of an acquisition or takeover.

As part of the process of learning more about the business and of becoming effective boardroom contributors in the company, non-executive directors - supported by the chairman and CEO - build recognition among executive directors of their contribution in order to promote mutual respect. This, in turn, allows them to support executive directors in their management of the business while monitoring their conduct.

Non-executive directors maintain confidence in the governance of the company by upholding high standards of integrity and probity, and supporting the chairman and executive directors in the embedding of the appropriate culture, values and behaviours in the boardroom and beyond.

Because of the importance of the process of decision making to the work of the board, non-executive directors insist on accurate, clear and comprehensive information being provided sufficiently in advance to enable thorough consideration of the issues prior to, and informed debate and challenge at, board meetings.

At Cyient, non-executive directors supplement their knowledge of the business with the views of shareholders and other stakeholders - either directly or as conveyed to them by the chairman and CEO. Such opinions and judgments are valuable in providing different perspectives of the company's progress and performance.

Role of Independent directors

The independent directors bring an element of objectivity to the board processes; they bring in an objective view in the board deliberations. They provide a valuable outside perspective to the deliberations of the board and contribute significantly to the decision making process. Independent directors play a pivotal role in maintaining a transparent working environment in the company.

Declaration by Independent Directors

All the Independent Directors have confirmed that they meet the criteria of independence as mentioned under Regulation 16(1)(b) of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements), 2015 read with Section 149(6) of the Act.

During the financial year 2018-19, information as mentioned in Schedule II Part A of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements), 2015, has been placed before the Board for its consideration.

- Assess the quality, content and timeliness of flow of information between the Management and the Board that is necessary for the Board to effectively and reasonably perform its duties.

All the Independent Directors were present at the Meeting.

Performance evaluation criteria for Independent Directors

The performance of Independent Directors is evaluated annually on the following parameters:

- understanding of the company's business as well as the markets and industry it operates in
- effective usage of the experience brought to the board
- level of involvement and participation in the meetings as also in the affairs of the company
- engagement with other directors and senior leadership of the company.

Decision making at the board

Effective and good decision-making at the board is facilitated by:

- ensuring that directors are afforded adequate time to prepare for meetings;
- allowing time for debate and challenge, especially for complex, contentious or business-critical issues;
- achieving timely closure on decisions taken; and
- providing clarity for executives on the actions required.

Succession planning at the board and senior management levels

The company uses succession management and planning to ensure that it identifies and develops future leaders to face the challenges of growth effectively and successfully. For a conscious board, a succession plan that provides guidance on identifying and sourcing potential board members who can fulfill key requirements is essential. This succession plan helps appoint new directors quickly in a structured manner, and the board can continue its business without disruption, meeting any business challenges that may be encountered. The LNR committee is entrusted with the task of succession planning for the board. This committee is responsible for:

- Interviewing potential candidates;
- Recommending candidates to the board;
- Ensuring each new Board member receives induction and training; and
- Developing a database of eligible board candidates on a continuous basis.

Information Other than the Financial Statements and Auditor's Report Thereon

- The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Director's report, Management discussion & Analysis and Business responsibility report, but does not include the standalone financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.
- Our opinion on the standalone financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.
- In connection with our audit of the standalone financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the standalone financial statements or our knowledge obtained during the course of our audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.
- If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Management's Responsibility for the Standalone Financial Statements

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation of these standalone financial statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position, financial performance including other comprehensive income, cash flows and changes in equity of the Company in accordance with the Ind AS and other accounting principles generally accepted in India. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the standalone financial statement that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the standalone financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those Board of Directors are also responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibility for the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the standalone financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these standalone financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the standalone financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal financial control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Company has adequate internal financial controls system in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the standalone financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the standalone financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the standalone financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatements in the standalone financial statements that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the standalone financial statements may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work; and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the standalone financial statements.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the standalone financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

ANNEXURE "A" TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

(Referred to in paragraph 1(f) under 'Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements' section of our report of even date)

Report on the Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Cyient Limited ("the Company") as of March 31, 2019 in conjunction with our audit of the standalone Ind AS financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting of the Company based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and the Standards on Auditing prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

In our opinion, to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2019, based on the criteria for internal financial control over financial reporting established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

When there is uncertainty as to measurement or ultimate collectability, revenue recognition is postponed until such uncertainty is resolved. Percentage of completion is determined based on the project costs incurred to date as a percentage of total estimated project costs required to complete the project. The input method has been used to measure the progress towards completion as there is direct relationship between input and productivity.

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters. We have determined the matter described below to be the key audit matter to be communicated in our report.

Information Other than the Financial Statements and Auditor's Report Thereon

- The Parent's Board of Directors is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Director's report, Management discussion & Analysis and Business responsibility report, but does not include the consolidated financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.
- Our opinion on the consolidated financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.
- In connection with our audit of the consolidated financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information, compare with the financial statements of the subsidiaries, and joint venture audited by the other auditors, to the extent it relates to these entities and, in doing so, place reliance on the work of the other auditors and consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the consolidated financial statements or our knowledge obtained during the course of our audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. Other information so far as it relates to the subsidiaries, and joint venture, is traced from their financial statements audited by other auditors.

- If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Management's Responsibility for the Consolidated Financial Statements

The Parent's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation of these consolidated financial statements that give a true and fair view of the consolidated financial position, consolidated financial performance including other comprehensive income, consolidated cash flows and consolidated changes in equity of the Group including its joint venture in accordance with the Ind AS and other accounting principles generally accepted in India. The respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group and of its joint venture are responsible for maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of the Group and its joint venture and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, which have been used for the purpose of preparation of the consolidated financial statements by the Directors of the Parent, as aforesaid.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, the respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group and of its joint venture are responsible for assessing the ability of the Group and of joint venture to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the management either intends to liquidate or cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group and of its joint venture are also responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process of the Group and of its joint venture.

Auditor's Responsibility for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal financial control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Parent has adequate internal financial controls system in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the ability of the Group and its joint venture to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group and its joint venture to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding business activities within the Group and its joint venture to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit of the financial statements of such business activities included in the consolidated financial statements of which we are the independent auditors. For the business activities included in the consolidated financial statements, which have been audited by other auditors, such other auditors remain responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audits carried out by them. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatements in the consolidated financial statements that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the consolidated financial statements may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work; and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the consolidated financial statements.

