Amazon, Flipkart need to establish system for collecting plastic waste: CPCB to NGT

PRESS RELEASE OF INDIA
New Delhi, January 28

E-COMMERCE GIANTS Amazon and Flipkart need to establish a system for collecting plastic waste generated by e-commerce activities, the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB) said today.

The apex pollution monitoring body told the companies, in a letter, that e-commerce activities are responsible for generating large volumes of plastic waste. The CPCB has specified that Amazon and Flipkart are required to establish a system for collecting plastic waste generated by their e-commerce activities and provide data to the CPCB on a quarterly basis.

CPCB's letter, addressed to the Chief Executive Officers of Amazon and Flipkart, stated that the companies need to establish a system for collecting plastic waste through the following steps:

1. Amazon and Flipkart need to establish a system for collecting plastic waste generated by e-commerce activities.
2. They need to provide data to the CPCB on a quarterly basis.
3. The companies need to ensure that the collected plastic waste is properly disposed of or recycled.

The letter also mentions that the CPCB will monitor the implementation of these steps and take necessary action if the companies fail to comply with the regulations.

The CPCB's letter highlights the growing concern over plastic waste and its impact on the environment. The use of single-use plastics in e-commerce activities has become a significant source of pollution. The CPCB's call for action underscores the need for e-commerce companies to take responsibility for their waste generation and management.
