Amid panic buying, collector asks societies to go shop pooling

Managing committee of societies to place collective orders for essential goods

SANDEEP ASHAR
MUMBAI, MARCH 23

Did it need to happen that people should end up running to their homes to make essential purchase, then when there are adequate arrangements in the residential housing societies to go shop pooling? In an order issued by the Mumbai divisional commissioner’s office on Thursday, the managing committee of societies were asked to place collective orders for grain and vegetable purchases in all society members.

Pramod Narkhede, Mumbai’s commissioner of 241,501 residential housing societies, said on Thursday that he had written to all the societies and through the night and morning of the same day, he also held a meeting with the union leaders.

According to the order, the societies should not concentrate in a particular time and place of shopping for groceries and vegetables.

Mumbai’s homeless to get free ration

SANDEEP ASHAR
MUMBAI MAR 23

In a bid to help the poor and the homeless, the government of Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray announced that the government has decided to provide free ration kits to the homeless.

The decision was announced on Thursday evening following which the state’s Home Minister Anil Deshmukh was asked to implement the measures.

Mumbai, with its most COVID-19 cases, has an estimated 2,000,000 homeless people and at the rest of state’s rural areas are being well to stay indoors, the homeless find themselves in a vulnerable position.

With the homeless population seen as medically high-risk, the Marathi government has also authorized authorities to use the demand raised by the homeless to house them in Assembly staff houses.
