Centre plans Zojila-like tunnel to Ladakh region

The cost of the proposed Shingo La tunnel project is expected to be similar to that of the recently completed Zojila tunnel, which was commissioned in 2015.

In August, Hydrogel-based Mobi Fresh, which has been selling single-use masks, emerged as the lowest bidder for executing the Zojila tunnel project with a quote of ₹4,549.50 crore. Larsen & Toubro and a consortium of Hindustan Machine Tools Limited and National Highways and Transport Infrastructure Development Corporation Limited were the other two contenders for the project.

In the new proposal, the National Highways and Infrastructure Development Corporation Limited (NHIDCL) has stated that the tunnel will be commissioned in two phases. Phase 1 is expected to begin next month. NHIDCL, an arm of Ministry of Road Transport and Highways, has invited bids for the construction of road projects in the 46-kilometer tunnel section between Leh and India-Pakistan border. Three bids were submitted by June 30 by three Indian companies, including the L&T-led consortium and the Hindustan Machine Tools-National Highways and Infrastructure Development Corporation Limited joint venture.

In the NHIDCL tender document, the NHIDCL has stated that the tunnel will connect Leh to Kargil, which will reduce travel time to the Ladakh region by 500 kilometers.