We communicate with those charged with governance of the Parent and such other entities included in the consolidated financial statements of which we are the independent auditors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Other Matters

ANNEXURE "A" TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

(Referred to in paragraph 1 under 'Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements' section of our report of even date)

Report on the Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

In conjunction with our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the Company as of and for the year ended March 31, 2019, we have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Cyient Limited (hereinafter referred to as "Parent") and its subsidiary companies and joint venture, which are companies incorporated in India, as of that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The respective Board of Directors of the Parent, its subsidiary companies and joint venture, which are companies incorporated in India, are responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the respective Companies considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the respective company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the internal financial controls over financial reporting of the Parent, its subsidiary companies and joint venture, which are companies incorporated in India, based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and the Standards on Auditing, prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained and the audit evidence obtained by other auditors of the subsidiary companies and joint venture, which are companies incorporated in India, in terms of their reports referred to in the Other Matters paragraph below, is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the internal financial controls system over financial reporting of the Parent, its subsidiary companies and joint ventures, which are companies incorporated in India.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us and based on the consideration of the reports of the other auditors referred to in the Other Matters paragraph below, the Parent, its subsidiary companies and joint venture, which are companies incorporated in India, have, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2019, based on the criteria for internal financial control over financial reporting established by the respective companies considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

Other Matters

Our aforesaid report under Section 143(3)(i) of the Act on the adequacy and operating effectiveness of the internal financial controls over financial reporting insofar as it relates three subsidiary companies and one joint venture, which are companies incorporated in India, is based solely on the corresponding reports of the auditors of such companies incorporated in India.

Our opinion is not modified in respect of the above matter.

2.1 Statement of compliance

The consolidated financial statements comply in all material respects with Indian Accounting Standards ("Ind AS") notified under Section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") read with Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015 as amended and other accounting principles generally accepted in India and guidelines issued by the Securities and Exchange Board of India ("SEBI").

2.2 Basis of preparation & presentation

These consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis except for certain financial instruments that are measured at fair values at the end of each reporting period, as explained in the accounting policies below.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date, regardless of whether that price is directly observable or estimated using another valuation technique. In estimating the fair value of an asset or a liability, the Group takes into account the characteristics of asset or liability of market participants when pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date.

Fair value for measurement and/or disclosure purposes in these consolidated financial statements is determined on such a basis, except for share-based payment transactions that are within the scope of Ind AS 102, leasing transactions that are within the scope of Ind AS 17, and measurements that have some similarities to fair value but are not fair value, such as net realisable value in Ind AS 2 or value in use in Ind AS 36.

In addition, for financial reporting purposes, fair value measurements are categorised into Level 1, 2, or 3 based on the degree to which the inputs to the fair value measurements are observable and the significance of the inputs to the fair value measurement in its entirety, which are described as follows:

- Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the entity can access at the measurement date;
- Level 2 inputs are inputs, other than quoted prices included within Level 1, that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly; and
- Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability.

2.3 Use of estimates

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires the management to make estimates and assumptions considered in the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures relating to contingent liabilities as at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenditure for the periods presented.

The management believes that the estimates used in preparation of the consolidated financial statements are prudent and reasonable.

Future results could differ from these estimates – estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. The effects of changes in accounting estimates are reflected in the consolidated financial statements in the period in which results are known and, if material, are disclosed in the financial statements.

Significant areas of estimation of uncertainty and critical judgments in applying accounting policies that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the consolidated financial statements such as:

- Useful lives of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets
- Intangible assets under development
- Assets and obligations relating to employee benefits
- Share based payments

- Evaluation of recoverability of deferred tax assets
- Financial instruments
- Measurement of recoverable amounts of cash-generating units
- Provisions and contingencies

2.4 Basis of consolidation

The consolidated financial statements incorporate the financial statements of the Company and entities controlled by the Company and its subsidiaries. Control is achieved when the Company:

- has power over the investee;
- is exposed, or has rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the investee; and
- has the ability to use its power to affect its returns.

Entities controlled by the Company are consolidated from the date control commences until the date control ceases.

Profit or loss and each component of other comprehensive income are attributed to the owners of the Company and to the non-controlling interests. Total comprehensive income of subsidiaries is attributed to the owners of the Company and to the non-controlling interests even if this results in the non-controlling interests having a deficit balance.

When necessary, adjustments are made to the financial statements of subsidiaries to bring their accounting policies into line with the Group's accounting policies.

All intragroup assets and liabilities, equity, income, expenses, and cash flows relating to transactions between members of the Group are eliminated in full on consolidation.

2.5 Business combination

The Company accounts for its business combinations under acquisition method of accounting. The consideration transferred in a business combination is measured at fair value, which is calculated as the sum of the acquisition-date fair value of the assets transferred by the Group, liabilities incurred by the Group to the former owners of the acquiree and the equity interest issued by the Group in exchange of control of the acquiree. Acquisition related costs are generally recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss as incurred.

Goodwill is measured as the excess of the sum of the consideration transferred, the amount of any non-controlling interests in the acquiree, and the fair value of the acquirer's previously held equity interest in the acquiree (if any) over the net of the acquisition-date amounts of the identifiable assets acquired and the liabilities assumed.

If those amounts are less than the fair value of the net identifiable assets of the business acquired, the difference is recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity as capital reserve provided there is clear evidence of the underlying reasons for classifying the business combination as a bargain purchase. In other cases, the bargain purchase gain is recognised directly in equity as capital reserve.

When the consideration transferred by the Group in a business combination includes assets or liabilities resulting from a contingent consideration arrangement, the contingent consideration is measured at its acquisition-date fair value and included as part of the consideration transferred in business combination. Changes in the fair value of the contingent consideration that qualify as measurement period adjustments are adjusted retrospectively, with corresponding adjustments against goodwill or capital reserve, as the case may be. Measurement period adjustments are adjustments that arise from the additional information obtained during the 'measurement period' (which cannot exceed one year from the acquisition date) about facts and circumstances that existed as on the acquisition date.

The subsequent accounting for changes in the fair value of the contingent consideration that do not qualify as measurement period adjustments and are classified as an asset or liability and are remeasured at fair value at subsequent reporting dates with the corresponding gain or loss being recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss.

