Maoris kill 3 ahead of Modi election rally in Chhattisgarh

Rainier Priy, Minister, South Dakota, USA

It is a challenging task to predict the outcome of elections in Chhattisgarh. If the Modi government is to win, they need to address the issues of unemployment, poverty and corruption. The problem is that, despite the high level of poverty and unemployment, the government has not taken any action to address these issues. They have been focusing on their own agenda and have not paid much attention to the needs of the people. The state of Chhattisgarh is one of the poorest in the country and the government should focus on improving the standard of living of its people. The Modi government has not been successful in addressing these issues and people are dissatisfied with their performance. If the Modi government is to win, they need to address these issues and show the people that they are serious about improving their lives.
