The letter, written by Mahesh Pandya – a Director of the Environment Ministry, and a committee member that works with the field of socio-environmental issues to Chief Secretary, Gujarat, on November 13, 2010, mentions the paucity of appointments of senior posts in the respective pollution control boards. The GPCB in this article, the Chief Secretary of Gujarat had recommended the appointment of Pandya for the post of Director, Pollution Control Board. The GPCB has been without a regular chairman for the past one year. The present chairman of the GPCB is a senior IAS officer, Rajeev Kumar Gupta, who is also ADCC (Anti-Corruption and Civil Services Commission) Director, while the Collector of Surat is the Interim Chairman. According to Pandya, the current chairman of the GPCB needs to be replaced at the earliest. Pandya said that the lack of a full-time Chairman is causing the Board to function with the Interim Chairman, the ADCC, in a situation where the Board is often in a bind.