Acquisition of some or all of the non-controlling interest ("NCI") is accounted for as a transaction with equity holders in their capacity as equity holders. Consequently, the difference arising between the fair value of the purchase consideration paid and the carrying value of the NCI is recorded as an adjustment to retained earnings that is attributable to the Company. No goodwill is recognised as a result of such transactions.

Where settlement of any part of cash consideration is deferred, the amounts payable in the future are discounted to their present value as at the date of exchange. The discount rate used is the entity's incremental borrowing rate, being the rate at which a similar borrowing could be obtained from an independent financier under comparable terms and conditions.

Business combinations arising from entities that are under the common control are accounted at historical cost. The difference between any consideration given and the aggregate historical carrying amounts of assets and liabilities of the entity are recorded in other equity.

2.6 Goodwill

Goodwill arising on an acquisition of a business is carried at cost as established at the date of acquisition of the business less accumulated impairment losses, if any.

For the purposes of impairment testing, goodwill is allocated to each of the Group's cash generating units that is expected to benefit from the synergies of the combination.

A cash generating unit to which goodwill has been allocated is tested for impairment annually. Any impairment loss for goodwill is recognised directly in consolidated statement of profit and loss. An impairment loss recognised for goodwill is not reversed in the subsequent periods.

2.7 Investments in associates and joint ventures

An associate is an entity over which the Group has significant influence. Significant influence is the power to participate in the financial and operating policy decisions of the investee but is not control or joint control over those policies.

A Joint venture is a joint arrangement whereby the parties that have joint control of the arrangement have rights to the net assets of the joint arrangement. Joint control is the contractually agreed sharing of control of an arrangement, which exists only when decisions about the relevant activities require unanimous consent of the parties sharing control.

The results and assets and liabilities of associates or joint ventures are incorporated in these consolidated financial statements using the equity method of accounting. Under the equity method, an investment in an associate or a joint venture is initially recognised in the consolidated balance sheet at cost and adjusted thereafter to recognise the Group's share of the profit or loss and other comprehensive income of the associate or joint venture. Distributions received from an associate or a joint venture reduce the carrying amount of the investment.

After application of the equity method of accounting, the Group determines whether there is any objective evidence of impairment as a result of one or more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the net investment in an associate or a joint venture and that event (or events) has an impact on the estimated future cash flows from the net investment that can be reliably estimated. If there exists such an objective evidence of impairment, then it is necessary to recognise impairment loss with respect to the Group's investment in an associate or a joint venture.

2.8 Foreign currency translation

In preparing the financial statements of each individual Group entity, transactions in currencies other than the entity's functional currency (foreign currencies) are recognised at the rates of exchange prevailing at the dates of the transactions. At the end of each reporting period, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at that date.

Non-monetary items carried at fair value that are denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at the date when the fair value was determined. Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are not retranslated.

Exchange differences on monetary items are recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss in the period in which they arise.

For the purposes of presenting these consolidated financial statements, the assets and liabilities of the Group's foreign operations are translated into presentation currency using exchange rates prevailing at the end of each reporting period. Income and expense items are translated at the average exchange rates for the period. Exchange differences arising, if any are recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity.

i) Functional and presentation currency

These consolidated financial statements are presented in Indian rupees, which is the functional and presentation currency of the Company. Items included in the financial statements of each of the Group's entities are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates.

ii) Transactions and balances

Foreign currency denominated monetary assets and liabilities are translated into the relevant functional currency at exchange rates in effect at the balance sheet date. The gains or losses resulting from such translations are included in net profit in the consolidated statement of profit and loss. Non-monetary assets and non-monetary liabilities denominated in a foreign currency and measured at fair value are translated at the exchange rate prevalent at the date when the fair value was determined. Non-monetary assets and non-monetary liabilities denominated in a foreign currency and measured at historical cost are translated at the exchange rate prevalent at the date of the transaction.

Transaction gains or losses realised upon settlement of foreign currency transactions are included in determining net profit for the period in which the transaction is settled.

iii) Group companies

The results and financial position of foreign operations (none of which has the currency of a hyperinflationary economy) that have a functional currency different from the presentation currency are translated into the presentation currency as follows:

- Assets and liabilities are translated at the closing rate at the date of balance sheet.
- Income and expenses are translated at average exchange rates, and
- All resulting exchange differences are recognised in other comprehensive income.
- When a foreign operation is sold, the associated exchange differences are reclassified to consolidated statement of profit and loss, as part of gain or loss on sale.

2.9 Income taxes:

The income tax expense or credit for the period is the tax payable on the taxable income based on the applicable income tax rate for each jurisdiction adjusted by changes in deferred tax assets and liabilities attributable to temporary differences and to unused tax losses.

Current and deferred tax is recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss, except to the extent that it relates to items recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity. In this case, the tax is also recognised in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, respectively.

The current income tax charge is calculated on the basis of the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the end of the reporting period in the countries where the Company and its subsidiaries operate and generate taxable income.

Deferred income tax is provided in full, using the balance sheet method, on temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts in the consolidated financial statements. However, deferred tax liabilities are not recognised if they arise from the initial recognition of goodwill. Deferred income tax is also not accounted for if it arises from initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction other than a business combination that at the time of the transaction affects neither accounting profit nor taxable profit (loss).

Deferred income tax is determined using tax rates (and laws) that have been enacted or substantially enacted by the end of the reporting period and are expected to apply when the related deferred income tax asset is realised or the deferred income tax liability is settled.

Deferred tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences and unused tax losses only if it is probable that future taxable amounts will be available to utilise those temporary differences and losses.

Deferred tax liabilities are not recognised for temporary differences between the carrying amount and tax bases of investments in subsidiaries, branches and associates and interest in joint arrangements where the Group is able to control the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences and it is probable that the differences will not reverse in the foreseeable future.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to offset current tax assets and liabilities and when the deferred tax balances relate to the same taxation authority. Current tax assets and tax liabilities are offset where the entity has a legally enforceable right to offset and intends either to settle on a net basis, or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

Minimum alternate tax (MAT) credit is recognised in accordance with tax laws in India as an asset only when and to the extent there is convincing evidence that the Group will pay normal income tax during the specified period. The Group reviews the MAT credit at each balance sheet date and writes down the carrying amount of MAT credit entitlement to the extent there is no longer convincing evidence to the effect that the Group will pay normal income tax during the specified period.

2.10 Leases

As a lessee:

At the inception of each lease, the lease arrangement is classified as either a finance lease or an operating lease, based on the substance of the lease arrangement.

