Despite 70% surge in domestic prices, Indian tea exports feel pandemic heat

India's strong domestic prices also seem to have dampened other tea producing countries that are suffering from poor domestic prices this season. While its tea exports are increasing, with January exports up by 33% over the same period last year, it seems that domestic prices have had an effect on other tea producing countries.

India’s high growth path not foreordained: Warburg Pincus CEO

India has defied the economic gloom dominating the world, but that cannot be sustained forever and requires continued action, according to the country manager for Warburg Pincus (India) Pvt Ltd, Rajeev Bhatia.

Implementing the reforms in the ‘golden period’ requires vigilance, coordination and sustainability, he said.

The government has also been putting in efforts to make the Indian economy a hub in the world. This is the period when the reforms are becoming visible in the world, he said.

Warburg Pincus has invested $13 billion in the country and Bhatia said that the country manager continues to invest in high-quality assets.

It is not necessary to do big things in the economy, but that is necessary to do small things, he said.

“Indian economy is not a single economy, but a global economy,” he said.

The government has also done some reforms in the economy and the industry and the reforms are also leading to some growth in the country.
