Zerodha onboard
NPS on web app

New Delhi

Zerodha, a leading stock broking platform, has onboarded the National Pension System (NPS) on its web app, expanding the engagement of PFRDRA with fintech entities.

PFRDRA Chairman Deepak Mohanty inaugurated Zerodha Broking Ltd's NPS web-app in the capital on Thursday.

SEAMLESS ACCESS

The app offers seamless access to NPS to a wider subscriber base.

Mohanty said that there is merit in joining NPS at a young age to harness the benefits of compounding.

NPS provides continuity to a retirement savings account irrespective of one's employment status and is available for non-resident Indians (NRIs). As youngsters are tech-savvy, the facilitation by Zerodha Broking Ltd is expected to expand access to NPS.

NBFCS, fintechs seek RBI nod to offer credit on UPI

GUARDED APPROACH. Players hopeful that RBI will do so once it explores the finer aspects

PRESENT PRACTICE. Currently, the RBI allows UPI payments to be made via credit cards only on the RuPay network

Non-banking financial companies (NBFCs) and fintechs have approached the Reserve Bank of India seeking permission to offer credit on UPI, either through credit cards or pre-approved credit lines, both of which are currently reserved for banks.

While discussions among industry players and associations have been going on for a while, representations have now been made to the regulator to permit NBFCs to offer credit via the UPI payments platform.

"We are hopeful that something like that will be permitted, with NBFCs being allowed to find a way to offer credit on UPI in some form or factor, whatever it may be. Because UPI is the most powerful transmission tool we have in this country," a source told businessline.

Currently, the central bank allows UPI payments to be made via credit cards only on the homegrown RuPay network. Further, it has also permitted banks to offer pre-approved credit lines to UPI customers, which allows them to make payments on credit.

"Most digital lenders (fintech and NBFCs) are looking at credit on UPI; it is important because of its multiplier effect. But credit on UPI is not going to be a meaningful game changer for the ecosystem until non-banks are allowed to participate," an industry official said on the condition of anonymity.

CUSTOMER PROTECTION

The regulator's apprehension seems to stem from a customer protection standpoint, where it wants to make sure 'credit on UPI' works as a product offering before they extend it to more players. Given that the RBI has traditionally followed an "incremental policy change" approach, some NBFCs are hopeful that the current restrictions are not permanent, and once the central bank has explored the finer aspects and external factors, they will be more conducive to extending the facility to non-banks.

However, other industry participants argued that volumes have been minimal so far, as it is difficult for ecosystem players to efficiently utilise this channel of distribution. These volumes are then unlikely to pick up till private lenders, fintechs, and other card networks are included in the fold.

"Private players are usually the drivers of small credit. Allowing NBFCs will also allow for more partnerships and co-lending. The government is very good at setting up the guardrails and better management practices and regulations, but business is driven by the private sector, so non-banks and fintechs should be allowed," said a senior industry official.

more than 30 days from the date of issuance, card-issuers have to seek One Time Password (OTP)-based consent.

INTEREST CALCULATION

In case a cardholder does not clear the total amount due within the payment due date, the interest-free credit period will be lost, and interest may be levied from the date of transaction on the outstanding amount (adjusted for payments, refunds, or reversed transactions as and when credited) and not on the total amount due.

Further, late payment fees and other charges relating to delays in payment shall be levied only on the outstanding amount (adjusted for payments, refunds, or reversed transactions as and when credited) after the payment due date and not on the total amount due.

RBI, Bank Indonesia ink pact to promote use of local currencies

Our Bureau
Mumbai

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) and the Bank Indonesia (BI) signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) in Mumbai on Thursday for establishing a framework to promote the use of local currencies — the Indian Rupee (INR) and the Indonesian Rupiah (IDR) — for cross-border transactions.

The MoU covers all current account transactions, permissible capital account transactions, and any other economic and financial transactions as agreed upon by both countries.

The MoU on establishing a framework for co-operation in the area of cross-border transactions in local currencies between India and Incies, which in turn would enable the development of an INR-IDR foreign exchange market. Use of local currencies would optimise costs and settlement time for transactions," per a RBI statement.

The MoU covers all current account transactions, permissible capital account transactions, and any other economic and financial transactions as agreed upon by both countries.

This framework would enable exporters and importers to invoice and pay in their respective domestic currencies, Indonesia aims to promote the use of INR and IDR bilaterally. It was signed by RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das and Bank Indonesia Governor Perry Warjiyo.