Operating leases:

Leases in which a significant portion of the risks and rewards of ownership are not transferred to the Group as lessee are classified as operating leases. Payments made under operating leases (net of any incentives received from the lessor) are charged to the consolidated statement of profit and loss on a straight-line basis over the period of the lease unless the payments are structured to increase in line with expected general inflation to compensate for the lessor's expected inflationary cost increases.

As a lessor:

Operating lease:

Lease income from operating leases where the Group is a lessor is recognised in income on a straight-line basis over the lease term unless the receipts are structured to increase in line with expected general inflation to compensate for the expected inflationary cost increases. The respective leased assets are included in the balance sheet based on their nature.

2.11 Earnings per share:

The Group presents basic and diluted earnings per share ("EPS") data for its ordinary shares. Basic EPS is calculated by dividing the consolidated statement of profit and loss attributable to ordinary shareholders of the Group by the weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding during the year.

Diluted EPS is determined by adjusting the consolidated statement of profit and loss attributable to ordinary shareholders and the weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding for the effects of all dilutive potential ordinary shares, which includes all stock options granted to employees and RSU's outstanding.

2.12 Provisions and contingent liabilities

Provisions are recognised when the Group has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of past events, it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation and the amount can be reliably estimated.

Provisions are measured at the present value of management's best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the end of the reporting period. The discount rate used to determine the present value is a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. The increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as an interest expense. Provisions are not recognised for future operating losses.

Provisions for onerous contracts are recognised when the expected benefits to be desired by the Company from a contract are lower than unavoidable costs of meeting to future obligations under the contract and are measured at the present value of lower than expected net cost of fulfilling the contract and expected cost of terminating the contract.

Contingencies:

Contingent liabilities are not recognised in the financial statements. A contingent asset is neither recognised nor disclosed in the financial statements.

2.13 Share based payments

Stock options are granted to the associates of the Group under various stock option schemes established after June 19, 1999. These stock options are measured at the fair value of the equity instruments at the grant date.

The fair value determined at the grant date of the stock options is expensed on a straight-line basis over the vesting period, based on the Company's estimate of the equity instruments that will eventually vest, with a corresponding increase in equity.

At the end of each reporting period, the Company revises its estimate of the number of equity instruments expected to vest. The impact of the original estimates, if any, is recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss such that the cumulative expense reflects the revised estimate, with a corresponding adjustment to the stock option reserve.

The fair value of the amount payable to the employees in respect of Restricted Stock Units (RSU) which are settled in equity and cash are recognised as an expense with a corresponding increase in stock option reserve and liabilities, in the period during which the employees become unconditionally entitled to payment.

The equity settlement component is not remeasured at each reporting date. The cash settlement component is remeasured at each reporting date and at settlement date based on the fair value of the RSUs. Any change in the liability is recognised in the consolidated statement of profit and loss.

2.14 Cash and cash equivalents:

Cash comprises cash on hand, in bank, demand deposits with banks and with financial institutions. The Company considers all highly liquid financial instruments, which are readily convertible into cash and have original maturities of three months or less from the date of purchase, to be cash equivalents. Such cash equivalents are subject to insignificant risk of changes in value.

Cash flows are reported using indirect method, whereby profit / (loss) after tax is adjusted for the effects of transaction of non-cash nature and any deferrals or accruals of past or future cash receipts or payments for the year. The cash flows from operating, investing and financing activities of the Company are segregated based on the available information.

2.15 Inventories:

Inventories are valued in accordance with the below method of valuation.

- i) Raw materials & consumables – at cost or net realisable value whichever is less.
Cost includes purchase costs and other attributable expenses

- ii) Stores and spares – at cost.
Cost includes purchase costs and other attributable expenses
- iii) Work in process & finished Goods – at cost or net realisable value whichever is less.
Costs of production comprises of direct material costs, wages and applicable overheads.

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Costs of inventories are determined on a weighted average basis. Net realisable value represents the estimated selling price for inventories less all estimated costs of completion and costs necessary to make the sale.

2.16 Revenue

The Company derives revenue primarily from services and solutions specialising in geospatial, engineering design, analytics, network and operations solutions. Revenue is measured based on the consideration specified in a contract with a customer and excludes amounts collected on behalf of third parties. The Company recognizes revenue when it transfers control over a product or a service to a customer. The method for recognizing revenues and costs depends on the nature of services rendered as mentioned below:

- a) Time and material: Revenue from time and material contracts are recognized as the related services are performed, which is pursued based on the efforts spent and agreed rate with the customer. Revenue from the end of the last invoicing to the reporting date is recognized as unbilled revenue.
- b) Fixed price contracts: Revenue from fixed-price contracts is recognized as per the 'percentage-of-completion' method, where the performance obligations are satisfied over time and when there is no uncertainty as to measurement or collectability of consideration. When there is uncertainty as to measurement or ultimate collectability, revenue recognition is postponed until such uncertainty is resolved. Percentage of completion is determined based on the project costs incurred to date as a percentage of total estimated project costs required to complete the project. The input method has been used to measure the progress towards completion as there is direct relationship between input and productivity.
- c) Maintenance contracts: Revenue from fixed-price maintenance contracts are recognised pro-rata over the term of the maintenance arrangement.
- d) Sale of products: Revenue from sale of products is recognised at the point in time when control of the asset is transferred to the customer, generally on delivery of the products.

Revenue from contract with customers is recognised by applying revenue recognition criteria specified in Ind AS 115 for each distinct performance obligation. The arrangement with customer specify services to be rendered which meet criteria of performance obligations. For allocation, transaction price, the Company measures the revenue in respect of each performance obligation of a contract at its relative standalone selling price.

Contract modifications are accounted for when additions, deletions or changes are approved either to the contract scope or contract price. The accounting for modifications of contracts involves assessing whether the services added to an existing contract are distinct and whether the pricing is at the standalone selling price. Services that are not distinct are accounted for on a cumulative catchup basis, while those that are distinct are accounted for prospective, either as a separate contract, if the additional services are priced at the standalone selling price, or as a termination of existing contract and creation of a new contract if not priced at the standalone selling price.

The Company classifies the right to consideration in exchange for deliverables as either a receivable or as unbilled revenue. A receivable is a right to consideration that is unconditional upon passage of time. Revenue in excess of invoicing are classified as contract assets (unbilled revenue) while invoicing in excess of revenue are classified as contract liabilities (unearned revenues).

