Hamilton limps to record British GP win

ALAN BALDWIN
Silverstone (England), August 2

A LUCKY LEWIS Hamilton limped home to a record seventh British Grand Prix victory with his heart in his mouth, a prayer on his lips and three wheels on his car after a last-lap puncture on Sunday. In an astonishing end to a race he had dominated from pole position, the Mercedes driver nursed his stricken car across the finish line to stretch his Formula One world championship lead to 30 points.

"I have definitely never experienced anything like that on the last lap," said Hamilton after inspecting his barely-attached front left tyre.

Red Bull's Max Verstappen finished second, but would have won had he not pitted for fresh tyres in a successful late bid to score an extra point for the fastest lap, assuming victory was out of reach. Ferrari's Charles Leclerc was third, another surprise for a team struggling for performance.

Hamilton's team mate and closest rival Valtteri Bottas failed to score after also suffering a late puncture and finishing 11th, despite a one-two finish for the pair having looked a nailed-on certainty until late in the race.

"Up until that last lap everything was relatively smooth sailing," said the six times world champion of a race with two long safety car periods. "The tyres felt great.

Race winner Mercedes driver Lewis Hamilton of Britain holds his trophy at the Silverstone racetrack, England, on Sunday AP

"I heard that his (Bottas's) tyre went and I was just looking at mine and everything seemed fine. The car was still turning no problem... Those last few laps I started to back off and then just down the straight it just deflated.

"That was definitely a heart in the mouth kind of feeling...I was just praying to get around and not be too slow. I nearly didn't get around the last few corners. Thank God we did."

The victory was the 87th of Hamilton's F1 career — leaving him four short of Ferrari great Michael Schumacher's all-time record of 91 — and his third in a row. It was also probably the luckiest.

Verstappen's race engineer summed it up over the team radio to the Dutch driver: "He's a lucky boy".

Mercedes, chasing a seventh successive title double, have won all four races this season.

Australian Daniel Ricciardo was fourth for Renault, ahead of future McLaren team mate Lando Norris, whose own team mate — Carlos Sainz — also had a puncture.

Frenchman Esteban Ocon ensured Renault's double points finish in sixth, with compatriot Pierre Gasly seventh for AlphaTauri and British-based Thai Alexander Albon riding a rollercoaster of a race to eighth place.

Canadian Lance Stroll was ninth for Racing Point, and Ferrari's Sebastian Vettel took the final point.

The next round, the 70th Anniversary Grand Prix to mark Silverstone's hosting of the first world championship race in 1950, is at the same circuit next weekend. But it will struggle to match Sunday's sensation.

Only 19 of the 20 drivers started, with Racing Point stand-in Nico Hulkenberg failing to make it out of the garage due to power unit problems. The German was replacing Mexican Sergio Perez, in quarantine after testing positive for the new coronavirus earlier in the week. — REUTERS

US will hold election on Nov 3: White House chief of staff

DOINA CHIACU
Washington, August 2

WHITE HOUSE CHIEF of Staff Mark Meadows said on Sunday that the United States will hold an election on November 3 and that President Donald Trump was raising concerns about mail-in ballots when he floated the idea of delaying the US vote. "We're going to hold an election on November 3 and the president is going to win," Meadows said on CBS' Face the Nation.

Trump on Thursday raised the idea of delaying the November 3 US elections, a proposal that was immediately rejected by both Democrats and his fellow Republicans in Congress — the sole branch of government with the authority to make such a change.

Critics and even Trump's allies dismissed the notion as an unserious attempt to distract from devastating economic news, but some legal experts warned that his repeated attacks could undermine his supporters' faith in the election process.

The Republican president has been trying to undermine confidence in mail-in balloting, claiming repeatedly and without evidence that it would lead to widespread voter fraud.

Meadows took up his boss's cause on Sunday, warning that mail-in ballots must be handled properly without providing evidence that they have not been in the past. Asked if it were irresponsible for Trump to float the idea, Meadows skirted the question, saying "It is responsible for him to say that if we try to go to 100% universal mail-in ballots, will we have an election result on November 3? Now I would suggest we wouldn't even have it on January 1." — REUTERS

SpaceX guiding NASA astronauts to first splashdown in 45 years: The first astronauts to ride a SpaceX capsule into orbit headed toward a retro-style splashdown in the Gulf of Mexico on Sunday afternoon to close out a two-month test flight.

It will mark the first splashdown in 45 years for NASA astronauts and the first return in the gulf. Unlike Florida's Atlantic coast, already feeling the effects of Isaias, the waves and wind were calm near Pensacola in the Florida Panhandle. The atypical ride home by SpaceX was expected to be fast, bumpy and hot, at least on the outside. — AP
