As imports in ‘others’ category surge, govt may put restrictions on shipments

India has no closed door on RCEP: Foreign minister

Centre plans to cut imports from Malaysia, Turkey on Kashmir row

Govt to put curbs on imports under ‘other categories’

CONCERNED OVER RISE in imports in the ‘other’ categories, the government has decided to impose a 10% surcharge on imports under the categories of raw linen, raw and processed jute, and raw and processed hemp. The move comes ahead of the EPCG scheme’s expiration date in December. It’s claimed that this will help control the rising imports.

The government has also decided to limit the imports of certain goods under the ‘other’ category to 50% of the imports of the year 2019-20. This move is likely to impact the prices of certain items in the market.

GoVT planning new law to protect foreign investment

The government is planning to bring a new law to protect foreign investment. The Bill will be introduced in the Lok Sabha in the upcoming budget session.

The Bill will provide for a mechanism to resolve disputes between foreign investors and the government. It will also provide for a fast-track court to resolve disputes between investors and the government.

The Bill aims to protect foreign investors and ensure that disputes are resolved in a timely manner. It will also provide for a mechanism to restore approved projects in case of cancellation or violation of agreements.

The Bill is expected to provide a conducive environment for foreign investment in India, which can help boost the economy.

India has not closed door on RCEP: Foreign minister

New Delhi, January 15

The government has not closed the door on the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP). Foreign minister Sushma Swaraj said in the Lok Sabha on Wednesday.

On Tuesday, China joined 14 countries in agreeing to the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP), with India pulling out at the last minute saying the deal would hurt the country’s businessmen, workers and consumers.

“Whereas RCEP is concerned, we have to look at cost and benefit. We evaluated RCEP on its economic and trade merit. We have not closed our mind to it,” Swaraj said.

India may cut imports from Malaysia, Turkey on Kashmir row

New Delhi, January 15

India has asked its foreign ministry to take steps to cut imports from Malaysia and Turkey, which are two of its neighbour countries. This move is likely to affect the bilateral trade between India and Malaysia and Turkey.

The government has also decided to limit the imports of certain goods under the ‘other’ category to 50% of the imports of the year 2019-20. This move is likely to impact the prices of certain items in the market.

In 2020, economic political polarisation to rise: WEF

The first time in the report’s 15-year outlook, the geopolitical risks in terms of trade war and economic polarisation are on the rise. The report also highlights the growing risks of political instability, environmental degradation, and tech and biotech developments.

The report highlights that the geopolitical risks are expected to increase in 2020, with a particular focus on trade and economic polarisation. This is due to the ongoing trade war between the US and China, as well as the rising tension between India and Pakistan over Kashmir.

The report also highlights the growing risks of political instability, environmental degradation, and tech and biotech developments.

NEW YORK, February 17 (Reuters) - MasterCard Inc reported a 28 percent drop in first-quarter net income, hit by higher provisions for loan losses, and forecast second-quarter profit to fall more as the U.S. economy continues to slow.

The world's second-biggest payment processor said it expected second-quarter net income to be in a range of $765 million to $815 million, or 51 cents to 55 cents a share, vs. $1.03 billion, or 71 cents a share, a year earlier.

Analysts on average had forecast second-quarter profit of 71 cents a share, according to Thomson Reuters I/B/E/S.

``The financial backdrop to our business is more challenging compared to this time last year, and our guidance for the second quarter reflects our expectation that conditions will continue to be difficult in the near term,'' MasterCard Chief Executive Don compelton said in a statement.

Analysts had forecast net income of $1.02 billion, or 71 cents a share, for the full year, while the company forecast profit of $1.17 billion, or 80 cents a share, on average.

MasterCard said its profit for the quarter ended March 31 fell to $777 million, or 55 cents a share, from $1.07 billion, or 75 cents a share, a year earlier.

Revenue rose 13 percent to $3.17 billion, vs. $2.80 billion a year ago.

The company gave no outlook for net income or revenue for the year, but said it anticipated the full-year results to reflect the impact of the global economic slowdown.

MasterCard said its shareholders approved a 25 percent increase in its dividend to 35 cents a share, up from 28 cents.

The company, which operates the MasterCard, Maestro and PayPass networks, said its outstanding common shares increased to 237,340,000 from 226,810,000.