The Company accounts for volume discounts and pricing incentives to customers as a reduction of revenue based on the ratable allocation of discounts/incentives to each of the underlying performance obligation that corresponds to the progress by the customer towards earning the discount/incentive.

The Company presents revenues net of indirect taxes in the consolidated statement of profit and loss.

2.17 Other income

Interest income from a financial asset is recognised when it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the amount of income can be measured reliably.

Interest income is recognised on a time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and rate applicable in the transaction.

Dividend income is recognised when the Group's right to receive dividend is established.

Foreign currency gains and losses are reported on net basis. This includes the changes in the fair value of foreign exchange derivative instruments, which are accounted at fair value through consolidated statement of profit and loss.

2.18 Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation and impairment, if any. Costs directly attributable to the acquisition are capitalised until the property, plant and equipment are ready for use, as intended by management.

The Company depreciates property, plant and equipment over their estimated useful lives using the straight-line method as per the useful life prescribed in Schedule II to the Companies Act, 2013 except in respect of the following categories of assets, in whose case the life of the assets has been assessed based on technical advice, taking into account the nature of the asset, the estimated usage of the asset, the operating conditions of the asset, past history of replacement, anticipated technological changes, manufacturers warranties and maintenance support. Freehold land is not depreciated.

Type of asset	Useful life
Building	28 years
Plant and equipment	10 years
Tools & Equipment	5 years
Computers	3 years
Leasehold improvements	Shorter of lease period or estimated useful lives

Depreciation methods, useful lives and residual values are reviewed periodically including at each financial year-end.

An item of property, plant and equipment is derecognised upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected to arise from the continued use of the asset. Any gain or loss arising on the disposal or retirement of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognised in 'other income' of the consolidated statement of profit and loss.

2.19 Intangible assets

Intangible assets are stated at cost less accumulated amortisation and impairment.

Intangible assets acquired in a business combination and recognised separately from goodwill are initially recognised at their fair value at the acquisition date (which is regarded as their cost). Subsequent to initial recognition, intangible assets acquired in a business combination are reported at cost less accumulated amortisation and accumulated impairment losses.

Intangible assets are amortised over their estimated useful life on a straight line basis as follows:

Type of asset	Useful life
Software	3 years/Over the period of the respective project
Technology/ Intellectual property	2-6 years
Customer contracts	2-6 years
Process knowhow	5 years
Other intangible assets	Over the period of the respective project

An intangible asset is de-recognised on disposal, or when no future economic benefits are expected from use. Gains or losses arising from de-recognition of an intangible asset, measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset, are recognised in 'other income' of consolidated statement of profit and loss when the asset is de-recognised.

Expenditure incurred towards development eligible for capitalisation are carried as intangible assets under development where such assets are not yet ready for their intended use.

Amortisation methods and useful lives are reviewed periodically at each financial year end.

Research and development

Research costs are expensed as incurred. Development costs are expensed as incurred unless technical and commercial feasibility of the project is demonstrated, future economic benefits are probable, the Company has intention and ability to complete and use the asset and the costs are reliably measured, in which case such expenditure is capitalised. The amount capitalised comprises expenditure that can be directly attributed or allocated on a reasonable and consistent basis for creating, producing and making the asset ready for its intended use.

2.20 Employee benefit plans

Employee benefits include provident fund, superannuation fund, employee's state insurance scheme, gratuity fund and compensated absences.

Defined contribution plans:

Contributions in respect of Employees Provident Fund and Pension Fund which are defined contribution schemes, are made to a fund administered and managed by the Government of India and are charged as an expense based on the amount of contribution required to be made and when service are rendered by the employees.

Contributions under the superannuation plan which is a defined contribution scheme, are made to a fund administered and managed by the Life Insurance Corporation of India and are charged as an expense based on the amount of contribution required to be made and when services are rendered by the employees.

Cyient Inc. provides a defined contribution plan benefit through the Cyient Inc. 401(K) Retirement Plan to all of its eligible employees. The plan is administered by Cyient Inc. while the trustee for the plan is an external agency. The contribution from the Company is at the discretion of the Board of Directors of Cyient Inc.

Defined benefit plans

Gratuity:

The Group accounts for its liability towards Gratuity based on actuarial valuation made by an independent actuary as at the balance sheet date using projected unit credit method. The liability recognised in the balance sheet in respect of the gratuity plan is the present value of the defined benefit obligation at the end of the reporting period less the fair value of the plan assets.

The present value of the defined benefit obligation is determined by discounting the estimated future cash outflows by reference to market yields at the end of the reporting period on government bonds that have terms approximating to the terms of the related obligation. The net interest cost is calculated by applying the discount rate to the net balance of the defined obligation and the fair value of plan assets. This cost is included in the employee benefit expense in the consolidated statement of profit and loss. Remeasurement gains and losses arising from experience adjustments and changes in actuarial assumptions are recognised in the period in which they occur, directly in other comprehensive income. Changes in the present value of the defined benefit obligation resulting from plan amendments or curtailments are recognised immediately in the consolidated statement of profit and loss as past service cost.

Compensated absences:

The employees of the Group are entitled to compensated absences. The employees can carry-forward a portion of the unutilised accrued compensated absence and utilise it in future periods or receive cash compensation at retirement or termination of employment. The Group records an obligation for compensated absences in the period in which the employee renders the services that increase this entitlement. The Group measures the expected cost of compensated absence based on actuarial valuation made by an independent actuary as at the balance sheet date on projected unit credit method.

Medical benefits:

In Cyient Inc, medical insurance plan is offered to the associates on self-insured basis which consists of fixed costs of administration charges and stop loss insurance that are charged on a per associate and monthly claims being settled from consolidated fund maintained by third party insurance fund. At the end of every calendar year, the insurance agency provides an estimate of "Claims Not Yet Received" computed on actuarial valuation based on number of associates and claims received over the last 12 months. This estimate is extrapolated on the basis of the closing enrolments as of March 31 and the management creates a liability for medical expenses.

Other short-term employee benefits

Other short-term employee benefits, including overseas social security contributions and performance incentives expected to be paid in exchange for the services rendered by employees are recognised during the period when the employee renders service.

2.21 Segment Reporting

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision maker.

The Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer evaluates Cyient Group's performance and allocates resources based on analysis of various performance indicators by business verticals and geographical segmentation of customers.

2.22 Financial instruments

(A) Initial recognition:

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised when a Group entity becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instruments. Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognised immediately in consolidated statement of profit and loss.

(B) Subsequent measurement:

a. Non-derivative financial instruments:

i) Financial assets carried at amortised cost:

A financial asset is subsequently measured at amortised cost if it is held within a business model whose objective is to hold the asset in order to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

ii) Financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income:

A financial asset is subsequently measured at fair value through other comprehensive income if it is held within a business model whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding. The Group has made an irrevocable election for its investments which are classified as equity instruments to present the subsequent changes in fair value in other comprehensive income based on its business model.

iii) Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss:

Financial assets which are not classified in any of the above categories are subsequently fair valued through profit or loss.

iv) Financial liabilities:

Financial liabilities are subsequently carried at amortised cost using the effective interest method, except for contingent consideration recognised in a business combination which is subsequently measured at fair value through consolidated statement of profit and loss. For trade and other payables maturing within one year from the Balance Sheet date, the carrying amounts approximate fair value due to the short maturity of these instruments.

b. Derivative financial instruments:

The Group enters into a variety of derivative financial instruments to manage its exposure to interest rate and foreign exchange rate risks, including foreign exchange forward contracts.

Derivatives are initially recognised at fair value at the date the derivative contracts are entered into and are subsequently remeasured to their fair value at the end of each reporting period. The resulting gain or loss is recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss immediately unless the derivative is designated and effective as a hedging instrument, in which event the timing of the recognition in consolidated statement of profit and loss depends on the nature of the hedging relationship and the nature of the hedged item.

Effective interest method

The effective interest method is a method of calculating the amortised cost of a debt instrument and of allocating interest income/expense over the relevant period. The effective interest rate is the rate that exactly discounts estimated future cash receipts (including all fees and points paid or received that form an integral part of the effective interest rate, transaction costs and other premiums or discounts) through the expected life of the debt instrument, or, where appropriate, a shorter period, to the net carrying amount on initial recognition.

Income is recognised on an effective interest basis for debt instruments other than those financial assets classified as at FVTPL. Interest income is recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss and is included in "Other income".

c. Hedge accounting:

The Group designates derivative contracts in a cash flow hedging relationship by applying the hedge accounting principles designated in a hedging relationship, used to hedge its risks associated with foreign currency fluctuations relating to certain highly probable forecast transactions.

At the inception of the hedge relationship, the Company documents the relationship between the hedging instrument and the hedged item, along with its risk management objectives and its strategy for undertaking various hedge transactions. Furthermore, at the inception of the hedge and on an ongoing basis, the Company documents whether the hedging instrument is highly effective in offsetting changes in fair values or cash flows of the hedged item attributable to the hedged risk.

These derivative contracts are stated at the fair value at each reporting date.

The effective portion of changes in the fair value of derivatives that are designated and qualify as cash flow hedges is recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated under cash flow hedge reserve. The gain or loss relating to the ineffective portion is recognised immediately in consolidated statement of profit and loss.

Amounts previously recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity relating to (effective portion as described above) are reclassified to consolidated statement of profit and loss in the periods when the hedged item affects profit or loss.

Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or when it no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. Any gain or loss recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity at that time remains in equity and is recognised when the forecast transaction is ultimately recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss. When a forecast transaction is no longer expected to occur, the gain or loss accumulated in equity is recognised immediately in consolidated statement of profit and loss.

(C) De-recognition of financial assets and liabilities:

Financial assets:

The Group derecognises a financial asset when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or when it transfers the financial asset and substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another party. If the Group retains substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of a transferred financial asset, the Group continues to recognise the financial asset and also recognises a collateralised borrowing for the proceeds received.

On de-recognition of a financial asset in its entirety, the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received and receivable and the cumulative gain or loss that had been recognised in other comprehensive income and accumulated in equity is recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss if such gain or loss would have otherwise been recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss on disposal of that financial asset.

Financial liabilities:

The Group derecognises financial liabilities when, and only when, the Group's obligations are discharged, cancelled or have expired. The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognised and the consideration paid and payable is recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss.

(D) Foreign exchange gains and losses:

- For foreign currency denominated financial assets measured at amortised cost and FVTPL, the exchange differences are recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss except for those which are designated as hedging instruments in a hedging relationship.
- Changes in the carrying amount of investments in equity instruments at FVTOCI relating to changes in foreign currency rates are recognised in other comprehensive income.
- For the purposes of recognising foreign exchange gains and losses, FVTOCI debt instruments are treated as financial assets measured at amortised cost. Thus, the exchange differences on the amortised cost are recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss and other changes in the fair value of FVTOCI financial assets are recognised in other comprehensive income.

- For financial liabilities that are denominated in a foreign currency and are measured at amortised cost at the end of each reporting period, the foreign exchange gains and losses are determined based on the amortised cost of the instruments and are recognised in the consolidated statement of profit and loss.
- The fair value of financial liabilities denominated in a foreign currency is determined in that foreign currency and translated at the spot rate at the end of the reporting period. For financial liabilities that are measured as at FVTPL, the foreign exchange component forms part of the fair value gains or losses and is recognised in consolidated statement of profit and loss.

2.23 Determination of fair values

In determining the fair value of its financial instruments, the Group uses a variety of methods and assumptions that are based on market conditions and risks existing at each reporting date. The methods used to determine fair value include discounted cash flow analysis, available quoted market prices and dealer quotes. All methods of assessing fair value result in general approximation of value, and such value may never actually be realised.

2.24 Equity Instruments (Share Capital):

Ordinary shares are classified as equity. Shares bought back are shown as a deduction from equity. No gain or loss is recognised in the statement of profit or loss on purchase, sale, issue or cancellation of equity instruments. Incremental costs directly attributable to the issuance of equity shares or buyback of equity shares are recognised as a deduction from equity, net of taxes.

2.25 Impairment of assets

a. Financial assets:

The Group recognises loss allowances using the expected credit loss (ECL) model for the financial assets which are not fair valued through consolidated statement of profit and loss. Loss allowance for trade receivables with no significant financing component is measured at an amount equal to lifetime ECL. For all other financial assets, expected credit losses are measured at an amount equal to the 12 month ECL, unless there has been a significant increase in credit risk from initial recognition in which case those are measured at lifetime ECL. The amount of expected credit losses (or reversal) that is required to adjust the loss allowance at the reporting date to the amount that is required to be recognised as an impairment gain or loss in consolidated statement of profit and loss.

