BJP thrashes out seat-sharing arrangement with JD(U), SAD

Delhi Assembly Election 2020

Our Correspondent

New Delhi/Jan 20: The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and its ally, the Janata Dal United (JD(U)), have thrashed out a seat-sharing arrangement for the Delhi Assembly elections that is due in February. The two parties have agreed to contest 80 seats out of 70, with 40 each. However, the exact number of seats for both parties will be decided on the ground.

BJP’s senior leaders, including its national president, Amit Shah, have been holding several meetings with JD(U) leaders in the last few days to finalise the arrangement. The two parties have also held several meetings with each other to finalise the seat-sharing arrangement.

BJP sources said that the parties have also decided to contest the election in the capital independently, in a bid to consolidate the vote and give the BJP a clear majority.