MasterCard shares were up 11 cents, or 0.4 percent, at $27.90 in afternoon trading on the New York Stock Exchange. (Reporting by Sivjee Singh in New York and Dhanabala in Bangalore; Editing by John Gulas and Gunter Dinger)

Biotechnology has the potential to be a game-changer in the quest for a sustainable future. To harness this potential, India needs to focus on strategic partnerships and investments in the sector. Here's how Indian biotech companies can lead the way:

1. Strategic Partnerships with Global Leaders
   - Collaboration with Multinational Corporations: Partnering with leading multinational corporations (MNCs) can provide access to cutting-edge technology, expertise, and market exposure. For instance, a recent collaboration between an Indian biotech start-up and a global pharma giant has shown promising results in developing new drugs.
   - Government Initiatives: The Indian government has launched several initiatives to encourage foreign direct investment (FDI) in the biotech sector. These include tax incentives, easier regulatory processes, and funding support, which can attract international players to collaborate with Indian biotech companies.

2. Investment in Research and Development
   - Enhanced Funding: Governments worldwide are investing heavily in biotech R&D to address global challenges like climate change and health threats. India needs to increase its investment in biotech research to stay competitive.
   - Public-Private Partnerships: Engaging private sector players in research and development can lead to faster innovation and commercialization. For example, a recent public-private partnership has supported the development of a new vaccine candidate.

3. Innovation and知识产权 Protection
   - Patent Protection: Strengthening patent protection can encourage innovation and investment in the biotech sector. India's patent laws need to be updated to align with international standards.
   - Open Innovation: Encouraging open innovation by allowing the use of intellectual property under certain conditions can foster collaboration and learning.

4. Education and Workforce Development
   - Skilled Talent: Developing a skilled workforce is crucial for the biotech sector. India needs to invest in STEM education and provide training opportunities to attract and retain talent.
   - Career Opportunities: Creating attractive career opportunities can attract high-quality talent to the biotech sector. This includes offering competitive salaries, career growth paths, and a supportive work environment.

By focusing on these areas, Indian biotech companies can build a strong foundation for growth and innovation, positioning themselves as global leaders in the biotech revolution.
India has not closed door on RCEP: Foreign minister

India has not closed the door on a regional economic pact, even though Asia’s third-largest country pulled out of the deal last November, foreign minister Subrahmanyam Jaishankar said on Wednesday.

In a development that will weaken India’s isolationist stance, Jaishankar joined 11 countries in agreeing to the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP) last month, but said India had not signed the treaty because it had not been clear whether it would benefit the country.

“This is an economic partnership that can be revisited at a later date, or the factors that led to its withdrawal can be reconsidered,” Jaishankar said. “We are open to engaging with all of them and exploring areas of mutual interest.”

Center plans to cut imports from Malaysia, Turkey on Kashmir row

India plans to cut imports from Malaysia, Turkey and Vietnam in the wake of India’s recent decision to scrap most Kashmir-related import licences, its commerce minister said on Thursday.

“India plans to cut imports from these countries, especially those related to electronics, garments, and chemicals,” Commerce and Industry minister Paramesh Goyal said. “The decision was taken in response to the recent Pulwama attack in Kashmir, which led to the closure of trade in the region.”

Goyal said India would also review its trade agreements with these countries to ensure that they comply with Indian laws and regulations.

Work for ₹800-crore Guj gauge conversion project to start in Mar

The work on a ₹800-crore gauge conversion project in Gujarat will start in March 2020, a top official of the Rail Vikas Nigam Limited (RVNL) said.

“The project will convert 462 km of track from broad gauge to metre gauge, which will enhance the capacity of the railways to handle more passenger and goods trains,” said RVNL chairman R. K. Garg.

India currently has a broad gauge network of about 70,000 km, which is used to run the majority of its passenger and goods trains. The metre gauge network, which is mainly used in the north and north-east, has a length of about 9,000 km.

Garg said the project, which is being executed by the Indian Railways, will be completed in two phases. The first phase, covering 100 km, will be completed by June 2020, while the second phase, covering 362 km, will be completed by January 2021.

The project will also lead to a reduction in the carbon footprint of the railways, as the metre gauge is known to be more energy-efficient than the broad gauge.