For trade receivables, the Group applies the simplified approach permitted by Ind AS 109 Financial Instruments, which requires expected lifetime losses to be recognised from initial recognition of the receivables. As a practical expedient, the Group uses a provision matrix to determine impairment loss of its trade receivables. The provision matrix is based on its historically observed default rates over the expected life of the trade receivable and is adjusted for forward looking estimates. The ECL loss allowance (or reversal) during the year is recognised in the consolidated statement of profit and loss.

b. Non-financial assets:

Intangible assets, Intangible assets under development and property, plant and equipment:

Intangible assets, Intangible assets under development, and property, plant and equipment are evaluated for recoverability whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. For the purpose of impairment testing, the recoverable amount (i.e. the higher of the fair value less cost to sell and the value-in-use) is determined on an individual asset basis unless the asset does not generate cash flows that are largely independent of those from other assets. In such cases, the recoverable amount is determined for the CGU to which the asset belongs. Intangible assets under development are tested for impairment annually.

If such assets are considered to be impaired, the impairment to be recognised in the statement of profit and loss is measured by the amount by which the carrying value of the assets exceeds the estimated recoverable amount of the asset. An impairment loss is reversed in the consolidated statement of profit and loss if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the recoverable amount. The carrying amount of the asset is increased to its revised recoverable amount, provided that this amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined (net of any accumulated amortisation or depreciation) had no impairment loss been recognised for the asset in prior years.

2.26 Government grants/incentives

Government grants are recognised when there is a reasonable assurance that:

- The company will comply with the conditions attached to them; and

- The grant will be received.

Export entitlements from government authorities are recognised in the statement of consolidated profit and loss when the right to receive credit as per the terms of the scheme is established in respect of the exports made by the Company, and where there is no significant uncertainty regarding the ultimate collection of the relevant export proceeds. Grants are recognised net of attributable expenses.

2.27 Exceptional item

Significant gains/losses or expenses incurred arising from external events or based on corporate action which are not expected to recur are disclosed as 'Exceptional item'.

2.28 Recent accounting pronouncements

Standards issued but not yet effective: -

The amendments to standards that are issued, but not yet effective, up to the date of issuance of the Company's financial statements is disclosed below. The Company intends to adopt the standard, if applicable, when it becomes effective.

IND AS 116 – Leases:

Ind AS 116 Leases was notified in October 2018 and it replaces Ind AS 17 Leases. Ind AS 116 is effective for annual periods beginning on or after April 1, 2019.

Ind AS 116 sets out the principles for the recognition, measurement, presentation and disclosure of leases and requires leases to account for all leases under a single on balance sheet model, similar to accounting for finance lease under Ind AS 17.

At the commencement date of a lease, a lessee will recognise a liability to make lease payments and an asset representing the right to use the underlying asset during the lease term. Lessee will be required to separately recognise the interest expense on the lease liability and depreciation expense on the right of use asset.

The Group is evaluating the impact of this amendment on its consolidated financial statements.

Note:

Expected credit loss (ECL):

The Group's exposure to credit risk is influenced mainly by the individual characteristics of each customer. Credit risk is managed through credit approvals, establishing credit limits and continuously monitoring the creditworthiness of customers to which the Group grants credit terms in the normal course of business. The average credit period is between 60-90 days. Before accepting any new customer, the Company uses an internal credit scoring system to assess the potential customer's credit quality and defines credit limits for each customer. Limits and scoring attributed to customers are reviewed once a year.

As a practical expedient, the Group uses a provision matrix to determine impairment loss of its trade receivables. The provision matrix is based on its historically observed default rates over the expected life of the trade receivable and is adjusted for forward looking estimates. The ECL allowance (or reversal) during the year is recognised in the consolidated statement of profit and loss.

When there is uncertainty as to measurement or ultimate collectability, revenue recognition is postponed until such uncertainty is resolved. The input method has been used to measure the progress towards completion as there is direct relationship between input and productivity.

There have been no transfers among Level 1, Level 2 and Level 3 during the previous year.

The following methods and assumptions were used to estimate the fair values:

* The fair values of the unquoted equity, debt, CCPS and preferred instruments, liability towards acquisition of business and gross obligation liability to acquire non-controlling interests have been estimated using a DCF model. The valuation requires management to make certain assumptions about the model inputs, including forecast cash flows, discount rate, and probabilities of the various estimates within the range used in management's estimate of fair value for these unquoted equity, preferred and debt investments.

 The fair value of the quoted equity shares and mutual funds are based on price quotations at reporting date.

 The Company enters into derivative financial instruments with various counterparties, principally financial institutions with investment grade credit ratings. Foreign exchange forward contracts and interest rate swaps are valued using valuation techniques, which employs the use of market observable inputs. The most frequently applied valuation techniques include forward pricing using present value calculations. The models incorporate various inputs including the credit quality of counterparties, foreign exchange spot and forward rates, yield curves of the respective currencies, etc. As at March 31, 2019 the mark-to-market value of derivative asset positions is net of a credit valuation adjustment attributable to derivative counterparty default risk. The changes in counterparty credit risk had insignificant impact on the hedge effectiveness assessment for derivatives designated in hedge relationships.

Valuation inputs and relationships to fair value

The following table summarises the quantitative information about the significant unobservable inputs used in level 3 fair value measurements.

Particulars	Fair value as at		Significant unobservable inputs	Valuation process	Sensitivity of the inputs to fair value
	March 31, 2019	March 31, 2018
Investment in unquoted equity, debt, preferred instruments and compulsorily convertible preference shares (CCPS)	203	28	Earnings growth rate	Earnings growth factor for unquoted equity, debt, preferred investments and CCPS are estimated based on the market information of similar type of companies and also considering the economic environment impact.	Any increase in earnings growth rate would increase the fair value.
			Discount rate	Discount rates are determined using a capital asset pricing model to calculate a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and risk specific to that asset.	Any increase in the discount rate would result in decrease in fair value.
Liability towards acquisition of business	962	421	Expected cash outflows	Estimate of cash outflows are based on forecasted sales and entity's knowledge of the business and how the current economic environment is likely to impact.	Any increase in expected cash flows would increase the fair value.

34.4 Financial risk management

Financial risk factors

The Group's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks: market risk, credit risk, liquidity risk and other price risks. The Group's primary focus is to foresee the unpredictability of financial markets and seek to minimize potential adverse effects on its financial performance. The primary market risk to the Group is foreign exchange risk and interest rate risk. The Group uses derivative financial instruments to mitigate foreign exchange related risk exposures. The Group's exposure to credit risk is influenced mainly by the individual characteristic of each customer and the concentration of risk from the top few customers. The liquidity risk is measured by the Group's inability to meet its financial obligations as they become due.

Foreign exchange risk

The Group operates internationally and a major portion of the business is dominated in foreign exchange predominantly US Dollar, Pound Sterling and Euro currencies. Consequently the Company is exposed to foreign exchange risk through its services and purchases / import of services from overseas suppliers in various foreign currencies. The Group holds derivative financial instruments such as foreign exchange forward contracts to mitigate the risk of changes in exchange rates on foreign currency exposures. The exchange rate between the rupee and foreign currencies has changed substantially in recent years and may fluctuate substantially in the future. Consequently, the results of the Group's operations are affected as the rupee appreciates/ depreciates against these currencies.

The Company monitors and manages its financial risks by analysing its foreign exchange exposures. The Company, in accordance with its Board approved risk management policies and procedures, enters into foreign exchange forward contracts to manage its exposure in foreign exchange rates.

The Company has applied the hedge accounting principles set out in Indian Accounting Standard – 109 "Financial Instruments" (Ind AS - 109) in respect of such derivative contracts, designated in a hedging relationship, used to hedge its risks associated with foreign currency fluctuations relating to certain highly probable forecast transactions. Accordingly, in respect of all such outstanding contracts as at March 31, 2019 that were designated as effective hedges of highly probable forecast transactions, gain/(loss) aggregating ₹ 274 (net of tax ₹ 147) (March 31, 2018 - ₹ (29) (net of tax ₹ 16)) have been recognised under the cash flow hedge reserve.

* an approximately ₹ (414)/ 414 (decrease)/increase in the Company's other comprehensive income as at March 31, 2018.

Interest rate risk

The Group is exposed to interest rate risk as it has borrowing at floating interest rate. The risk is managed by maintaining use of interest rate swap contracts. Hedging activities are evaluated regularly to align with interest rate views and define risk appetite, ensuring the most cost effective hedging strategies are applied.

Interest rate swap contracts

Under Interest rate swap contracts, the Group agrees to exchange the difference between fixed and floating rate interest amounts calculated on agreed notional principal amount. Such contract enables group to mitigate the risk of changing interest rates on the fair value of issued fixed rate debt and the cash flow exposures on the issued variable rate debt. The fair value of interest rate swaps at the end of the reporting period is determined by discounting the future cash flows using the curves at the end of the reporting period and the credit risk inherent in the contract, and is disclosed below. The average interest is based on the outstanding balances at the end of the reporting period.

Details of the Interest rate swap contracts:

Particulars	Loan Amount	Fair Value of Interest Rate Swap as at March 31, 2019	Fair Value of Interest Rate Swap as at March 31, 2018	Coupon/Interest Rate	Fixed Interest Rate
Term loan from HSBC	336	1	1	Libor + 1% to 1.25%	1.35% - 3.3190%

In respect of the Group's interest rate swap contracts, a 5% increase/decrease in its fair value has an insignificant impact on the profit of the Group.

Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk of financial loss to the Group if a customer or counterparty to a financial instrument fails to meet its contractual obligations, and arises principally from the Group's receivables from customers and investment securities. Credit risk arises from cash held with banks and financial institutions, as well as credit exposure to clients, including outstanding accounts receivable. Credit risk is managed through credit approvals, establishing credit limits and continuously monitoring the creditworthiness of customers to which the Group grants credit terms in the normal course of business. The Group establishes an allowance for doubtful debts and impairment that represents its estimate of incurred losses in respect of trade and other receivables and investments.

In addition, the Company is exposed, to credit risk in relation to financial guarantees given to subsidiary's banks. The Company's exposure in this respect is limited to the maximum amount the Company could have to pay if the guarantee is called on.

Trade and other receivables:

The Group's exposure to credit risk is influenced mainly by the individual characteristics of each customer. The demographics of the customer, including the default risk of the industry and country in which the customer operates, also has an influence on credit risk assessment.

The following table gives details in respect of percentage of total receivables and unbilled receivables from top customer and top five customers:

Particulars	For the year ended
	March 31, 2019	March 31, 2018
Receivable from top customer	16.5	16.3
Receivable from top 5 customers	31.8	32.2

Investments

The Group limits its exposure to credit risk by generally investing in liquid securities and only with counterparties that have a good credit rating. The Group does not expect any losses from non-performance by these counter-parties, and does not have any significant concentration of exposures to specific industry sectors or specific country risks.

Liquidity risk

The Group principal sources of liquidity are cash & bank balances and investments in mutual funds and cash generated from operations. The Group believes that working capital is sufficient to meet its current requirements. Accordingly, no liquidity risk is perceived.

Please write to our R&T Agent, with details of folio numbers (in the case of physical holdings) or the DP ID and Client ID in the case of dematerialized holdings. After verification, they will issue a fresh instrument.

To avoid this problem in the future, you can use the ECS facility in which the dividend amount is automatically credited to the bank account of your choice. To avail of this facility, give your request to our R&T agent in writing.

Also, you might consider dematerializing your holdings through a Depository Participant. This would not only eliminate the issues of storage and risk of loss of paper certificates but also ensure automatic crediting of dividends to your bank account.

MAKING CYIENT A TRULY INCLUSIVE ORGANIZATION

This year, we saw our Diversity & Inclusion (D&I) efforts recognized with the prestigious Best Innovative Practices Award for “Women at Workplace” at the Gender Equality Summit hosted by United Nations Global Compact Network India. The win highlighted our flexible working environment and women-friendly policies that ensure we provide an inclusive workplace for everyone.

Another key initiative saw the launch of the global mentoring program called 'DIEL' (Diversity, Inclusivity, and Equity-driven Leadership) with the inaugural series being an all-women program focused on increasing the number of women in senior management roles. Such initiatives and recognitions are only but the first step toward making Cyient an organization that enables, encourages, and celebrates diversity.
